Suits Lead Easter Parade

SPRING EDITION—Dressmaker suit by Jo Copeland in John Walther's gray taffeta worsted, button trim.

By DOROTHY ROE, Associated Press Fashion Editor

In the spring a woman's fancy naturally turns to thoughts of suits.

The suit is the indispensable basic item of most U.S. women's wardrobes, and its official coming-out date is Easter.

Give a woman a trim new suit, a gay spring hat and some well-chosen accessories and she's ready for whatever vicissitudes the year may bring.

This year shops offer a wide choice in spring suits, ranging from man-tailored classics to soft dressmaker versions, with skirts either slim or gently flared for walking ease. Jackets may be long or short, loose or fitted. Fabrics are handsomer than ever, offered in almost unlimited choice. From weight tweeds to cotton and yarn-dyed flannels.

The costume suit is this season, consisting of matching topcoat or cape, piece dress and matching skirt.

Styles are so varied a woman should be able to find what she wants this year.

School Enrollment Up Over '51; Census To Be Concluded Monday

Sudan Junior High Will Present Three Act Comedy Friday Night

The junior class of Sudan high school will present the play "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy" Friday, March 28 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Everyone is invited to see this hilarious comedy, with a cast that is tops.

The cast will consist of the following, and their rolls:

D. L. Gann, Inmate No. 1.
 Maxine Beckett, Inmate No. 2.
 Billy Mack Templeton, Pluribus.
 Loretta Wiseman, Cindy.
 Mildred Gregson, Miss LaVelle.

Kenneth Robinson, Mr. Higgins.
 Calvin Wood, Mr. Marshall.
 Pat Hanna, Margery.
 Toots Hall, Janet.
 Charlene Wagner, Eve Windsor.
 Glenn Chester, hard boiled McCafferty.
 Joe Kent, Edward Gordon.
 Mackey McCarty, Speedy.
 Martha Dudley, Meredith.
 Jerry Morris, Reggy Morlim.
 Charlene Vinson, Beatrice.
 Reserved seat tickets will be 75c and other seats 50c for adults and 25c for children.

Books will be closed in the annual school census which has been in progress through the month of March, and with only a few more days remaining to complete the census, an urgent appeal was issued to all parents, whose children have not been enumerated, to call at the school Monday, March 31 before the deadline set by law.

Census officials report that more than 100 new names have been added to the rolls of white students, and eight additional colored names have been enumerated, and several additional names are expected to be added before the census is concluded. A total of approximately 1860 white children had been listed as of Tuesday noon, and 280 colored.

All parents who have children who will enter school for the first time next fall, are requested to list those children, now, while the census is in progress.

It is also possible that newcomers, or others have been overlooked in the enumerations of children in all age groups, and the school officials are anxious that none be missed or overlooked.

Anyone having children or knowing of children not enumerated is asked to get in touch with William Brune, school co-ordinator prior to next Monday evening. The high school phone number is listed as 490-M.

75 Lamb County FFA And 4-H Boys To Compete In Fat Stock Show

Seventy-five Lamb county 4-H and FFA Lamb county boys will compete here April 5 for prizes in the annual FFA and 4-H fat stock show, sponsored by Littlefield Chamber of Commerce. One hundred and sixteen animals will be shown.

A list of the boys and animals to show will appear in next week's issue of the Leader.

Winners of blue and red ribbons in calves division and blue ribbon winners of barrows will be awarded an all-expense trip to San Antonio. The date of the tour has been set for May 2.

Homer Brumley of Hereford, has been selected as one of the judges for the show. Another will be named in the near future. Mr. Brumley has a small packing plant in Hereford, and at the present time is feeding between 800 and 900 steers. He was a member of the livestock judging team of Texas Tech, in 1934, when Tech won the international livestock judging honors. He was fourth high point man on the team that year.

Funeral Services At Lakeview For Pioneer Citizen

Rufus B. Chappell, 76, a resident of Lamb county since 1926, died at his home at 806 Underwood Avenue, about 8 p.m., Friday night, March 21. He had suffered a heart attack about two days previous to his death, and was a patient in the Littlefield Hospital. His condition was much improved Friday afternoon, when he was dismissed.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist church at Lakeview Sunday, at 4 p.m. with the pastor, Rev. Allen officiating, assisted by Dr. Weldon B. Meers, pastor of the Missionary Baptist church here. Interment was in Union Hill Cemetery. Hammons Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Deceased was born November, 10, 1875 in Alabama.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Addie Chappell, and one son, R. B. Chappell of Muleshoe. Three brothers, also survive. They are J. H. and Jeff Chappell of San Antonio and Bert Chappell of McAllen, and three sisters, Mrs. J. H. Blanks of Lake View and Mrs. D. C. McMahon and Mrs. E. H. Holcombe both of Portales, N.M. All of the immediate survivors were present for the last rites.

Mr. Chappell was employed by Cox Machine Shop. He was an employee of the Union Compress and Warehouse here for several years, before working at the machine shop.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Spears

Mrs. G. W. Spears of Austin, mother of L. D. Spears of eight miles southwest of Littlefield, passed away at her home in that city, Sunday morning about 5:25 o'clock, following a lengthy illness. She had been in bad health for the past two or three years, and had been bedfast for about three weeks.

Mr. Spears had accompanied his wife to Excelsior Springs, Mo., last Thursday, where she underwent surgery Monday. He left from here for Austin by plane on learning of his mother's death.

Funeral services were conducted at Hillcrest Baptist church, Austin, Monday at 2 p.m., with Rev. Thomas S. Burris and Rev. Lory Hildeth officiating. Burial took place in Goforth Cemetery at Buda, 12 miles south of Austin under the direction of the Wilke-Donnely Funeral Home.

Mrs. Spears had been a resident of Austin for two years and was a member of Hillcrest Baptist church.

She is survived by her husband G. W. Spears of Austin; four sons, L. D. Spears of near Littlefield, J. C. Spears of Hot Springs, Ark.; Donnel Spears of San Angelo; and George W. Spears Jr., of Hobbs, N.M.; three daughters, Mrs. D. Bolds of San Antonio, Miss Abbie Spears of Austin, and Mrs. R. K. Fox of Smyrna, Ga.; two brothers, John Satterwhite of Buda and H. C. Satterwhite of Austin.

Oklahoma Man Dies Here Tuesday

John H. Mills, 60, of Pawhuska, Oklahoma, a patient at the Simmons Clinic for the past week, died Tuesday night, at 8:30. He had been in ill health a number of years.

The body was prepared for burial at Hammons Funeral Home and was shipped to Pawhuska, Wednesday by rail, where funeral services were scheduled for Friday. Burial is to take place in Hominy, Oklahoma cemetery.

TROY MOSS ASKS ELECTION TO BOARD OF SCHOOL DISTRICT

There will be no contest for election to the board of the Littlefield Independent School District.

Huston Hoover and W. O. Hampton filed for re-election and Troy Moss, who resides north of Littlefield, filed for election to the board.

Election of Mr. Moss to the board will fill a vacancy, Ray Hulse having decided not to ask re-election. Tuesday was the last day to file.

Fire Department Called To Bainer Monday Afternoon

The blacksmith shop at Bainer, owned and operated by Fritz Beisel six miles east of Littlefield was the scene of a fire about 4:30 Monday afternoon, which was reportedly caused by the explosion of a tank attached to welding equipment. The Littlefield fire department answered the appeal for help, and made a fast run to the scene of the fire, but the blaze had been practically extinguished by the time they arrived. Only slight damage to the shop and equipment was reported.

Springlake FFA Chapter Team Take Top Honors At Milking Shorthorn Show

Classes and judging teams from eighteen surrounding schools, FFA chapters, and 4-H clubs, were represented and competing for prizes in the judging contests held in conjunction with the Milking Shorthorn Field Day held at the fair grounds here Wednesday, with V. M. Peterson of Littlefield, Lewis Brothers of Levelland and Leo Whitoski of Happy having individual and herd animals on display to the number of 33 animals.

This was one of three milking shorthorn shows to be held in Texas this year.

A much admired feature of the show, was the big 1600 pound Milking Shorthorn bull, owned by the Whitoski Farms at Happy on display. This animal has won 16 grand champion awards at fairs and shows wherever he has been shown. He is now 10 years old.

A crowd of more than 220 farmers and cattle men attended the show here, and enjoyed lunch served on the fair grounds.

In the junior judging, eight groups competed, with first award going to Springlake FFA, Hale County 4-H, second, and Littlefield FFA team, third. Tying for fourth place were Amherst and Petersburg FFA teams. Other teams competing were Cotton Center, Lamb County 4-H and Parmer County 4-H club. High point individual junior judging was O. C. Martin of Springlake, Edwin Nutt of Cotton Center placed second.

First place team was composed of Richard McKaskill, Don Lawson and O. C. Martin. They were awarded a gold loving cup. Travis Scott is Vocational Ag. teacher in the Springlake schools, who coached the team.

All other teams competing will receive a framed picture of an ideal milking shorthorn bull or cow.

A field day will be held Friday at Roscoe. Several from here are expected to attend.

District 7-AA Track Meet Will Be Held At Lubbock Saturday

Joost Admires Dykes

FRANK ECK, Sports Editor
 L.N. BEACH, Fla.—Eddie Dykes played for some great majors but thinks he is the best. Eddie was a wonder-cincinnati," says Joost, for his 19th season in baseball. "But Dykes manager I ever played

League shortstops in fielding. Always in Shape
 "Eddie is a great player," says Joost. "He always seems to be in shape and has been throwing the ball around all winter. I never worry about that boy. Going on 36, hey? Why he's got three or four more years left. I played until I was 43!"
 Joost is a great judge of a pitched ball and that's why he's leading off. He knows when to hit and when to take. As a matter of fact I never gave him a sign all last season. He can hit the 2 and 0 pitch whenever he wants to."
 Joost recalls that it was Mr. Mack who made him a leadoff batter. "He told me he always liked to see me get those bases on balls. One year I got 142."
 Joost was third best in the league in walks in 1951, hit 19 home runs and batted in 78 tallies, unusual for a leadoff batter.
 Joost, the father of four boys, has been a San Francisco meat packer the last 12 winters.
 The dark-haired shortstop who has been wearing glasses in the field for the last five seasons arrived in camp weighing his usual 180 pounds. That's about 15 pounds overweight for the handsome 6-footer but he loses it fast and when the end of the season comes, he'll be down to 165.
 Eddie hopes to stay in baseball as a manager or coach when his playing days are up.
 "With Rochester in 1946 I got to manage quite a bit," says Joost. "You see, Burleigh Grimes came to me and said 'You're the assistant manager, Burleigh was getting kicked out of games now and then and I'd run the club."
 "When Grimes quit before the end of the season the parent St. Louis Cardinals made me manager. But it rained. The next day Rochester general manager Joe Ziegler got orders from St. Louis that a

Sudan Hornets Starts Grid Training Monday

By JIMMIE CHAPMAN
 Coach Francis Smith and the Sudan Hornets launched their Spring Football training Monday and had 45 hopefuls reporting for practice at Masten Stadium.
 Of the 45 reporting, only five will be seniors next year. Four of these seniors will be in the back-

new manager was coming in." Keeps On Rolling Joost, the Old Man River of shortstops, has been one of the comeback kids of the game. He retired in 1944 while the property of the Boston Braves and after he hit in 101 runs for Rochester in 1946 the A's brought him back up. He has averaged 140 games a season in the last five years.
 Joost might never have gotten his chance to play in the majors had it not been for an unfortunate accident to Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati second baseman, just before the 1940 World Series. The top of a water cooler fell off the dugout and broke one of Frey's toes. Joost has been an opportunist ever since.

field where Coach Smith says the Hornets will look good but it is very unpredictable as to what the line will be able to do. The left side of his line seems alright with a couple of returning regulars at the Left Guard and Left Tackle slot.
 Helping Coach Smith in Spring training is his assistant, Leon Chapman who helped coach the Hornets during the past season. Chapman will leave for the Navy sometime during June and Smith will have to replace him before the next grid season rolls around. Several applicants have been received by the Sudan school but no decision has been made yet as to who the new assistant will be.

 The training will last for 30 days, as set up by the Texas Interscholastic League rules.
 The starting backfield for next year will be Bobby Crouch, Fullback; Glenn Chester, Tailback; O'Don Beller, Wingback and either Joe Kent or Bill Peacock at the Quarterback spot.
 Maxey McCarter will be the starting center for Sudan. He was a regular the past season and is one of the reasons why Coach Smith thinks the line will do all right in the middle. The left side of the line will be all sophomores.

 In the Left Guard hole will be either Calvin Wood or D. L. Gann. Don Graves will be in the Left Tackle slot. He was a regular guard last year when he was only a sophomore. The left end is undecided yet but Billy Templeton and Carlos Garner have the outside track. Billy Bellar and Delmer Hill are a couple of other sophomores who will be in the line in case of injuries or lack of hustle by the regulars.
 Loran Loe and Jimmy Reese will be fighting for one of the backfield spots. Reese is only a freshman and Loe a sophomore.
 Coach Smith will admit his backfield looks good and if the line develops right, the Hornets will be the team to beat in District 2-A.
 The Hornets didn't get a chance at the title last year because they were suspended by the Texas Interscholastic League for violating the rules and recruiting players. Smith however, says his boys are eager to prove this year that they still have the interest and heart to win despite a year lay-off.
 In District 2-A along with Sudan is Amherst, Springlake, Olton, Dimmitt and Happy.
 Muleshoe, Levelland, Morton, Sundown and Andrews are the five non-conference games for Sudan.
 They will end their season with a game at Amherst on Thanksgiving at the Bulldogs home field.

MULESHOE AND LEVELLAND IN FAVORED SPOT

Approximately 21 Wildcats Will Be Entered In Events

Coach Charles Hester, Track coach of the Wildcats, released a list of 21 tracers who will be representing Littlefield at the District 7-AA Track and Field meet at Texas Tech Stadium at Lubbock Saturday.

The meet is scheduled to get underway at 9 o'clock in the morning when the preliminaries will be run. The finals will start at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Muleshoe and Levelland are favored to win the meet but both Littlefield and Brownfield have an even chance to win. Morton will only be represented in a few events because of the small number of boys they have out for track.

Littlefield chances will be helped considerably if M. C. Northam is able to run. He has been nursing a pulled muscle the past week and unless complication sets in Friday, he will be ready to run. He won the 100 yard dash event at Muleshoe earlier this year in 10:2. He also took first place in the 220 yard dash against Brownfield and Muleshoe. Other top place men for Littlefield will be freshman Kenneth Jackson who runs the 880 yard dash in good time and Fred Martinez who can clock the mile off in just a little better than five minutes.

First and second place winners in each event will be eligible to compete in the Regional meet that will be held two weeks later at Lubbock.

Muleshoe, Levelland and Brownfield ran in the Big Springs relay Saturday and all three teams showed up good. The relays were won by the Odessa Broncos but Muleshoe finished in seventh place, just two notches behind the highly touted Amarillo Sandies. Muleshoe's 2-mile relay team won first place at this meet over fourteen other entries. Levelland and Brownfield finished in eleventh and twelfth place respectively. Levelland got most of their points on Lanford Sneed in the Shot Put and Discus events.

Toby Greer, Head Coach of the Brownfield Cubs, will be the Director in charge of the meet.

Below is a list of the Wildcats going to Lubbock and the events they will be entered in.

Modern Game Silly Says Old Court Ace

AP Newsfeatures
 PITTSBURGH—Mike Morrissey, 60-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, resident who set the all-time one-game scoring record for a Duquesne University basketball team, says modern basketball is "a silly game."
 Morrissey made his comment to a Pittsburgh newspaperman shortly after he journeyed to Akron, Ohio, not long ago to see the latest edition of the Dukes in action against the Akron Zippers.

 The Duquesne publicity staff set up the trip because it figured Center Jim Tucker would write some history but it didn't work out that way as Tucker scored only 19 points. Jim, earlier in the season, equalled the 30 point mark.

Consequently, Morrissey's individual game mark of 30 points still is the best a Duquesne player has done. He pulled his feat Feb. 6, 1915, while the Dukes were playing Canisius.

After the game, Morrissey had this comment on modern basketball:

"Why it's a silly game. In my day we played in a cage and almost everything went. You could throw a few good football blocks

D. V. Marcum, Former Rotan Grid Coach, Named As Addition To McMurry Staff

D. V. Marcum, former Rotan high school coach, has been named as an addition to the McMurry College Athletic Department, according to an announcement from Dr. Harold G. Cooke, president.

This brings to three the number in the athletic department. Marcum joins Wilford Moore, athletic director and head football coach and Mel Jowell, head basketball coach.

He will serve as head of the men's physical education department and as assistant on the coaching staff for varsity sports, besides directing the intramural program.

Marcum comes to the job with and not be called for fouling. I went to a game with Dutch Dehnert, the old New York Celtic star, a year or so ago and there were 70 fouls called. All you heard was the whistle. That's ridiculous."

 Morrissey has little doubt that Tucker will break his record. As a matter of fact, the Clevelander will be happy to see Tucker do it.

a background of well-rounded experience in both instructing of physical education and coaching. While in the armed services during World War II, he served as a physical education trainer for 42 months.
 Prior to his army service he coached at Roscoe and at Big Spring and following his discharge served as line coach at Monahans, where they went to regional for two straight years. He has taken Rotan high school to district for two years.
 He lettered three years at Hardin Simmons University as an end on the Cowboy football squad, after attending high school at both Paducah and Amarillo.

MODERN LIVING IS ELECTRIC LIVING!

COMPANY COMING? NOTHING TO IT, JUST PUT THE AUTOMATIC ROASTER TO WORK!

Family feasts were quite a chore in the old days. Not too much fun for the womenfolk were in the kitchen for days before the feast and all day on the day of the occasion. The old-fashioned cooking methods, and its slowness, made such feasts just plain hard work. It's all changed now — thanks to modern electric cooking. Family coming for dinner? Put your electric roaster. Added to the oven and surface unit capacity of your electric range, it makes feast preparation a snap. And it doesn't take hours of watching or heat up the kitchen. Like your electric range, it's the coolest cooking method known—most efficient, too.

Terrace For Outdoor Living Rooms

The terrace for outdoor living rooms should be located where summer breezes can be enjoyed and winter winds may be shut out. It should be in a spot which has shade during early afternoon says Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Miss Hatfield suggests the south or southeast side of the house for such a terrace. If the terrace is stone or concrete, she says grow trees for all day shade in the summer. Otherwise the outdoor living room or terrace cannot be used comfortably, even after sunset. But, points out the specialist, not all terraces can be placed next to the house, sometimes it is better to build them around a group of trees for shade.

The terrace may be covered with grass, native stones cemented together or it may be made of concrete or brick. Sand is used sometimes, but this is undesirable because the sand is tracked into the house. Many terraces are covered with grass but after a spring showed it may be several hours before it can be used.

Screen the terraces from the public and unattractive views. If the terrace is to be used in the winter, a windbreak is needed. On sunny winter days, such protection makes the terrace an enjoyable place for outdoor meals or sun bathing. Screen plantings can be a great variety of shrubs. Most of the plants should be evergreens for winter beauty. For all year color in the plantings, use flowering and berry producing shrubs. If there is an attractive view, such as a beautiful hill or a wide stretch of pasture or the flower garden, leave an opening in the screening so they may be enjoyed.

Miss Hatfield says the terrace should be planned for the comfort and convenience for family living and to add beauty to the homestead.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

If your doctor asked you "How does your garden grow?" instead of "How are you feeling?" you might think him a little childish. But the development of your health is very similar to the development of a garden.

You are made up of three things, fluids, gases and solids. These three substances are constantly undergoing change, getting used up, being replaced, and having the waste eliminated. Like a garden of many plants, you are a hodgepodge of seeds, the solids of your body. Like the garden, those seeds must have air and water in order to grow to reach full bloom. Like the garden, when the blooms have died, there must be air and water in your body to remove the dead parts and salvage the seeds that can be used again.

Air is essentially a gas and most of the fluids of the body are comparable to water. Air serves not only to feed oxygen to the seeds scattered in all parts of the body but as gas may be considered a fuel that provides the heat which the body needs to cultivate its seeds. Heat is also supplied by calories in food and by vitamins, the internal version of sunlight.

Since the fluids of the body serve as the irrigation for the garden of health, they are extremely important in the safe-guarding of health.

Many centuries ago Galen, one of the early Greek medical scholars, took up the study of the fluids of the body and decided that life was a cycle by which the body became less moist from infancy to old age. In his expression, you are born very moist and become drier in all parts through the years, accounting for the wrinkled and brittle condition of the very old. Galen is not credited with the origin of the expression "Aw, dry up," however.

Today the medical scholars know there is a certain desirable balance to be maintained between the solid and the fluids of the body as well as a balance between the acids and the alkalines or salts of the body. Since acids may be a broad indication of the gases and the salts may be generally considered as the solids that are traveling in the body streams from one part of the body to another, this acid-alkaline relationship becomes an important indicator of the whole health of the body.

The body is about 75 per cent water. Half of the body weight is made up of water which is held in the cells of the body and one-fourth of the body weight is made up of moving water, so-called extracellular water. Your dry bones and the squeezed-out organs of your body would account for only about one-fourth of your total weight if they could be weighed separately.

The gases that provide the heat in the body and the salts that form the structure of the body have a drying-out tendency so that more moisture must always be added, moisture in the form of water, internally and externally. The body streams not only deposit the "seeds" where they belong but also furnish the heat for that seed to expand and contribute to growth. Then the streams carry away the waste materials.

Such is the continuous growth in the body, however, that what is waste for one organ may be a "seed" for the next. So the fluid channels of the body, picking up word "Accepted" followed by a line for the signature of Mr. Householder. His question is, should he sign it?

Before he signs it there are some things he should consider. He should first remember that once he and the XYZ Company have both signed the agreement, no matter how informal it may appear, they have bound themselves to the terms as written and cannot later escape the obligations they have assumed.

With this in mind, here are some of the misunderstandings that might arise from such an agreement: The company has agreed to build a garage—yet nothing is said about the size or type of construction. It has not even been stated whether it is to be a single or double garage. There is no indication in the agreement as to where on the lot the garage will be built. It says nothing about when the work is to be finished. There is no agreement as to whether Mr. Householder is to pay in advance, in installments, or not until it is completed.

Further, they have not actually agreed upon a price. The agreement refers to an estimated price of $800. They should be specific and make either a fixed price contract or an agreement whereby the builder is reimbursed for his expenses plus a definite profit percentage. Perhaps the XYZ Company feels that if their expenses are higher than anticipated, they will be able to charge more than the estimated $800. On the other hand, Mr. Householder probably feels that $800 is the maximum price he will have to pay.

The most important thing in a contract is to determine the essential elements of performance. This is not as difficult as it might seem. Here is a good rule to follow: As to the acts of each party determine what is to be done, when, where and by whom. See that these essential parts are included in your agreement. In addition, remember that if a contract is worth signing, it is worth reading and understanding—all of it.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

A well drawn contract is designed to avoid the unfortunate disputes which are usually based on honest misunderstanding, and not to let one person take advantage of another. Lawyers agree that one of the most important functions served by the careful execution of a contract is the preservation of business friendship.

Nearly every day all of us are making agreements with our fellow citizens. We base our plans and decisions on the faith that such agreements will be carried out. The grocer delivers food to us, relying on our promise to pay at a later date. We go to work each day on the faith of our employer's agreement to pay at the end of the week or month. Our whole system of free enterprise and trade is based, to a large extent, upon mutual agreements or promises to do something in the future.

Oral or written, such agreements are usually contracts. Probably the great majority of contracts that we enter into are never put into written form. Generally speaking, you can enter into a verbal agreement that is just as binding as a written contract. The important thing for each party to remember is to make the agreement or understanding perfectly clear whether it is oral or written. Usually you will find that the best way to do this is to put it into a written contract. Exact terms of an oral contract—difficult to establish if a disagreement arises.

It is easy enough to define a contract as an agreement between two or more people where each of the parties does something or promises to do something in return for the act or promise of the other. The real problem is to be actually certain what each party has agreed to do.

Suppose Mr. Householder has a piece of paper on which is written the heading "Proposal" and which thereafter reads as follows:

"We will build a garage for you on your lot for the estimated price of $800, work to be done in a workmanlike manner. All of our work is guaranteed to your satisfaction. Subject to the conditions printed on the reverse side."

This is signed by the XYZ Company. Under this signature is the Congress recently has been considering an administration-backed bill placing active-duty personnel of the Armed Forces under a permanent form of Social Security. The basis for this proposal is that only a relatively small percentage of military personnel retire and that the individual who shuttles back and forth between military and civilian life now misses military retirement benefits as well as sufficient Social Security covered civilian employment.

Twelve U.S. Army Armor experts are now in Europe teaching Allied soldiers how to get the most out of the new American tanks that they will soon be receiving as a part

The soldier instructors are training North Atlantic Treaty Organization soldiers how to use American combat vehicles tactically, how to operate them effectively, and how to keep them rolling with proper maintenance.

There are two training centers, one at Bourge-Leopold, Belgium and the other at Mailly, France.

Army pilots will be seen in increasing numbers as a result of the combat experience in Korea, where helicopters have played an important part in air evacuation of wounded, troop transport, and delivery of material. The Transportation Corps is in long-term thinking, foresees the replacement of the truck by the helicopter—hence the need for more Army pilots.

The newly activated Army Training Center at Camp Carson, Colorado is now in full swing with the recent arrival of 127 German Shepherds. This is the first Army dog training since World War II.

The size and weight of air parcel post packages shipped overseas through military post offices has been further limited as of March 15. Packages with a maximum measurement of 30 inches, length and girth combined, with a weight limit of two pounds is the largest packages acceptable for air parcel post. Air mail is not affected. Neither is regular parcel post where the size limit of length and girth remains 100 inches and the weight limit 70 pounds.

Parks Air Force Base, California was slated to receive their first batch of new airmen for basic training March 16. The Air Force now has three basic training centers in operation—Lackland AFB, San Antonio; Sampson AFB, New York, and Parks AFB, California. There has not been any change in the basic training period of eight weeks.

A dining hall where airmen sit at four-man tables and eat from china plates was opened at Craig AFB, Ala., recently. A thousand men an hour can be served in two lines, each with its own dining section, according to CWO Mark A. Lott, dining hall officer at Craig. UP TO 20 TONS

OVER THE ROAD or OVER THE ROUGH -you can't beat a GMC!

Now why, more and more, GMC's are becoming first choice of so many cost-watching truck operators in every type of hauling?

One of the big reasons, they will tell you, is they can always get a GMC exactly "engineed" for their particular kind of work.

There is no need for a GMC owner to tinker away with an underpowered truck—or lose profit to a gas eater unrelated to its job.

That's because GMC builds the widest range of truck engines in the industry—GMC famed valve-in-head gasoline engines from 100 to 200 H.P.—GMC exclusive 2-cycle Diesels from 110 to 225 H.P.

And it's the kind of power you don't have to pamper!

Each GMC engine is specially lubricated against wear, specially ventilated against acid-forming fumes even when idling—specially designed for truck duty!

Why not let us recommend the GMC truck, tractor or six-wheeler perfectly powered for your job? It will be a real truck all the way—exactly the right combination of engine, axle, transmission and frame blended by the world's largest exclusive manufacturer of commercial vehicles!

Tribute to a neighbor

We'd like you to meet a neighbor on whom both of us depend. He's the man who operates the service station in your neighborhood.

You depend on him to take care of your car, to supply you with products of high quality at reasonable prices. You expect, and get, from him more free service than from any other merchant with whom you do business: whatever you spend, he cheerfully cleans your windshield, checks your oil and tires, furnishes you with free battery water, and renders special services as you need them.

The oil companies depend on him as the independent merchant who distributes their products. He demands, and receives, continuously improved products with which to compete with his business rivals. He insists on reasonable prices that will move his merchandise in volume. His progressive attitude is one of the chief reasons why the oil industry has supplied you with better products at about the same prices over a long period of years.

It's a pleasure to pay this tribute to a neighbor, to thank him publicly for being such a friendly, dependable contact between the oil industry and its millions of customers. He is not on our payroll, but we couldn't do business without him.

YOUR GARDEN: Use Proper Pruning 'Surgery' For Shapely, Healthy Trees

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One of the most important spring garden tools—along with the spading fork and rake—is a sharp pair of pruning shears.

Actually, the pruning of trees and shrubs is almost a year-round occupation, for certain species respond better at certain seasons. Some even die of injuries incurred by bad timing in necessary surgery. By and large, however, spring—while the plants are still dormant—is prescribed as the best pruning time.

Most bushes and shrubs and trees benefit from pruning if the pruner knows what he is about, one purpose of the operation is to remove dead and injured branches, leaving a clean-cut, smooth-surfaced wound with clean edges which can heal quickly.

Protect Tree Wound

The wound—if larger than a couple of inches across—should be protected so that decayed organisms cannot get in. Such a wound should be painted with an antiseptic solution and covered with a compound of resin, beef tallow and alcohol, or a commercially prepared solution.

In cutting off larger limbs of trees, don't try to do the job simply by sawing through at a point close to the trunk. Its weight is likely to rip it off and make a big, ragged wound on the trunk. Instead, do it the hard way with three separate cuts. The first should be from BELOW, well away from the trunk and cut about half-way through the limb. The second, from the top and an inch or so beyond the first cut. This cut goes through to take off the branch cleanly and without injuring the trunk. Finally, cut off the remaining short stump by sawing flush with the trunk, trimming the bark to points at top and bottom to aid the flow of sap.

Pruning Stimulates Production

Other purposes pruning serves is to stimulate the production of either flowers or foliage, and to improve the form of the plant. It cannot change the natural habit of a particular plant, but it can keep it from getting out of bounds.

Few plants should be clipped, like a hedge or a poodle. In pruning, it is important to study the particular plant's habit, including the time when its flower buds are formed. Try to cut away old wood which is neither productive nor useful, usually from the base of the plant.

A rule of thumb—and there are exceptions to all rules—is that early-flowering shrubs form their buds on last year's growth, and therefore should be pruned a couple of weeks after flowering. Forsythia is a good example of this class of shrubs. Most shrubs which bloom in the late spring or thereafter form their buds on the current year's growth. For these, pruning activity should be undertaken in March and April.

Proper Pruning Time

All evergreens, including the broadleaved ones, are better pruned a few weeks before they go into spring growth. A few trees, including the maple, should be pruned when they are in leaf. They "bleed" if pruned in spring when their sap is rising.

In cutting branches and twigs to train trees to a desired shape and to remove woody sections which grow inward or rub other branches, cut about a quarter of an inch above a bud which points in the desired direction. Using a sharp instrument—sometimes a knife is better than shears—make the cut slightly slanting, its high side above the bud. Don't make the cut slant too much, or too high above the bud or too close to the bud. Any of these are bad for the branch.

Regardless of the season, cut out limbs, branches or twigs which are dead, dying or diseased—and burn them as a precaution. These menace the health of the whole plant and cut off sunshine and food from other portions of the plant.

The average full-grown musk ox weighs 600 pounds, is 50 inches long and 55 inches high.

Camera News

By MARY the CHIMP
AP Newsfeatures

Human people are funny animals, especially when they are photo fans, too. Put a camera in their hands and sometimes, I believe, some of them act like monkeys. And this I don't like. It isn't fair to us monkeys.

The other day one of them fellers came around with a new outfit and asked if I'd pose for some pictures. I didn't mind. He fussed around some but finally clicked off a dozen pictures and went off.

Two days after he was back with apologies. Would I pose again? It seems he had developed the film and got nothing but blanks. I took a look and pointed out that, this time, he should remove the lens cap.

"So that's what was wrong! Gee, thanks," he said. Then he shot another dozen pictures and put his camera away.

That guy will be back again. He'll find more blanks. I noticed when he took off his film pack adapter that he had left the slide in all the time he was taking pictures!

Like a lot of people, he forgot to look at the book of instructions. What's that? That's the explanation that comes with a new camera that people throw away without reading.

Most of the time, the people all around me are doing interesting things in a natural, relaxed manner. The kids are playing in the sand; men and women are sitting or leaning; they're talking, reading, playing cards. Whatever they're doing, it would make a nice picture.

Then somebody remembers he has a camera and announces that he's "gonna take a picture." Everyone stops what they're doing and no one knows what to do with his hands or his feet. They all know, though, that they must look at the camera and feel self-conscious. When the camera is put away, they relax once more and act natural.

Seems to me, a camera fan should have his camera handy all the time. In time it will be accepted as something you fiddle around with and look into. When people ignore it, that's when you can take pictures with it—without announcements or moving people around. If the angle isn't right, you can shift around. In this way, you have a chance to capture what attracted your eye in the first place... a natural picture.

Another thing strikes me funny about people's pictures is when I see the strange things that grow out of their heads... lamp posts, trees, bushes and what not. How come people never look at what's in the background when it's so noticeable in the print?

Then there are the home movie fans. They seem to think that a moving picture camera means they have to move the camera. They point this way and that and back again. When you see the finished movies, it's like viewing them from a roller coaster.

Shucks, even I know that the camera is supposed to be steady and all the action takes place in front of the camera. Occasionally, you do pan the camera to show a continuous, wide area of view, but you don't do it too often and the camera is kept level and moved slowly.

But you know what hands me the biggest laugh? The gadgeteers. You know, the ones who own the outfits with the most chrome, the largest assortment of accessories and the latest gadgets. Only they never take pictures. They're too busy replacing or exchanging or assembling their equipment. I've seen them at camera club meetings. Here they talk theory and formulas and abrasion tone printing. But they bring no prints.

Gosh all bananas! At least I take pictures... "just like a human being!" I heard some one say. I resent that. It isn't fair to us monkeys.

Luckless Miner Digs To Hospital

AP Newsfeatures

BOBTOWN, Pa.—A 31-year-old miner may have set a new record—for accidents.

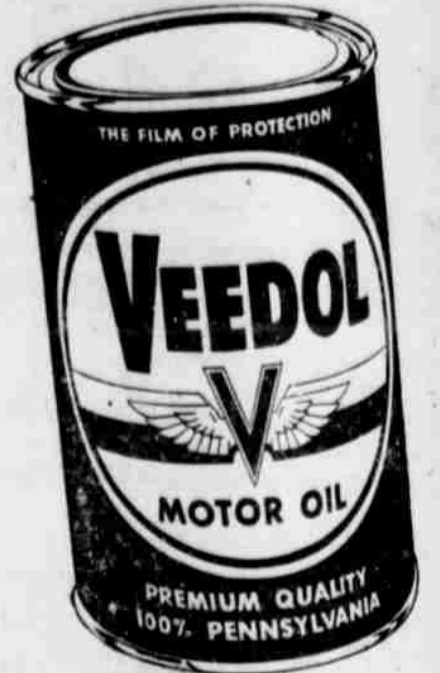

Thomas Kurilko, motorman in the Bobtown mine of Jones and Laughlin Coal Co., suffered no less than 27 accidents in the past year.

Kurilko has been hospitalized 17 times. He now is in a Waynesburg hospital recovering from a neck injury.

The 27 accidents, which made him lose 70 working days, include being hit by a falling steel beam, squeezed by a locomotive, getting an electric flash in the face and being struck by flying steel in the leg.

But 1951 isn't the worst year in Kurilko's memory. A bullet put him in the hospital for 27 months while he was participating in the invasion of Europe with the U.S. Army.

RESCUED MANPOWER: 28 MILLION DISABLED SPUR EFFORTS

By SHERRY BOWEN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—If accident or disease suddenly left you crippled, how would you feel? What would happen to your job?

Whether you work for wages, run a business or care for a home, that is no idle nightmare.

There are about 28 million people in the United States with serious, permanent handicaps. And a high percentage of them are sure they can't work effectively.

"They just don't know," says Henry Viscardi. "They don't know what they can do."

Viscardi runs an agency in Bellevue Hospital, New York City, to get the disabled and jobs together, called "J.O.B."—for "just one break." With the help of a committee of top U.S. businessmen he hopes to make the plan nationwide.

The idea began with Dr. Howard A. Rusk's work in the Air Force in World War II.

Forget the Handicaps
"Let's forget what these men lost," Rusk said. "Let's find out what they have." He got hundreds of men out of bed and on their feet—sometimes artificial feet. He knew they could work effectively.

HENRY VISCARDI

But when they tried to get jobs they were told they were useless. They came to believe it themselves.

With the end of the war, Rusk found the war-disabled were only a fraction of the number of civilian-disabled. He worked with Bellevue Hospital, New York University and The New York Times to do something about it. He could and did train people to use muscles and senses they had and to use them well. But jobs were still the bottleneck. So he began to talk to businessmen. And he got Viscardi to open J.O.B.

Took Pay Cut

Viscardi, a highly-paid personnel man, took a pay cut to do the job. Crippled himself, he knew the problem first hand. Withered legs at birth made him 3 feet 8 inches when he was grown. A series of operations and special artificial legs added 2 feet to his height.

Now he works with Dr. Rusk and the business committee on a four-phase program to:

1. Train people to use their assets in spite of handicaps.
2. Analyze jobs and fit people to jobs.
3. Show employers the handicapped often can outwork normal people in jobs for which they are fitted and that they have less absenteeism and fewer accidents.
4. Get the disabled into the jobs.

One U.S. agency thinks about two million citizens now getting public aid because of handicaps can do useful jobs.

Knows Feelings of Handicapped
Viscardi knows some of the agony the handicapped face in trying to live and work with normal people. And he knows the special pride they have in doing a job well. But he tends to sidetrack that phase of J.O.B. work.

"It costs much less to train people for jobs than to give them public care year after year," he says. "And when you free people from public care you also free those who care for them. It is only good sense to make an asset out of a liability."

But he warns that good intentions are not enough. You can do far more harm than good if you don't know how.

Veeck, Rajah And Money Aid St. Louis Browns

By BOB MYERS
AP Newsfeatures

BURBANK, Calif.—"Fresh money" is the key to the revitalized St. Louis Browns.

Fresh money, plus what may be the most unusual team of executives in the major leagues, may pull the ailing Browns out of the doldrums.

The Browns can hardly be expected to travel from the bottom of the American League, to the top in one short season, but there is no doubt that the general tenor of the club is scaled upward.

The executive twosome, of course, consists of the new president, Bill Veeck, and the new manager, Rogers Hornsby.

Faces Same Problem

Veeck at St. Louis faces the same problem, albeit a little more serious, that he encountered when he moved into Cleveland soon after the war.

Sportsshirt Bill's success there made baseball history. It also made Veeck a rich young man.

Hornsby, returning to the big time after a 14-year absence, and to a city where he earned his greatest triumphs as the greatest right-hand hitter in the game, was picked by Veeck to handle the Browns.

Showy, flashy Veeck, famed for his midgets, clowns, fireworks and other stunts to attract crowds; and Hornsby, a relentless, deeply serious student of baseball itself, are as different a pair as could be teamed.

Many an observer has predicted the partnership will not last too long. Veeck and the Rajah greet the thought with a shrug of their respective shoulders.

They point to one highly significant fact: Both have an almost fanatic will to win. Neither is happy with anything less.

"Veeck will run the front office. I'll handle the team on the field," Hornsby said. "That's our agreement."

There will be no shenanigans on the field, such as the clownish coach, Max Patkin, performing on the baselines.

At this date, Hornsby has been confronted with only one midget episode. Seven of them descended on his camp, "demanding" a chance to try out. They recalled the incident—hilarious to some, highly unamusing to others—last year when Veeck inserted a midget as a pinch hitter in a league game.

Whether the latest midget invasion was the little folks' own publicity stunt, or whether the fine hand of Veeck was involved from long range, is not known. Hornsby went along with the gag a little better than most anticipated, but after a bit he called a halt.

Do not be surprised if Hornsby

destiny of the Browns. Both have a fanatic will to win. And fans are eager to see the results of the merger.

encounters something similar, with gag-minded Veeck behind the thing.

Strictly Business Here

But the training camp atmosphere is strictly business, and the club shapes up as a lot better prospect than in many a year.

Hornsby has the nucleus of a good team—Pitcher Ned Garver; Marty Marion, who swears he'll play 130 games; Bob Young, whom Hornsby thinks is the best young second baseman in the league;

Clint Courtney, a smart catcher, and lots of hitting prospects in the outfield.

In fairness to the old regime the brothers Bill and Charlie DeWitt, it must be said that they had only some of these assets. They had a lot of good ideas, some that showman Veeck must have envied. And Zack Taylor, their manager, worked wonders with what he had.

The DeWitts—Bill is still vice president—lacked one major in-
