It's Gypsy Rose Lee

Look Who's Sewing

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

"So glad you like it," dear. I made it myself. Gypsy Rose Lee speaking, preening in a smart new gown that looks like the latest thing from Paris.

"Of course I know how to sew," remarks the famous strip-teaser, movie star, author and art connoisseur. "Doesn't everybody?"

Right now it looks as if everybody really does, as the home-sewing craze spreads to the upper echelons of stage, screen and television. Among glamour girls who sew their own nowadays are such luminaries as: Celeste Holm, pert and highly sophisticated actress and night club singer; Loretta Young, star of movies and TV; Gail Storm, television headliner; Betty Furness, also of TV fame, and the chic Dorothy Rodgers, wife of composer Richard Rodgers, to name a few.

The beautiful Gypsy is an old hand with the needle and thread. She sews everything from dresses to slipcovers and from skirts to hats. On a recent movie location job she took over the job of wardrobe mistress for the cast, when no local dressmakers could be found. Right now she's engaged in a project of making quilts out of antique patchwork scraps for herself and her equally glamorous sister, actress Julie Havoc. Says she:

"It's a breeze to make smart clothes nowadays, when you can get Paris designs in home-sewing patterns. Anybody should be able to make a dress, if she knows how to read and use a sewing

As a designer, she learned the points of sewing as a child in France. And, busy as she still finds time to do design her own night stage costumes. Now on Broadway tour of the Guild's production of comedy, "The Third Star" Celeste says: "Any woman who knows her own figure and knows what she wants can get more for her money if she sews her own dress or two each season. EYES and VISION
By A. L. SPERRY, O.D.
Director Public Education
Texas Optometric Association

ABOUT CATARACT
YOU KNOW: That primitive, far from "civilized" times have amazing cures? Upper Congo natives, tested, were found to have normal vision four times over our accepted standard.

When the vision of the better eye has become so poor as to interfere with normal activities then the worse eye is about "ripe" and should have surgery to remove the cloudy lens (cataract). Surgical removal is the only "cure" for blindness caused by cataract.

About a month after surgery it is possible to fit glasses which will give good vision if the operation was successful and the eye otherwise good. As the eye grows stronger, the glasses will have to be changed, and soon, if expertly fitted, they may bring vision up to 20-20.

Of course, bifocals or separate reading glasses will be required for near-seeing. There is even a trifocal lens for cataract cases. This lens gives the patient continuous clear vision from reading distance to arms length to distant seeing. Cataract lenses are rather thick since they must do the work which had been done by the lens of the eye which was removed. New types of cataract lenses have been developed, however, which are much lighter and nicer looking.

Many times a patient will say to me, "But I'm too old for a cataract operation." No, not necessarily. I've known patients past 90 who enjoyed good vision the rest of their days after removal of cataracts. There is nothing to lose and possibly a world of good vision to gain by cataract removal.

Background On U. S. 84

(Continued from Page 1) voting date for Sept. 22. The action came after a hearing on a petition for the election. That paved the way for the county's voters to say whether right-of-way should be purchased to widen the highway to four lanes.

BOND ELECTION DEFEATED

SEPT. 22, 1956—A proposal to buy right-of-way for Highway 84 to widen the road to four lanes across Road District 1-A of Lamb County got a detour sign from the district's voters.

FORMBY URGES PURCHASE

SEPT. 26, 1956—State Highway Commissioner Marshall Formby of Plainview said that Lamb County can do one of three things now in regard to the state's allocation of nearly $750,000 for widening part of Highway 84 to four lanes.

of the proposed 84 route and Highway 51. The proposed highway would continue south of town, cutting through the northern portion of the G. A. White property at the southwest city limits.

SIX HURT IN 84 WRECK

NOV. 14, 1957—Three separate auto accidents on Highway 84 near Littlefield resulted in injuries to six persons. Four of them were injured in a wreck near Bainer Switch.

MAN DIES IN FREAK MISHAP

DEC. 16, 1957—A Lubbock man, Joseph B. Veal, 54, died in a freak mishap on Highway 84, near Sudan when a bale of cotton thrown from another truck landed on the cab of his truck.

84 CLAIMS THREE LIVES

NOV. 25, 1956—Three persons, including a month-old baby, were killed and two others were injured in a screaming two-car crash near Bainer Switch on Highway 84.

STATE CANCELS PROJECT

DEC. 20, 1956—The State Highway Department canceled the $200,000 four-lane program for Lamb County. The cancellation was on money authorized for the addition of two lanes to Highway 84 from the Hockley County line to the outskirts of Littlefield.

HIGHWAY 84 BYPASS PLAN

FEB. 7, 1957—The State Highway Department's proposal for a Highway 84 bypass around Littlefield was presented to both city and county commissioners by Rhea Bradley, resident highway engineer. The city requested that the highway department survey the area and recommend the most workable route for the new highway to take around Littlefield.

U. S. 84 CRASH KILLS 3

MARCH 10, 1958 — A Littlefield Latin American family was all but wiped out near Sudan when their auto left the road and crashed into a tree. Three persons were killed and a fourth critically injured in the mishap, which occurred 1 1/2 miles southeast of Sudan on Highway 84.

OPPOSITION ON 84, LESS

JUNE 13, 1958 — A bond election to widen Highway 84 would draw less opposition now than it did in two previous Lamb County elections, County Judge Pat Boone Jr. said at a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

WOMAN KILLED, SEVEN HURT

NOV. 3, 1958—A 48-year-old Lubbock woman died in a chain reaction crash 3 1/2 miles southeast of Littlefield to become the sixth U. S. 84 victim in 1958. Seven persons were hurt in the accident, including three teenagers who were bystanders.

RIGHT-OF-WAY APPRAISAL

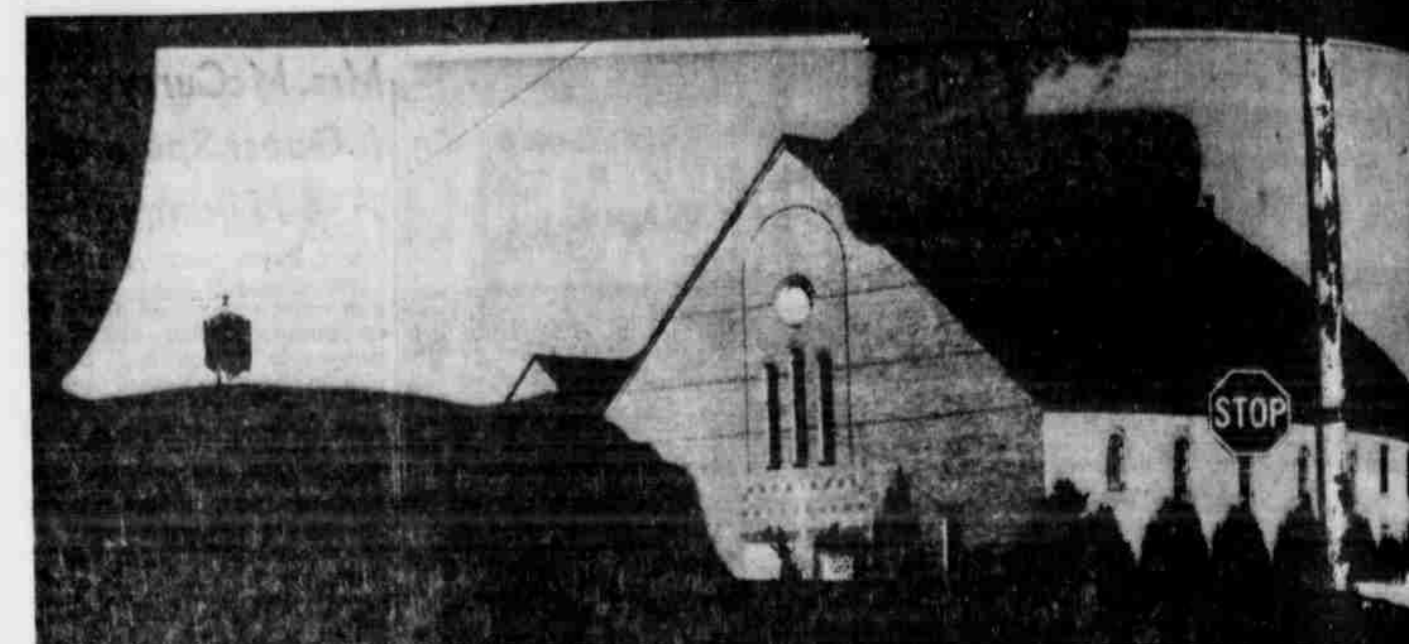

NOV. 4, 1958—County Judge Pat Boone Jr. said in an interview that the outcome of any bond election to purchase right-of-way for 84 hinges on "whether an accurate figure on the cost of the right-of-way" is presented to the voters.

ONE DEAD, THREE HURT

NOV. 7, 1958—U. S. Highway 84 claimed its seventh life of 1958 when a 19-year-old Sweetwater man was killed and three Mauleshoe residents were injured in a mishap seven miles southeast of Littlefield.

Resident's Father Dies In Quanah

Funeral services for Roy Sansom, 48, father of Mrs. Al Chambers of Littlefield, were held Wednesday afternoon at 4 in the Quanah First Baptist Church. Sansom was born March 10, 1890 in Van Zandt County and died Monday night in the Memorial Hospital at Quanah.

IT'S DIFFERENT NOW—Here's a driver's eye view of the sacked stoplight at the intersection of Sixth Street and Littlefield Drive. The stoplight is just over the shoulder of the driver at the left of the picture. Replacing the stoplight for a test run are stop signs such as the one at the right side of the picture. Three stop signs were placed at the intersection to stop traffic coming from the east or west on Sixth Street or south on Littlefield Drive. The drive is one-way from street south and needs no sign for that direction. City engineers plan to try the signs at the intersection for a two and see if movement of traffic is facilitated.

Letters To The Editor

Dear John Q Public:

It's too bad the road project had to be made the prime topic of conversation due to death and injury and not because of the people just being interested in wanting good safe roads. However, we should try to salvage some good out of everything, and if the complacency of Lamb Countians can be aroused to constructive action it will not bring back the dead but will perhaps prevent you or I, or a loved one or friend from joining the toll in an untimely and needless death.

Margie Wallace Feted With Party played nine games, losing three and winning six. Losses came at the hands of Phillips, 25-14, and Levelland, 42-26, in District 1AAA play, and to Artesia, New Mexico, 7-6.

The Demons defeated Cathedral of El Paso, Dalhart, Canyon, Perryton, John Marshall of Oklahoma City, and most recently, Hereford, by the score of 55-20.

This game is the last for Dumas this season, and there is little doubt that the Demons will be out for revenge in this week's contest.

First, the Demons want to settle the personal score; the Wildcats have beaten Dumas soundly the last two years.

Next, if Dumas did down Littlefield, it would eliminate the Wildcats from title contention.

Area Elevens Lose Seasons Friday Night

Area teams will put away their fall gear after Friday night's football season. The Springlake Wolverines had a big job in rebuilding the team, and the Wolverines reached the height of this comeback against Anton two weeks ago when they blasted the Bulldogs 12-6. This week Springlake will close the season against the rough Farwell Steers.

In a game featuring two area teams, Sudan will travel to Anton for battle. Neither team is contention for the District 3A title, but both will have plenty of personal glory at stake.

Amherst will close a rather dismal season at Whiteface where they will again be the underdogs. Last week Amherst dropped a homecoming game to Whitharral, 22-0.

It will be the last game for Bula also. The Bulldogs will host Cotton Center in their finale.

Littlefield Invited To Have 'Day' At Fort Worth Show

Littlefield has been invited to have a "day" at the 1959 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, which will be held Jan. 30 through Feb. 8 in Fort Worth.

In a letter, W. R. Watt, president-manager of the show, suggested that Littlefield select a cowgirl sweetheart who can be introduced at the Stock Show rodeo. Watt also invited the city to send its high school band so that the students may give a concert on the exposition grounds. Band members will be guests of the Stock Show at the rodeo performance.

Watt expressed the hope that a delegation of citizens, wearing hat bands or badges proclaiming "day,"

Watt said in his letter. He asked that the Chamber of Commerce or any interested group work with the Stock Show officials to plan the special "day."

"The Stock Show is looking forward to your acceptance and will give your plans as widespread publicity as possible," Watt said in his letter. "All of us will do everything in our power to make your visit enjoyable."

Harmon-Coached Frosh End Season Against Coronado

The Littlefield freshman football team will take the field for the last time this season today at 4 p.m. at Wildcat Stadium against Coronado of Plainview.

"We hope to win this one in order to win half of our games for the season," was the comment of Coach Bill Harmon of the frosh.

So far the freshmen, led by the offensive punch of Ronnie Rice, have defeated Levelland, Dimmitt, Hereford and Morton. Losses have come at the hands of Estacado of Plainview, twice, Levelland, Brownfield and Coronado.

In the earlier game with the big Plainview team, the frosh fell, 22-0, but since then Littlefield has gained momentum by winning three of its last four games.

Words CAN Hurt Us,' Says Fritz In Stanford Review

As leaders of the Western world, are in direct and competition with the Communist world. We think competition in various terms—the cold war, trade, maneuverings on every continent. And, inevitably, the world hangs the most dreadful of shadows—the specter of an all-out war fought with nuclear weapons of incredible destructiveness as to relegate the weapons of the immediate past to the category of the musket and long bow.

Thoughtful people believe that—barring the all-which might end civilization itself—ultimate victory will go to the side which is most effective in winning the men, and in gaining the faith and the loyalty of the people. And Communism goes to enormous lengths in this direction.

The October issue of The Stanford Review carries a child by Peter Grothe, under the title "Words CAN Hurt Us," which is adapted from a new book of his published by Books. Grothe, who is now at Stanford University with his doctorate in political science, has traveled in Russia and East Germany. His article deals with the life of a fictitious but typical East German named Fritz Schultz.

It is hardly a moment of the day when Fritz is sparsist propaganda, dished out in all manner or forms. He brushes his teeth—and the tube carries the slogan for the Five-Year Plan." He moves on to break the wrapper in which his margarine comes in—to "Make German-Soviet friendship a thing of the while he eats, he reads a morning paper featuring articles on alleged "Progress in the People's Democracies with denunciations of the "Western Imperialists." Next, the tireless propaganda efforts continue. Anti-competitions are passed around, and Fritz signs. He is to get out more production, and during the after-break a political commentary is broadcast. Ban-pictures extol communist leaders and extol Soviet accomplishments.

End of the work day does not bring an end to the. The Communist radio carries right on. A pro-ogator pays Fritz an evening call to discuss such "how West German militarism is hindering re-uni-

Sunday doesn't necessarily give Fritz a respite. He asked to go to a Communist demonstration instead he'd planned on—and he will go, if he wants to of trouble.

It all amounts to, Grothe writes, is like standing in a full of people, all of whom are saying over and over: "The moon is green. The moon is green." He and if you hear it said the moon is green enough though years in a row, you may begin to believe that the moon, indeed is green. Especially if no one in the that it is yellow."

He ends on this note: "It can be well-argued that the minds of men is the most important business of century. . . . Quite clearly, the Communist psycho-ve not yet won the minds of the East German peo-ontrolling the sources of communication, as they are few who would deny that time is on the Com-ide."

Hope is that this situation will somehow be changed.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—It'd be hard to find a Texan who hasn't been involved in a lively discussion recently as to whether the next Legislature should or should not pass a state sales tax or income tax next year.

Most folks are pretty strongly pro or con — no lukewarm feelings.

Property taxes are another matter. People may gripe about them, but they don't often get stirred up about them.

But the latest report by the Texas State Tax Study Commission, "Our Property Taxes," underscores the importance of this levy. It is Texas' biggest money-maker for state and local government. In 1958 property taxes will bring in an estimated $829,000,000 to the state and all the various local taxing units.

More interesting, the Tax Commission's study of assessment and collection practices and problems indicates that this figure is probably only a fraction of what is legally due.

Shortage of personnel plus the mountainous difficulties of locating and evaluating all the items involved add up to inequalities and haphazard methods.

Under Texas law, individual and businesses are supposed to pay property taxes on all real estate—land and buildings. In addition, both businesses and individuals are liable for taxes on all "intangible personal property"—cars, airplanes, boats, furniture, jewelry, business equipment, fixtures, inventories, etc. Also, on all "intangible personal property"—money, bonds, stocks, mortgages, etc.

In practice, many of these are

DOWN MEMORY LANE

(Taken from files of the Lamb County Leader, Nov. 20, 1941)

The Littlefield Wildcats maintained their standings in the race for the district football crown, by defeating the Levelland Lobos, 20-0 on the Levelland gridiron Friday afternoon.

This victory over the Lobos gave the Wildcats at least a tie for the north half of the district football title, and should Slaton fail to come through with a victory over the Sudan Hornets, the Wildcats would be the undisputed champs.

South Plains cotton ginnings for the 1941 season are still off to a slow start, the total for the season up to Nov. 1 according to the U. S. bureau of census, amounting to approximately one fourth that of a year ago. The previous comparison, as of mid-October, was one fifth.

A terracing program of 25,518 miles of standard terraces is the goal of Texas farmers under the 1942 AAA farm program, according to Fred Rennals, assistant administrative officer in charge of the Texas AAA.

Bob Smith has purchased a new Plymouth Special De Lux four door sedan. The car was purchased from the Glenn Williams Motor Company.

Topping the list was an appeal to the lawmakers to authorize cities to raise money through some new tax sources. League also asked for thorough study of inequities in the property tax laws and revision where needed. It suggested that payment of property taxes on motor vehicles be required before issuance of new license tags.

Cities also asked the Legislature to step out of the field of regulating pay, pensions, and hours of city employees. Local citizens have to pay the bill, said the League, and ought to have the say-so.

COST OF HIGH LIVING — It's not the income; it's the outgo that has put Texas treasury in the red, says State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Calvert told Gov. Price Daniel's Executive Study Committee that all tax sources except oil are expected to bring in some $74,646,- 044 more revenue in the 1960-61 biennium than for 1958-59.

But he pointed out, inescapable increase of needs in just one area—public schools—will just about absorb all this extra money.

SOME CHANGES MADE—Final outcome (from unofficial returns) of voting on proposed constitutional amendments resulted in these changes:

1. Appointees to vacated county judge and justice of the peace posts may serve only until the next general election—not for the remainder of a four-year term.

2. Precinct, county and district office holders may not announce for another office without resigning the office they hold.

3. Cities may elect their officials for four-year, instead of two-year terms.

4. Former Texas Rangers or their widows may receive pensions up to $80 a month.

5. State funds may be spent to

Sandhills Philosopher

He Gets Vague Conclusions On Viewing Vote Returns

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has found about the election a week ago, which is pretty fast work for him.

Dear editor:

Outside of reading what the political experts and analysts have to say before an election, I guess the next best reading comes from what they have to say after the election.

6. Legislature may pass a law providing medical care assistance for people receiving old age pensions, aid to the blind, disabled or dependent children.

7. Legislature may authorize the creation of new hospital districts in Potter, Wichita and Jefferson counties.

On the other hand, when Texans put their foot on the proposal for annual sessions and $7,500 annual salaries for legislators, it meant lawmakers would face next year's tough taxing session with only 120 "pay" days. Lawmakers will have to get along on $25 a day for the first 120 days and then their pay stops except when special sessions are called by the governor.

Also turned down was a proposal to set up pension plans for elective officials of counties and precincts.

MORE LEEWAY ASKED—Law setting up the Texas Water Development Board is proving to be something of a strait-jacket.

This opinion was expressed to the Board by J. E. Sturrock of the Texas Water Conservation Association. "You're doing a good job, but your law needs to be liberalized," said Sturrock.

Board is authorized to lend local governments up to one-third the cost of building a water conservation project. Suggested changes: lower interest rates to the borrowers, provision for lending more than one-third of cost.

For example, last week as soon as the returns from the elections around the country came in, the experts rolled up their sleeves and started explaining what had happened and why, and I'll admit they've left me puzzled, although you understand I'm not crediting them with getting me puzzled. I've been that way for years on my own.

One expert said the election results clearly indicated the country is more liberal, another said, "this isn't true, that he knows of candidates who got elected on the most conservative platform he'd ever heard of."

The main trouble with this is that the pure strains in both parties have about disappeared, mostly crossbreeds left.

And you take all these crosses, like liberal Republicans and conservative Democrats, conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats, liberal conservatives and conservative liberals, conservative liberals, and several who don't know how they got elected, and put them all in the same feed lot in Washington and it's no wonder the Presidency of the United States is considered the most back-breaking job on earth.

If the cattlemen or the horse breeders or hog raisers or dog lovers of this country registered their stock like political parties, do, you couldn't tell anymore about what the offspring would be like than you can about what the next Congress will do.

Yo take two members from the same party, one with a mandate from the people in his pocket to vote conservative, and the other with a mandate to vote liberal, and turn them loose in Washington, and it's about like a football team with two coaches, one sending in word to pass, the other to punt.

Personally, I prefer to run this farm out here. Nobody issues me any mandates.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Trusting Toledo Druggist Says Children Are Honest

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A new children's candy counter in Max Schwartz drug store features the ultimate in trusting self-service: The young patrons ring up their own sales on a cash register and make their own change.

"Kids are honest people," Schwartz declared after the counter had been in operation a week. "So far, I'm at least 95 per cent correct."

After the first week an inventory of the candy and a check of cash receipts revealed a shortage where she had been for the past three weeks. Juanella had heart surgery Oct. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Hashay's son, Ricky, is home from the hospital and doing fine; he had had pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gibson spent Thursday in Clovis, N.M.

Mrs. Jack Estes and Letha spent the weekend in Portales in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Mac Estes.

age of five cents on every dollar of business at the counter.

"Businessmen call that shrinkage," Schwartz insisted, not at all perturbed. "Maybe some of the younger kids just can't add."

While Schwartz was talking to a reporter, a small boy entered the store, hesitantly handed him two pennies and left without a word.

Schwartz grinned and said, "That's not the first time a youngster has returned with the cash after overlooking the cash register on a previous purchase."

He admitted that at times he has to reprimand the children when they get too excited around the counter.

"One thing, though," he added, "They never stay mad long. They're right back the next day with no grudge. These kids are terrific."

Motorism's New Measurement of Greatness!

The American motorist has long since adopted his own technique for judging the year's automotive offerings. He simply looks to the new Cadillac car to discover motordom's fullest measure of all that is new and good and wonderful.

And never before has Cadillac placed such a high standard on the world's motor cars as it has for 1959. For the new "car of cars" has introduced a whole new concept of what an automobile can do and be... and how it should look and act.

To the eye alone, it is a revelation. Elegant, majestic, substantial, poised—it has brought a new magic and splendor to the world of motion.

Its Fleetwood interiors are miracles of advanced design.

Appointments are beautiful beyond imagination... and its fabrics and leathers are unbelievably luxurious.

The 1959 Cadillac is equally inspiring from behind the wheel. Its spectacular new engine, its advanced transmission and its new ease of ride and handling make every journey the most glorious distance between any two points.

These Cadillac advancements have been interpreted in thirteen body styles—including a new Eldorado Brougham. So if you contemplate the purchase of any motor car in the coming year, you owe yourself an early visit with this newest of Cadillacs.

Sixty minutes in the showroom and on the highway will give you a full understanding of the new way to measure greatness in a motor car.

The majestic new Cadillac for 1959 is now on display—inspect and drive it today!

Says Department Of Public Safety

Many Citizens Don't Understand Why Officers Use Radar System

The following article is written by the Texas Department of Public Safety to inform Texas drivers of the purpose of using radar as a traffic enforcement aid.

Since the advent of radar as a traffic law enforcement aid, several news releases have indicated that many lay citizens and some courts do not properly understand the police's purpose in using radar.

On occasion violators have returned to the scene and assumed the "good samaritan" role by radar or by installing home made flagging speeders approaching a radar warning signs near by to alert speeders.

When police have stopped the interference of these self appointed "traffic supervisors" by filing charges, some citizens and even courts have responded with questions such as "What was wrong with that? Weren't they slowing down speeders? Weren't the police trying to slow down speeders with radar? What's the radar for if it's not to slow down speeders?"

The first reaction of many citizens to these questions is that they were more interested in filing charges against speeders than they were in preventing the speed violations. The reasoning implicit in the questions and the public's reaction indicate a lack of understanding of what radar is for.

This misunderstanding work against the safety of the public who have employed the police for the purpose of protecting person and property. The purpose of this article is to present an explanation of "what radar is for" from the police's point of view.

First, if we ask, "what are traffic officers for?" one might say, "To prevent accidents." This answer relates to an indirect result of the officers' work, but it is not the logical answer. One of several duties of the traffic officers is to enforce laws.

It follows (if the laws are sound) that driver compliance with the laws will result in fewer accidents. The officer enforces laws; as a result of enforcement more drivers comply with laws; as a result of wider compliance more accidents are prevented.

However, the officer does not file charges against drivers for having accidents. It is not against the law to have an accident. It is against the law to commit the violation that caused the accident to happen.

If you now have a clear understanding how enforcement work if traffic officers prevents accidents, you are better conditioned to accept the following answer to the question, "What is radar for?"

In one instance a court sided with the violator, who had gone back to the radar station and flagged speeders. The court told the arresting officer, "He slowed traffic down. That's what the radar was for, wasn't it?" The answer is "No."

The purpose of radar is to generate widespread driver compliance with speed regulations. It is important that the public understand the import of these words in the preceding statement. Radar can generate widespread driver compliance only when drivers widespread over a city or state cannot know where the radar detectors are located. If the locations of radar detectors are revealed to drivers, the cost of purchasing, maintaining, and operating radar equipment is a waste of the public's money.

If a sign or a flagman warns drivers that a radar unit is just ahead of them, the traffic law enforcement program designed to prevent accidents is back where it was before radar. The resulting effect is that approaching speeders slow down temporarily. However, one officer in a police car parked in view of drivers would have the same effect. And the "same effect" is that the halo of an enforcement unit is reduced to a very short strip of roadway. Why spend money to buy expensive radar equipment and assign two officers to do a job which one officer alone, and without radar equipment, could do just as well or rather, just as poorly.

If radar does not generate widespread driver compliance, it not only is a waste of equipment money but also is a waste of time of police units that could be put to use to detect other violations such as wrong side on curve, passing on hills, stopping on pavement, and failing to yield right of way. Radar, therefore, is not for "slowing down traffic" for a few hundred yards near the location of the radar. Rather it is for increasing the probability of arrest of speed limit violators everywhere.

When the probability of violator arrest increases, driver compliance increases, throughout the city or the state where radar units are used regularly as a scientific aid in traffic supervision.

Where the locations of radar stations are unknown to drivers, radar wields a tremendous influence upon violators of speed regulations. The percentage of drivers who exceed speed limits on the State and Federal rural highway system in Texas has been reduced every year since the Texas Highway Patrol began using radar in November, 1954. And the number of fatal accidents and the number of people killed on the system have been reduced every year. The following statistics tie those results together: the percent of vehicle speeds in rural fatal accidents that were above 60 mph was reduced from 39 percent in 1953 to only 25 percent in 1957.

You should recall these cold facts when you hear someone holler about being trapped by radar or when someone advances the ridiculous suggestion that there should be a radar sign to warn speeders that they are approaching a radar station. Radar is not for slowing speeders down to the speed limits. It is for keeping them from driving over the speed limits in the first place. It can do this only when it increases the probability of arrest for speeding. It can increase the probability of arrest only when speeders cannot know when or where they may be driving down a radar beam.

Citizens who sincerely want to reduce their exposure to death and injury on our streets and highways and who recognize that police radar is a valuable aid in accomplishing this goal should oppose the expense of radar units unless the units are used only in such a way that speeders cannot know where they are located. Signs giving Texas speed limits are posted all over the State highway system in full view of drivers. Additional signs informing drivers that speed laws are enforced with radar are posted in full view of drivers. Through these warnings and the use of radar the police are trying to develop a safer transportation system at lower cost by making more effective use of manpower and equipment.

The police only want widespread compliance with speed regulations. They are trying to so improve driver discipline that there will not be any speeding arrests at all. The violators who complain that they were "trapped" because they could not see a radar unit ahead are the very ones that radar is intended to discipline.

In 1953, 71 per cent of Texas passenger car drivers on rural highways drove under 61 mph. By 1957 this majority had increased to 93 per cent. These drivers drove through thousand of radar beams and never knew the beams were there. Whenever you hear a driver squawking about radar traps, you can bet your bottom dollar that he is not one of this large majority of drivers who are willing to comply with speed laws as a personal contribution toward safer highways. What is done to prevent accidents, prevents accidents. A driver is doing something to prevent accidents when he keeps his vehicle's speed within posted limits.

What the speed limits are, or should be, is another question, but whatever the speed limits are, the use of undetectable radar units is the most practical way yet devised to procure widespread compliance.

The police are much more concerned about the public generally understanding the purpose of radar than they are about a few individuals informing speeders as to where a radar detector is located. The reaction of well meaning citizens (even a court) to police action against a convicted speeder who returned to the scene to warn other speeders merely revealed the need of an explanation of why police use radar.

Some reliable but uninformed people who really want a better enforcement program look upon the hiding of a radar detector as an unethical practice designed to increase the number of traffic arrests. Yet these people support the police practice of "hiding" to detect burglars, robbers, thieves, and narcotic peddlers.

These people should be reminded that in 1957 Texas had 1,081 criminal homicides and 2,539 motor vehicles. We had 8,287 aggravated assault cases and 122,195 persons injured in traffic. It is not intended to classify traffic misdemeanors per se with those crim-

Texas Tech Faces Tulsa Hurricanes

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's Red Raiders, their best season since 1955 already assured, engage University of Tulsa there Saturday afternoon.

Tech beat Arizona 33-6 Saturday to bring its record to 3-4, but Coach DeWitt Weaver is wary of the Golden Hurricane. Tulsa defeated Houston, then last week dropped a 15-6 decision to Cincinnati in the rain. Tulsa will be awfully tough on the rebound, Weaver feels.

Tulsa has won from Tech the past two years by the margin of a field goal.

Tech's next—and final—appearance will be against University of Arkansas at home on Nov. 22. Tickets are available for the clash with the Red Raiders, the first such game in Lubbock, but a large crowd may attend.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

About Your HEALTH

Health public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. WELLS, M. D., Commissioner of Health.

What do people die from most? How many accidental deaths were there in 1957? What was the leading cause of death in 1957?

These and other questions involving vital statistics are available from the Division of Vital Statistics of the State Health Department.

Most people look upon the Division of Vital Statistics as merely a place to obtain a copy of a birth certificate for a new job, or a copy of a death certificate for an inheritance.

This is true, but the division offers many other services as well. Some are familiar; others are unknown except to public health workers.

Let's take the first question: Just what do people die from most?

By careful compilation of death statistics, listing cause of death, place, conditions and other information, it is possible for statisticians to determine what diseases are killing the most people in Texas.

What value is this? It was just fifty years ago that tuberculosis was the leading cause of death.

Medical and public health officials could see this frightening fact and direct their activities toward curbing the disease.

Year after year, employing various methods for lessening the occurrence and severity of tuberculosis, the researchers' only method of checking their progress was by checking statistical death records.

In this manner they were able to discover which measures were the most successful. Today, tuberculosis is no longer the leading cause of death.

Definite techniques are carried on today with emphasis on other diseases.

For instance, the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Clinic uses death records to check on most patients of the hospital. In this way they hope to find out how successful are certain methods of care. The study is on a continuous basis and began several years ago.

Similar studies can be carried on home patients. Heart and cancer diseases are the two leading causes of death today.

The fourth-ranking killer is accidents. Traffic accidents lead but how and where and in what manner do these and other accidents occur? By careful scrutiny of death records, answers may be found that will enable engineers to build safety into homes and highways.

The Division of Vital Statistics sends you certificates upon request, but the service doesn't end there—it only begins. (A weekly public service feature from the Division of Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

Wichita's Cowtown Boasts Genuine Wyatt Earp Jail

By FRANK TIFFANY
WICHITA, Kans. (AP)—A bit of the Old West—so real that you can get yourself tossed into the genuine Wyatt Earp jail—has been restored here.

The arch over the entrance welcomes you to Cowtown. Like the busy city that has grown where that famed early day marshal once kept things orderly with a fast six-gun, Cowtown still is growing.

This year the civic-minded business and professional men and women who formed Historic Wichita, Inc., to keep pioneer relics and spirit alive are in clover. The city, after two budget-souring years, voted $15,000 for maintenance and a caretaker, so private funds can go into Cowtown's expansion.

R. M. Long, newspaper editor, currently is Historic Wichita's president. Long's devotion to Cowtown has deep roots. He is managing editor of The Wichita Eagle, still the property of the Murdock family that ran it when Cowtown was all there was to Wichita in the 1870s.

Marcellus Murdock, present Eagle publisher is a son of Col. March Murdock, the Eagle's founder in 1872. And Col. March is a familiar character to most of the nation's small fry. In the current television series, "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp."

The Wyatt Earp jail is the centerpiece of Cowtown, which occupies a vacant lot of eras and dirt streets on the bank of the Big Arkansas River five minutes by auto from the main business district.

The small, wooden structure bears a bronze nameplate dedicated to the famed marshal. The plaque wasn't there, of course, when Earp used the jail as a sobering-up station for bolterous cowhands at the "pay day and whiskey" end of the old Chisholm Trail.

It was restored with minor renewals here and there, after serving as a coal house through the years until Historic Wichita found it, bought it, and moved it to its present site and glory.

Across the street is the Munger House, first home built in Wichita 87 years ago. Nearby are other rough frame buildings—the first volunteer fire station; the first school, a one-room, sod-roofed, dirt-floored structure; a drug store; and the first railroad station, hard benches and all.

Each is furnished with authentic antiques. Most furniture and fittings were donated by descendants of Wichita pioneers.

With Long and his associates—businessmen, doctors, ministers, former city officials and a former Kansas governor, Wichita attorney Payne Ratner—it has been a
