COMMISSION TO ACT FRIDAY ON HIGHWAY ROUTE

Body to Meet In Austin Tomorrow To Decide On New Proposed North and South Highway; A. P. Duggan in Austin to Attend

One of the chief matters which will come before the State Highway commission, at its meeting in Austin tomorrow, will be the proposal to establish a north and south highway extending from Big Spring to Channing and connecting with important northern and southern roads.

Among the cities which would be served by the proposed highway are Lamesa, Brownfield, Levelland, Littlefield, Dimmit, Hereford and Vega.

PLAN MEMORIAL EVENT HONORING DEAD COMRADES

Several months ago an organization was formed in Littlefield, made up of the representatives of numerous towns on the route of the proposed road, in order that definite action might be taken to bring about the new highway. Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield is president of the association.

Mr. Duggan left early this week for Austin, and will be joined in the state's capital by many representatives from cities that would be served by the proposed new artery of travel.

In keeping with his policy of zealously working in the interests of West Texas, without any thought in mind other than that of being of service to the great section of the state in which he resides, Mr. Duggan is making the trip to Austin at his own expense.

A number of important highway contracts are expected to be let at the meeting of the commission tomorrow, among them several for road construction in this immediate section.

CITY MARSHAL IS PNEUMONIA ATTACK VICTIM

Grief and sympathy stirred the hearts of the entire citizenship of Littlefield and district Sunday when it became known that W. P. McDaniel, city marshal, and one of the finest citizens of this city, had passed away at noon that day.

Mr. McDaniel had been ill a week, almost to the hour, with pneumonia, and though everything possible was done to save him, he did not have the vitality to fight off the disease.

At the First Baptist church Monday afternoon at three o'clock, amid a beautiful array of flowers, which indicated the large number of friends of the deceased, and the great love and regard in which he was held, one of the largest funerals in the history of Littlefield was conducted. ## THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY

"It's just as inevitable as day following night that the textile industry is coming to Texas," M. E. Heard, professor in the textile department of the Texas Tech school of engineering, told members of the American Business club, Lubbock, in a talk on cotton at a recent luncheon meeting of the organization.

"Texas produces more cotton than any state in the union, nearly one-third of the entire nation's production, but textile mills in the state consume only about 3 per cent of that cotton," Mr. Heard continued. The textile industry is the second largest in the world. It is true that it is probably at its lowest ebb today but it is coming back and when it does you can rest assured Texas will be the center of development."

The statements made by Prof. Heard sound another call to Texans to become more industrial-minded.

What Texans achieve for Texas depends in no little way on how zealous they are in encouraging industrial development.

Texans should endeavor at all times to buy Texas made goods, and thus encourage our manufacturers. When we help our manufacturers we are helping ourselves.

Let us take every opportunity to develop manufacturing in Texas.

UNSTUFFING THE STUFFED SHIRTS

It seems to us that one of the things which the world has learned out of the economic depression is that nobody was quite as smart as a lot of people were reputed to be. We used to hear so much about the giants of finance and the captains of industry that we got an idea that anybody who could make so much money must be a lot wiser and smarter than the average man. It turns out that some of them were only a little luckier than the average man, and some of them were just plain swindlers. And now that we are hearing about how great banking houses were fooled by financiers with international reputations, we have about come to the conclusion that the ordinary man who works hard at his own business, and doesn't buy anything on somebody else's say-so without knowing all about it himself, is a great deal smarter than the people who thought they could get rich quick by taking the advice of the so-called big men of affairs.

We can think of nothing more disillusioning than the downfall of Ivar Kreuger, the Swedish "match king" who committed suicide in Paris some weeks ago. Even up to the moment of his death Kreuger was regarded as one of the world's ablest financiers and greatest business men. He could walk into any bank anywhere in the world and borrow any amount of money he asked for without having to put up any security. He had only to tell them that he owned so many millions of bonds of this, or that or the other government, or that some nation had given him the exclusive concession to manufacture and sell matches, and they forked the money right over. The head of one of Boston's biggest banking concerns admitted, at a public hearing the other day, that they lent millions to Kreuger on his unsupported word. But it turns out that the government bonds which he held were forgeries, manufactured by clever engravers on his orders; that the match concessions which he claimed to have obtained by secret treaties never existed; that, in short, the whole vast reputation which he had built up was founded upon fraud. He will go down into history as the world's greatest swindler.

We don't think people are going to be so eager to put their money into speculative securities on the strength of big reputations as they were a few years ago. Not for a long time at least, or until men who are children today grow up and begin to think that they are smarter than their fathers were.

Young women all over the country are offering to marry for money. And the more, the merrier!

Wellington high school girls are mentally brighter than the boys, confesses the LEADER. Probably the girls are both good looking and intelligent, and therefore are able to distract the attention of the lads from the problems at hand.

Try this: Let public works be done more sparingly and let private enterprises, with faith, go forward toward normalcy. Prosperity can't be turned over to the government; it is primarily and intrinsically private.—Pampa News.

Years ago women didn't offer to marry for money. They just married men for money, but now they've got to advertise to find out who's got it.

EIGHT YEARS AGO IN LITTLEFIELD

(Exerpts from Lamb Co. Leader)

At a meeting of the Littlefield school trustees, held Friday afternoon selection of the site for the new school building and awarding of the contract for its construction was made.

The new building will be located on ground just south of the present school building, and in front of the P. W. Walker residence. Here twelve lots were purchased of Mrs. Sarah E. Duggan and P. W. Walker, the consideration being $1300 and the ground size is 300 feet square. There were about 20 contractors present to bid on the new school building, the bids running all the way from $64,125 by the Boone Construction company of Amarillo down to the W. M. Rice company of Amarillo, whose bid was $60,195, and to whom the contract was awarded.

Building material was last week hauled out to Morton, the new county seat of Cochran county, for a temporary court house. A fine and commodious brick building is planned later on when the county's affairs have been put into running shape.

The new firm of Borough and Arnold, who recently bought the Brazeal Grocery, opened for business last week in their new stand.

S. Rumback of Graham is here this week with his family busy installing fixtures and getting ready to open the Littlefield Bakery next week.

H. W. Teeters this week closed a contract to build a nice residence for Neal A. Dougless on his recently purchased lots near the Cogdill home. The work began Tuesday.

F. V. Barber is building a modern home for Frank Powers on his land six miles southwest of Littlefield.

The Tourist Inn, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Gaultney is this week being opened for business to the public. The Inn will be run on both American and European plans for the accommodation of their guests.

SPADES

The high school Spade community enjoyed a most enjoyable and profitable trip to Palo Duro Canyon last Friday afternoon. Those of our Spade community who went were Treva Swinney, Gene Yeager, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnson of Burkburnett. All reported plenty of dinner and a real good time.

There will be seven to graduate from high school this year. That is a good number for a small school and Spade is proud of the class as it would be if it was a class of a large number. Those who will graduate are: Sue Heibert, the valedictorian; Onie Shepperd, the salutatorian; Pauline Dennis, Lylia Shepperd, Olive Hill, Wilma Webb, and Noel White.

The seventh grade graduation class has a record that we are proud of, likewise, and we hope each member of the class will finish high school with worthwhile records. Those who will graduate are: Sarah Smith, the valedictorian; Doyle Dyer, the salutatorian; Lorene Tucker, Dewie D. Milligan, Pauline Strawn, Doyle Bennett, Opal Newton, Mary Young, Wyley Young, Gomer Ray Allen, Elizabeth Wright, Faye Greer, and Irma Sue Trash.

The seventh grade will present a play, "The Man in the Green Shirt," Saturday, May 28, at 8:30. Admission 5c. We expect even a larger crowd than attended the freshman play. The proceeds go to buy their diplomas.

The place for the baccalaureate service has been changed after consideration by the seniors. The service will be held in the high school auditorium at eleven o'clock Sunday morning, May 29th.

Mrs. Miller, the first grade teacher, was absent Monday.

part of this report.
