WMU To Meet Wednesday In Church Parlors

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will meet in the Church parlor Wednesday morning, November 19, at 9:15 o'clock for a Royal Service Program.

Three Littlefield lumber companies are declared to have been victimized here this week by a man who posed as representing an Amarillo monument company, and presented checks for $150 each, drawn on the American National Bank of Amarillo, and drawn in favor of George O. Sullivan.

The alleged swindler represented himself as doing monument installation work at the local cemetery, and made purchases of cement, and steel, tendering the checks in payment, and asking for and receiving "difference" between purchase and check amount in cash. Local lumbermen were victimized in amounts varying from $40 to $65. After making the purchases and receiving cash in each instance, he stated that he would return to pickup his purchases, in that manner alleviating any suspicions that might be possible.

Three Firms Victimized

In a matter of a couple of hours the Morrow Lumber Company, Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. and Wilson-Crump Lumber Co., were victimized.

A similar racket was worked according to report on lumber deal. (Continued On Back Page)

Negro Youths Run Afoul Of Law In Check and Theft Cases

Two local Negro youths were arrested here Wednesday and are held in Littlefield jail, in connection with the alleged passing and attempted passing of forged checks. They gave their names as Ernest James and William Diggs.

According to information collected by officers the two youths are alleged to have passed a check for $63 at Renfro Bros. grocery, and are also alleged to have attempted but were unsuccessful in passing another check at Ware's Department store.

They are held subject to action by the Lamb county grand jury. Two other colored youths also ran afoul of the law here this week. They are Ralph Smith, jr., and Peto Turner, both of Littlefield.

They were picked up by the sheriff's office in connection with the alleged theft of a watch and a bracelet from the Vick's Service Station, across from the post office in Littlefield.

New Air Service Is Possible

New, one-plane DC-6 through air service between Texas and Oklahoma and the Pacific Northwest will become possible under interchange agreements just signed by Braniff International Airways and United Air Lines, it was announced recently by Chas. E. Beard, Braniff's Executive Vice President.

The agreement between Braniff and United is being filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D.C., with starting date for the new flights contingent on Board approval.

Men Around Eisenhower -- The New First Team

D. Eisenhower will take a new set of officials to Washington with him after his inauguration.

The process of selecting the men who will fill the key posts is expected to take several weeks. But there have been indications during the campaign to show which leaders are likely to have a voice in the selections. Some of them may themselves assume key posts. Here are six of the men who have had important parts in campaign programs.

HENRY CABOT LODGE, JR.

Defeat in the election came to Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Except for the 1944-46 period when he resigned to become a combat soldier, he had been in the U.S. Senate since 1936. Grandson of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge who helped keep America out of the League of Nations. He was one of the earliest backers of Eisenhower. Son of a leading Boston family, he was born July 5, 1902.

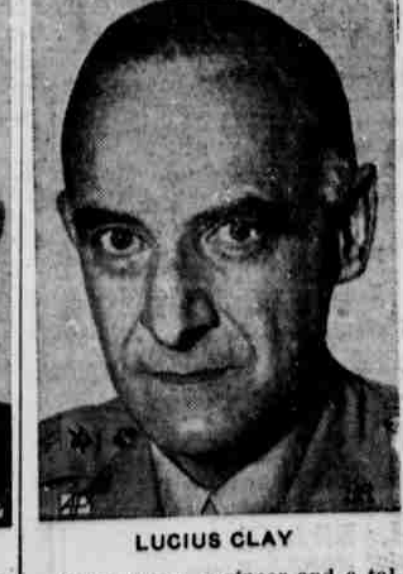

JOHN FOSTER DULLES

One of the leading backers of a two party U.S. foreign policy, John Foster Dulles did important work for three Democratic Presidents although he is a staunch Republican. Born Feb. 25, 1888, son of a Presbyterian minister, he has kept his strong interest in religion while coming a leading international lawyer and diplomat. His grandfather, John Watson Foster served as secretary of state under Benjamin Harrison.

PAUL HOFFMAN

Paul Hoffman became a top salesman of automobiles and finally president of the Studebaker Corp. He quit to run the European Recovery Program and went from there to the Ford Foundation. During the campaign he turned his sales talents to selling Eisenhower. After soldiering in World War I he bought the Studebaker agency and moved on to be company executive. He was born April 25, 1891.

LUCIUS CLAY

Ability as an engineer and a talent for administration kept Gen. Lucius D. Clay out of combat in World War II. He was born April 23, 1897, son of a U.S. senator and graduated from West Point in 1918. After work as a military instructor and engineer, he was Army director of materiel in World War II. After the war he went to Europe as Eisenhower's deputy in charge of civil affairs and later assumed command of U.S. forces in Europe.

ARTHUR E. SUMMERFIELD

An owner of three auto sales agencies, including one in Flint, Mich., which is reputed to be one of the world's largest, was the Eisenhower choice for Republican chairman. Arthur E. Summerfield left school to go to work at the age of 12. Born March 17, 1898, he first got into politics in 1940 as a Willie booster. Later he became an expert in political finance and G.O.P. committeeman. He did not back Ike until the convention.

Colds Lessen Resistance

Studies show that most people have two or more colds a year, each lasting about two weeks and causing a considerable amount of stuffy discomfort, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The danger of the common cold lies mainly in the other infections that may follow after it. A cold lessens resistance, and is likely to pave the way for other more serious respiratory ailments.

Sinusitis, ear infections, bronchitis, and the various forms of pneumonia are frequently ushered in by a cold. Pneumonia, particularly, is likely to attack a person who is overtired, or run-down because of a severe cold.

Fortunately, many of the respiratory diseases are not as dangerous as they used to be. Modern infection-fighting drugs, such as penicillin and the sulfa drugs, offer highly effective treatment for many cases. But, of course, it is always better to prevent a serious illness whenever possible.

If you have a cold, it's just good sense to stay away from people, to avoid spreading the infection; and to get plenty of rest—in bed if possible.

Remember

Remember the Littlefield scene back 19 years ago on November 16, 1933, to be exact. The following items were taken from the files of the Lamb County Leader:

Littlefield gins handle 5711 bales of cotton from this year's crop.

Cecil Gallaway, member of Olton 4-H Club has been awarded a trip to the International Livestock show at Chicago.

Senator A. P. Duggan was principal speaker at an Armistice day service held at the First Baptist church. Rev. J. F. Grizzle, pastor gave a brief talk on the Armistice.

W. O. Stogner of Oklahoma City and his daughter Miss Nel Stogner returned to Oklahoma City, after spending the weekend here with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chesher.

Since repeal of the three day notice law, business in the marriage license line has been picking up, according to Stanley Doss, county clerk.

Considerable smoke damage was done to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wells in Broadacres last Thursday, as a result of fire caused from a gasoline stove.

Littlefield schools reopen after being closed for cotton picking. The football team is still working out and may have two more games. After Thanksgiving the boys will begin training in basketball. Coach Barksdale is pleased with the prospects.

Auxiliary realized $39.95 from Poppy sale Saturday. Mrs. Arbie Joplin, vice-president of the American Legion Auxiliary made the announcement. Miss Betty Ann Hilliard sold poppies on the streets and realized more Saturday than from any other such sale put on in Littlefield.

Briggs and Pruitt have been awarded the contract for the painting and decorating of the new L. C. Hewitt home.

Make This Hunting Season A Safe One

Most hunting accidents could be prevented if hunters would observe the simple rules of safety with firearms. "Trigger happy" and careless hunters, says R. E. Callender, wildlife conservation specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, not only endanger the lives of every other hunter in the woods but also cause much damage to wildlife.

Practicing safety with guns in the fields or woods then is just a good conservation practice and applies to both humans and wildlife. It is also very important at this time that hunters be doubly careful with fire. A wildfire can easily wipe out not only the wildlife or an area but destroy vegetation that is so badly needed a tthis time for livestock, says Callender.

He says records kept on hunting accidents shows that two-thirds of them are caused by humans in the line of fire; mistaking humans for game and hunting with the safety catch off on the rifle.

He points out that good sportsmanship is just using good manners while on the hunt. It includes using the right gun or the right game, hunting only in season and not taking more game than can be used even though the bag limit may permit a larger take. Bird hunters should use a trained dog to retrieve crippled birds. The rights of others are always respected and permission is always secured before going onto another's property.

Here are Callender's suggestions for making the hunt a safe one:

Treat every gun as if it were loaded; never carry a loaded gun in the automobile; be sure there are no obstructions in the gun barrel or action; carry the gun so that the hunter always has control of byrith, which means a maze. It consists of several tubes set in a number of winding cavities in the bone in much the same way that a soft inner tube fits into the harder tire of an automobile. Both the cavities and tubes are filled with a fluid called lymph.

The wound-up tube in the inner ear which receives sound impressions looks very much like a snail shell; in fact, it is called the "cochlea," a word from the Latin language meaning snail or snail shell. Within the cochlea are tiny hair-like cells; they are the end organs of the sense of hearing. Sound impulses that they pick up when the lymph is set in motion by the vibrations of the membrane in the oval window are taken to the brain by one branch of the auditory nerve. In the brain these impulses are interpreted or made meaningful. The two ears act as one in that when they pick up a sound, they take it to the brain as only one sound, not two. The reason for having two ears is to be able to locate more accurately the place from which a sound is coming.

The second function of the ear, balance, is made possible through three of the tubes in the inner ear that form half circles (semicircular canals) and the two sacs (containing the liquid, lymph, the sacs hold a jelly-like substance in which are tiny stones (otoliths).

Changing the position of the head makes the lymph from the semicircular canal rush into one of the sacs. The extra weight from this increased flow mashes the stones, which press on tiny hairs. The hairs, in turn, send a message to the brain through the second branch of the auditory nerve, and the brain interprets the message to know that the body is out of balance and usually does what it can to restore the balance again.

If the part of the inner ear which contributes to the sense of balance does not perform well, dizziness, lightheadedness, giddiness, fainting, a swimming sensation in the head, or other unpleasant feelings may result.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Since the ear has two purposes, hearing and balance, it is really two organs in one.

This double-barreled purpose accounts to some extent for the complicated way in which the ear is put together. To begin with, it is divided into three parts: outer, middle, and inner. The outer lies outside the head, and the middle and inner are surrounded by bone.

The bone is filled with air holes, which makes it a light but strong protection for the delicate and complex ear.

The outer ear is made up of the auricle or pinna, a more or less trumpet-shaped piece of cartilage (an elastic kind of tissue) covered with skin. The auricle gathers sound waves and sends them into the ear canal, at the end of which is the ear drum. This passage, a little more than an inch in length, is lined with little hairs and glands that give off wax. Both the wax and hairs are Nature's protection against small objects which might find their way into the ear canal; the wax keeps them from getting a foothold and the moving hairs gently sweep them outward in much the same way that hairs in the nose help to get rid of dust and other foreign matter.

The ear drum, or tympanic membrane, begins the middle ear, in which are three tiny bones named for common objects which they resemble. Buried in the drum is the handle of the hammer (malleus), the first of the bones. The body of the hammer forms a joint with the anvil (incus), which in turn joins the stirrup (stapes). Finally, the footpiece of the stirrup is connected to the inner ear through the oval window, in which is set a membrane. Another opening from the middle to the inner ear, the round window, serves as an outlet for the vibrations received by the membrane in the oval window. The round window also is covered with a membrane.

The middle ear is filled with air, and two muscles in it control the movement of the ear drum and the stirrup. Sound waves reach the inner ear in one of three ways: (1) from the ear drum across the three little bones, (2) across the middle ear by air waves to the round window, or (3) through the bony covering of the middle ear.

Leading from the middle ear to the throat is the Eustachian tube (pronounced u-sta-ke-an, accenting the second syllable), named for the Italian physician who first described it in the sixteenth century. Its purpose is to make equal the amount of air pressure on each side of the ear drum so that the drum will not tear from loud noises, diving, and other circumstances in which pressure on the outside suddenly rises.

The inner ear is called the la-

Engineers Urge Underground Water Act

The Texas section of the American Society of Civil Engineers recommended Monday new laws regulating the use of underground water, but urged that enforcement be concentrated at the local level. The group submitted a 13-point water policy program to Governor Shivers and his newly created statewide water conservation committee. The report pointed out that Texas has never had any statewide regulation of the use of underground water except for statutes governing the waste of artesian water. "This policy has resulted in excessive rates of withdrawal of ground water with an alarming depletion of storage and a lowering of underground water levels," it continued.

"Local option conservation districts should be given a fair trial toward the solution of the underground water problem, and state action should be confined to that necessary in limiting the powers of such districts. Local districts should comprise all of an underground reservoir or province and the local option laws should limit any proration of water use from wells so as not to be confiscatory." The report also recommended the enactment of a complete new surface water code, but added: "If this can not be accomplished, then separate acts of legislation to remedy the main deficiencies in the present laws should be enacted." Among the needed laws, the engineers said, are the elimination of all unused and abandoned water appropriations, an inventory of all the state's water resources, policing of water use by water masters, a legislative definition of riparian rights and of natural flow, and a curbing of "blanket" permits for water use.

Are They Dolls Or People?

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Women's Editor

This year's talented crop of Christmas dolls sets a high standard of fashion for mere people.

So lifelike, precocious and stylish are the dolls of 1952 that they may cause a wave of inferiority complexes among the human population, admit officials of the American Toy Institute.

There is, for instance, the doll in the real mink coat, which costs $300 and has a definite air of snobbery. There is the doll with hair that grows as it is combed—certainly a talent that many human beings would like to acquire.

There are the dolls which walk when their arms are held, and can also sit down and kick their legs as they rock in an old-fashioned rocking chair. The brighter of these also turn their heads and roll their eyes as they walk.

New dolls even have heart beats, talk in foreign languages, drink and burp.

Harlequins, of course, are the last word, with the poodle cut and the ponytail getting top honors. Doll hair is rooted into the doll scalp, so young mothers may comb it or wash it or wave it to their content.

It's Fruitcake Time

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

It's not too soon to be thinking ahead to Christmas—if you have fruit-cake making in mind. This recipe for that scrumptious holiday concoction should be baked a month to six weeks before Christmas so that the cakes can mellow. This fruit cake slices best when it has been allowed to age, and it remains moist.

You will note that the recipe directs keeping the cake in a cool place where it mellow. By cool place we mean a kitchen cabinet or pantry when the temperature is not inclined to go much beyond 70 degrees. If you do store the wrapped cakes at room temperature in this way, place them in a tightly covered tin box.

However, if you can spare the refrigerator space, the wrapped cakes will mellow even better there, and they slice wonderfully well when they are cold.

Stored in either place, the cake should be wrapped in two thick pieces of heavy waxed paper or one thickness of aluminum foil.

One more tip: Spread your fruit cake making over two days. On one day get the candied fruit and nuts ready and mix with a cup of flour as the recipe directs. Next day measure the batter, mix with the candied fruit and nuts and bake the cakes.

Note that this recipe calls for thrifty, convenient and nutritious evaporated milk. For it to make two to four loaves, keep one or two for the family for a day or two. Daily-wrapped loaves, in this light, but in between, a lot of eaters will enjoy.

Remembrance Fruit Cake
In 2-pound casks, 6 ounces each, 2 cups candied lemon peel, 2 cups candied orange peel, 1/2 pound candied pineapple, 1/2 pound (about 2 cups) broken pecan or

REMEMBRANCE FRUIT CAKE— Make it now

English walnut meats, 1 cup butter or margarine or shortening, 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar, 4 eggs (separated), 1 cup evaporated milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon allspice, 1/2 teaspoon mace, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.
Method: Rinse raisins and currants in hot water; drain well. Cut cherries in quarters. Slice pineapple thin. Nuts should be coarsely chopped or broken. Mix fruit and nuts in large bowl or pan. Add 1/2 of the flour and mix until fruit and nuts are well coated. Cream butter and sugar. Beat in egg yolks. Add lemon juice into milk and add sifted remaining 1 1/2 cups flour with baking powder, salt, cinnamon, cloves, allspice, mace and nutmeg. Stir into egg yolk mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in. Add batter to fruit mixture. Mix and stir only until blended. Grease pans lightly and line twice with heavy waxed paper. This mixture will make either four cakes about 7x3x2 inches, or two cakes 8x4x2 inches. Divide mixture evenly and press into pans, leveling tops. If desired, decorate tops with additional pieces of candied fruits such as pineapple and cherries, and nuts. Bake in very slow (275 F.) oven until done, about 2 hours for the small cakes, or about 2 1/2 hours for the larger cakes. (When cakes are done, they are lightly browned and tiny cracks begin to appear in the top. These cracks close when cakes cool.) Cool cakes in pans about 10 minutes then turn out on racks and place right side up again to finish cooling. When ready to store cakes to ripen, remove waxed paper from them and rewrap either in clean waxed paper or aluminum foil. Keep in cool place until ready to use. Makes 6 pounds fruit cake.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh Going... Going... Almost Gone Granny Robinson put on quite a show the other night at the annual White Elephant auction held at the Women's Club. Towards the end of the evening, she had the ladies battling for anything she put up. "What am I bid for this woman's lovely black coat here—good as new? Who'll say ten dollars?" she asked. Granny held the coat up, and commenced describing the coat's lining, sleeves, buttons—really "selling hard." Then, suddenly, she took a close look and blurted out "Land sakes, no more bidding please—this is my own coat!" From where I sit, what almost happened to Granny was good for a laugh, but sometimes when people "get carried away" with their own talk it's not so funny. I prefer a glass of temperate beer while listening to my favorite radio program—you may like soda pop or cider. I suggest we hold on to our personal opinions—and believe in them—but take a good close look at them before we try to "sell" them to our neighbor! Plainview Downs B String Boys

The local B string of the Littlefield Wildcats lost to Plainview Thursday night here in a hard fought game. The score was 13 to 6 for the visitors.

The Plainview boys are reported to have outweighed the locals forty pounds to the boy.

Thursday night's game was the final one for the season for the B string boys, who have lost four games and won two.

Forrest Martin coaches the boys.

Houston Minister Preaches At Church Of Christ Here

W. L. Wharton, minister of the Houston Church of Christ, filled the pulpit at services held Wednesday and Thursday night at Littlefield Drive Church of Christ here.

Mr. Wharton, a close friend of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moss was an overnight guest in their home Thursday night. He left Lubbock by plane for Houston, early Friday morning.

Drive.

The supervisor made an interesting talk on finances, and pointed out that approximately $12 is needed to sponsor one scout locally for one year. That amount does not include dues that go to the South Plains Council to carry on the work there.

Littlefield goal has been set at $2,000, and the 30 local workers, were each given six names to contact, and the drive got underway, following the breakfast. They will report at a meeting called for next Wednesday morning.

Charles Duvall is finance chairman of the town committee of Boy Scouts.

Others attending the breakfast included W. C. Cannon, T. J. Jones, Dan Berg, Bob Crowell, Bill Brune, Skipper Smith, Norris Onstead and Chas. Duvall.

Lumber Firms —

ers at Amherst and Muleshoe.

Carl Morrow, manager of the Morrow Lumber Co. yard here, was a bit suspicious, and as his "customer" left the yard, he jotted down the license number of his car, and his foresight in doing so, is believed responsible for the arrest of a man who answers the description, and who is now held in the Levelland county jail.

Officers checked the license number taken by Morrow, and found that it was issued to a T. C. Douglas, Dallas. No theft of same had been reported. Lubbock officers spotted the described car, as it was being driven into the driveway of a Lubbock home, Thursday.

The driver of the car was taken to Levelland, where the three local lumber managers are reported to have identified him as the man who had presented the checks. Others who had been victimized are reported to have also identified him, including a Levelland lumber yard manager.

Television —

ported excellent Thursday night.

Television installation men were rushed here this week, as they hurried to make installation of sets ordered in order to be able to tune in the first South Plains program. It is estimated that there are approximately 50 sets now in operation here, and an undetermined additional number scattered over the county.

Present and prospective television purchasers are reminded this week by City Secretary Street, that it is necessary to secure a City permit (cost $2.00) before installing an outside television aerial.

To date a total of 16 permits have been issued here, and the records at City Hall list permits issued to the following Littlefield folks: C. H. Colbert, Tommy Radio Station, Ben Lyman, W. D. Gilder, Melvin Best, L. E. Ware, D. W. Bawcom, Rogers Furniture, E. E. Wesley, Pryor Hammons, Linton Smith, W-W Electric, Bill Smith Electric, F. S. Fowler, W. D. Chapman, and Paul Carmickle.

CATS TAKE TRAIN RIDE

GLENDIVE, Mont. (AP)—Six haughty "hobos" hooked a ride out of town on the tender of a freight engine. They were unusual bumps with long hair and whiskers. "I'm sure there are no regulations forbidding them from riding a tender," a railroad man said. "But I don't know what recourse would be open to them if they were forcibly ejected." The six hobos—cats every one—couldn't be reached for comment.

ARTISTS NEEDN'T BE BAD SAYS FROST

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—The idea of certain critics and biographers that a wild, disorganized or unhappy personal life is necessary for artistic creativeness was attacked recently by a professor at the University of California.

Dr. William Frost said there is no simple or inevitable relation between art and morals. They are two separate spheres, he said, in suggesting that esthetic judgments about an artist's work be kept distinct from ethical ones about his life.

There were about a million teachers in public schools from first grade through high school in 1951.
