More Red Cross Workers Needed

The local Red Cross Sewing room at Mrs. E. B. Hewitt, in charge, was re-opened Monday, March 25, with materials ready to continue work.

Mrs. Hewitt, however, has asked the Leader to point out that there are not sufficient workers assisting in this work, and urging more women to offer their services in this worthy cause.

Permanent Quarters For FFA And 4-H Show Discussed

With 162 entries, the third annual FFA and 4-H Calf, Pig and Sheep show, which was held in Littlefield Saturday, was unanimously declared the greatest event of the kind ever held in Lamb County.

The quality of the animals was better than in any of the previous shows, and the management of the show exceeded in efficiency all similar exhibitions of the kind held in this county.

The success of Saturday's show has developed an enthusiastic movement to have permanent buildings obtained for the annual 4-H and FFA exhibitions, and other similar events. Interest in such a project is shared by the entire county. It is declared that no better effort could be undertaken in the interests of stock raising in Lamb County.

The proposed project was discussed briefly at a luncheon Saturday at the Patton Hotel, attended by show officials; Ray Mowery, professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, who was the judge for Saturday's show; V. F. Jones, County Agent; A. C. Chesher, president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and C. E. Cundiff, secretary of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

Additional consideration of permanent quarters for the annual show will be given by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and possibly by other organizations.

Large Numbers Attend Services

Large numbers attended the evening services Sunday for the new Methodist Church. The main auditorium and balcony were both filled to capacity for the morning service.

Following communion, Sunday school was held from 10 to 10:45, followed by the church service, which was in charge of the pastor. An old fashioned basket lunch was enjoyed during the noon hour in the basement of the church.

Old Landmark Destroyed By Fire Friday Afternoon

One of the oldest landmarks of Lamb County, the C. A. Joplin home, a two story ten room frame residence, 5 1-2 miles south of Littlefield, was completely destroyed by fire late Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sedgwick, and one year old daughter, were occupying the property at the time of the fire. Their furniture and personal property were a total loss. Mrs. Sedgwick was out working in a field, and by the time he got to the house it was too late to do anything.

Mrs. Sedgwick is reported to have been cooking supper on an oil stove in an oil lamp close to the stove, in the act of cooking the meal, the lamp, breaking it, throwing flames over the room.

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, with the West Texas Chamber cooperating, are making an effort to secure an increase in the tire quotas for Lamb County.

In-as-much as the Rationing Board advises they are behind, and getting further behind each week, in providing tires to farmers, the local Chamber of Commerce Secretary, E. C. Cundiff, after contacting County officials, prepared a statement of facts, which has been sent to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who will in turn pass same on to the State Administrator for action.

Following is the statement, in part, as sent to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce:

Purchasers Of Tooth Paste Must Turn In Old Tubes For New

"The War Production board Tuesday prohibited retail merchants from selling toothpaste or shaving cream in tubes to any customer who fails to turn in some type of used collapsible tube for each new one purchased.

The provision, first of its kind and effective immediately, makes retailers responsible for the trade-in transaction and directs that the used tubes thus collected be held subject to WPB orders.

At the same time, the board placed drastic restrictions on future use and production of collapsible tin tubes and prohibited their use entirely for foods, cosmetics and most toilet preparations.

Under the terms of the trade-in provision, a WPB spokesman declared, retailers are liable to penalties prescribed under the second war powers act—a maximum of $10,000 fine and a year's imprisonment—if sales of tube toothpaste or shaving cream are made in violation of the order.

Option Taken On 40 Acre Tract For Labor Camp

Plans are underway to secure a Migratory labor camp in Littlefield, and an option was taken last week by Farm Security officials, on a forty acre tract belonging to Leonard Irwin, northeast of the Irwin Cotton warehouse.

Mr. Fowler, Land Appraiser, of Amarillo, was in Littlefield recently in connection with the project. Inspecting Engineer McNair of Dallas, with four assistants, are here this week surveying the site. It is understood that plans will be prepared by the Drafting Engineer for the FSA and sent to Washington for approval. In case plans are approved, it is expected that work would be started soon on the project.

According to W. P. Houston, Supervisor of Farm Security here, the main purpose of the camp would be to assist the farmers in making and gathering the crops. Middle aged men and their families who

Public Urged To Contribute Books

Mrs. E. A. Bills, County Chairman of the Victory Book Campaign, announced Tuesday that the public were not responding very well to the call for books and magazines for the armed forces, and that if the organization is to put over this worthy work, it is going to be necessary that everyone do his part toward contributing these books or magazines.

Boxes have been placed in all drug stores, and in the City Library for the collection, and Mrs. Bills stated that if it were not convenient to deposit the books down town, if anyone having books to contribute would call her, she would send after them.

"The public is urged to give books for our soldiers, sailors and marines. Books of fiction, travel, biography, poetry, science, and up to date technical books are wanted for the training camp libraries. Also needed are magazines, such as American Atlantic, Colliers, Cosmopolitan, Esquire, Fortune, Harper's, Liberty, Life, National Geographic, New Yorker, News Week, Reader's Digest, Red Book, Saturday Evening Post, Time, United States News, issued during the last 18 months.

The April 27 Registration

The Government has ordered the oldest group of men under the selective service law—45 to 64 inclusive—to register on April 27, for possible non-combatant service in the future.

The new registration data proclaimed by President Roosevelt will leave only one group not yet recorded, those of 18 and 19 years. Estimates of the total registration for the 45-64-age group range around 15,000,000.

While none of these comparative oldsters will be taken into the fighting forces, there is the possibility that some or many of them will be assigned eventually to essential war work. Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey has said that one purpose of the draft law was an "accurate and systematic appraisal" of the supply of man power.

Like the previous drafts, the April 27 registration applies to "male citizens of the United States and other male persons" and is effective in the United States, the territories of Alaska and Hawaii and in Puerto Rico. Exceptions are made for those already in the armed forces and provisions made in certain cases for registration before or after the April 27 date.

Breathes The Spirit Of Victory

General MacArthur "breathes the very spirit of victory," said Brigadier General Patrick Hurley after an interview with MacArthur shortly after the hero of Bataan arrived in Australia. General MacArthur seems to be able to inspire just such confidence in everyone he comes in contact with. Especially did everyone of the brave defenders of the Philippines look upon their commander as one of the greatest leaders.

The power to breathe into others his own spirit of determination and confidence is truly one of the attributes of the successful in any calling. In time of crisis like war, such an indefinable, unexplainable faculty is one that bulks large.

Our own wars, as well as the warfare of other nations, have brought to the front real leaders. Times of stress soon demonstrate what is or is not in a military commander. Some are eliminated and some come really into their own—they have what it takes.

The Southern Confederacy in the civil strife of the sixties soon found its leaders—Lee, Jackson, the Johnsons, Stewart and others. Lincoln had real difficulty in locating the right general. Several were tried out and did not quite fill the bill. Ulysses S. Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and others finally emerged and the Confederacy's days were numbered.

Fortunately the whole allied world believes in Douglas MacArthur and even the Japs must feel a fear of him deep down in their thinking. MacArthur indeed has an opportunity to be of vast benefit in a situation that has been going wrong for many weeks. His own besieged peninsula has been the only bright spot in the dark picture of the far east.

It is gratifying to learn that General MacArthur's heart is still in the Philippines. His paramount purpose, as announced, is to "organize as rapidly as possible an offensive force for the eventual defeat of Japan and the relief of the beleaguered Philippine garrison."

This brave Philippine garrison has given a good account of itself since MacArthur's departure, still further demonstrating that their old general is with the command in spirit and that the Philippine garrison still carries on in the same MacArthur way.

The people of the Allied Nations believe in General Douglas MacArthur and he doubtless will be able to breathe into all the spirit of victory. His responsibilities are now vastly augmented, but he will be able to cope successfully with the situation, the whole world believes.

The Man Behind the Men Behind the Guns

One thing we like about Texas, we have all kinds of people, all kinds of weather . . . and anything can happen here, and usually does.

Vacation time is when a wife can get a trinket of stuff into a suit case.

Uncle Sam is hard at it training parachute jumpers—but the business still is dropping off.

A great advantage of silent contempt is that it often prevents a black eye.

You do not have to tell the world what your character is, it speaks for itself.

A civilized individual has intolerance for all people, but he selects his friends.

Set Aside April 5-11 As 4-H Club Week

April 5 to 11 is being designated all over the Nation as 4-H Club Week. More than 30,000 Texas farm boys and girls enrolled in club work will participate. The activities will be conducted by the Home Demonstration Agents and County Agents and assisted by the voluntary local club leaders and sponsors.

During 4-H Club Week efforts will be made to remind adults and youth that the work to be done concerns every individual, and that boys and girls must do their part in a full-headed job. Efforts also will be made to stimulate family and community work to the end that every individual may make his best contribution toward victory.

During the month of March, 411 Lamb County club boys and girls pledged themselves to be victory demonstrators. These demonstrations will especially concentrate on club work which will produce needed foods, care of farm machinery, clothing and other vital items, farm fire prevention, selling and buying Defense bonds, paper and other materials which are scarce, and in the practice of democratic principles in their club work.

CHAPTER XI

SYNOPSIS

Despite Leonard Borland's protests that his bank account is ample, though the contracting business in New York is dead, his pretty, opera-struck wife Doris resumes her "career," interrupted by her marriage at 19 and the birth of two children. Borland knows her avowed purpose, to help out the family outcome, is camouflage. Hugo Lorenz, her teacher, always around, irritates him. Cecil Carver, opera singer, knows Doris through Lorenz. She discovers Borland has a fine baritone voice, tells him Hugo is hopelessly in love with Doris, that Doris tortures every man she gets in her clutches, and that he ought to wake her up by giving a recital. "Get yourself a triumph," she advises. Cecil demands payment for lessons—kisses. He pays but declares he loves Doris. Cecil, on tour, wires him and he makes a hit singing as Logan Bennett in upstate recitals. She gets him an opera engagement. Again he makes good and Cecil, telling him she loves him, says tearfully he can now bring Doris to his feet. A movie audience gives Doris the "bird." Broken-spirited, she says she's no good. She tells Leonard she loves him. Doris learns about Cecil, and decides it wasn't business that kept him out of the city. There is a scene at Gwenny Blair's cocktail party and Gwenny, to smooth matters over, laughingly suggests that Leonard sing. He does and Doris is furious—he is so good. Doris has gone home, and Leonard is staying at a hotel.

"I'm looking for the Leonard Borland who sang with the American Scala Opera Company under the name of Logan Bennett."

I quit kidding myself then. I knew I'd give anything to have it back, what I had pulled at the party that afternoon. It wasn't brave, it wasn't big, it was just plain silly. I had made a jackass of myself and put something terrible between me and Doris. I began thinking of her, then, and knew that it didn't make any difference what she had done to me, or anything else. I wanted her so bad it was just a terrible ache, wanted her worse than ever. And here I was; I had no wife, I had no home, I had no kids, I had no work, I didn't even have Cecil. I had just made a mess of my life. I think I hit an all-time low that night. I never felt worse. I couldn't.

The next day I took a suite at a hotel in the fifties. I took it by the month. I didn't hear anything from Doris. I began reading the society pages after a couple of days, and she was in. Every time I saw her name I saw Leighton's. On the singing, I never opened my trap. One day a guy showed up at the office by the name of Horn. He kept looking around kind of puzzled at the drafting-room, and in a minute I asked him pretty sharp what he wanted.

"You're Mr. Borland? Mr. Leonard Borland?"

"Yes, I'm Leonard Borland."

"I'm looking for the Leonard Borland who sang with the American Scala Opera Company under the name of Logan Bennett. Anyway, I hear he did."

"Where did you hear that?"

"I was in Pittsburgh last week. I heard it from a friend of mine, Giuseppe Rossi."

"Well, what of it?"

He knew then he had the right guy, and kept looking me over. "I'll tell you what of it. I'm connected with this new outfit that's giving opera over at the Maxwin Theater, and—"

"Not interested."

"I need a baritone."

"Still not interested."

"If you're as good as he says you are, I could make you a pretty nice proposition. I could offer you $125 a night say with three appearances a week guaranteed. That's a little more than Rossi was paying you, isn't it?"

"Yeah, quite a little."

"Well—will you think it over?"

"No."

"I got a couple of good tenors and another one coming. I got a couple of sopranos I think are comers. But in opera you've got to have one good baritone before you've got a show."

"You certainly have."

"All right, then. I'll come up a little. How about $150?"

"Maybe you didn't understand what I said when you came in here. I appreciate what you say. I'm grateful to Rossi, but I'm just not interested."

The idea of singing made me sick. He went, and I put on my hat and engaged in my favorite outdoor sport, about that time. That was walking around the opera house hoping I'd see Cecil. A couple of days after that I did see her. I raced back to the office as fast as I could get there and put in a call for her at her hotel. They said she wasn't in. I knew she wouldn't be. That was why I had been watching. I left word that Mr. Borland called. Then for a week I stuck at my desk, hoping she would call back. She never did.

All that, what I've just been telling you, was in the last part of November. When the first of December came it crossed my mind it was funny no bills had been forwarded to me. On the third I found out why. When I came downstairs in the morning and crossed the lobby the clerk called me, and he had my check in his hand, and the one I had given him for my next month's room rent. It had bounced back. I blinked at it, and I knew then why there hadn't been any bills. Doris was paying her own bills. The money was in a joint account, in her name and mine, and she had drawn every cent of it out, started an account somewhere else, and there I was.

I said there must be some mistake and I would see him that afternoon. I went out, and hustled over to Newark and borrowed $300 from a manufacturer of power shovels we had done some business with. I got back just in time to get in the bank, so I could cover that check before they closed; then went back and told the clerk it was all right, I had drawn on the wrong account, and he could put it through.

I went up to my suite and counted my money. I had $75 over what I had deposited in the bank. My expenses, over the $170 a month I was paying for the suite, were about $50 a week, not counting club dues and other things I couldn't stave off very long. I was just about a week and a half from the bone yard, and I began to feel it again, that thick rage against Doris and the way she treated me. It would suit her fine, I knew, to have me coming on my knees to her, begging for money. I wandered around the suite, and after a while something in me clicked. I began to think about Horn and the Hippodrome and his $150 a night.

Next day he called up: "Mr. Borland?"

"Yes?"

"This is Bert Horn again. Remember?"

"Oh, yeah. How are you?"

"All right. Listen, my other tenor got to town last night. Fact of the matter, I stole him off Rossi. Guy by the name of Parma. You know him?"

"Yeah. I sang with him."

"Listen, if you're as good as he says you are, I might raise the offer. I might up the ante to $200."

"Now you're talking. Come on over."

He came, and looked me over again and the place over again, and then he laughed and shook his head.

"You play?" I asked.

"Some kind of way, yes."

"Come on up."

I took him up on the third floor, where the piano was, and opened the windows and shoved the "Traviata" area in front of him. He played it and I sang it. When I got through he nodded. "Guess they weren't kidding me."

"Yeah, quite a little."

"Well—will you think it over?"

"No."

"I got a couple of good tenors and another one coming. I got a couple of sopranos I think are comers. But in opera you've got to have one good baritone before you've got a show."

"You certainly have."

"All right, then. I'll come up a little. How about $150?"

"Maybe you didn't understand what I said when you came in here. I appreciate what you say. I'm grateful to Rossi, but I'm just not interested."

The idea of singing made me sick. He went, and I put on my hat and engaged in my favorite outdoor sport, about that time. That was walking around the opera house hoping I'd see Cecil. you on three times. You see, ham and eggs is once a week, too, and—"

"What is?"

"Ham and eggs. 'Cavalleria Rusticana' and 'Pagliacci,' the double bill. 'Pagliacci' you can get up quick. After the 'Prologue,' which I suppose you know, you have almost nothing to do, just two real scenes, not over 10 minutes of actual singing altogether. Then we can—"

"Oh. All right, then."

"You'll need a coach. I recommend Siegal. He's a good man, works with us."

"Fine, I'll take him. When do we start?"

"Next week. Get 'Pagliacci' up by then, and then later we can work you in on the others. But we want to bring you out in 'Rigoletto.' That makes you important."

So by that afternoon, I had connected with Siegal, and was back in the same old groove. I found out then how much Cecil had been giving me for nothing. Do you know what that bird took? He charged me $25 an hour, and I had to have him every day. I had to borrow $200 more in Newark, and it was an awful crimp in my $600 a week. But, at that $450 was nothing to sneeze at.

I asked for a rehearsal on "Rigoletto," with three or four of the choristers. In the scene before the courtiers there was some stuff I wanted to do, and I had to make them slam me down so I really hit the deck, so when I came crawling back to them I would really be on my knees. They told me to come over to the theater.

When I got there, I walked out to the middle of the stage, let out a couple of big ones, and it felt pretty good. I stuck out my chest. I thought how I was putting it over on Doris and how I wouldn't come begging her for anything.

The conductor, Gustav Schultz, was at the piano, and we went through it. I think he wanted to look me over. I showed them how I wanted them to leave me, and after a while they got it so it suited me. When we quit, I saw Parma in the wings, and went over and shook hands.

"Hello, boy, hello. How's a old kid?" he said.

"Fine. How's yourself?"

"O.K. Say, is swell, how you do this scene. Alla baritone run for bedroom, make little try, audience alla time wonder why he don't get in. Look like he must be weak. Ought to fight, just like you do 'em now, and then, pow!—down he go, just like this!"

He threw his shoulder at me, and I went head over heels onto the floor. It was one stage fall I didn't expect. Then he laughed. Singers, they're a funny breed. They've got what you might call a rudimentary sense of humor, in the first place, and they're awful proud of their muscles, in the second place. People think they're soft. Well, singing doesn't come from the spirit. It comes from the belt, and it takes plenty of chest to do it right.

I got up, and laughed, and he and Schultz and I went out and had a drink.

The afternoon of the performance I put off lunch till three o'clock, and then went out and had a good one. I came back to the office and vocalized my voice. I came up quick, and felt good. I was beginning to get nervous. They all get nervous, but this was different from what I had felt before. It had a little tingle to it. I felt I was good. I walked up to the hotel and it was about half past four. I lay down and got a little sleep.

It seemed funny to be putting the make-up on without Cecil bobbing in to give me the double O, but I got it in place, and put on the funny clothes, and tried my voice. It was still up, and was all right. Horn came in, looked me over, and nodded. "The contracts are ready."

"You got them with you?"

"My secretary's bringing them over. I'll be in with them after the show. How do you feel?"

"I feel all right."

Statement By Senator Tom Connally

The following is a release to the Press from Senator Tom Connally at Washington, D. C., and sent by the Senator to the Lamb County Leader:

"Washington, D. C.—For the duration of the war, I favor suspension of the 40-hour week. The lives of our men on the sea and in the air and on the land must not depend on a factory closing down at the end of 40 hours. We must work every plant and factory that is producing war materials or supplies 24 hours per day, with three or four shifts if necessary. If we have not sufficient trained labor, we must secure that trained labor by putting men in the plants and teaching them the job under competent instruction.

"This is no time for strikes either by the employer of labor or by labor itself. On November 17, 1941, I introduced in the Senate S-2054, with respect to strikes in national defense plants. It provided that wherever production of defense munitions or supplies is delayed or held up by a strike or labor dispute, the government may take charge of such plant and operate it to preserve the life of this nation. The bill provided for the freezing of labor relations as they existed before the strike and provided a Wage Board to mediate wage disputes. There could be no strike on open or closed shop or jurisdictional strikes.

"My bill has been endorsed by the Navy Department, the War Department and the Maritime Commission, the three great government departments which deal with production of war materials. It has been reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee of the Senate by a vote of 12 to 2. I hope to secure early consideration of the bill by the Senate.

"An earlier bill which I introduced to stop strikes was adopted by the Senate by a vote of 67 to 7 on June 12, 1941, but the House failed to accept it.

"This is no time for employers to secure special privileges by taking advantage of the nation's necessity. Neither is this any time for labor to take advantage of the government's danger to extort special privileges. Therefore my bill provides for freezing these relationships just as they were prior to the labor dispute.

"Employers and contractors must not be allowed to secure inordinate or unreasonable profits on government contracts. In the coming tax bill, the government must

Farmers Faced With Shortage Of Good Quality Cotton Seed

Farmers are faced with a serious shortage of good quality cotton seed in many sections of Texas and Oklahoma for planting the 1942 crop, according to D. T. Killough, agronomist, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, A. & M. College. Germination tests conducted by the State Department of Agriculture, at Austin, and Lubbock show that much of the seed in Texas is below normal in germination. In Oklahoma the percentage germination of a large number of samples of seed tested from various parts of the state ranged from 2 to 96 and averaged 44.3.

"These facts indicate clearly that care must be exercised in selecting seed for planting the 1942 crop," Mr. Killough points out. "If there tax war profits adequately and fairly. No one must be permitted to coin the nation's distresses and the sacrifices of our people into unearned gains and indefensible profits.

"Our task is gigantic. We must utilize every resource. We must convert plants and factories from peace-time production to war production. We must see that small plants and small concerns secure contracts and sub-contracts to produce the articles of which they are capable. We must band every effort and exert every power, and tax-payers and the vast amount of our people who belong neither to the capitalistic class nor to the organized labor class—all must perform their patriotic duty.

"The United States is faced by grim and terrible war. This is no time to expend our energies in quarrelling among ourselves. We need every ounce and atom of energy, of resources and of patriotism to combat the enemy. We need production in the factories and plants. That means that we need the unselfish, the patriotic and devoted services of the owners of the plants and the unselfish, patriotic and devoted services of the men who work in the plants and of the men who are not yet working in the plants, but who may be needed in the plants later.

"For the life of me, I can't see how any group or class of our people in the dark hour of the nation's trial would want to segregate itself from the general public, from the great masses of our people and claim or demand a special privilege or a special profit when men are shedding their blood to preserve the nation's life."

RUMBACK'S HOME BAKERY

20 YEARS IN LITTLEFIELD

Statement To The People

By GEORGE MAHON

It has been evident for a year that the American people, particularly the people of the South, want legislation to prevent strikes in defense industries and to prevent profiteering and racketeering.

More recently the people have become aroused, and rightly so, over the continuation of the 40-hour week in war industries while their sons are fighting and dying for the country on a 24-hour-a-day basis at small pay and at a time when production is the key to victory and the most effective way to reduce human losses to a minimum.

The people do not like excessive profits by industries or anyone else in wartime, feeling that everyone should sacrifice for the good of all and that all we have in this Nation is now at stake.

I have a deep conviction that the people are right, and I have been outspoken in expressing my views in Washington, and I have voted accordingly. This has been true of most Southern Members of Congress in the House and Senate, but we have been blocked by the efforts of members from the industrial areas who outnumber Southern members.

On December 3, the House passed the Smith bill, feeling that it would prevent further strikes, speed up production, and give the great mass of labor a better opportunity to produce. Unfortunately, this bill has been blocked in the Senate for many weeks. In the House we are now seeking action on effective elimination of the 40-hour week for the duration of the war. In my opinion this ought to be done, and all profits should be taken out of war for is any doubt whatever about the viability of the seed then germination tests should be made, and where the germination is low, good viable seed should be obtained from reputable seed breeders or growers.

"Cotton for seed planting, whether home-grown or not, should be treated with New Improved Coresan to safeguard against poor stands of plants which results in low yields. The cost of the treatment is small and the benefits to be gained often far exceed the small amount of trouble and expense involved. Tests conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, reported in Texas Station Bulletin 531, show that seed treatment increased the number of seedlings from 11 to 65 per cent and the yield of cotton from 4 to 25 per cent as a result of the increase in stand of healthy plants."

industry.

It must be borne in mind that under our form of Government Congress cannot buy equipment for the armed forces or enter into contracts for production. The President and Donald Nelson are in charge of spending the money which we appropriate and equipping our Army and Navy. They have opposed legislation to prevent strikes and speed up production, undoubtedly feeling that better results could be achieved otherwise, and they have recently appealed to congress not to take action in regard to strikes and the 40-hour week.

These questions involving war production are vital to the nation. It should be concluded that because mistakes have been made the program is a complete failure. Great strides are being made, but we cannot be satisfied with anything short of our best.

For my part I shall continue to work for and vote for legislation to eliminate strikes, excess profits, and the 40-hour week for the duration of the war.

National unity is essential to victory, and we cannot let our disappointment and disapproval of certain policies tear us apart. We must not be satisfied with inefficiency, but we must keep our balance. In unity there is strength. In disunity there is disaster.

Gathered At Lamb County 4-H and FFA Calf, Pig and Sheep Show

The educational value of the show demonstrated in action of one of the youthful exhibitors. His excitement to get "into the money" immediately decided that to improve the quality of the show he purchased a gilt of good blood from one of the other boys, and $20 for the animal. That probably will be heard from in some way at next year's show.

W. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry at Texas Tech, has been judge of all three shows held in Littlefield. In a talk following the closing of prizes, Professor Mowery complimented show officials and exhibitors on the quality of the show and the manner in which the show was conducted. He declared that the third annual event was better than any of the previous shows.

Show officials and exhibitors are grateful of the courtesy of the Littlefield-Bartlett Co. in the leasing of their LFD drive yard for the exhibition. This location, together with the facilities, worked excellent.

This will be my last show for this year," remarked W. B. McEwen, assistant county agent. He informed the Lamb County Board that he has obtained a leave of absence and that he will be in Lubbock as an aviation cadet at Lubbock April 7. Following his induction he will be given a furlow and be subject to call.

McEwen has been assistant county agent since November 1, 1941, and has made a great many friends. His boys have made an excellent job, and Mac regrets to leave, but his country needs him to down our enemies.

One of the special features of the show was the late to classify...

The show was the calf and sheep auction. Col. C. T. Bowden was the auctioneer, and bids were caught by O. N. Robison, both men giving their services free of charge. The top price paid for calves was $13.40.

Two sheep, owned by J. B. McFarland, Littlefield FFA, sold for $7.50 each, and were purchased by Ellis Foust for the Piggly Wiggly market; one calf was purchased by Jeffries Grocery & Market; one calf was bought by the First National Bank, and one calf was purchased by A. C. Chesher, President of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

The calves purchased were owned by Charles Tyler Spade 4-H; A. B. Enloe, Amherst 4-H; Mervin Carley, Spring Lake FFA; Douglas Adams, Fieldton 4-H and Donald Adams, Fieldton 4-H.

The calves weighed from 750 to 800 pounds.

Several of the leading stock breeders of Lamb county had animals on exhibition at the show. It is said that men are nothing more than boys who grew up. And this fact was demonstrated in that these leading breeders thoroughly enjoyed themselves and had a big time mingling with the youth of our county.

E. C. Baker of Olton, and Leo Peterman of Hart Camp, had registered Duroc Jersey hogs on display, and Jack Loftus of Spring Lake, had Jersey cattle on exhibition.

School Election To Be Held Saturday

An election will be held by the Littlefield Independent School District Saturday next in the Methodist Church building, in charge of Jess Elms. The polls will open at 8 A. M., and close at 7 p. m.

The terms of Lon Smith and Ben Lyman expire this year, and two trustees will be elected.

Announcement has been made by H. C. Arnold, Secretary of the Board, that Mr. Smith and Mr. Lyman have been petitioned to run for re-election, and they have expressed their willingness to serve if re-elected.

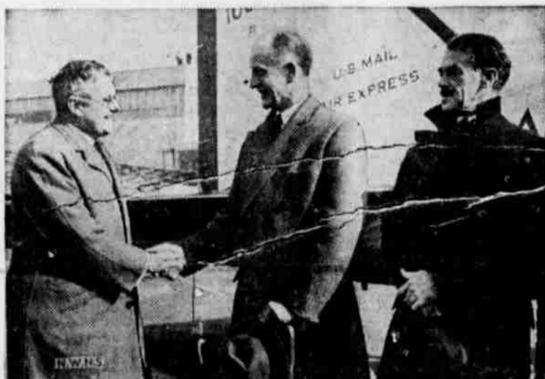

W. J. (Bill) Chesher and A. R. Hendricks have filed as candidates for election as school trustees.

Much Interest Shown In Mechanic's School

A school of instruction in the care and repair of automobiles, tractors and farm machinery opened Monday night, in the Littlefield High School Defense shop located in the northeast corner of the school bus sheds, in charge of Garland Jennings, with 32 men present, 25 of whom signed up for the course.

Due to the large class enrolled, it is the plan to move to a larger building down town in the future. There was no meeting Tuesday night but the class went into full swing Wednesday evening. The management is proud of the interest shown.

A COMPLETE LINE OF Poultry and Livestock FEEDS

Notes From County Agent

A good crowd of people attended the Boy's livestock show at Littlefield last Saturday. If you were not there we believe you missed a good treat.

This show was by far the best we have had the last three years, more interest on the part of every one and more entries in the show.

It seems that the show has about outgrown the temporary quarters the we have been using in the past. We believe that it is now time that steps were being taken to provide permanent quarters and some permanent building started.

I believe all who saw the show will agree that the FFA and 4-H club boys of Lamb County are doing something toward the production of food. The production of food products is one of the very important contributions that the farmers can make to the war effort at this time, and these boys seem to be on the right track and doing their part.

I hope you have been doing some work on the garden spot and have that ready to do some planting. There are a few vegetable crops that should be in the ground now, such as Irish potatoes, onions, spinach, mustard, lettuce, and English peas.

If you are planning on growing your own tomato plants this year it is time they were planted in the bed. It will take them about six weeks to be large and hardy enough to transplant in the garden.

Some good varieties are Marglobe, Earline, June Pink, and Porter. If you have been having trouble with your tomato vines wilting and dying before they have borne fruit, it is probably due to a Wilt Disease. That condition can best be remedied by planting the tomatoes on new ground. If you can't do that, then use a wilt disease resistant variety such as the Marglobe.

We have had a recent change with reference to the harvesting of sweet sorghums on government acres for this year. The old regulation was that for each five rods in width strip that that was cut off a one

Cannon Caravan Rolls Through East

A caravan of old cannon, captured or of American vintage, started from Pittsfield, Mass., bound for Boston Common, for the purpose of national defense. rod in width strip should be left standing. The regulation now states that the one rod width strip that was to be left standing may be cut also, but the stubble must be left as much as twelve inches in height.

Farmers who have wheat in the 1941 loan, and wish to redeem that wheat and sell on the open market must do so before April 30, 1942.

All loans that are not liquidated before that date will be placed in a pool. When this wheat is pooled there will not be any equities paid to farmers. If you have loan wheat I would suggest that you investigate the price and see if you have some equity in that wheat, before April 30th.

MUSICAL COMEDY "RISE AND SHINE" MOVES TO PALACE THIS WEEK END

Palace Theatre will present musical comedy success "Rise and Shine" Saturday midnight Sunday Monday, featuring Jack and Linda Darnell. Oakie plays the big, extremely funny, and amazingly stupid football hero, with the supporting cast including George Murphy, Linell, Walter Brennan, Millie, Donald Meek, Ruth Donnelly, Raymond Walburn and Shelton. The latter is the big gambler who sends Murphy, a leader and ex-football player, to Clayton to keep his Oakie, who is responsible for his victories, and hence for Leonard's winnings. Darnell is the feminine cheer-leader, and daughter of a professor in whose home

Oakie stays so that he may have both rest and an opportunity to study. Murphy falls in love with her, while Grandpa Brennan of the eccentric household makes a "play" for Miss Donnelly, part of Murphy's entourage under Leonard's orders. When Leonard tries to get Oakie out of the way, to cross his bets, Murphy gets him back in time to win the game in an amusing finish.

50 Aliens Arrested In Houston Thursday

HOUSTON, March 27.—Thirty-five squads of Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, armed with special executive warrants and aided by city and state police Thursday night, raided 60 places, arrested at least 50 aliens and seized guns, short wave radios and cameras.

At a German's home, a short wave radio, two rifles, two shotguns, one revolver, 20 rounds of ammunition, a telescope, a seven-inch knife and a pair of brass knuckles were found in a locked trunk.

Ray J. Abbaticchio, Jr., special agent in charge of the FBI here, said the places raided in this roundup had not been searched before. More than 100 places were searched and 77 aliens picked up on February 22.

Cuts Year-Round Costs! In ANY Tractor

Oil consumption is an important yardstick in measuring most of your tractor costs. And it takes few crankcase check-ups to prove the many economies of 150-Hour Veedol. You soon learn that here is an oil that far outlasts 60- and 75-hour oils in distillate burning tractors... an oil that actually gives 150 hours of positive protection in modern gasoline-driven tractors before draining is required.

150-HOUR VEEDOL cuts costs these 5 ways in your gasoline tractor

1. Saves Fuel... Reduces power "blow-by", minimizes dilution... thus saves fuel consumption.
2. Saves Oil... In many cases doubles operating hours between oil refills.
3. Saves Losses... Ends time and money losses from needless breakdowns.
4. Saves Repairs... Greater resistance to heat and friction cuts costly tractor repairs.
5. Saves Tractors... By reducing wear, assures long, economical tractor life.

Terracing Prices Set At 65 Cents

Basic fair price for terracing easier farms in Lamb County has been set at 65 cents per 100 feet, according to J. F. Chafin, chairman, county AAA committee.

E. C. Ross of Littlefield, Texas is contractor cooperating with the Lamb County AAA committee in terracing farms this year.

Under the terracing plan, with construction costs varying by individual farms, no cash outlay is needed since the cost of constructing terraces is deducted from future AAA payments, the chairman said.

After terraces are completed, they are reported to the county office and checked in the field to assure compliance with specifications established by the county committee after which they are reported to the state office for audit. Certification of payments are made to the Regional Disbursing office, Dallas, on the same day they are received in the State AAA office, the AAA official explained.

Coordination between the local and state AAA office makes it possible for contractors to be paid promptly for their work, Chafin said.

"If you're going to terrace your farm under this plan, let us know so your name can be added to the list if it's not already there," the chairman said in pointing out that contractors already are working in the Spade and Littlefield communities.

"Some farmers are terracing just enough to earn soil-building payments, while others are using as much as 70 percent of their 1942 AAA payments for the practice," he said.

not considered, we submit the following — Government census of 1940 show Lamb County with 1625 tractors, and from every source of information we are told that there has been an increase of about 15 percent since then. They also inform us that there are about 600 farm implements on rubber (Combines, plows, and listers). —They also tell us that we could be conservative in estimating 2500 trailers on rubber in Lamb county, which were not used in figuring the quota for Lamb County. As agriculture is the life blood of Lamb County and we are now 8th in cotton production in the state and have been among the first ten in the state in grain production for the past three years, it is very important that our farmers be taken care of in this critical time, if we are to produce our part of the es-

Maxey McKnight Making Good Record

A Littlefield high school product is developing into one of the best all-round athletes in history of Texas Tech College. He is Maxey Dale McKnight the son of Mrs. L. McKnight.

McKnight, who weighs 172-pounds, is 6-feet, 1-inch and 20-years old, is a football, basketball and track star at Texas Tech. He played on last season's Texas Tech football team and scored one touchdown. He carried the ball 12 times and gained 55-yards. He has looked great in this month's spring training and probably will be the regular half-back this coming season. The Littlefield youngster runs the 120-high and the 220-low hurdles for the Texas Tech track and field team. He has participated in two track meets this season with success, those meets being the Border Olympics at Laredo and the Southwestern Exposition at Fort Worth. McKnight is one of the most popular athletes on the campus. He is a junior and registered in the last draft.

were unemployed and who did not have farm, would be stationed at the camp, and would be available for farm or other labor. It is expected that if the project is approved at Washington that the camp will be so constructed to care for about 100 families or, 500 people. Mr. McNair and the surveying crew met with the City Commissioner Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of discussing water sewerage surveying, etc. with a view to arriving at an estimate of what it would cost. The site in question is reported to be one-half mile from water connection, and it is understood that the Government would lay their own lines.
