Specialist Tells Need For Subsoil

Irrigate now for a bumper cotton crop next fall, is the advice of County Agricultural Agent Dave Eaton. Mr. Eaton's advice is in line with that of Bob Thurmond, area irrigation specialist of the Texas agricultural extension service, who stresses the fact that water stored in the subsoil now will keep the cotton growing next summer.

Water Loss Not Likely. "Contrary to popular belief, water put in the ground now will not be lost through evaporation," Mr. Thurmond said in a communication to farmers circulated through the county agent's offices in this area.

Needs Subsoil Water. The cotton plant needs deep moisture so the tap root will develop. "If there is only top soil" (Continued on Back Page)

You and Your Congress

THE AWESOME TASK of pushing the already record-breaking level of taxes to still higher levels is shaping up as the toughest problem Congress will face.

The simple facts, as outlined by President Truman this week, are:

Present tax laws will yield $55 billion annually. Federal expenditures are estimated at $71 billion, with authority to seep up to $23 billion more. So there is a gap of at least $16 billion.

MANY PEOPLE in and out of government are beginning to advocate the principle that the nation should shift to a "pay-as-you-go" basis. If the President's figures are accepted, that would mean new revenues of $16 billion.

The tax load currently is estimated at $55 billion annually—a figure $11 billion higher than the previous record of $44 billion in 1945.

CONGRESS is going to work right away on both revenue and appropriations bills, with the House Appropriations Committee starting first.

That probably is significant for not until the expenditure picture shapes up can the tax experts determine precisely what their chore will be.

The timing reflects, too, a strong undercurrent in both the House and Senate to examine most closely the proposed expenditures. The members are taking two approaches:

1. They say that "Military expenditures cannot be cut." That would seem to mean that the $41 billion for the National Defense Establishment would have smooth sailing. Yet there is no general disposition to consider sacred any and all requests for military spending.

2. In any event, Congressional fire will be concentrated on the other $30 billion in the budget. Members are discovering that some of the usual government programs and projects are now being advocated as essential for national defense; they will question those outlays. Then, too, they find that the President still advocates—in an emergency which he reports may necessitate full manpower controls and already threatens overall wage and price controls—such costly operations as federal aid to education, socialized medicine, the Brannan farm plan, etc. It is these general categories of expenditures that will fell the Congressional pruning knife.

Most Senators and Representatives are hopeful that their constituents will help them reject federal spending as usual, and will give them strong moral support when the going gets tough.

WHILE the appropriation bill is getting started through the long legislative mill, the House Ways and Means Committee has decided to tackle the tax problem on February 5.

Some of the Congressional tax authorities are saying cautiously that the economy cannot stand a new $16 billion tax program. But they all agree that more taxation is inevitable. Preliminary thinking is that it will be "across-the-board." That is, rates on individuals and corporations will have to be raised once more; personal exemptions will have to be reduced from $500 to $500 or lower; excises will have to be hiked.

Although it usually takes several months for a tax bill to clear Congress, there is sentiment for making any rate increases on individuals and corporations retroactive to January 1.

THESE TWO COMMITTEES, and Congress as a whole for that matter, are settling down to work against a drab background of uncertainty.

They still don't know whether they—and the Administration—are facing an all-out war in the immediate future or a protracted period of heavy drains on the economy.

But they will remember that Lenin, the father of Communism, once said: "We shall force the United States to spend itself into destruction."

A Case for Cure

Few things shock the public into greater indignation while inflicting injury into less punitive action than the appalling consequences of drunken driving. Death, injury and destruction inflicted by intoxication behind the wheel amount in this country to a terrible toll in mortality and economic loss. Legal penalties are condign, but legal punishments are light. Habitually we blame unthinking juries. But it is a high probability that the twelve men who must decide what to do with the intoxicated driver give more thought to the matter than the public reacting to a natural sense of outrage.

Prosecutors suggest that the Legislature do away with the mandatory prison term for a second offense, convinced that juries will acquit rather than convict under it. This is true. For juries have shown that if an otherwise decent, up-right citizen has destroyed property, killed or maimed as the result of intoxicated driving, they do not want to send him to prison. They see a simple truth. John Barleycorn is the criminal. The man under his influence has erred grievously, but he is not a criminal in the ordinary sense of the word.

Perhaps the answer can be found in the twin efforts of the devoted Alcoholics Anonymous to reclaim the drunkard and of the Yale-directed medical groups to ascertain what is at the base of alcoholism as a disease. Everybody knows that the man who can not handle liquor should not drink it. Most people know far too many others who, despite that inability, can't quit drinking. Unfortunately many of them are DWI cases.

Why not then mandatory probation on an AA status for the offender? This could be supplemented by the provision that the too slowly curable and the incurable will have to be made subject to institutional restraint. The two objectives are to protect the public and to reclaim the alcoholic. To achieve them it is neither necessary nor wise to wait until the DWI has killed his man—or child.

Court Enjoins Car Dealer Violator Of Regulation

COLUMBUS, OHIO — The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has obtained a judgment in the United States District Court here enjoining 5th Avenue Motors, Inc., its president, Harold F. Pritchard, and its secretary-treasurer, O. George Ezzo, from further violations of regulation W and compelling compliance with said regulation. The defendants, through their attorneys, consented to the entry of the judgment.

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, having received reports from the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland that 5th Avenue Motors, Inc., appeared to be selling used cars on terms which violated regulation W, ordered an investigation to determine what further steps it should take. This investigation and data furnished by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, the defendants consented to the entry of the judgment, violation which would subject them to being cited and punished for contempt of court.

Regulation W, issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, provides that a registrant shall not extend any credit for the financing of certain listed articles including new and used passenger automobiles, the present terms of the regulation require a down payment of not less than one-third of the cash price of the car and the balance must be paid in 15 months.

NEW CRACKING UNITS — The modified air-lift Theermofor Catalytic cracking units (above) are in operation at the Beaumont refinery of the Magnolia Petroleum Company. They increase by 50 per cent the refinery's output capacity for high quality gasoline.

Many New Engineering Developments Featured on the 1951 Chrysler Car

DETROIT, Jan. 17—A new 180 horsepower V-8 engine, Power Steering, greatly improved shock absorbers, air-cooled brakes, and a new torque converter were among the many new engineering developments revealed last week representatives of the press, radio, by the Chrysler Corporation to radio and television.

L. L. Colbert, President of the Corporation, said that never before has the company offered so many outstanding advances in a single year, in terms of performance, riding comfort, safety, and handling ease.

Ideal Motors are local dealers of the Chrysler cars.

The special showing of Chrysler engineering achievements consisted of more than 75 individual exhibits. As background to the entire display were 38 different body styles of new 1951 Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler passenger cars and several 1951 Dodge commercial vehicles and Dodge Army trucks.

New V-8 Engine
The new 180 horsepower Chrysler V-8 engine was shown beside the original Chrysler 6-cylinder engine of 1924—thus bridging years of engine design leadership culminating with the new Fire Power design as the latest in the family of Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler, Dodge Truck, and Marine and Industrial Engines.

The new Fire Power engine incorporates many unique design features and is the most powerful passenger car engine now manufactured in the industry. It will be New Yorker and Imperial models, immediately used in all Chrysler.

Developed over a period of five years by the company's Engineering Division, the new engine has a hemispherical combustion chamber with overhead lateral valve arrangement. The unique shape of the combustion space greatly reduces the power-robbing effect of cylinder head deposits and gives very high efficiency of fuel utilization. Although of high compression ratio—7.5 to 1—the new Chrysler V-8 engine uses regular grades of gasoline.

With only 2.3 per cent more displacement than the 1950 Chrysler 8-cylinder in-line engine, the new engine has a maximum horsepower 35 per cent greater and a maximum torque 16 per cent higher. Total weight of the new engine, complete with transmission, is 8 per cent less than the former Chrysler 8-cylinder engine.

Power Steering
Another "first" for Chrysler Corporation, power steering, was revealed. Using a hydraulic mechanism to do practically all the work, the new device permits steering with one-tenth the effort previously required, whether he car is standing still or moving at any speed. With the power steering attachment, the pressure of one finger and guidance of the thumb is all that is needed to rotate the wheel.

This Hydraguide Power Steering will be available on all 1951 Chrysler Imperial and New Yorker models.

Oriflow Shock Absorbers
Also demonstrated was another new development called the Oriflow Shock Absorber, which will be incorporated on all 1951 Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, and Chrysler passenger cars.

The new shock absorber achieves a smoother ride on all types of roads, even the roughest, greatly reducing driver fatigue and increasing safety and comfort.

The improvements in riding and handling are primarily due to a new method of controlling fluid flow in the Oriflow Shock Absorber. Providing a more gradual change of resistance during bounce and rebound spring deflection, this new hydraulic system produces greater ride softness on average roads. In addition, it permits the use of much higher resistances than in previous shock absorbers for extreme spring deflections, thus freeing the driver and passengers from much of the jolting discomforts on rough roads.

Air-Cooled Brakes
For the first time in the automobile industry, forced air-cooling will be used on disc type brakes. This new Chrysler Corporation feature will be available on all 1951 Imperial models.

The new air cooling Chrysler brake is achieved by specially designed blades which pull air over the brake housing while the wheels are turning, reducing internal brake temperatures up to 35 per cent. As a result, brake lining wear is reduced as much as 50 per cent.

New Torque Converter
In connection with the introduction of the new Chrysler V-8 Fire Power engine, the Corporation announced that a new specially designed Torque Converter is to be available with its new engines and regular automatic transmissions on all Imperial models.

In combination with the Chrysler Fire Power V-8, the torque converter transmission provides smoother and more powerful starting with greater acceleration than any other car on the road.

Driver operation is the same as with the conventional fluid coupling and Chrysler automatic transmission, except that practically all of the driving with the torque converter will be in the high range. So Powerful are the starting characteristics from a standing stop with this new Converter.

RUSSIANS GET RUBBER

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Soviet Russia and her satellites are getting a thick slice of the rubber exports from Malaya, even though their total still lags far behind the shipments to the United States and the Kingdom. Cargoes sent out from ports in Malaya and Singapore the first 10 months of 1950 totalled 8,091,728 tons. The figure in the corresponding period of 1949 was 8,091,728 tons. The figure in the corresponding period of 1949 was 749,324 tons. Of this 75,488 tons went directly to Russia and her satellites. But the figure for Russia may be far larger. Russian agents do much buying at cargo disembarkment points for loading on Russian ships.

Dimes Fund Aids Hard Luck Texan

AUTSEN — (Special) — Richard T. Churchill, native of Three Rivers, Texas, has been accustomed to working his own way out of life's cruel crises. But he needed aid, some help recently through the Texas March of Dimes.

Churchill, a University of Texas law school student, was cut down by bullets in Germany late in 1944. He rejoined his unit, the famed 104th (Timberwolf) Division, six weeks later. The dark, haired, handsome young lieutenant, who was a platoon leader, was dropped from combat for good within two weeks. This time it was a land mine.

They picked straggled out place at a time over the smelting months. After three years, Lieutenant Churchill was medically discharged. He returned to Texas, began shaping his pre-law program and got married. By the time little Michael arrived two years later, Churchill's dream of good health, a home, family and a career brightened.

They last fall Michael got polio. Twelve days later, Mrs. Churchill joined her son in the polio ward maintained in Brackenridge Hospital by The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis through March of Dimes funds.

Churchill tried to carry on at home and at school. But his heart wasn't in it. "Our home was cheerless," he explained. "I kept going to classes, but nothing happened. I just sat there."

For the holidays both Michael and his mother returned home. The latter in a wheel chair. Churchill's training gained from self treatment after his own wounds enabled him to apply physical therapy at home.

In overcoming this family tragedy, spirit was a great factor — the spirit of the parents and little Mike, too. But Churchill credits the March of Dimes treatment for expediting their recovery. And somehow, as he makes up on back studies and shares the physical therapy routine and household duties, he expects to get out and help actively with the current March of Dimes to prove his own gratitude.

H. S. Students Hear Story of Blindness

Students at the Littlefield high school heard a story of a youth spent without sight at a special assembly in the school auditorium Tuesday.

The speaker was George Campbell of Amarillo, who spent the first 18 years of his life without sight. He then gained use of his eyesight through an operation.

Mr. Campbell described the vast difference in living in a world of darkness and living with normal vision and some of the odd surprises that sight brought to him.

He same speaker appeared here recently before the Lions Club.

The machine, which is standard equipment in most of the schools over the country, can be used for many purposes such as recording speeches, interesting programs and can be used in helping students in public speaking classes.

Information For Veterans

QUESTIONS AND ANSWER
 Q—Is it necessary to include in a GI loan contract a specific provision bearing racial or religious restrictions on the sale or occupancy of the property?
 A—No. The provision in the mortgage that VA regulations shall be a part of the contract is sufficient. One of the regulations bars restrictive covenants.
 Q—I am a World War II veteran and received an honorable discharge from the Navy in January 1948. Shortly afterwards, I reenlisted. If I leave service before the end of the GI Bill unemployment allowance program on July 25, 1952, will I be eligible for this benefit after my discharge?
 A—The law states that veterans must apply for unemployment or self-employment allowances within two years after July 25, 1947 or date of discharge, whichever is later. You are bound by your 1948 discharge, for that date marked the end of your World War II service. Hence your eligibility for the allowances ended two years after that date, or in January, 1950.
 Q—My entitlement for GI Bill training will run out just three weeks before I finish my semester. Is it true that VA will let me finish the semester anyhow?
 A—So long as your entitlement carries you past mid-point of a term, quarter or semester, you will be permitted to complete that term, quarter or semester even though you have no remaining entitlement.
 Q—Does the law extending VA out-patient medical care to Spanish-American War Veterans also allow the private hospital care at VA expense?
 A—No. The law specifically limits the benefit to out-patient treatment.

Of the new pilots, possibly the easiest job (and I risk losing a friend on this one) belongs to Charley Dressen, a Larry MacPhail man who returns to Brooklyn, a spot he never should have left in the first place. All Charley needs is a pitcher or two (preferably one for relief). He already has a big three in Don Newcombe, Preaches Roe and Erv Palica. And maybe Ralph Branca will be his relief pitcher.
