Market News Lingo Can Be Helpful

College Station — The complicated lingo used in daily livestock marketing reports can increase the efficiency of a farmer's operation if it's interpreted correctly, says John G. McHaney, extension agricultural economist.

Farmers are faced with such problems as what to produce and how much. When this should be sold, and where? Market news can help them decide. The U. S. Department of Agriculture spends more than $10,000,000 annually to obtain market news for general public use, McHaney adds.

Livestock producers who have been in the business long enough can remember when the only source of market information was the incomplete and conflicting reports of trade groups.

Today market news is accurate, timely and usable.

Here are the interpretations of market terms:

"Market stronger" means prices are advancing.

"Market firm" means prices are holding or are a shade higher.

"Market steady" means no immediate change.

"Market dull" means an inactive market.

"Market weaker" means price declines are general.

"Demand slow" means buyers are just looking.

"Demand good" means buyers have confidence in present prices.

"Supplies light" means the market could use more.

"Supplies heavy" means the market is over-supplied and prices are weakening.

Mrs. Hines Baker of Houston, was a week end visitor in the homes of her brothers, Dennis and Ross Kelley. Mrs. Baker was enroute to California for a several weeks stay.

Mrs. Thomas Wristen and Lin returned home on last Friday from a visit with the Martel Eubank's at Corpus Christi and a sister of Mrs. Wristen at Kingsville.

Officers of the Santa Anna Ex-Student Association met last Saturday and set Friday and Saturday, October 14 and 15 as the dates for the annual Homecoming this year. A number of other plans were discussed for the annual affair. Those attending the meeting were: President, John C. Gregg; Vice-President, W. R. Brown; Secretary, Mrs. Coyita Bowker; Advisor, M. L. Guthrie, Jr.; A. D. Donham, Coach Joe Van Breeman, Mace Blanton of Fort Worth, and Supt. Cullen N. Perry.

It was decided to have a tea the morning of October 15, honoring all the former students of classes, years ending in 5. Mrs. C. D. Bruce was appointed chairman of this committee and she is to select her workers.

Plans are being worked out for a different kind of program this year. There will be no long speeches, but more of a variety program will be presented.

Every former student of the Santa Anna schools is invited to attend the homecoming. All local citizens are urged to contact any former student you might know of and invite them to attend.

Plentiful Foods For August Listed

College Station — Food shoppers should find the Aug. plentiful list to their liking. Broilers and fryers share the spotlight with canned grapefruit sections, says Mae Belle Smith, extension specialist in consumer education.

Because crop prospects now indicate a near record supply, grapes have been added to the list.

Supplies of rice, Irish potatoes, watermelons, fresh and processed lemons and limes, says the specialist, are much larger than for last summer. Too, other than the spotlighted meats, beef and frozen halibut are the only ones carried on the August list.

Milk and other foods such as American cheddar and cottage cheeses continue in heavy supply — about equal to the peak production in June.

Stocks of lard, vegetable fats and oils remain heavy and in some areas the summer vegetables will be in peak supply.

Miss Smith explains that the USDA's monthly listing of plentiful foods is based on a survey of supplies in the major trade territories of this section of the nation. The southwest food distribution division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, makes the survey for the Southwestern States.

Mrs. Kate Holmes has returned from her vacation which she spent with her son and family and her sister. Those visited were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lovelady and Barbara of Texas City, and Mrs. J. C. Caruthers of Mineral Wells.

A YEAR OF CROP SURPLUSES

Prospects for the fall of 1955 foretell another bumper farm crop year despite the ravages of drought in mid-western states.

That is the prediction of the National Agricultural Research Bureau in Washington. Not only will it be a "bumper" year, but perhaps the biggest production year of all time, if the experts are correct.

It is a paradox that increased production in 1955 will spell trouble ahead for Texas and the nation's farmers in the form of prices, mounting surpluses and critical storage problems. And no relief from the farm cost-income pinch is in sight. As a result, the "farm problem" is certain to become more and more of an issue in 1956 politics.

Washington apparently is uncertain as to what — if anything — to do next. It is not likely that Congress will act to ease the price squeeze before adjournment around the first of August.

Farm officials in Washington show no sign of easing their determination to block a return to 90 per cent mandatory supports for basic crops. Large supplies of most farm products now indicate supports will be lowered to the 75 per cent of parity minimum for basics — cotton and tobacco excepted — next January. Wheat already has been announced at 76 per cent.

Crop reports indicate SURPLUSES — in capital letters. Storage space, especially for feed grains, is at a premium. The Commodity Credit Corporation announced this month plans to build up to 100 million bushels of new space. Need for storage will be even greater than that if crop prospects hold up. And the farmer must have his goods stored to get supports.

Nation-wide it looks like record production on barley, soybeans, grain sorghums, hay — and near record for corn, oats and dry beans. Compared with last year, production may fall on wheat, cotton, rice, sugar, tobacco, apples and peaches.

Trouble looms for potato growers. Irish potato production is forecast at 44.3 million bushels over last year and the sweet potato crop looks 15 per cent larger. There is new talk about a demand for potato price support program — an unpopular notion with those who remember the disastrous program of the 1940's.

Time For Students To Get Yearly Physical Exam

Austin — Parents, has your child had a physical examination this summer? In just a little more than a month he will be starting to school, and if he is in good health he will have a happier, more profitable year. It's up to YOU to give HIM a healthful send-off, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health.

After he has his check-up by the family doctor, be sure to take him to the family dentist. Teeth are mighty important, and decayed ones often cause a heap of trouble. They may start infection in other parts of the body. Strong, healthy teeth add attractiveness to appearance and personality. Help your child to grow up with good teeth — see that he has a dental examination twice a year.

Sometimes children need glasses and their parents don't realize it. An examination by an eye physician now, will have time to get used to them before school starts.

When children are grouped together in a classroom, they expose each other to communicable diseases. Has your child been immunized against diphtheria and smallpox? Does he know he should use only his own drinking glass? Does he know he should avoid boys and girls who are victims of colds? Do you keep your child at home when he shows signs of a cold?

Plenty of exercise and recreation, the right kinds of foods daily, and 12 hours of sleep a night, are necessary for a child of elementary school age.

Get your child an appointment for a check-up today — the first day of school is not far away!

Mrs. Frances Everett plans to leave next Sunday for Corpus Christi for a weeks vacation visit with her son, Pat Everett, and family.

Veterans Farm Loan Program

World War II and Korean conflict veterans will find it easier to get GI loans to purchase farms on which there is a home or to construct or improve farm houses under a new law recently signed by the President.

The new law increases the veterans Administration guaranty of GI farm loans made by private lenders to 60 percent of the loan with the maximum guaranty of $7,500 on the following three types of loans:

1. For the purchase of a farm on which there is a farm residence to be occupied by the veteran as his home. The guaranty would cover not only the farm and residence but include all other buildings which are considered as part of the realty.

2. For the construction of a farm residence to be occupied by the veteran on land owned by the veteran. In the case of a veteran who wants to build a residence on his farm on which there is an indebtedness secured by a lien against the land, the GI loan with the increased guaranty can be used to liquidate that lien if the indebtedness does not exceed the reasonable value of the land.

3. For the repair, alteration or improvement of a farm residence owned by the veteran and occupied by him as his home. Such repairs, alterations and improvements must protect or improve the basic livability or utility of the farm residence.

VA said the new law puts the three types of farm loans on a parity with GI home loans — both of which now carry the 60 percent up to $7,500 guaranty.

The guaranty of GI loans for unimproved farms or for the repair of farm buildings other than the residence itself will remain the same — 50 percent of the loan with a maximum guaranty of $4,000.

The guaranty of farm non-realty loans for such things as stock, feed, seed and equipment remains at 50 percent of the loan with a maximum guaranty of $2,000.

VA said that while maximum guarantees are set by law, the amount of the loan obtainable by a veteran depends on the policies of the lender. A veteran desiring to avail himself of the benefits of the new Act should get in touch with a lender who is agreeable to making him a GI loan for his specific purpose. If the lender decides to make the loan, he will process all necessary papers in order to obtain the Veterans Administration guaranty.

In the 11 years of the GI loan program, VA has guaranteed or insured 67,760 farm loans totaling $264,786,200. Veterans have already paid back in full 39,867 GI farm loans totaling $120,909,670.

VA has had to pay claims on only 2,099 farm loans. Net amount of the claims paid is $1,456,400 and that amount is subject to further recovery through the liquidation of tangible security or from the veterans.

World War II veterans have until July 25, 1957 to use the GI loan benefits while Korean conflict veterans have until January 31, 1965.

Well, anyway a $50 suit will outlast $50.

When it comes to travel folders there is nothing that can beat the good old American bill.

PAID IN FULL

John owed Fred $200 which he had borrowed several years back. John had been having a hard time and owed many bills. Because of his situation he thought Fred might accept less than $200 as payment in full. He sent Fred a check for $125 marked "In full for balance due on loan" on the face of the check. Fred cashed the check and started action to recover the other $75. Can he collect?

Yes, he can, as a promise or agreement is unenforceable unless supported by consideration or by giving of value by the other party. John did not give Fred anything he was not obligated to give and hence there was nothing to bind any agreement to accept the $125 as payment in full.

However, there are two variations of this situation in which John could accomplish his result!

First, if there was an honest dispute concerning the balance due on the loan, such as a dispute over credits allegedly agreed upon for work performed for Fred, or a dispute over the interest due, then acceptance of the check could constitute what is called an "accord and Satisfaction." This may satisfy the debt in full, especially if "Paid in full" is marked on the back of the check and Fred endorses beneath it.

Second, if John should give something in addition to the check, other than money, such as a piece of furniture or an animal, the debt would be satisfied in full if Fred accepted both the check and the additional consideration.

There is a common conception in the minds of many people that a person cannot be sued on a debt so long as monthly payments in any amount (even $1) are made. This is not so, as once a debt is due the creditor may bring suit for the full amount, and acceptance of any lesser amounts does not waive rights of suit except as indicated above.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Mrs. Z. V. Russell of Detroit, Mich., has arrived for an indefinite visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wristen and Bill.

H. O. NORRIS OWNS MYSTERY FARM NO. 15

H. O. Norris, who lives on his farm 4 1/2 miles east of Santa Anna, on Rural Route 2, owns Mystery Farm No. 15, as appeared in The Santa Anna News last week. Mr. and Mrs. Norris moved to this farm on February 7, 1917, after he had purchased it from J. M. Smedley.

Mr. Norris does not know when the farm was first put under plow, but since he has owned it, he has put about 40 acres in cultivation. During the past few years he has purchased four other smaller farms nearby and at present has 1,055 acres of which 600 acres is in cultivation. He built a new home on the farm in about 1920, added to it in about 1930 and in 1950 added more to the home and completely remodeled the home throughout. During the years he and Mrs. Norris have lived on the farm, he has built all the out buildings you see in the picture.

Asked about the lone live oak tree standing near the top center of the picture, Mr. Norris said there were two bables buried under the tree and so far as he was concerned, the tree would always remain where it is. One of the bables was buried there about two years before he purchased the farm, the other about 1920. When he purchased the farm, the parents of the first child buried there requested that he leave the tree there as a marker. Both graves are marked under the shade of the tree.

H. O. Norris, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Norris, came to Brown County in 1907 from Axel, near Waco and settled south of Bangs. There is still five girls and five boys living in his family. Two sons are dead.

He was married to Miss Willie Belle Huggins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Huggins of the Concord Community, in 1911. Mr. and Mrs. Norris have one son, H.

W., who is an implement dealer in Temple, and three grandchildren, Clara, 5; Paula, 3; and Howard, 10 months.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris are members of the Liberty Baptist Church. He is also a member of the Farm Bureau, Modern Woodmen, and the Purebred Hereford association. Asked about his hobbies, Mr. Norris said he used to have fishing as a hobby, but hadn't been fishing now in a number of years.

He said he likes to mix his crops, and does not have any particular one he could say was his favorite. He raises cotton, wheat, oats and a various assortment of row crops. He is one of the few who combined any small grains this year, but said he did not get a very good yield from either the oats or wheat that he combined. He has 76 acres of cotton, 60 acres of maize and 140 acres in late feed that looks like it has prospects of making the best it has in a number of years.

Mr. Norris also runs about 25 head of registered Hereford cows and about 25 head of polled Hereford cows. He feeds out a number of calves each year for market. He said he had always been lucky enough to raise most of his feed for the livestock. He always starts young calves on oats and that was why he attempted to thresh his oat crop this year. He has to buy very little feed supplements.

Mr. Norris said he had used fertilizer in the past and when moisture conditions return to normal, he will use it again. He

STANLEY McSWANE HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Children enjoyed playing games. The birthday cake in the form of a drum, was red, white and blue with cookie soldiers marching around it. Red punch and ice cream were served. Favors were cookie soldiers and bubble gum.

Children present were: Bob, Larry and Gay Rutherford, Molinda Ann and Billy Ed Scoggins, Sherry Day, Nikki Johnson, Joe Dan and Linda Mills, Janice Jackson, Mark Wise, Ronnie, David and Louise Cooper, Karol, Linda and Geneva Pittard, Dougie and Jan McSwane.

Mothers present were: Mrs. A. N. McSwane, Mrs. Veoma Jackson, Mrs. Don Mills, Mrs. Minta Scoggins, Mrs. Jim Rutherford, Mrs. Joe Wise, Mrs. Elce Cooper, Mrs. Cecil Day, Mrs. Clyde Pittard, Mrs. A. S. Hall, Mrs. Douglas McSwane and the hostess, Mrs. Jack McSwane and the honoree, Stanley McSwane.

BIRTHDAYS FOR YOUNGSTERS

Mrs. Minta Scoggins honored her son, Billy Ed, whose birthday was July 19 and daughter, Molinda Ann, who makes her birthday August 7, with a birthday party at the Brady park Saturday evening from 5:00 to 7:00 p. m.

Youngsters enjoyed games and received lots of nice gifts.

Present were Pamela and Patty Whitmore, Jim and Kathy Young, Larry, Bob and Gay Rutherford, Mrs. Verdell and daughter, Mrs. Jim Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. McWilliams, Miss Pearl Castleman, Mrs. Whitmore, Mrs. Young, Mrs. A. S. Hall and Mrs. Scoggins.

said returns from crops where fertilizer has been used are well worth the money and effort, provided the proper amount of moisture falls.

He said he was a firm believer in soil conservation and a lot of the new cropping practices being put into effect now. This summer he plans to terrace all the land on one of the farms he recently purchased. He also has eight gas wells and three oil wells. However, none of the wells are being used to the extent allowed, according to Mr. Norris.

Asked about his future plans, Mr. Norris said he would continue to diversify his crops and continue the soil conservation practices.

Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson got moved into their nice home in Santa Anna last week on Crockett Street, recently purchased from the Louis Zacharys. They had been living on Home Creek since 1900 where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kern Richardson settled when they came here from Lockhart. They bought the place from a brother, Henry, hence the Richardsons have owned the place for about 75 years. The Otis Bivins family are the new owners.

Maurine Reid returned to her home in Austin Tuesday after a visit of several weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Jones.

Devotional Reading: Ecclesiastes 5:1-5.

Thy Will Be Done

Lesson for July 31, 1955

THEY were a sorry lot, the people left behind after the last invasion. The puppet-king Zedekiah had asked the Egyptians to pull his strings... but the smart Babylonians got wind of it, and that was the end of Zedekiah, Jerusalem, Solomon's Temple, the nation of Judah. After a two years' siege the city fell, was sacked and burned, and anybody that was anybody was either killed or deported. Jeremiah, the city's most famous citizen, was offered a chance to go to Babylon as a free man; but he declined. He preferred to stay with his own people, he said, and his own land. But they were a sorry lot, the dregs of the populace for the most part.

Vows, Good and Bad

They were glad enough to have Jeremiah with them. They seemed to recognize him at last as a true prophet. He had told them so often what would happen—and it did. So they began to look up to him and come to him with their problems. One day they came up with a very important decision they wanted him to help them make. Should they go to Egypt or not? This was not as if they were going down there like tourists into Florida. This was for keeps, a full-scale emigration. A sort of Exodus in reverse, with Jeremiah the new Moses to lead them back into Egypt. (Why they wanted to go can be read in detail, in Jeremiah.) They put this up to him: Find out what God wants us to do. You are a prophet and you should know. "Whether it is good or evil, we will obey the voice of the Lord God," they solemnly promised. But they did not mean it. Their minds were made up to go. When Jeremiah after ten days knew that the Lord did not want them to go to Egypt, he told this people so, but they paid no attention; on the contrary they bundled him up and took him along, an unwilling prisoner on their forbidden road. So they broke their good vow. Some time later down in Egypt they bragged to Jeremiah that they were keeping their promises now. They had vowed to make sacrifices to the star-gods and goddesses—and sacrifice they did, to the "Queen of heaven" and a lot more.

If You Knew God's Will...

Before condemning those people too quickly, let the reader translate the story into the 20th century. Don't we all pray, "Thy will be done?" Have we not all asked God more than once to show us what to do? When we pray "Thy will be done" we are making an implied promise, that we will cooperate. What we mean is, of course, not "Thy will be done in spite of everything I do to stop it," but "Thy will be done, and let me know if I can help." This raises two questions. One is: How can we know God's will? Can we know God's will without a guaranteed prophet to help us out? Well, we have the Gospels, we have the Word of God. We surely can know a great deal about God's will. We at least know this much, that any scheme, plan or intention which is out of line with the great teachings of the Bible is out of line with God, and doomed to final failure.

Would You Do It?

The other question raised by that prayer-vow, Thy will be done, is this: If you knew the will of God, would you do it? Those ancient men of Judah scorned God's will, and scorned his prophet, although they had been pleading for light and direction. We had better be sure we are without sin before we cast at them the first stone. We often feel that God does not give us enough light. We pray earnestly for his will to be made known to us, and we are inclined to grumble at the silence of God. The trouble is we do not follow the light he has given us. A great American preacher called attention to Saul's request of the Witch of Endor, "Bring me up Samuel." The thing is—he had had Samuel. For a long time Samuel had been telling Saul where he was wrong, but the king had paid no attention. A man who will not listen to Samuel living will not listen to his ghost. So with us. "Thy will be done" suggests sadly many a broken vow. How can we hope to persuade God that we will follow his will, if he will show it to us, when we have not followed his will when he did show it to us? We might make a humbler vow: O God, help me to go back and pick up some of the promises I have broken!

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — Bascom Giles' own story finally was told last week in the Veteran's Land Program furor.

In an expected, but unannounced move, the former land commissioner took the witness stand in his 98th District court trial. He is charged with stealing or aiding the stealing of $6,800 from the veterans program he administered.

Giles previously had been tight lipped to reporters and investigators. He pleaded his constitutional immunity against testifying in the Senate inquiry.

Firmly and emphatically, Giles denied he ever stole or helped anybody steal the $6,800.

He placed equal responsibility on the Governor and the Attorney General with himself for administering the program citing they were all members of the Land Board by constitution and by statute.

He denied there were any inaccuracies "to his knowledge" in board minutes as both the Governor and Attorney General have previously claimed.

He denied ever seeing in a hotel room the state's witness who claimed to be present at a hotel-room conversation in which Giles allegedly discussed making a $250,000 profit on a veterans land deal with Brady land dealer B. R. Sheffield.

State Auditors Report
State Auditor C. H. Cavness suggested last week that Texas use part of its oil and gas income from public lands for current school expenses.

Freeing this money, Cavness said, could ease the strain on the state's general fund, even possibly reduce taxes.

Royalties and lease payments from state lands now are deposited in permanent funds of the public schools and the University of Texas. Only income earned by investment of the funds is available for spending.

Under Cavness' plan only 2 1/2 per cent of royalties would go into the permanent funds, now totaling more than a half billion dollars.

Copies of the proposal went to the governor and Legislature. Execution of the plan would require both a constitutional amendment and revision of statutes.

Criticism came promptly from University President Logan Wilson who compared the plan to "eating seed corn."

It conflicts, he said, with the present plan to increase University income by easing restrictions on investment of the permanent fund.

A constitutional amendment, approved by the recent Legislature and awaiting vote of the people, would allow University officials to invest up to 50 per cent of the fund in corporate stocks. At present all investment must be in low-interest-bearing government bonds.

Highway Bids Taken
Low bids totaling $14,197,575 on road and bridge projects were tabulated by the State Highway Department last week.

Two major highway improvements — on US 80 east of Big Spring and on US 83 north of Brownsville — were included in the 402 miles of road work.

A contract was let to build a bridge in Dallas across the Trinity River. It will eventually connect with the Dallas-Fort Worth toll road.

Parr Documents Sought
Attorneys for George Parr have asked to inspect 89 checks and other documents the government will use in its income tax evasion case against the South Texas political boss.

Prosecuting attorneys protested, arguing that the defense was trying to find out what specific evidence the government would introduce.

Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. took the motion under advisement. Trial is set for Sept. 6 in Austin.

Morrow Showdown Expected
Wright Morrow's party status was to be determined by the State Democratic Executive Committee in Austin on Tuesday.

Gov. Allan Shivers recently indicated he thought the Texas national committeeman should resign to promote party unity. Morrow has been unacceptable to national party leaders since his support of Eisenhower in 1952.

Committee members also were to lay plans for control of 1956 precinct, county and state conventions.

Opposing plans for convention control were made by the Loyalist wing of the party at an earlier meeting in San Antonio.

Oil Allowable Unchanged
Texas crude oil allowable for August will be on the same pattern as for July.

At a statewide prorotation hearing last week the Railroad Commission ordered the present 15-day production schedule continued.

Under that formula, permissive flow on July 16 was 3,028,324 barrels daily. Some August increase would result from allowable grants for new discoveries.

Segregation Ruling Studied
Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd last week withheld comment on an El Paso district judge's ruling that Texas school segregation laws are unconstitutional.

He would have to make a detailed study of the decision first, Shepperd said.

Judgment resulted from a Negro girl's suit for entrance to Texas Western College. University of Texas regents had two weeks previously voted to admit Negroes there.

Board of Regents Chairman Thomas Sealy said he thought the judge's ruling was moot. However, he said he believed any effort by Negro undergraduates to enroll immediately in the main University could and would be successfully resisted.

Integration Impact Felt
Desegregation has rubbed out growth plans for at least one Texas Negro College.

Prospect of competition with the University of Texas had that impact last week on Houston-Tillotson College in Austin.

"A first class small college" of 500 to 600 students, rather than an increase to 1,000 to 1,200 students, is the current goal, the president announced.

Crop Acreage Drops
Total acreage of Texas crops has dropped five per cent, or 1,200,000 acres, from last year, according to the US Department of Agriculture.

Allotment restrictions on wheat, cotton and rice plus abandonment of planted wheat acreage account for the decrease.

Partially offsetting this is the record sorghum acreage.

Patrol Extends Deadline
Deadline for highway patrol job applications has been extended from July 25 to Aug. 1.

One hundred new officers are to be hired by the patrol. Funds were provided by the last legislature by raising drivers license fees.

CHICK CHATS—EGG LAYERS ARE BRED

Poultry breeders find that laying hens are either born with this ability — or they aren't.

This isn't much consolation to you after you have a group of pullets on range during the summer which you expect to house for egg production this fall. But today's research says that this ability to lay is inherited. It's been proven that certain strains lay more eggs than other strains, even when fed the same feeds and cared for in the same way.

Some of the factors that make for good egg quality are also inherited. Along about this time of year, you may see some thin-shelled eggs in the nests when you gather eggs from your flock. These thin-shelled eggs usually come from layers that have been shelling out large numbers of eggs during the winter season. Apparently, thin-shelled eggs are due to a lowering of the calcium content in the blood of the layers. It's estimated that weak, porous shells result in a 5% loss of the total number of eggs produced each year in the country.

KEEP THEM EATING
One of the things that you can do during these summer months is to keep the feed consumption of your layers up. During the summer, your birds tend to eat less feed, get less calcium (to make egg shells) than during the winter months. If the diet is adequate, there is no need for you to increase the level of calcium for your birds.

Seeing that your laying hens have a well ventilated house is one of the ways that you can help them keep production up during the summer period. The higher temperatures also mean that the hens will need more water than at other times — a doubling of the number usually provided is a safe yardstick to use.

Some flock owners have questions about blood spots in their eggs during the summer months. There is usually an increase in these spots during this part of the year. The number usually decreases in the fall. Researchers say that nearly all hens lay eggs with the spots at one time or another. Commercial egg candlers have found that about 1 to 2% of all eggs that they check have blood spots.

You as a flock owner can do little about them through feeding and management practices. Neither one of these two factors seem to affect them. Poultry breeders are aware of the problem though, and are working to get rid of them. They're particularly objected to by the processors of eggs such as noodle manufacturers and candy manufacturers who want the finest eggs that can be produced.

HOGS MUST BE FED COOKED GARBAGE

Effective January 1, 1956, swine that have been fed raw garbage at any time in their life and products derived from them will not be permitted to move interstate unless given special processing. The special processing reduces the value of hogs in some cases as much as 50 percent, says the announcement from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This regulation in effect since July 1953 was relaxed to permit garbage feeding establishments to obtain the necessary cooking equipment. It is now available. Since January 1954, hogs, and products derived from them, that had at some time been fed raw garbage could be shipped interstate for any purpose, if for 30 days preceding shipment they had been fed cooked garbage or feeds other than raw garbage. This relaxed regulation goes out on January 1, 1956.

Vesicular exanthema is caused from a virus and in recent years was a threat to the nation's swine industry. Infections are limited now to isolated premises in 39 counties of six states. Forty-six states, including Texas, have passed laws prohibiting the feeding to hogs of uncooked garbage — the chief cause of the spread of the disease.

Department officials point out that about 83 percent of the 14,000 garbage-feeding plants, and more than 80 percent of the hogs fed garbage in the United States now get it cooked. But, experience indicates, they say, that cooking must be 100 percent for complete control of the disease.

HORNFLIES ARE COSTLY BUT EASILY CONTROLLED

Hornflies — a problem on livestock this time of year — are causing many producers to lose 20 to 30 pounds of beef per animal annually. But the pests can be controlled with simple steps and nominal costs.

About half the size of ordinary houseflies, hornflies suck the blood of livestock causing irritation which leads to loss of weight, indigestion and other disorders, explains Dr. F. M. Fuller, extension entomologist. Sprays of 5 (five-tenths) percent DDT, toxaphene or methoxychlor are recommended for hornfly control. Any type hand or power sprayer is effective in making applications which should remain potent to the flies for three weeks or longer.

While some producers are using cable type rubbing devices, Fuller believes a good spray program gives much better control of the costly pests.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Modern Science Finally Catches Up With Grandpa

I got put in my place the other night. Deserved it, too. My father-in-law said we were due for bad weather. "Birds are flying low," he reported. "That means a storm."

I started to josh with the old gentleman about being superstitious. Then my nephew Jim, on vacation from college, pipes up. "Grandad's right," he says.

"At least, that's what they say at school," Jim goes on. "The heavy air you get before a storm forces insects down low — so high-flying birds have to swoop along the ground if they want to eat."

From where I sit, there's probably sound reasoning back of most old sayings... back of anything people have learned to believe in. Take the idea of a stich in time saving nine — sparing rods and spoiling children — of drinking hot milk, or a refreshing glass of beer, at bedtime. You may not hold with any of these beliefs yourself... but it's not smart to give them the "bird."
