KA DEFEATED SUNDAY BY THE LOCAL CATS

Tahoka baseball tossers crossed with the local nine on the grounds here last Sunday, in a wearied game. Both teams usually handicapped and failed to get a good brand of ball due to wind that kept the air filled with sand and caused many extra base-hits.

They rang the bell three times in the very first inning, before they could get adjusted or recover from the inning jinks that has been all season. Three errors were hit accounted for the damage. The Cats came back strong in the second when a walk, two errors and a base knock brought in a run. The Tahoka boys pushed across in the fifth on a home run, Squires and Wells, and out.

They kept up the heavy bombardment and scored in each frame, with the work of Hanks, H. Mueller, Fox, Ratliff, and Stone. A downfall of the visitors, all or more safe hits with spring position. H. Mueller, Al Mueller hit homers.

They were one of the best at the season and the fans desire a better brand of ball, taking the weather in consideration and the fact that the home team fill winning ball games an incentive to local supporters.

Hanks and Hanks formed the home club while Tahoka three hurlers to stop the visitors collected seven runs and five errors; the Cats made 15 runs and made three errors.

Prospects Of Section Said to Be Best In History

Prospects in this section of Lamb county are as fine as could be had in several farming sections of their places. One of the young orchards in this section is in the best of its maturity, all of them heavy with the fruit now setting on and developing into luscious apples, peaches, and berries of various descriptions all grow well here and have a long life.

Anton, living two and a half miles from town, has about 500 acres of place, all loaded with alfalfa and also has a fine vineyard of about half acres that is heavy with fruit.

Baker, whose farm is north of town, reports a fine crop of alfalfa on. This week he has one town one branch of an orchard on, on which there were 15 bushels of alfalfa in a space of one-half inches. Another orchard one-half inches long contained 52 bushels.

ROLLMENT INCREASED

Texas, June 18.—Summertime enrollment at Texas Tech college has reached 1,085, more than 30 percent over the enrollment at the same date last year. Many classes are in undue proportions and admissions in many cases had to be deferred. More than 1,100 students rolled before the end of the week.

Over a hundred additional new students are expected to enroll at the beginning of the second summer session, making the total attendance for the summer probably the largest for both summer sessions in the history of the college. The enrollment for the present summer session is the largest number of students to have come to Tech to do college work.

Some folks are rich in money, some are rich in knowledge, some are rich in both. They make more, but have more.

OPENS INSURANCE BUSINESS

Kenneth R. Hemphill, of this city, who was athletic coach for the Spur high school last year, has opened an insurance office in Littlefield.

He will office for the present with his father, A. G. Hemphill, in the rear of the First National Bank building.

Mr. Hemphill says school work is alright, but he desires to launch out into a more permanent and representative business life, choosing his home town for his future business enterprise.

LEVELLAND CREW TO VISIT ALL THE TEXAS CO. SEATS

Leveland, Texas, June 18.—The flight of the ship "Fort Worth" place not only Fort Worth but all of Texas in the spot light, and now three men here at Leveland, Texas, on the South Plains are to attempt a different kind of an endurance test that is expected to create a national interest.

These men left June 20 on a non-stop trip in a Ford car to visit each of the 252 county seat towns in Texas. The trip is estimated to be from 40,000 to 50,000 miles and the time required will be much more than the 172 hours that the ship "Fort Worth" soared in the Texas skies.

H. C. Gore, W. C. Breedlove and Walter Wright are the men to make the test. The start will be made to the north, with Olton the county seat of Lamb County the first of the 252 county seats to be visited, and Dallas scheduled to be the last.

The "Ford Musketeers" will travel day and night and expect to create a lot of favorable attention over the nation for Hockley County, one of the youngest counties in the state, as well as for the entire South Plains of Texas where 5,000,000 acres of virgin agricultural land awaits development on the level prairies.

BIG PLANS LAID FOR SOUTH PLAINS FAIR AT LUBBOCK

Lubbock, Texas, June 18.—Officials of the Panhandle South Plains Fair are expecting the biggest and the best quality of live stock, poultry, and agricultural exhibits and displays at the fair this fall, Sept. 30 to Oct. 5, inclusive, that have ever been gathered in West Texas.

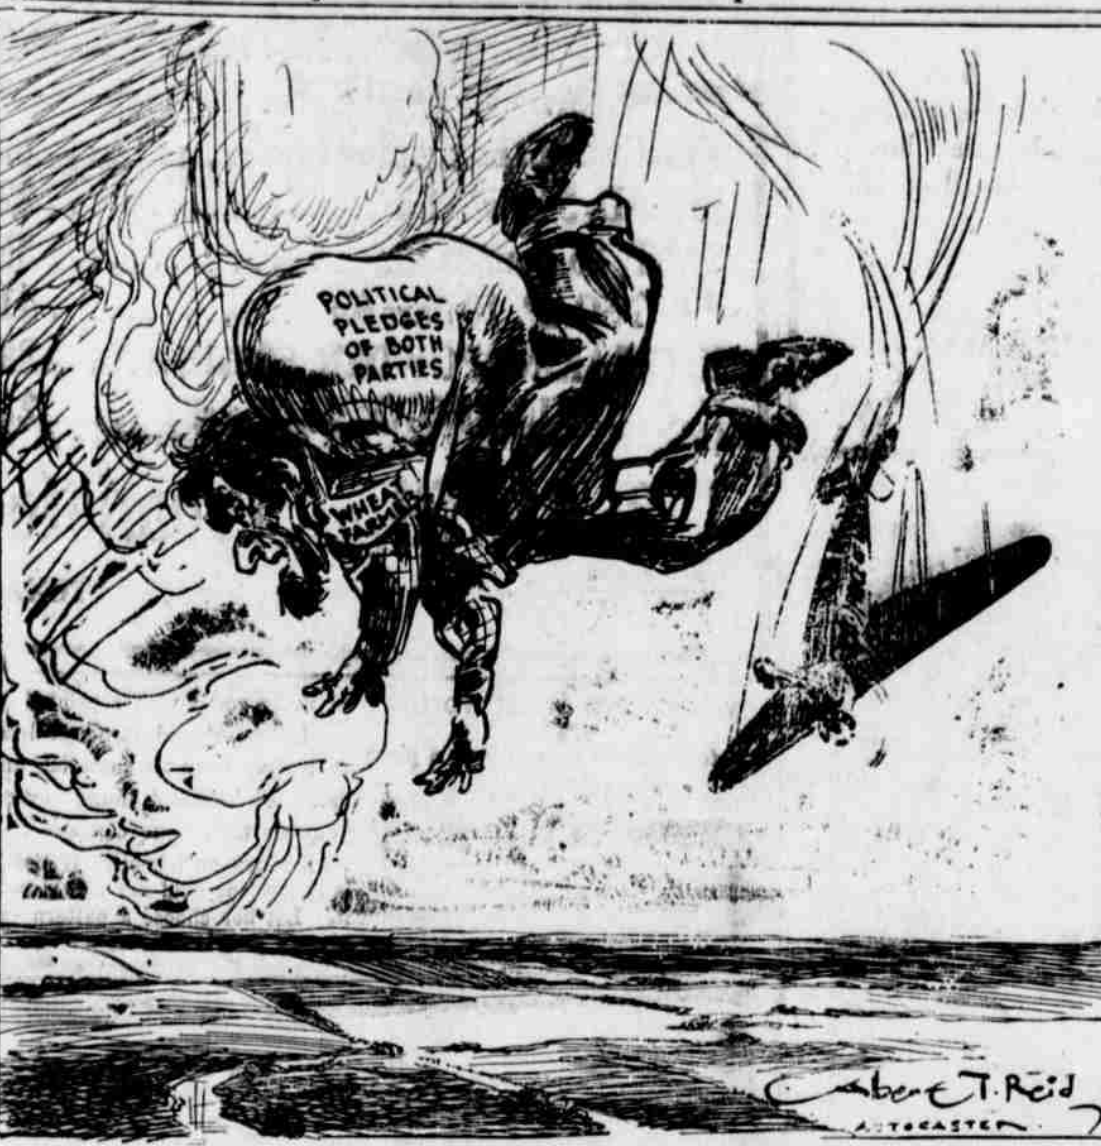

An effort will be made to obtain a county exhibit from every county on the Plains as well as a community exhibit from every community in Lubbock county for the agricultural building. The completeness of the exhibits for the past several years has gained for the fair the name, "The Show Window of the Plains," and this year a special effort will be made to make the "Show Window" truly representative of the Plains.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is spending $22,000 this year in advertising the South Plains of Texas in farm journals. Over 4,000 inquiries have come in from all over the nation, already. Hundreds of letters indicate that prospective farm settlers will visit the South Plains this summer and fall and it is naturally expected that many of them will see the Plains fair to see what products are produced in the various South Plains counties. This situation is expected to make the competition in the agricultural building much keener than it has ever been before and is also expected to draw more exhibits.

What Do You Do If the Parachute Doesn't Open? By Albert T. Reid

Local Acidophilus Expert Gives Elucidation Clear as Mud on Value of Buttermilks as a Modern Beverage for Anatomical Robustness

"It was the passage of the Volstead act some years ago that put buttermilk on the market," remarked E. C. Cundiff, local dairyman, a few days ago, as he brought a big basket of bottles filled with this twentieth century favorite into a local restaurant. Cundiff, who has quite a reputation for high grade products, had just remarked that all his cows, except one he called "Tom," gave buttermilk. A young chap sitting at the counter enquired how he made that out. "What else would you expect a cow to give but-her-milk?" replied the dauntless little dairyman.

"The consumption of buttermilk and other fermented milks has greatly increased during the past ten years," said the dairyman, as he sat down a tray of empties to be taken back and refilled. Then he ran off into a jargon of three and five dollar words telling about lactobacillus acidophilus, fermented milk, kefir, kumiss, yogurt and some other terms of polysyllabic nomenclature that this elementary minded news hound of the Leader failed to either grasp or assimilate.

"Fermented milks," explained the nimble-tongued cow specialist, "are all the result of an acid fermentation in which the sugar of the milk is split up into lactic acid and other products. This may be brought about in the milk by the presence of varieties of the common lactic acid group of bacteria, or, as in the case of yogurt, by special organisms, or a yeast may be present, adding an alcoholic (greatly admired by some Littlefield citizens) to the ordinary acid fermentation." We gasped for breath, looked at the end of our lead pencil and found it smoking with heat.

"Physicians now days," continued this expert bovine chambermaid, "often call attention of their patients to the therapeutic value of fermented dairy juice, and modern day scientists will now go into paroxysms of explanation and hair-splitting eulogies over the relative merits of bulgaricus versus acidophilus milk in the treatment of intestinal disorders. Aside from the pleasant taste," explained this Guernsey faddist, "fermented milk, on account of having a more or less content of consolidated Jersey juice, known among people like you and Lon Campbell and a few other well known gentry of this fast growing little city—commonly known, I say, as butterfat, there is a food value that should not be overlooked. Of course," he explained with his usual rapid-fire tongue, which in just ordinary conversation exceeds the speed of a Gatling gun, "the unrestricted use of some forms of buttermilk might result in acidosis, (!) or some persons getting too much protein, and, in some forms, too much alcohol. Therefore, it is sometimes wise to consult a doctor before making any permanent and drastic changes in one's diet or establishing any radical innovations heretofore unaccustomed to the segastuations of the normal corporosity. Especially is this true in infants and octogenarians." Neither of which this reporter happened to be—so we just let that statement slip by.

"Speaking strictly buttermilky," said friend Earnest, much of the buttermilk sold in our larger cities is not properly speaking, buttermilk, but merely sour skim milk which has been churned to break up the curd, and some of it with more or less lactic acid bacteria added, doping it up to a certain standard of flavor as is some of our modern bootleg in these cotton-spitting days. However, that's just another one of the advantages of living in a small town, where you may be well acquainted with your buttermilk bootlegger, obtaining an uniform product known to be both clean and wholesome."

As the milk-vendor went out, we turned to the waiter and called for a glass of unctuous liquid, containing a quantity of ultramicroscopic organisms and a reasonable amount of butyric, caproic and myristic acids. It tasted real good!

DR. COBB ATTENDED MEET OF CHIROPRACTIC DISTRICT

Dr. and Mrs. M. V. Cobb attended the tri-district meeting of chiropractors held at Lockney last Saturday and Sunday.

There were about 50 practitioners present from the Red River, Panhandle and the South Plains districts, Dr. Cobb being a member of the last named district association.

A very interesting and constructive program was carried out. The meeting opened with a strong address by Dr. H. G. Drain, dean of the Texas Chiropractic college, San Antonio, the address being open to the public generally, and held in the Baptist church.

Sunday noon there was a banquet held in the Baker hotel.

The next meeting will be in September, at Quanah.

AUTO RACES HELD AT ABILENE JULY 4th ON SPEEDWAY

Abilene, Texas, June 18.—The automobile race program to be presented on the West Texas Fair Speedway in Abilene on July 4 will be the outstanding Independence Day sport event in the southwest.

A check of the American Automobile Association's 1929 racing schedule reveals that there will be only seven speed car contests in the United States during this year that will be larger than the program to be given in this city on July 4. Only one of the seven is in the southwest and it is November 16 at Phoenix, Arizona.

Guaranteed prizes totalling $2,500 will be awarded to the winners in the five races that will make up the program to be held here on Independence Day.

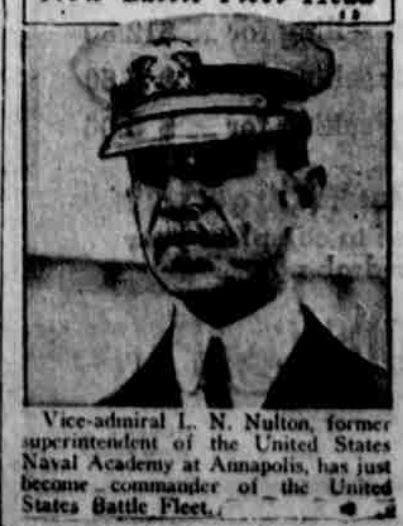

There will be five events on the card presented here Independence Day under direction of D. H. Jeffries, Texas supervisor of the American Automobile association. The feature of the day will be a 15 mile contest for first money of $650 and a percent of the receipts.

KEEP CHIX FROM TURKS

To avoid losses of chicks from grapes, keep them away from turkeys; the turkeys may show no signs of the disease, but they can pass it on to chicks with fatal results to the latter. Gapes is caused by a parasitic worm that gets into the chick's windpipe, and the male and female worms have the curious habit of attaching themselves so firmly to each other that at first sight they look like a single worm with two heads and two necks. It is pretty difficult to extract the worms and it is better to put your faith in prevention.

Put the chicks as soon as hatched, on clean ground, and keep them away from turkeys or ground occupied by turkeys. Adult chickens seem to be immune from gapes.

LEGUME ACREAGE INCREASING

College Station.—The number of Texas farmers planting legumes of some sort for grazing, hay or soil building purposes shows a small increase from year to year, reports of county agents show. For three years the number beginning such demonstrations has run more than 8500 each year and in the last six years a total of 37,356 farmers have started these crops in cooperation with the Extension service.

The lowly cow pea leads the popularity by a substantial margin with sweet clover, alfalfa, and soy beans following. Increasing emphasis placed on hay and pastures for the dairy business of Texas leads some here to believe that the year will see the greatest increase in these crops in history.

OF BURNED OUT BEARINGS YOUR MOTOR CAN ESCAPE IT

If you've ever listened to the anvil chorus under the hood when a bearing burns out, you realize the damage that poor oil can do to a motor. Replaced bearings cost real money—a great deal more, in fact, than the cost of a year's supply of good oil.

Isn't that reason enough why you should always insist upon a brand of oil which has stood the test—a brand backed up by an organization which has spent years specializing in the lubrication needs of every type of motor?

Such are the brands offered you by the Continental Oil Company. You may be sure that an oil sponsored and sold by this organization is the right oil for your car.

You protect the bearings—and your pocket-book, too—when you ask for these brands at service stations and garages.

CARVING LIFE'S MARBLE

Salutatory Address delivered by Lucille Hall, graduating member Littlefield Grammar School, 1929

Mr. Chairman, members of the School Board, parents, teachers and patrons:

As members of the Littlefield Grammar school graduating class of 1929, we salute you and bid you welcome to our promotion exercises. Words fail to express our sincere appreciation for your love, patient kindness and labor in our behalf that has brought us to this good day when we step from these halls of learning equipped with the tools of knowledge and instruction.

Sacred history tells us that "In the beginning the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of it." Profane history and the explorations of science confirm the crude state of this planet when humanity first came to its terrestrial estate. And, with the improvement which has been constantly transpiring on the face of the earth, there has likewise, been a wonderful change and development in the people who occupy it.

All true life is that of unfolding beauty, ennobling character and consummating of high ideals. The thoughts ambitions and desires which dominate our life form our character and determine the kind of man and woman we will become. If there is any doubt as to the kind of person we will be, or as to what our future will be, we have only to consider the trend of our present thoughts which dominate us and we may know the pattern that is being built into our future life.

Within the breast of each of us there is an invisible sculptor who is constantly moulding our spiritual nature, and our physical stature has a tendency to correspond. When we first came into this life we were scarcely more than animated chunks of clay, but thanks to the love of kindred, the devotion of teachers and the sympathetic assistance of a host of unknown contributors, we have obtained a goodly start in the moulding of character and the placing of ideals.

No sculptor can carve beauty out of the marble with an ugly model in mind. He cannot develop an angel when he visualizes a devil. He must carve out of the marble that which he feels. His sentiment, his philosophy, his ideals are the things that will influence his chisel. Sir Peter Lely, the great master painter, used to say that he never dared look at a bad picture lest his brush should get the taint of inferiority.

A block of marble lying in the rough just as it was hewn from the quarry has no more attraction than a diamond fresh from the mines of Golconda. The diamond must be cut and polished before it is fit to adorn the finger of the blushing bride. So the marble must be chiseled and carved and polished before it is fit to take its place among the beautiful statuary of some magnificent cathedral. The sculptor, with mallet and chisel in hand, knocks off the rough places, he gouges out the eyes, forms the lips, delicately moulds the nostrils, chisels the ears, splits out the fingers, and gives contour and symmetry to the whole body—all the time keeping in mind the ideal of his finished product.

So in chiseling the marble of life there is always before the human sculptor an ideal of perfection. He may be unable to adequately express it, just as the sculptor is never entirely able to reproduce the idealized vision of his own mind, but the image he produces represents to the world the beautiful picture and lofty ideal taking possession of his soul.

Every canvas is but a rough copy of the finer picture that haunted the artist's mind. Every book is infinitely inferior to the one that live in the author's brain. Every sermon or lecture is but a replica of what the orator grasped in the secret of his study, but whose lack of eloquence failed to make it public. The finest music ever heard is but jargon compared with the harmonies and melodies which floated in the musician's soul, and that could not be tied down by words or notes, nor imprisoned by bars and staves. Yet all these accomplishments though more or less crudely expressed, are the very ideals that make the best things of life possible.

It is the vision that comes to us when reading a book, rather than the book itself; it is the painting one sees with the mind's eye beyond the canvas; it is the harmonies one hears beyond the material sound that reaches the physical ear—these are the things that engender and make possible the ideal.

Turner introduced himself to his ideal by trying to out-picture himself in his ideal. Michael Angelo went into ecstasies every time he saw a slab of marble. It was because the divine self of his nature was urging for another expression even more glorious than the last.

A truly one time going through the National Art gallery in London, was admiring one of Goddard's pictures. The old painter, unknown to the woman, was standing nearby and overheard her words of praise. Stepping to her side, he thanked her for her compliments then touching his forehead, he said, "Ah, madam, but you ought to see the picture in here."

So I would have you, my fellow classmates, along with myself, to realize the importance of establishing an ideal early in life and then working toward its achievement. The largest of us will respond to right thinking and right living.

If the sculptor's chisel can make impressions on marble in a few hours which distant eyes shall read and admire, if the man of genius can create work in life that shall speak the triumph of mind a thousand years hence, then may you and I, if truly alive to the duty and obligations of our existence, do infinitely more. Putting our chisel of workmanship on human hearts and destinies, it shall be our privilege to do a work that will never perish—to build within life's fleeting hours monuments that shall last forever. A steady aim, with a strong arm, willing hands and a resolute will, are the tools necessary for our dauntless task.

Everyone is the architect of his own house, his own temple of fame. We chisel for ourselves the image that is to adorn our nich in the world's coliseum. We creep into childhood, bound into youth, sober into manhood and totter into old age. But through it all we may so live that as the evening of life approaches the silver clouds will rest sweetly and invitingly upon the golden mountains, and, as the light of eternity streams down through the gathering mists we may have a peaceful and joyous entrance into that world of everlasting blessedness where all ideals are fully realized.

Right well has Daniel Webster said: "If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, imbuing them with right principles and high ideals, then we are engraving on everlasting tablets something that will brighten to all eternity."

INVESTIGATE FIRST

About this time of year, and on through the summer, hundreds of boys and girls swarm over the country, piloting dilapidated flivvers, soliciting magazine subscriptions and selling books. All have a pathetic story of trying to work their way through college," but not all are honest in either their statements or their methods of doing business. Some of them collect a down payment and never turn it in. The result is they are that much "to the good" and the innocent subscriber is that much out of pocket.

There are reputable magazine agents in every community. If not, it is easy to hunt up a clubbing offer that will include the particular magazine you want.

We call attention to the subject merely in the hope of protecting a few residents of Littlefield and vicinity from a fraud that is now, with the aid of auto, becoming nation-wide in its scope and costing the public thousands of dollars annually for which they get nothing in return.

We often say someone is "as mean as a dog," and yet you never saw a dog shake hands with someone and then bite them in the back.

HERE'S HEALTH

Our annual hot spell is just around the corner, when we must be more watchful of our health than at any other time of year. "At least a pint of milk a day for each member of the family" is an old health rule for summer.

- Take exercise and outdoor play.
- Get plenty of rest and sleep.
- Get fresh air and sunshine.
- Keep clean, both inside and out.
- Take care of the eyes, nose, throat and watch your weight.
- Dress comfortably, and not just to be in style.
- Eat the proper food and not too much of it.
- Sit and stand correctly.
- Think right and you will always be right.

Good intentions are somewhat like fainting women—they both need carrying out.

NEW LICENSE RECEIVED

County Clerk A. H. McGavock last week received a consignment of the new marriage license blanks. The new forms contain three affidavits one for the bridegroom, one for the bride, and the third for another person in event one of the contracting parties cannot be present at the clerk's office at the time of making application.

Notice of intention to marry must be filed three days in advance, according to the new law which became effective June 13, and a physical examination with doctor's certificate accompanying it is required.

The price of marrying is also increased. Formerly a certificate could be obtained for $1.50, now the cost will be about double.

Trouble never hangs out a shingle or puts a number on his door, but you never have any difficulty in finding where he lives.

WHY WASTE MONEY?

A U. S. Senator has offered a bill providing for broadcasting the proceedings of the Senate, and it strikes us as being just about the most unnecessary measure ever to be introduced.

If any senator thinks the owners of radio sets would like to listen to his speeches, he does not know the people. When even the senators themselves do not listen to each other half the time, what excuse have they for thinking the general public would do so? The newspapers give the public all that is worth while of the speeches made in congress, and we don't believe one in a hundred around Littlefield read that much any too closely.

There is no need for spending a vast sum out of the public treasury to put a lot of additional political argument on the air, when the thing we need most is something to entertain us, refresh us and make us glad we're living. To be furnishing us anything else would be a waste of money—and our money at that.

The only ambition in life a paper napkin has, is to crawl down off a fellow's lap and play around on the floor.

LITTLE LEADERS

Yes, the new generation is smarter. Littlefield children now know how to handle their parents without a book on the subject.

About the only excuse the average Littlefield man has for being happy today is that he doesn't know what's going to happen tomorrow.

Twenty-five years ago when one saw a Littlefield man handling a package with all the care in the world it would have been eggs.

We never see a woman around Littlefield any more with the old-fashioned "wasp waist" but we sometimes bump into one with that kind of a disposition.

Any Littlefield kid can tell when his father is on the wrong side of the argument by the way he bangs the door when he goes out.

Had you heard about the Littlefield girl who knew so little about cars that she asked her boy friend if they kept them cool by stripping their gears?

This Week's Poem

KNOW YOUR STUFF

Give me a man with GUTS
Who thinks in CANS, not BUTS,
Who can do his stuff
When the going's rough,
And avoid time-worn ruts.

A man with BULLDOG GRIT,
Who don't know how to quit,
A loyal pup
Who won't give up,
Who always sticks to it.

A man who works like hell,
When things ain't going well,
Who can stand the GAFF
And laugh and laugh,
And won't let out a yell.

A man like Gunga Din—
Keen yes, determined chin,
Who stands his ground
And is always found
Still fighting hard to win.

A man who's not a BLUFF,
Just plain man—that's enough,
A man who works
And never shirks,
Who knows and does his stuff.

GUIDEPOSTS TO Health and Happiness

By Bernarr Macfadden

WHY BLAME THE COLLEGES?

Not so very long ago a man, prominent in the business world, created quite a sensation by his caustic criticism of college girls.

"When they graduate from college," he said, "they are thoroughly ignorant of a lot of things they ought to know. Their brains are twisted by psychology, logic and philosophy and a lot of other stuff that only the man or woman who intends to make it his or her life's work, should meddle with. And along with this useless learning, they have acquired another sort of education that they might well do without. I refer to cigarette smoking, the use of slang, paint, powder, lipsticks and high-heeled shoes."

To my mind, this man is unfair in his generalization. There are all sorts of college girls and business girls. Why blame college for the perversities of human nature?

College girls, just like other girls, know that cigarette smoking is harmful but most of them smoke because it makes them feel smart and sophisticated. For the same reason they use rouge and lipstick and slang and "spike heeled shoes. This is their idea of fun—but is it worthwhile when it takes away from their sweetness as well as the strength of wholesome girlhood?

In the matter of high-heeled shoes, I heartily agree with this critic. They are actually physically injurious for a number of reasons, chief among them being that they throw your whole body structure out of line, and displace organs that bring pain and suffering in later life. They jar your backbone with every step. They make you staid and sedate; stiff and rigid, and why not—since the high heel is nothing more or less than a short stilt. It is the deadly parallel of the vicious and cruel practice of foot-binding in China, that the enlightened Chinese are now abolishing.

But with the low-heeled—or better still the heelless shoe, your whole mental outlook changes. Try it and see. The delicious feeling of freedom it gives invites you to run and skip as you did when a child. You are glad to be alive.

To get back to the college girl—the colleges themselves are not above criticism. In the past they have been notoriously lacking in their attention to the requirements of health. Many girls and boys have studied themselves into semi-invalidism in order to pass examinations. Some have even committed suicide through overwork.

Education is useless unless it builds up the body, broadens the intellectual facilities, increases one's reasoning power and gives one the desire and ability to solve life's greatest problems. Such an education is a gold mine of infinite depth.

Heartbeats

BY JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

THE JOY OF SERVING

This beautiful morning I left my bed early, put on part of my clothing, and went to a front window where a rocker stood waiting. I love to watch early morning passers, while my morning paper is coming.

The newsboy presently appeared. With him was a much smaller boy—evidently a brother—not over five at the very most. This little fellow carried three or four papers under his tiny arm. Proudly he strode beside his senior, his eyes dancing with delight, at the trust reposed in him. I could not hear his words, but he evidently asked if he should deliver my paper; the big brother nodded, as any great personage might nod in approval of a subordinate.

The tiny boy dashed up my steps—seven of them, and it required effort for his short legs to accomplish the man-size elevations; how he swung and glowed and smiled in the sweet morning air, wholly oblivious to the spectacled eyes that watched him from behind the lace curtain! With an expression of profound interest he singled out one of the three papers and placed it carefully at the bottom of my door, just as near to putting it into my hand as possible; then he turned and sped away, laughing, as fast as those short legs could carry him.

His financial accomplishment could not have been over a half-cent gain—no, it was not that; the little thing good—something somebody, and do it well. The delivery of that newspaper a super-accomplishment. Had he fully dressed, I might have been him by rushing out and snatching in my arms.

Do we grown-ups get a "kick" of the worthy deeds we do for if any? Sometimes I have to wait awhile, before I can read any deed I have done lately. I hope to become "as one of these."

Thrift Practice Best For Young People Now Leaving Schools

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift

This season of the year marks a new epoch in the lives of a large portion of our population. It is the time when thousands of our young people are leaving institutions of learning and going into the world of practical affairs. It is in keeping with the spirit of the day, therefore, that thought be given to some of the problems that will confront these young people as they move forward in the

THE MANNER of holding said election shall be governed by the laws of the State regulating general elections. A COPY of this order, signed by the Mayor of the City of Littlefield, Texas, attested by the City Clerk of said City, shall serve as a proper notice of said election.

THE MAYOR is authorized and directed to cause said notice of the said election to be posted up at the City Hall (the place designated for holding said election), and at two other public places in the City of Littlefield, Texas, all of said notices to be posted for at least thirty (30) full days prior to the date of election.

UNANIMOUSLY PASSED AND APPROVED, on this the 20th day of May, A. D. 1929.

OTTO JONES, Mayor, City of Littlefield, Texas.

journey of life. If it were possible to lay down a general rule for the benefit of everyone such a rule would be along the lines of encouraging thrift practice. We all have different ambitions and points of view. The philosophy of life with each of us necessarily varies somewhat. It is these differences in sentiment and thought that underlie the great drama of life. But we all may be sure that there is no one whose interests cannot be served through thrift.

No matter what may be our environment we can hope for no progress in life if we are wasteful of our time, energies, health and material possessions. Thrift habits are a safeguard against practices that lead only to failure.

We may differ on questions of ethics and morality but all will agree that idleness, lack of ambition and dissipation cannot go with thrift. Those who are thrifty will always be found in the march of progress. Some will be more successful than others—the factors of circumstance and ability will tell—but where there is thrift there always will be progress. Where there is lack of thrift there always will be retrogression either present or potential.

Those who are at this time leaving our schools and colleges no doubt find themselves the recipients of ample counsel but no matter what may be said to them along these lines nothing will prove of more lasting, practical value than the admonition to bear in mind at all times that success, prosperity and happiness are the rewards only of those who practice thrift.

WHAT IS DOING IN WEST TEXAS

Wink is building for the future and assuming more substantial proportions. Some of the latest accomplishments of the group of young men who have formed a chamber of commerce is the securing of a new Vitaphone theatre and the construction of a $225,000.00 school building with an auditorium seating capacity of 650.

Hereford's wheat harvest is such that 150 combines, costing a total of $300,000 will be distributed for the 1929 harvest, according to dealers who have them for sale. Probably 50 more will be sold later, and these with tractors will bring the cost of harvesting equipment to well over the half million mark.

Booker's largest business house under construction at present is the fifty foot brick being constructed by A. W. Robinson to be occupied by the local DeSota automobile agency soon. A number of permanently constructed residences are being built.

Tahoka, in viewing the growth of recent months points out that since 1921 two new rural routes have been inaugurated, two new rural sub-stations established and receipts have increased from $4,656 to $10,514, or 126 per cent.

Comanche's berry growers are at the height of their season now. The first day of the opening of the Bow-doin Canning Plant 4188 pounds of berries were bought from thirty different growers. More money is being brought for the berries than ever before, 85 cents being the present price.

Slaton fruit growers report that, unless unforeseen damage is experienced, the fruit crop through the territory will be the best in years. Trees are now heavily loaded and giving promise of a high quality of apples, peaches, plums, cherries and many other kinds of fruit.

The afternoon of the second day a 12 mile ride on the boat Galvez was enjoyed by all, and that evening they were given a dance in the ball room of Hotel Galvez. Thursday evening they were given a banquet at the Hotel Galvez.

A number of very interesting talks were made by several of the home town people.

The convention will be held at San Angelo next year.

FRIGIDAIRE ANNOUNCEMENT

In celebration of its recent passing of the million users mark, Frigidaire Corporation has announced a second Cold Control Demonstration to be held June 25—July 5 in show rooms throughout the country and at the same time will exhibit a new household model, according to information that has been received by Higginbotham-Bartlett, local dealer.

"More than a hundred thousand people visited dealers showrooms during the original national demonstration, despite the inclement weather which prevailed generally," he said. This second public demonstration of the six freezing speeds of the Frigidaire cold control, is for the convenience of those who were unable to attend the previous showing."

"Specific information concerning the new model will be received within the week. CHILDREN vs. HOGS

Nearly any father will tell you he thinks more of his children than he does of his hogs and other livestock—and most of them do. Yet he generally conceded that it takes mother to look after the proper diet of the children while friend father prepares food for the livestock on the farm.

It's an old rule to serve small portions of food to children so they can clear their plates without the feeling of being stuffed or nagged into eating.

Of course nagging a hog doesn't get one anywhere, the quadruped simply don't "savie" the situation, neither does stuffing an animal on improper food give the best results.

Animal foods thoroughly ground and scientifically mixed by a proper formula give the best results over time. They hasten development, increase growth and produce a larger bank account when finally placed on the market.

Bellomy's ground feeds turn the trick for the livestock grower. They are quicker digested and easier assimilated. Everyone who has tried them KNOWS that to be a fact.

You owe it to yourself to give them a trial.
