

HULLS

My apologies for not recognizing the following sooner, but somehow time is slipping by faster than it did last year and the year before.

Mrs. James Falls (Anna Jean Atchison) has joined the Tonsil Club.

Mrs. Dno Moorman of Brownwood enclosed an extra five dollars for the Hospital Fund when she mailed in her subscription recently.

To the Progress:
Enclosed check for ten dollars to renew my subscription and five for the hospital fund.

I worked at the hospital when Dr. Ed and George Blackwell were living. Dr. George removed my tonsils and Dr. Ed operated on my brother. My first child was born at Blackwell Hospital. Also had an operation there in the Fifties.

You need a hospital at Gorman. Hope you succeed.

Enjoy getting the home paper. Mrs. Troy (Irene Guy) Wright

To one and all THANK YOU!
This week we are publishing a notice for the forthcoming Hospital District Election.

I regret that some people have become so bitter about this election I don't believe they will ever be friendly with us again. All I can do is hope for the best.

Does Gorman and this area have a future?

Several people seem to think so. Gorman Peanuts is building a new oil mill, plus constantly improving and enlarging their shell facilities.

Our Industrial Committee and Chamber of Commerce are contacting prospect every week striving to bring new business to this area.

The Gorman Progress has installed new printing and photographic equipment, new office supplies, and one new employee. We are now in a position to handle printing that in the past was sent to large printing plants in the city . . . and incidentally, we are proud of the printing accounts we have in cities within a radius of three hundred miles of Gorman.

Our printing plant and newspaper facilities are ready for any expansion in this area. We invite all of you to come in any time and see our plant in operation. We are never too busy to stop and visit with the youngest or oldest.

Congratulations to Mrs. Doyle (LaVelle) Jobe for the Fine Arts Exhibit displayed in the Progress Library. Some folk were a bit skeptical that all of the pictures were by first year students. Personally, I have seen pictures in Art Galleries that should be thrown out and replaced with the ones these youngsters have painted.

Some have inquired about the use of the Progress Library. It is available to anyone, without charge, who wants to use it for civic or club meetings or club displays, etc.

Eventually we hope to improve our library facilities. We appreciate the offer several have made to assist in this project. We do not mean to be selfish in refusing their help. We don't want to involve anyone to where it might limit the use of the library. At present the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and several others have used it for meetings. It may be used for displaying hobbies, rummage sales, etc., on a first come basis.

It looks as though our worries will soon be over. Oh, it might take five or six years longer, maybe less.

Just think, no more politics. No more wondering who to vote for . . . sound silly? Perhaps. But if you have followed the trend of the Supreme Court Dictatorship, what will we need Congressmen and Senators for anyway. If the Supreme Court can arbitrarily tell Congress what they can or can't do, why have a Congress

Notice where Justice Warren has been awarded a plaque for his help to mankind. Wonder if all the rapist, murderers and dope peddlers have also sent him a plaque?

Fine Arts Exhibit Is Well Received Here

The Fine Arts Exhibit opened Thursday night at the Progress Library with a reception and preview showing honoring the art students of La Velle Jobe.

Mesdames Charles Duran, J. O. (Lizzie) Jackson, Sr., and Dean Kirk were hostesses for the reception. The table was laid with a lovely linen cloth appliqued with yellow flowers and green leaves and decorated with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums. Delicious punch and cookies were served to all. The guest register book was made in the shape of an artists' palette as was the large lighted sign welcoming the guests as they entered.

Mrs. Jobe presented each student represented and the hostesses with a white carnation corsage.

The reception was beautiful and very well attended. It was also christened with a rainstorm. Everyone seemed to enjoy the preview showing very much and spirits were high. The paintings were viewed with enthusiasm and interest.

The students who were able to exhibit and attend were Christie Duran, Jeanette Jackson, Lovenia Kinser, Karan Kirk, Betty Seaton and Sue Simmons. They have studied less than a year with Mrs. Jobe and have demonstrated a great deal of creative energy and knowledge. There is something different in each one's work that shows through. They have a mood or style that expresses the personality, which within itself is the essence of art.

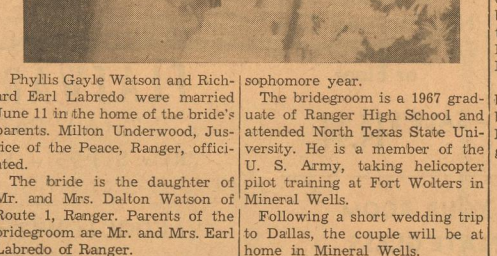

The show, featuring the works of some of Gorman's local talent, remained on public exhibit Friday through Tuesday.

The Fine Arts Exhibit contained 44 paintings and a few linoleum block cuts and prints. Most of the paintings were done in oils. There were some pastels and watercolors. Various techniques were used in doing the oils and there was an interesting variety of still lifes, landscapes, seascapes, and nonobjective paintings. It was fascinating to see the way each one had employed color and to realize that each one had mixed every color, using only the three basic colors — red, blue, yellow — plus white to obtain the many variations.

This exhibit, with register attesting to its attendance, represents a step forward in appreciation of Fine Arts in our community.

Mrs. Jobe expressed her personal thanks and gratitude to the public for their attendance and interest shown for her students' work.

90th Annual Press Convention To Be Held At Six Flags

In 1880 at the Volkfest in Houston, a handful of newspapermen gathered to father a statewide organization — the Texas Press Association.
This year, on June 19-21, more than a handful of newspapermen and numerous guests (over 450) will celebrate TPA's 90th annual convention at th Inn of Six Flags in Arlington.
At the 1880 Volkfest, an all-day walking contest was the supreme highlight. This year in Arlington, the entire Six Flags Over Texas layout will be on the fun agenda.
Topics of discussion in 1880 were mostly late 19th century politics. Then, it took the conventioners a long time just to locate a Republican to place on the board of directors. This year, both parties are represented, but selection is not based on party lines. Speeches will center around 20th century problems.
Newspapermen will be captive audience to Dr. Gerald Monroe of Ling-Temco-Vought when he discusses "The Wet Powder Syndrome—Signs of National Suicide."
Wick Fowler, chili king and humorist of Austin, has been in Vietnam visiting "the boys from Texas." On June 21, he'll give a four-alarm speech (using Wick's rating for the hotness of his chili) on "Where to Next."
"Problems of Industry today," will be another talk along 20th century lines. This one by Nelson Jones, vice-president and a member of the board of Humble Oil & Refining Co. He'll tackle that topic, using his broad and deep experience in the field, and a law degree from UT at Austin to tell it like it is in the oil industry.
On the state side, there will be a luncheon address on Saturday, June 21, by Texas' Governor, the Honorable Preston Smith. Considering all the questions our esteemed governor has on his desk just now—that might be the most exciting event of all.
A newspaperman's convention, like a newspaper, must have an amusements page. That's where 300-pound Lee Herring comes in with his dinner entertainment speech—"Throwing My Weight Around."
Like the comics, Six Flags' afternoon and evening tour have been stuffed into the middle—Friday afternoon and evening—to relax conventioners for the rest of the straight matter.
Betwixt and between, there will be a tour of the General Motors assembly line hosted by Sid Roche, plant manager. A likely question on this tour may relate to the activities of the Student's for a Remocratic Society."
W. Glynn Morris, TPA president, George W. Hawkes, first vice-president, and Ellie Hopkins, second vice-president, will be on hand to keep the Fourth Estaters rolling through the maze of information, problems, and fun.
Yes, your hometown newsmen will soon be on their way to the Inn of Six Flags at Arlington. If there's a publisher missing in your town this weekend, he's probably in Arlington at TPA's 90th annual convention—absorbing knowledge so that he can bring it home to you.

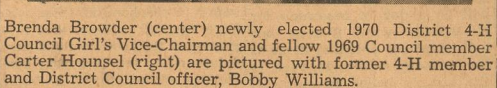

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bryan spent last Sunday in Waco attending a reunion.
Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Watson spent last weekend in Graham with the Jess Goodins.
Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie B. Bryan of California have been visiting Mrs. Doris Bryan.
Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Overby of Waco were here Friday attending the funeral of Mrs. Sam Tunnell and visiting friends.

"If there's one God, why are there so many religions?"

That's a question that has plagued thoughtful people for centuries. Religions often have seemed to divide men rather than join them—which could hardly be God's will. In our time, so full of wonders, we're witnessing what may be the greatest wonder of all: the growing force of inter-faith understanding. It seems to promise a fuller flowering of God's hopes for man. You and me. Great new things are happening in churches and synagogues these days. But find out for yourself. This week. Then take your strengthened faith out into the world—and put it to work.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — FOLLOWING LAST WEEK'S COMMENTS on what happens "after Vietnam," it seems apropos to quote the eminent Chaplain of the United States Senate, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, answering the question: What is the religious justification of the right of self-defense against aggression? It was just two years ago that his statement on this question was published by U. S. News & World Report.

THE WISDOM IS NOTHING INHERENTLY GOOD OR BAD about a sword," Dr. Harris says. "The quality of sharpened steel may depend on whether it is in the hands of a surgeon or a bandit. Earth's greatest Teacher admonished, 'Put up your sword; for he that takes it shall perish by it.' That sword was drawn in anger and vengeance. It was a bad sword. But Jesus also said, 'I am not come to bring peace, but a sword.' That sword unsheathed against evil was a good sword. All depends upon the purpose for which the blade is to be used.

"WITHOUT SWORDS, COERCED MEN ARE COMPELLED to cry peace when there is no peace and to surrender the most heavenly things to the most hellish forces. There is a sword bathed in heaven. If swords are in the hands only of those who cannot be trusted with them, then the only peace possible between the lion and the lamb, which, it is prophesied, shall some day lie down together, is for the lamb to lie down inside the lion. There are present-day appeasers of evil who would label that arrangement peace. But a peace dictated by unethical force is the peace of slaves.

"A NATION MUST BE STRONG TO MAKE ITS WORD for peace effective. A peace gained by constant retreat because of the threatening blackmail of superior force is not peace, but war. It will be a day of mourning for all the free world if ever our nation, whose potential force is the greatest, refuses to back to the hilt its belief in universal brotherhood and to use its terrible swift sword against aggressors ready to pounce on new victims.

"THERE ALWAYS IS ENOUGH BAD IN THE WORLD to shatter any dream of an ethical peace, unless that ill will has a restraining fear of the power of organized good will. To weaken the national striking power is to vote to make it inevitable that the democracies shall be forced to do the bidding of oral perverts who have been allowed to fashion a preponderance of swords.

"OF COURSE, FORCE NEVER IS THE LAST WORD. At best, it but clears the way for the constructive agencies of friendship, good will and co-operation to do their healing work, so that at last swords can be turned into plowshares. But when you face men who have put the state on the throne, instead of God, you cannot conquer them by kindly example or a friendly smile. No gentle charms can stay the fangs of the cobra when it is ready to strike. To allow callous devilry—whenever it is powerful enough—to trample righteousness into the mire at will, while the forces of good stand impotently by, is a tragic travesty of justice and judgment.

"IN ENGLAND, BEFORE WORLD WAR II, a group of influential clergymen, ignoring Germany's rearmament, led a movement utterly to renounce the sword of defense.

"DECLARING THEY WERE WILLING TO RISK ALL on meeting Hitler's threat with understanding and good will, they secured hundreds of thousands of signed pledges of a virtual refusal to take up arms. That futile policy, sincerely followed, helped to bomb the churches of which these preachers were the ministers and to fill the land with lamentations for the mangled and the dead. That crusade was a definite factor in Britain's unpreparedness when the foe struck. Time tragically proved it was no hour to exchange a clean sword for an olive branch.

"IN AMERICA, A MAN STOOD UP IN A FREE pulpit to preach. He quoted detached sentences from the Christ whose hand held the lash when His Father's House was made a den of thieves, and whose eyes were often as a flame of fire. The preacher declared that evil, no matter how diabolical, was never to be resisted with any physical weapons. Rhetorically, he asked, 'What has a sword ever accomplished worthwhile?'

"IN A PEW WAS A WORSHIPPER WHOSE HEART was an aching void and in whose home was a Gold Star, speaking of the valor of a young crusader who marched forth with a righteous sword and came not back. At the church door, following the service, that worshiper said to the clergyman: 'I can tell you one thing that the righteous sword has done.'

"WHAT?" ASKED THE MINISTER.

"REPLIED THE LISTENER WITH DEEP FEELING: 'The sword in the hand of those who have resisted militant evil has given you the right to stand here today and to proclaim your convictions without fear of being liquidated.'

"THE ONE WHO HAD PUBLICLY SAID THAT RAMPANT evil was never to be resisted by force paused for a moment and then acknowledged, 'I am afraid I cannot refute that.'

"THERE IS NO REFUTATION IN GOD'S WORLD and man's for the flesh of the righteous sword!"

WITHOUT IMPUGNING MOTIVES OF ANY MAN, it all devolves down to the question of appraising the kind of world in which we live. Should we trust those who have historically avowed to destroy our Nation or be prepared to defend ourselves at whatever costs?
