"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF FARMER COUNTY"
NUMBER 29 SIXTY-FIFTH YEAR 15 CENTS

It is going to be a long hot summer for the denizens of the courthouse and those of us in the immediate vicinity. There's no shade left to park our automobiles under. In fact, we are worrying about the squirrels getting sun stroke. Well, we are sure that Mother Nature will repair the shade shearing in time to come, but until then it's gonna' be hotter 'n heck.

Last Saturday evening we were drowsing in our favorite easy chair when our ears picked up a strange sound about the time our nose informed us of a distinctive tang to the air. We dashed to the front door for a visual confirmation that it was actually raining. It was, so to fully savor this spring phenomenon, we stepped out in the yard and just stood for several minutes and rejoiced in nature's beneficence. The cars that passed probably thought some nut lived therein. We guess they were right, but standing in the rain in West Texas is a rare experience many people are denied.

Little known facts: Circle irrigation sprinklers are also good at pulling fence posts. Ask Gilbert Kaltwasser, his is. The "one in a jillion" occurrence happened this way. Gilbert had a length of clothesline attached to the end of his sprinkler pipe. Somehow this line wrapped around a fence post and as the sprinkler continued on its inexorable arc it gradually tightened the line until the post uprooted. The end section of the pipe then flipped in the air and upon returning, it did bend. The actual uprooting was witnessed by a passer-by who told Gilbert of his problem. A lot of probabilities had to mesh for this to happen. Gilbert should buy a ticket in the Irish Derby if he can win at those odds.

The administration has come up with another poser in logic. This is their plan to raise the gas tax and also to put a tax on the sale of "gas hogs." If Jimmy Carter is indeed the champion of the "little man," why is his administration planning to put an onerous tax on one item many small wage earners need desperately to earn that living? Gasoline. An additional tax on gasoline will not significantly dissuade the rich from using gas. It will only hinder the poor and the middle class.

If our country must conserve gasoline, well then, as burdensome as it is, let's go to rationing. If "gas hogs" are to be taxed, that is, those vehicles in the 8 to 9 mile per gallon range, then pickups stand to be subject to this discriminatory action. Goodness knows how many people depend upon the ubiquitous pickup for a living.

After all, a fellow that is going to chunk off umpteen thousand for a rolling palace is not going to balk at a few more thou. If he couldn't afford it, he wouldn't be in that market in the first place. As it shapes up to us the administration's plan will not significantly deter the rich and well-to-do from their pleasures, only place an added burden on the working class.

Even the real estate business has its lighter moments. Seems that Mr. Jones, accompanied by a Realtor Mr. Smith was out house hunting. The last house on their list looked the most promising to Jones. However, as they looked at the house a pretty young girl came out and sat on the porch. Said Jones, I like this house the most, but it seems to be rented.
Said Smith, "No, the house is lassed but not leased."

City, School, Hospital - - Voters To Polls Saturday To Decide Three Races

With the April 2 elections only one day away (Saturday), the time is getting short for the voters to decide who is going to fill the vacant positions. Voters will cast their ballots in the Farwell city election, Farwell Independent School Board and Farwell Hospital District Board election. Lazbuddie voters will also decide on two members to the Lazbuddie Independent School Board.

In deciding not to run for re-election, Farwell Mayor Gil Patschke has left the door open for either Walter Kaltwasser or Jerry Yows to take over the reigns for the City of Farwell for the next two years.

Joining the new mayor will be two members on the Farwell City Council. The two-year terms will be filled by either Johnny Curtis, Truman McKillip, or incumbent Fred Chandler. Ralph Franse chose not to run for another term on the city council.

The Farwell Independent School Board election finds six candidates vying for the two expiring terms. Looking to fill the positions for the next three years are Jerry Darby, Joe Schilling, Gary Foster, Jim Walker, Troy Christian, and incumbent Billy Mayfield. R.J. Garner decided not to seek re-election.

In the Hospital District Board race, the five incumbents are seeking re-election unopposed. The candidates are Jim Berry, Prentice Mills, Pudge Rose, Bob Anderson, and Maxine Williams.

The race for the two vacant positions on the Lazbuddie school board is to be decided between three candidates. Lee Dennis joins incumbents Gene Paul Jarman and L.M. (Chunk) Smith in vying for the three-year terms.

There is a combined ballot for the Farwell hospital district board and Farwell school board elections. Voters may cast their ballots in the county courtroom from 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Saturday.

Persons living in Bailey County and within the Farwell School District are eligible to vote only in the school board election and not in the hospital board election, since they do not reside within the hospital district.

sorry to learn of this move. He said that the Hospital District Board had no immediate plans, but that it would make every effort to secure another doctor as soon as possible.

The "Living Proof" advertising campaign is an unprecedented promotion of the Christian belief. It is believed to be the largest advertising campaign of its kind ever attempted by a Christian denomination and is designed to support a long-range evangelistic effort called Good News Texas.

According to Dr. L.L. Morris of Dallas, chairman of the coordinating committee, the heart of the campaign is the brief testimonies of well-known people carried in the manner of commercials.

Featured in the messages are such individuals as former black militant Eldridge Cleaver, actor Dean Jones, country-western singers Jeannie C. Riley and Connie Smith, and professional football player Billy "White Shoes" Johnson of the Houston Oilers.

There are also messages from Paulino Bernal, a Mexican-American musician; businessman Allan Mayer; and RosArgentina Pinel, consul general of the Republic of Honduras. Radio-happy young people will hear Beck Reid, Miss Teenage America for 1977.

The Texas Baptists carried out an extensive market research in planning the campaign. The research determined the most pressing problem for most Texans is hopelessness: "It's getting harder to trust anyone or anything."

The second greatest problem was lack of purpose: "My life seems to be a rat race without any clear goals." Third is a lack of peace of mind: "I have no physical or emotional problems, but I can't find peace."

Texas Baptist Executive Director James H. Landes said other denominations are encouraged to use the opportunities created by the commercials to minister in Christ's name. Indeed, the campaign has drawn the attention of other denominations, if a feature story in the Texas Methodist newspaper is an indication.

The paper's associate editor, Clyde Chestnut, wrote a feature story March 11, "United Methodists in Texas who are encouraged in the missional priority of evangelism may have gained an unexpected boost from the Southern Baptists."

The campaign has been covered in Newsweek, the National Enquirer, on the national newspaper wire service, CBS-TV's program "Who's Who," and on a syndicated TV talk show.

The "Living Proof" commercials were developed with the assistance of an advertising agency in Dallas, to help create a receptive climate for the 4,000 Texas Baptist Churches to share Christ in their communities.

In order that people might respond immediately, the TV and radio spots, along with the newspaper advertisements, billboards and bus cards, carry the address Box 1000, Dallas.

More than a year was spent in developing the comprehensive media evangelism campaign designed to reach every Texan with a gospel message at least 40 times.

The advertising agency tested different kinds of "Good News" commercials with the help of professional polling experts, in the same manner the agency tests consumer product messages. The "Living Proof" theme, involving real people with real stories to tell, had the greatest appeal to the unchurched and the unbelieving.

The campaign is sponsored and paid for by the Southern Baptist in Texas and is aimed straight at the heart and mind of any person who has experienced hopelessness, an uneasy mind, or aimlessness.

The campaign makes no appeal for contributions. Many of the testimonials are heard in both English and Spanish. It is recognized by Southern Baptist officials that the media messages alone will not "sell" the Christian gospel. Local Baptist churches not only needed to provide financial support, they also had to be given the opportunity to welcome those who wanted to know more about the good news of Christ.

In the final analysis, the success of the campaign will depend on the follow-through of local pastors and church members. Each church received a comprehensive packet of information, including suggestions for training local church members, following through on contacts, direct mail outreach, telephone networks, and revival meetings.

The "Living Proof" campaign was launched February 21 in the North Texas area and will be presented across the state in 18 different zones in less than three months. It will be emphasized in the Texas Panhandle March 27-April 24.

Farwell First Baptist Church will hold a revival in conjunction with the campaign. Evangelist for the revival, to be held April 18-24, will be Bro. James Hackney, pastor of the Maplewood Baptist Church in St. Louis, Mo.

Arabian oil and American food shared the limelight recently in an international economic discussion about the major factors in worldwide economic stability. Each of these, OPEC's oil and American farmers' food production, tied as being the most important factors relating to world economy. Of special interest to the agricultural producer is the fact that most experts agreed that the long-range favorite in terms of dominance is food. Our farmers and ranchers have made an outstanding contribution to the Country's position in world trade during the past decade. Their unrivaled productive capacity has kept the U.S. at the forefront of international influence and prestige. It is up to all of us to encourage continued productivity and prosperity for the world's number one producer... the American farmer.

Funds Still Needed - -

Country Club Drive Deadline Is Monday

The month-long fund drive by Farwell Country Club to pay off the club's indebtedness, ends this Monday when a general membership meeting will be held.

The meeting, at which members will learn the fate of the club's future, is set for Monday night, 8 o'clock, at the club building.

Early in March the board of directors was given the "go-ahead" by members to seek the $126,000 needed to retire the debt owed to FHA. Board members have worked diligently during the past few weeks contacting members and non-members alike for contributions to help keep the recreational facility open for area citizens.

Board president Walter Hughes said early this week that "we still have a way to go, but are still hopeful we can attain our goal." Last week over 65 per cent of the amount had been collected or pledged.

Anyone who has not donated to the club's fund drive is encouraged to call or see a board member and donate whatever sum he can so that the goal may be reached and the club can stay open.

Home Damage High - -

Sheriff Investigates Farwell Vandalism

Parmer County Sheriff Charles Lovelace reports several cases of vandalism took place in Farwell last Friday and Saturday nights. Two occupied homes, two vacant houses and an apartment complex under construction received glass breakage and damage in excess of $800. Also, seven street lights surrounding Farwell Schools were broken.

The homes of Willie Williams on Fourth Street and W.E. Martin on Second Street received damage when bricks and rocks were thrown through windows of the residences. Houses under construction by J.B. Sudderth on Fifth Street and Paul Haden on Fourth Street, and an apartment complex under construction by Hubert and Jerry Ellison on Ninth Street also received broken glass damage.

According to Sheriff Lovelace, neighbors were awakened by noise of the incident at the Williams' home and gave the Sheriff's office a description of the vehicle the suspects used. The Sheriff also collected evidence at the scene of the vandalism attacks and believes the perpetrators to be teenagers.

James Sweny of Summerfield is in custody in Friona under $5000 bond for the burglary of arrowheads valued at $3000 belonging to Nelson Lewis of Friona.

Floie Copeland, activities director, who has returned from a week-long fishing trip to Graham, Tex., reports that the fish "were not biting." She added that they fished in every lake and hole in the area and used different kinds of hooks and baits, but succeeded in catching only one two-inch perch. But in spite of the dearth of fish, Mrs. Copeland says all had a good time.

Nurse's Aide Helps

With Center Residents

Karla Sue Davis of Amarillo, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis of Farwell and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brownlow of Clovis, recently visited her grandmother, Mrs. Brownlow, who is a nurse at Farwell Convalescent Center and spent the day volunteering her services as a nurse's aide.

Karla loved her temporary job and her efforts were appreciated by residents like Maude Wilson, who thoroughly enjoyed all the love and attention she received from Karla. Everyone at the Center affectionately called Karla "the future nurse of the Convalescent Center" and eagerly look forward to her return.

NURSE KARLA DAVIS WITH MAUDE WILSON

Everyone at the Center is saddened by the loss of Maudie Goodin who died last week.

Floie's quote of the week is: "As we grow old, the beauty steals inward." Ralph Waldo Emerson.

This week the spotlight is on Bobby Hix, 37, who was born in Littlefield on Jan. 8, 1940. He came to Farwell from Abilene. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Knight, live in Bovina. Hix has four children all of whom live in Eunice, N.M. He also has three sisters.

For many years Hix farmed near the Hub community and he operated a service station in Amarillo for 10 years. He has been in nursing homes for the past two years, but reports that he likes the Convalescent Center "best of all." Hobbies included hunting and motorcycle riding, but now Hix spends his time working on wood projects or other Center projects, and reading sports and western magazines. His favorite television shows are "Hee Haw" and "Hawaii Five-O."

All at the Center agree that Hix is well-informed on current events as he is the one who keeps them updated on the latest news of movie and TV stars.

Proud Mother

Mrs. Mark (Nancy) Schwertner, the area homemaker this week, spends a lot of time caring for six-month-old Melissa. Nancy says she loves to observe the day-by-day changes and progressions of her daughter. The young homemaker also likes to cook and bake, especially quick and easy recipes which do not require a lot of time in preparation.

Portraying Area Homemakers

By Shirley Gorman

Mrs. Mark (Nancy) Schwertner, who lives three and one-half miles east of Farwell, is an old-fashioned girl who "enjoys living in the country." She is also a totally involved woman who does not believe in wasting time.

When Nancy is not looking after her six-month-old daughter, Melissa, or helping husband Mark with farm chores, she is involved with the activities of the Altar Society, an organization of St. Ann's Catholic Church in Bovina, of which she and her family are members.

The young homemaker has been married only two years. She and her husband met on the campus of Texas Tech University in Lubbock. She was studying to be a medical technician and he was an agriculture major. Now, even though both hold degrees in their respective areas of study, neither, at least for the present, have decided to pursue those careers.

Both are actively engaged in the pursuit of corn farming and that is more than enough to keep them occupied, says Nancy. According to our homemaker, their education is "something that they will always have to fall back on in the future."

Mrs. Schwertner says she chose the medical technology field because she "wanted to help people and was always interested in bacteria and the diseases they cause." All she lacks is a year's internship at a hospital to complete all the requirements of a full-fledged medical technician.

Shortly before her marriage Nancy was offered the internship position at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo, but declined it because she and her husband were moving to Farwell. Someday, she says, she hopes to finish that phase of her education.

Our homemaker is a hombody whose talents and interests range from sewing to crocheting and gardening. She makes clothes for herself and Melissa, and once made a sports coat for Mark. Making the coat was a challenge because "it was harder and more complicated" than anything else she had made before.

Nancy also likes crewel embroidery and has crocheted several items. Planting and tending a "small garden" is another favorite hobby of the young homemaker. After nurturing it throughout the summer, she cans and freezes the finished products.

"I feel a great satisfaction in stocking our larder with things I have grown and canned myself," Mrs. Schwertner said.

Nancy's membership in St. Ann's Altar Society also occupies some of her time. Recently they hosted their annual sausage supper. According to Nancy, the organizations activities range from serving sausage dinners to making Christmas and Easter baskets of food and clothing for needy families.

She also likes the outdoors and does not mind helping Mark whenever she is needed. Nancy explained that prior to moving to Farwell she and Mark had been "cotton people" and had never been around corn before. It was a change for them, but she admits they like it very much.

Mrs. Schwertner also likes plants, as is evidenced by the ones hanging in her home. A special favorite is a combination jew and airplane plant. The airplane plant is in the center of the pot and the leaves of the jew hang over the sides of the plant holder.

A certain bundle of joy, christened Melissa, arrived to the Schwertners six months ago and has since become the "joy of their lives" and the topic of many a conversation with family, friends and neighbors. The little tyke is doted over by her parents and basks in their love and admiration as she attempts to talk, walk and otherwise make her presence known. She is aware of company and knows how to shine a smile or two in the direction of the camera.

Little Melissa also has accomplished the art of swinging. She has a special indoor swing, which when wound up automatically rocks her back and forth. But, not liking the slower pace, the inventive youngster learned to kick her feet to propel herself higher and faster, much to the surprise, admiration and sometimes cautious concern of her mother.

Mrs. Schwertner says they like to travel. A little over a year ago, they rented a camper and traveled through a few southern states. Besides touring old southern plantations and visiting civil war monuments, they attended the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tenn. She says they prefer to travel that way because they can see more of the countryside.

Nancy's interests and hobbies also include redoing furniture. Last summer she refinished a dresser that had belonged to her grandmother. Recently, she purchased a dry sink and intends to refinish it in the near future.

Our homemaker has three recipes which she has consented to share with our readers.

Texico Pep Club To Sponsor 'Spring Tree' Fashion Show

If you are a "latest fashion bug" or are just plain interested in having a good time, then the Spring Tree Fashions Style Show, sponsored by Texico Pep Club, is just what you have been waiting for. The extravaganza is slated to get underway Friday, Apr. 8, at 7:30 p.m. MST in the Texico Gym.

The upcoming fashion show is the "brain child" of Janice Turner, Pep Club sponsor, and Mrs. Ethel Hager, owner of the two shops in Clovis from which clothes will be modeled. Mrs. Turner says the style show will be more than just the average event in which models parade fashions before an audience. Other coordinators for the show are Carol Hager and Helen Grandy. Narrators will be Norma Killian and Pete Wilt.

To add a flare to the Spring Tree Fashions Style Show, entertainment will be provided by Fischer and Mac, two musicians from Clovis, and the Texico Drill team.

Another feature is that models will show off their styles while acting out skits such as "Easter Parade" and "Hee Haw." The musicians will provide the background music to the various "mini plays."

The models are high school girls and their mothers from Texico, Farwell, Bovina and Clovis. The girls represent school organizations such as cheerleaders, and according to Mrs. Turner, they will keep a portion of the proceeds. With its share of the gate, Texico Pep Club plans to purchase trees for the school grounds.

Tickets may be purchased from the organizations represented at the style show or at the door. Admission is $1 for adults and $5 for students. Mrs. Turner urges and en-cover and simmer for approximately 8 minutes. Salt and pepper to taste. Brown the ground beef and pour off the excess fat. Add ground beef to vermicelli and let it simmer for a few minutes.

Boil and stir one minute. Pour into ungreased 2 qt. casserole dish. Keep fruit mixture hot while preparing biscuit topping.

Measure flour, 1 T. sugar, and ½ t. baking powder, and salt into a bowl. Add shortening and milk. Cut through shortening until dough forms a ball and spoon into hot mixture. Bake 25-30 minutes or until biscuit topping is golden brown. Yields six servings.

courages everyone to "come out and support the style show."

To prepare for the style event of Texico's school year, the high school models rehearsed last Sunday afternoon and were to hold another rehearsal Thursday night. A third rehearsal will be held prior to the style show, but no time has been set for it as yet.

According to Doris Ford, Theta Rho president, anyone needing a ride to the Health Fair should either contact an ESA member or plan to be at the parking lot of First Baptist Church in Farwell at 1:15 p.m. CST on Tuesday, Apr. 5. ## Andersons Visit In Eastern States

Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Anderson of Farwell recently returned from a two-week trip which took them to Washington, D.C., and other points in the eastern United States to visit their son and daughters.

First stop on the agenda was Washington, D.C., where the Andersons attended the Annual Meeting of Independent Bankers Association. Mrs. Anderson remarked that besides participating in the meetings, "which were very interesting," they also enjoyed entertainment provided by the convention. Tops on her list of favorites were the 30-member "Young Virginians" who "really put on a good singing show." The group attends Virginia Tech.

While in the nation's capitol the local couple also visited with Texas congressman, George Mahon. They toured the Smithsonian Institute and viewed the King Tut exhibit. Mrs. Anderson commented that she was amazed at the display of gold and jewelry included in the exhibit.

Following the bankers meeting, visiting and sightseeing, the Farwellites journeyed to New Port, R.I., to spend a few days with their son, Ensign Will Anderson, who is stationed there.

"It snowed a little there," said Mrs. Anderson, adding, "it was quite a change from the gorgeous weather we had in Washington, D.C."

Next stop was Lake Forest, Ill., where they visited daughter Meredith, who is a student at Lake Forest College. En route home, the Andersons stopped in Dallas to visit another daughter, Caroline.

Welcome Rains Bring Much Needed Moisture

Last Saturday and Sunday proved to be two of the nicest days so far this spring even though the sun did not shine. The clouds came rolling in and those little drops of water finally fell from the sky.

Although it was not as much as local farmers would like to receive, the Farwell area did record .60-.75 inches of rain over the weekend and some rain gauges in the Oklahoma Lane area held as much as one full inch when the rain had stopped.

According to Parmer County Agricultural Agent Mack Heald, the welcome precipitation will be of benefit to the wheat and to pre-watering, but the high winds on Monday reduced some of the beneficial effects of the soaking rain.

The rain came so slowly and peacefully, however, it did not have a chance to run off before being soaked up by the thirsty soil. Even the small amount of hail which fell along with the rain will benefit the crops since it was too soft to cause any damage and just added to the amount of moisture received.

As the rain clouds passed out of the area, they left behind the hope that more will soon follow and that April showers will indeed bring May flowers.

Rains Fall On Area

Last Saturday and Sunday brought the first rains of the spring season and raised the hopes of area residents that more rain is on its way. The Farwell area received less than an inch of rain but it was enough to fill the city gutters and to stand in this lot north of the rodeo grounds.

Texico Council Sets Clean-Up Campaign

Texico's clean-up campaign, slated for Saturday, Apr. 16, was a major topic of discussion at the city council meeting Tuesday night. According to Trustee Max Carter, chairman of the project, all Texico service organizations, clubs and interested residents are urged to participate in the clean-up project.

"The city will once again be assisted by the Environmental Improvement Agency in Clovis. A year ago, Texico, aided by this agency, carried out an effective clean-up campaign. Carter feels that "now is the time for a follow-up campaign to be initiated." According to Carter, major targets of the project will be heavily-weeded areas, and property containing junk piles and abandoned buildings, which provide "good homes for rats." The Texico trustee pointed out that the clean-up efforts have a twofold purpose; to rid Texico of rat habitats and to help beautify the city.

Two representatives of Trucking Transport Company of Texas, Calvin Warren and Ralph Uilberri, asked the city to consider opening the west end of Hereford Avenue. City officials agreed that if development occurs in that area of town then the avenue in question does need to be opened. However, as the Council needed further legal advice concerning the matter, they tabled the request until such information could be obtained.

Various complaints from Texico citizens regarding trash pickup was also discussed. Clara Wiehl, city clerk, said that a monthly schedule of trash pickup dates is available at the city hall and anyone wishing to refer to it may come by any time during regular office hours.

George Davis of Clovis, trash contractor, was to collect trash in Texico on Thursday. Scheduled pickup dates for the month of April are as follows: 5, 8, 12, 15, 18, 21, 26 and 29.

In other business it was announced that Mayor Manfred Turnbough and Joe Caywood will attend a regional meeting sponsored by New Mexico Municipal League in Ft. Sumner, N.M., on April 6 and that Mrs. Juanita Foreman has been hired as janitor for the city offices. Mrs. Foreman replaces Mrs. Felix Wine-gart.

Present for the meeting were Mayor Turnbough; trustees Marie Christian, Bill Thigpen, Vane Doshier and Carter; city employees Mickey Fenn, Billy Hammit, and Mrs. Wiehl; city attorney Harry Patton, and visitors Gene Mortimer, representative of the Environmental Improvement Agency, Warren and Uilberri.

Farwell Volunteer Fire Department reported one fire call, one fire drill and two emergency vehicle runs this week. On March 24 they responded to a call to Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply where 16 cotton trailers were on fire. According to a spokesman for the company, a damage estimate was not available and the cause of the fire is unknown. On March 26 the fire units conducted a fire drill at Farwell Convalescent Center.

On March 23 the emergency vehicle answered a call to Sherley-Anderson-Pitman, but was not needed to transport anyone to the hospital. Tuesday the emergency vehicle transported a local resident to the Clovis hospital.

New Mexico Bookmobile Sets New Texico Hours

Unknown to most residents of Texico, the New Mexico State Library still runs a once-a-month bookmobile service to their town. Formerly associated mainly with the schools, this public library now emphasizes service to the whole community.

The truck carries a full range of recreational reading as well as information materials such as crafts, gardening, health and religion. Selections of large print books and Spanish books are on board and almost any book can be obtained by the bookmobile through inter library loan. "All this and no fines!" emphasize the librarians.

The bookmobile will stop in front of Texico City Hall from 2-4 p.m. on April 5. The first Tuesday of the month is library day.

SWCD News

Soil survey reports, detailing soil characteristics for farmers and other land users, will be completed on 150 counties in the U.S. this fiscal year, according to R.M. Davis, administrator of the USDA's Soil Conservation Service. Twenty-eight of these will be completed for counties in Texas.

In those counties where a cooperative soil survey has not been published or is not underway, the Soil Conservation Service can usually provide the same information on a plot-by-plot basis on request from landowners.

For those who need to know more about the status of soil surveys or the usefulness of soil survey information, contact Herb Evans, SCS district conservatologist at Friona.

FFA Teams Enter Meet

Texico FFA Judging teams are now competing at Las Cruces in the State Judging Meet.

In the recent district meet at Portales, the meat judging team and the poultry team both received third place trophies. John Burgett received a plaque for second-high individual in meats judging.

Team members in meats judging included Burgett, Dusty Casey, and Steve Kittrell. Poultry judging team members are Jeff Christian, Doug Scioli, Doug Osborn, and Wes Mosier.

April Fools' Day - -

Hunt The Gowk Another Mile

April Fools' Day, All Fools' Day, these are other names for the first day of April. That day when there are spiders crawling on your friend's shoulder or the day your shoes are untied-maybe.

America's April Fools' Day is similar to the Huli festival of India and Persia and to the Roman spring ritual. Historically, it seems related to the vernal equinox, when nature fools mankind with sudden changes from showers to sunshine.

It is an occasion when all people, even the most dignified, are given an excuse to play the fool.

In France, the fooled person is called a fish, referring to a young fish ready to bite an empty hook.

In April comes the cuckoo, emblem of the simpleton. Hence, in Scotland, the victim is called cuckoo or gowk, as in the verse: "On the first of Aprile, Hunt the gowk another mile."

Hunting the gowk was a fruitless errand; so was hunting for hen's teeth, for a square circle or for stirrup oil, which proves to be several strokes from a leather strap.

By the way, did you know that the Goodrich blimp is passing over the Farwell and Clovis area today?

County Commissioners Approve Payments

Parmer County Commissioners Court met Monday, Mar. 28, in a regularly-scheduled meeting at the courthouse with all members present except Jimmy Briggs, who was in Austin on Commissioners Court business.

A report was given to the Court to the effect that the program on Highway 214 is progressing on schedule.

It was also reported that the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Conference has elected new officers. Giles Dalby was elected president, Woody Pond was elected vice-president, and Bernard Eads was elected secretary-treasurer.

The Court agreed to pay Miller Flying Service, Inc., of Plainview for charter service to fly a Parmer County resident, who had been a patient in the Central Plains MH/MR Center in Plainview, to John Sealy Hospital in Galveston for treatment.

The Court agreed to purchase one mannequin and one film for the Parmer County Chapter of the American Heart Association to use in the instruction courses for CPR procedures.

Organization Renamed

Parmer County's agency for aid to the poor, the disabled, the ill and the homeless, formerly known as "Bovina Neighborhood Center," has been renamed "Parmer County Community Services Center at Bovina" at its regular monthly meeting Thursday.

The organization, located on Second Street in Bovina, is run by Pearl Cervantez under the direction of a 15-member Board of Directors made up of Parmer County residents. The center is used by individuals and church organizations as a clearing house for the correction of human needs from emergency aid to social security information.

Stanley Klimek, chairman of the board, hopes that the name change will secure more referrals from all over the county since the Center is for the use of the entire Parmer County.

The Center's next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. on April 21, and the public is encouraged to attend.

Where Have The Branches Gone?

The front lawn surrounding Parmer County Courthouse is sporting a new look these days as the trees have been pruned, leaving a host of "limbless giants" to guard the building's occupants against the soon-to-be apparent searing rays of old Sol. This new look was affected last week by workers from an Amarillo landscaping company who descended, buzz saws ready, on the unsuspecting elms. The massive facelifting and subsequent clean-up task were completed in a week.

Meet Your Teachers

Mrs. Robert (Dorris) White embarked on her first year as the commercial studies teacher at Farwell High School last August, although she has taught in the Farwell school system for five years. Mrs. White began her career in junior high, teaching English and reading. Now her duties at the high school include teaching typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and office practice. She says she enjoys working with this age group, adding that because she teaches electives the students are in her classes because they want to be, not because they have to be. Mrs. White has a BBA from West Texas State University in Canyon and is currently working toward a Masters of Education degree at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, which she expects to complete this summer.

by Members of Journalism I Class

A mini-course on home economics will be taught by Mrs. Oweida Franz, student teacher in the home economics department, to Mrs. Paula Leighton's freshman math class.

The Cost Cutter

One Less Irrigation * Lower Harvest and Hauling Costs

* Less Moisture Dockage * Lower Drying Cost * More Income and Profit per Acre

Pioneer brand 3780 improves corn profits four ways. It is an early hybrid that takes one less watering than the hybrids you've been planting. It also dries faster after maturity than other corns. Since it has good standability and ear retention, you can leave it in the field to dry. This means you harvest less moisture, haul less moisture, and have little or no dockage and drying cost.

SINCE IT DOESN'T COST AS MUCH TO GROW, IT CAN MAKE MORE MONEY

In 1976, farmers found that "Cost Cutter" 3780 produced significantly more net income per acre than competitive corns of much later maturity. Though the green weight yield of later maturity corns was greater, 3780 was usually much lower in moisture and thus higher in dry yield per acre. When the saving in irrigation fuel cost was added to the higher dry yield, it made a difference of $20 to $30 net income per acre.

This hybrid matures 11 to 13 days earlier than our famous 3369A but it doesn't concede yield for its earliness. Under most growing conditions, it will yield pretty close to the full-season varieties and harvest several points drier.

TOUGH ENOUGH TO TAKE IT

3780 is also a tough little hybrid that can take some stress. Head smut didn't bother it in 1976. It has good roots and stalks and holds its ears well. It is sensitive about getting pre-tassel water right on time, however. That critical irrigation time is fairly short since it passes quickly through each stage of growth.

Here are actual examples of 3780's ability to make more profit than later maturing, high yielding competitors:

Year	Location	Pioneer Brand	Yield wet weight lbs./acre	% Moisture at Harvest	Pay Weight after drying 1	Gross return per acre 2	Harvest and hauling cost 3	Difference in irrigation cost 4	Adjusted Gross return per acre for each hybrid	Dollar per acre advantage for 3780
1976	Oklahoma Panhandle and West Texas	PIONEER brand 3780	8,788	14.6	8,788	$ 351.52	$ 43.94	—	$ 307.58	$ 22.47
		VS. M17N28* Station Cross	10,729	25.1	8,669	$ 346.76	$ 53.65	$ 8.00	$ 285.11
1975	Oklahoma Panhandle and West Texas	PIONEER brand 3780	8,156	13.6	8,156	$ 326.24	$ 40.78	—	$ 285.45	$ 26.37
		VS. M17N28* Station Cross	8,661	20.7	7,760	$ 310.40	$ 43.31	$ 8.00	$ 259.09

*The most widely sold station cross on the Plains. It is sold under several different brand names and variety designations.
1) Drying and dockage charge was 2% per point of moisture above 15.5%. 2) Returns figured with corn at $4.00 per cwt. 3) Harvest and hauling costs at 50¢ per cwt.
4) The savings of one irrigation by 3780 at an estimated cost of $8.00 per acre.

"THE KING OF THE CROWD"

Plant Weather Master EPX 888 the consistent corn for this area. EPX 888 is medium tall, strong straight stalks, erect dark green leaves. With plenty of water and fertilizer this corn has made over 13,000 lbs. dry weight per acre. It's always at the top.

EPX 777 is a sister hybrid to EPX 888. Bred to take high population and peak fertility. Yield is almost as good as 888 and is about one week earlier in maturity. Plant Weather Master and have your corn in the elevator while other varieties are still dying down.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

BY CORNELIUS R. STAM, PRES. BEREAN BIBLE SOCIETY CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60635

WITHOUT THE LAW

In Rom. 3:21,22, we find a most striking statement:
"But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; 'Even the righteousness of God...by Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe...'"

The "righteousness of God," bestowed upon believers, apart from the law? Do you believe that? This is difficult for many people, especially religious people, to accept, yet here it is in the written Word of God: "Now the righteousness of God without the law has been manifested." And the passage goes on to say that the law and the prophets bear witness that this is righteousness indeed, for it is the righteousness of Christ freely conferred upon the believer.

But how shall we interpret the words "but now," in this passage? When was this "bestowed righteousness" first manifested or revealed? At Calvary? No, there it was purchased for us, but not yet proclaimed. Under our Lord's "great commission" to His eleven apostles, then? No, not one record of this commission contains one word about justification through the finished work of Christ at Calvary.

Was it at Pentecost, then, that Christ's righteousness was first proclaimed for the remission of sins? No, not even at Pentecost. There convicted hearers were still told to "repent and be baptized...for the remission of sins" (Acts 2:38).

It was not until Paul that this blessed message went forth. It was Paul, and no one until Paul, who declared: "But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested."

This was appropriate, since Paul was the chief of sinners, saved by grace, and through him God could now send forth the glorious message that sinners may be saved by grace, through faith in the One who died for their sins: "In whom we have redemption, through His blood, THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS ACCORDING TO THE RICHES OF HIS GRACE" (Eph. 1:7).

Mr. And Mrs. Lenton Pool - -

Happy Retirees Recount California Travels

How do you spell retirement? The Lenton Pools of Farwell spell it "f-u-n." Last year after Mr. and Mrs. Pool retired from their respective positions as bank teller and school teacher, the travel bug bit them.

First they packed their belongings, closed their home on Second Street, and drove by car to Carlsbad, Calif., to visit a son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Pool and children.

The blue skies and warm inviting California weather beckoned to them, and with the encouragement of their son, they purchased a mobile home at Indio. The 12x60 foot trailer with a double expansion section became a "home away from home" for the retirees.

The spacious mobile home sets in a large park which accommodates 65 similar lodgings. Among the facilities the park has to offer is a swimming pool and recreation center complete with television. The Farwellites lived close enough to the pool to take twice daily dips in the cool invigorating waters.

Nearly every weekend the Don Pools packed their camper and traveled to Indio to visit the local couple. Needless to say, the visits were much appreciated and as Don is a part owner in the mobile court he was more than happy to have his parents settle in their new domain.

Prior to buying their "home on wheels," the Pools lived for a few weeks in their son's camper. Compared to their roomy mobile home, the lack of space in the camper was unbelievable, they report. But, they say, the "sacrifice of tight temporary quarters was worth it compared to the restful enjoyment of living in California for the winter."

Pool is happy to be retired and says it is wonderful to be able to do what he wants to do when he wants to do it. Living in California was a busy time for the local couple as they always had something to do or somewhere to visit.

Among the cities they visited was Hemet which sports a grandiose flea market and the Joshua Tree Monument. Pool explained that the term "monument" is not to be taken literally. According to the local man, what they saw was more like a park than a monument.

At the Salton Sea Visitor's Center they learned how the sea was formed and discovered the various kinds of fish living there. The area also offered hot springs, picnic grounds and fishing sites to visitors and tourists alike.

At Los Angeles, which was just a few miles from their Indio home, they toured the movie and television stars wax museum. Famous paintings and sculptures were also on display. The Pools said they planned to visit Disneyland but the multifaceted facility was closed the day they were there.

A special treat for them was the 10-day festival held in Indio in February. A highlight of the gala affair was an Arabian Nights pageant performed out of doors. Mrs. Pool said "the costumes and singing were delightful." As the festival was only two blocks away from the Pools' home, they had easy access to all its splendor and gaiety.

Special treats were camel and elephant races. Mrs. Pool explained that one of the camels was stubborn and did not want to race. Every few steps he would sit down again to wait for the inevitable proddings which would once again force him to his feet. The former school teacher said the elephant races were comical because the mother beast was always "cutting the circle" to win.

Other highlights included a horse show which featured horses of different gaits. Every afternoon during the festival a different group of horses was judged.

A gem show featuring displays of various rocks was another aspect of the festival which the Pools enjoyed. He explained that many of the rocks were desert rocks which had been "polished into spectacular looking stones."

Indio sets in a valley which is mainly occupied with raising dates, grapes, fruits and vegetables. While living there, the Pools said they almost became addicted to the dates and oranges which were always in plentiful supply. A generous neighbor across the way always kept the Pools in a good supply of oranges. As a result they always had a large supply of orange juice on hand and "almost gave up drinking water."

Mrs. Pool says they always had something to do and if nothing else, they visited with all the friendly people who lived in their area. The mobile home park housed an array of citizens from retired couples like the Pools to people working in town. "Everyone was nice and we were all on a first name basis," explain the local couple.

Pot luck dinners every Thursday night were a great way to get acquainted, say the Pools. "They were always lots of fun and always turned out well," added Mrs. Pool.

Another treat occurred in February when Pool's sister and husband, the Floyd Goldens of Amarillo, dropped in for a week-long visit.

Earlier in March the Pools gathered their belongings together for the journey homeward, arriving in Farwell March 18. Pool says he was not sorry to leave California, but they are looking forward to returning there again, perhaps by October of this year.

Now that the happy travelers are home once again, one would think they would be content to sit back, rest and relax before their next trip to California. Not so this energetic couple who already have summer excursions planned to Chicago and Iowa to visit their sons and their families.

Enjoy Book Fair

Recently Farwell Junior High students browsed through books and vicariously lived the adventures of their favorite heroes and heroines as they took part in the annual junior high Book Fair. Two students caught poring over the pages of sample books were sixth graders, Kenda Hager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Winkles, and Tim Watkins, son of Rev. and Mrs. Carroll Watkins.

Suntanned Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Lenton Pool of Farwell are looking over pictures taken during their recent stay in California. The local couple, both of whom retired last year, traveled to California last December to visit a son and family and ended up purchasing a mobile home and staying in Indio until last week when they returned to their home in Farwell. Even from the picture, one can see the deep tan the couple has from the winter of basking in the California sun.

Clean-up Helpers

Clean-up Campaign Full Speed Ahead

All this week, Farwell city employees and residents have been busy cleaning up trashy areas and hauling away discarded limbs, branches and debris. Several local school children utilized their spring vacation to assist with the task.

The Farwell Jaycees will also be getting into the act tomorrow (Saturday) as they have volunteered manpower and trucks to assist with the campaign. To help co-ordinate Saturday's clean-up efforts, city clerk Janie Bowery intends to man the telephones all day in order to relay messages to the Jaycees and other helpers. Anyone needing something hauled away should contact Mrs. Bowery.

The week-long effort and tomorrow's clean-up plans are part of a general clean-up campaign which the Farwell City Council has spearheaded.

According to Mayor Gil Patschke, the emphasis throughout the campaign has been for local residents to do as much of their own work as possible, with either the city or Jaycees hauling away discarded junk and branches. Mayor Patschke has also stressed that all Farwell residents must cooperate and work together if the project is to be a success.

City Marshal Ronnie Mitchell has also backed the campaign. He points out that a primary concern are the weeded areas and property with abandoned buildings. Such unwholesome area, besides being eyesores, provide habitat in which rats and other vermin thrive. The importance of keeping such places under control cannot be stressed enough, Mitchell said.

Even though progress has been made this week, the clean-up campaign is not yet over. Local residents are encouraged to continue cleaning up and to place discarded items near trash cans for pick up by the city.

Chamber Hears Banquet Report

Farwell Chamber of Commerce held its regularly scheduled meeting Tuesday at noon in Clara's restaurant with 12 people in attendance. The Chamber reported that 157 persons attended the annual Chamber of Commerce and Agricultural Banquet held on March 17. It was noted that this number was the lightest turnout for the banquet in many years.

Chamber members discussed the possibility of obtaining a speaker from the Professional Speakers Association for next year's banquet. Also discussed was the possibility of giving more awards at next year's banquet, as many surrounding cities do.

Johnny Atkinson, Chamber president, pointed out that he would like to see the Chamber of Commerce membership increased. Everyone is eligible to become a member, there is no age limit and potential members do not have to be businessmen to join.
