Cheating Hurts Students, Not Profs

Editorial
You will want your child to learn to study for a test. Some will push the blame off on their teachers. They say that they didn't understand it or the teacher didn't explain it. The teachers are not to be blamed in these situations. They say that the students should ask a question or ask the teacher to explain what they don't understand.

Students do not realize that they actually miss out on something when they cheat. They miss knowledge on their own part. It's nice your neighbor know his lesson but does it benefit you in any way? Oh, maybe it does just at that particular moment, but what about the future? Everything we learn or better yet, things we're supposed to learn are recorded in our future lives more than in in the present. The teacher who students cheat is that they do not realize this fact.

NEUMANN (continued from page 1) community and that public relations with area farmers and businessmen alike were very good.

Neumann began his talk to the Lions with a short history of the recognition of the need for fertilizer by both local and farmers all over the nation. He said commercial fertilizer was first used in the southeast states and these states are still the largest users of commercial fertilizer. "For instance, South Carolina will use three millions tons per year, while Texas will use three-fourths of a million tons per year," he said.

Neumann said he started in the fertilizer business as a trucker and also worked for the government in Oklahoma in trying to get farmers to use commercial fertilizers. He said that the first fertilizer used by area farmers was nitrogen, but a rapid need for phosphates and potash made Caprock fertilizer sales continue to climb each year. He showed some pictures taken of the grass at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church showing where strips had been fertilized... and only with trace elements.

Littlefield's position as a marketing center.

Agriculture - arrange a series of programs and events that will enhance goodwill and better understanding between merchants, wholesalers, and farmers, and cooperate with agricultural agencies, and organizations in programs to build the farm economy in the area.

Governmental Affairs -- expand membership participation, provide the opportunity to become better informed and more responsible citizens locally, state - wide and nationally, neither directly nor indirectly endorsing any political party or candidate.

Industrial Development -- take the following realistic approach as a result of the 1961 industrial survey: Establish a livestock feeding operation in the trade area, show appreciation for present industry and continue to contact and seek to locate industry that would enhance our agricultural markets and services.

Fire Prevention -- organize a year-round program of community fire prevention and protection, support the city fire department and enlist their support of our work and work to lower the insurance key rate in Littlefield.

Community Service -- continue to provide housing rental service through the chamber office, help control on solicitors, encourage and assist in establishing an effective program of welcoming newcomers to Littlefield.

Community Development Action -- Appoint committees and subcommittees to go to work on the community needs as signified in our economic base study.

Highway and Tourist Development -- Obtain data that will point out Littlefield's tourist possibilities, make recommendations that will make Littlefield's highways more attractive to transient and rural trade and participate with the highway association in their program of tourist and highway development.

Public Relations -- Make an analysis of and improve our internal communication, local publicity, area publicity and outside publicity.

Ways and Means -- Prepare a budget to cover this program of work, increase the number of members and amount of money and obtain new plastic membership plaques.

LAMB COUNTY INDUSTRY

PLAINS EGG PRODUCERS SERVE WIDE AREA

Editor's note: This is the first series of features about our industries in Lamb County's economic worth. In 1958 the late Art Cheshier began a new industry in Littlefield, known as the Plains Egg Producers, located at 811 Sel-Street. The new industry composed of a group of farmers, who began caged production on their farms. Her began egg production at a plant that was built just west of Littlefield. At that time the brand of eggs was established and organization began operation producing eggs and marketing them to the area through the central processing plant in Littlefield. Approximately 30,000 laying hens were involved in the initial organization. Today, Plains Egg Producers has doubled in volume with approximately 60,000 laying hens and markets its eggs to a large area of the Panhandle and New Mexico. XIT eggs go to area air bases, some go to straight commercial sales out of the state, and many go to the area grocer stores on a route serviced by Dave Holladay of Littlefield. Holladay makes a daily route, delivering XIT eggs to grocery stores in Littlefield, Dimmitt, Hereford, Muleshoe, Spade, Anton, Springlake, Earth Levelland, Sundown, Whiteface, Morton, Farwell, Bovina, Friona, and Shallowater. Plains Egg Producers employs 13 workers, which also includes poultry processing. Today XIT eggs are produced by the following caged egg laying operators: Tory Gilliland, Amherst, Dewey Harigan, Sudan, F. L. Shelby, Pleasant Valley, Fred Shaefer, Olton, Sport Byers, Springlake, P. S. Hanks and Jack Barton, Littlefield. Barton is president of the association, Byers the vice president. Largest producer of the egg association comes from Barton caged layer operations, west of Littlefield, and purchased from the late Mr. Cheshier in 1959. Seven workers are employed at the Barton caged layer operation in feed processing, daily management and egg washing operations. XIT eggs are graded under the supervision of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the consumer's protection, most of the eggs are produced by H-3-W and Hyline hens.

Philosopher Says Trouble With Space, Won't Stay Conquered

Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is off in space this week, his letter indicates.

Dear editor:

The trouble with conquering space is that I'm not sure it's going to stay conquered. Like nearly everybody else, I arranged my work so I could watch Col. Glenn take off in that rocket, and I was pulling hard for him although I'll concede Col. Glenn was the one taking all the risks. Naturally anybody who stops to think is amazed at what we've done and is proud of the achievement, and it gives the Russians something to think about, namely, that this country can do anything it sets out to do, once it puts its mind to it, and that if you can set an orbiting capsule down in the ocean with a man in it, you can set one down in Moscow with a bomb in it.

And there's more to come, as one of the scientists responsible for the success of the flight said a few years from now the type of rocket ship used to put Col. Glenn into orbit will look about like a modern airplane looks compared with the Wright Brothers' plane.

But here's the thing: People are always talking about conquering space, and I'm all for it, but conquering space may turn out to be about like conquering this Johnson grass farm. You can do it for a while but if you don't keep conquering, it'll close in on you, and sometimes it'll beat you even when you're trying. I can't imagine a worse job than trying to conquer space when it extends outward forever in any direction you look, endlessly, beyond the fringes of the imagination. If I ever heard of permanent employment, that's it.

As I see it, there are two main things wrong with space; there's too much of it, and there's nothing out there to breathe.

For example, I'm all for going to the moon. That is, I'm all for somebody else going, but I think man ought to prepare himself for the possibility that going may be sort of like a trip to the Sahara Desert. The main thing about it is having gone and come back, and if anybody brings up the idea of a second trip, you may want to change the subject.

I don't know why man thinks he can make a go of living on the moon, taking his oxygen with him and manufacturing a new supply after he gets there, when he hasn't made too good a showing on earth, where the air is free.

Actually, though, conquering space has its interesting points and I'm as eager as you to see what those scientists do next. The fact you can't actually conquer it is no drawback, at least this has never stood in the way of farming.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

We heard a man boast the other day that he never bothered to read editorials; what a man!

PLEASANT VALLEY by Mrs. John West

The community directors would like to thank the following men for their help on the community center grounds Tuesday: those furnishing trucks were: Frank Wuerlein, Gerald Allison, Oscar and Harold Allison, E. ## Anton Loses Two Teachers And Superintendent

Contracts of two members of the Anton schools faculty will not be renewed and the superintendent has resigned, it was learned.

Although declining to make an official statement Friday, Orville Bailey, president of the school board, confirmed that contracts of Jimmy Holt, assistant football coach and head basketball coach, and Pat Priett, junior high coach and grade school principal, were not renewed for next year.

W. R. Taylor, superintendent, announced earlier in the week he had resigned effective Aug. 1 of this year. Taylor said he resigned following a school board meeting last Tuesday night, by telephone. He said he later made the resignation official by letter.

Bailey said "there has been some resigning, some of it by request." He did not elaborate.

Described as a "vote of confidence", Bailey, the board president, said Dave Smith, head football coach, had been given a year's extension on his contract, making it a two-year contract.

It was believed that Holt and Priett, not having contracts for next year, could not officially resign until the end of the current school year.

In the case of the superintendent, Taylor said he had another year to go with his contract. "But I resigned," he added. He has been superintendent at Anton the past nine years.

Taylor praised the work of both Holt and Priett. "They are fine young men," he volunteered. Both are teachers in addition to coaching duties.

Although he did not discuss the resignations as an official spokesman, Bailey said, "we have a disciplinary problem in the whole system."

Members of the school board are: Bailey, Cecil Overstreet, Ted Rendleman, Chester Jones, Brad Gilbert, Wyatt Batson and Ken Spradley.

Terms of three board members expire in April. A lively election is forecast, residents of Anton precinct.

PCA Meet Is Set March 31

In a recent board meeting the Annual Stockholders Meeting of the Plainview Producer Credit Association was set for Saturday, March 31, at the Plainview High School cafeteria and auditorium, beginning with a barbecue lunch at 11 a.m., entertainment by the Stamps Quartet at 1 p.m., followed by the regular association business including the Annual Report of the Board of Directors, the Secretary-Treasurer's report, and the election of one director.

The term of Leroy Durham expires this year. The nominating committee elected by the stockholders last year met Monday, Feb. 19, and nominated Leroy Durham for reelection and John Norfleet, who lives 10 miles west of Edmondson, for this position on the board.

The present board is Leroy Durham, president, Henry Hayes, vice president, Grady Shepard, D. S. Anderson, and Don Garrison.

Olan Alexander is secretary - treasurer and general manager; Fred Conner is assistant secretary - treasurer, and assistant general manager.

W. H. CUNNINGHAM is pictured with a 66 pound Rock Bass or Grouper caught on a fishing trip to Guaymas, Mexico. Others in the fishing party were Rueben Birkebach and Herb Funk. They returned home February 20.

Fertilizer On Pastures, Meadows Pays Dividends

Each dollar spent for the proper kinds and amounts of fertilizer for use on pastures and meadows will return from 2-10 depending on the crop, moisture and management, said E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

A soil test is the best guide, he points out, for determining how much and what kind of fertilizer to use. He lists three major reasons for using fertilizers: to maintain and increase production; improve forage quality and to make efficient use of water.

Trew explains that poor soils produce low quality forage but that the use of the proper fertilizers will increase the protein and mineral content of forage. Weed numbers are also reduced in lush growing pastures.

He suggests that fertilizers be applied to temporary pastures -- summer or winter -- at planting time followed by top dressings with nitrogen after the pastures are grazed down if more growth is desired and moisture is available.

On irrigated Coastal Bermuda at College Station, Trew said 17.5 inches of water was required to produce a ton of forage when nonnitrogen was applied. An application of 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre increased the yield from 2.5 to 4.5 tons an acre, and only 10.5 inches of water per ton was required. When 400 pounds of nitrogen was used, the production climbed to 8.5 tons an acre with only 5.5 inches of water required to produce a ton of forage.

For permanent grass pastures, he says to fertilize with nitrogen and phosphorus plus whatever else is needed in the spring about the time grass begins to grow. Nitrogen topdressings are recommended throughout the growing season - after each time the grass is grazed down, if more growth is needed and moisture is available. If the pasture contains a legume and the grower would like to favor it, Trew advises the use of phosphorus and other needed minerals in the fall before the legume starts growth and nitrogen during the summer as a topdressing.

On temporary pastures he suggests putting the fertilizer in bands 2 to 3 inches below the seed and the same distance to the side if possible at or before planting time. Nitrogen is applied as a topdressing. On permanent pastures with a good stand, the mixed fertilizer can be applied to the surface and the nitrogen top-dressed.

Trew suggests a visit with the local county agent for more information and a copy of B-953, "Fertilizing Texas Pastures."

Koller Is On ENMU Ball Squad

Eastern New Mexico University baseball coach Bob Shepler has cut his squad to 26 men and has scheduled twice-a-week intra-squad games to prepare his team for its opener against Sul Ross on March 12.

Shepler kept nine infielders, three outfielders, three catchers, and ten pitchers -- all righthanders.

Included on the squad is Jerry Koller of Littlefield at second base.

AT WHITHARRAL

Mrs. Ed Pope has been released from West Texas Hospital at Lubbock where she has been a patient for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Yantis of Plainview spent Friday night here with Yantis' sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Havins.

Kathy and Jana Jones of Levelland are with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jones, while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones are in Temple for a checkup for Jones.

Conservation District Agreements Revised

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced the updating and broadening of the agreement which provides the official basis for cooperation between the USDA and local soil conservation districts.

According to the announcement, the USDA is now ready to enter into this revised agreement which will offer help to districts "in conserving and improving soil, water, vegetation, wildlife and related sources, and in reducing damage by flood and sedimentation."

The new memorandum will be used with all newly formed districts. Agreements with existing districts will be re-negotiated using the new document as rapidly as they wish to do so.

Updating USDA's assistance to districts comes on the 25th anniversary of the district movement. In Texas, 182 soil conservation districts, including 98 per cent of the state's privately owned agricultural and forestry land, have entered into agreements with USDA for help in conserving soil and water resources, says Lynn Pittard, extension soil and water conservation specialist.

Secretary Freeman made the first public announcement of the revised memorandum of understanding in an address before the annual convention of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts, held recently in Philadelphia.

Cook Serves On Attack Cargo Ship

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (FHTNC) - Leslie D. Cook, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foy E. Cook of Route 2, Springlake, is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Tulare, a unit of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force, headquartered at San Diego, Calif., which celebrates its 20th anniversary Feb. 20.

Established on Feb. 20, 1942, the force spearheaded such World War II amphibious campaigns as Guadalcanal, Leyte, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Today, approximately 20,000 men assigned to some 70 ships and supporting units make up the force, commanded by Vice Adm. Howard A. Yeager. The Pacific amphibians are capable of transporting and landing combat-ready Marines, and their equipment across the beaches of any trouble spot in the Pacific, the Far East or Southeast Asia.

AT WHITHARRAL

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Wade and children of Austin were weekend guests of their mother, Mrs. E. G. Wade.

now join the world's greatest V-8 collection

105-HP THUNDERBIRD V-8—Thirty years of Ford experience culminate in this startling V-8. Available in every Galaxie, it puts 405 horses under the throttle, a dazzling level of acceleration that cannot be imagined but must be felt. A super-performance option, it comes only with the four-speed gear box. But, unlike some "special" engines that require delicate tuning and modification, it puts out its potential right off the showroom floor. Even more impressive, Ford skill has made it a docile tiger; it idles smoothly, it is durable, its super capacity does not come at the expense of harshness and noise. Among expert drivers, it is praised as a true high-performance V-8 in America... the pace-setter for 9 other V-8's tailored to every driving need.

NEW FAIRLANE CHALLENGER "260" V-8—When the 221-cubic-inch Fairlane V-8 appeared last fall, automotive writers hailed it as a great basic advance, a compact jewel of design. Now the "260" V-8 proves their prediction. With 161 hp, 19 more than the standard version, Fairlane gains a new brilliance of performance—but it still runs on "regular," still outsaves any standard-size Six. It has the durability of time-tested cast iron, slimmer and lightened by Ford's precision-casting technique. Created by the one maker who has built 30,000,000 V-8's since 1932, it brings the sparkle and smoothness of V-8 power well within the thrifty budget's reach, puts truly sophisticated engineering at the service of truly economical motoring.

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED the American negotiators got a highly favorable result in the 19-nation cotton textile agreement reached recently in Geneva.

It permits the United States to continue import quotas -- even more objectionable than tariffs -- for five years with only minor easing. And it would allow the United States, if necessary, to impose tax on imports to offset the 8 1/2 cents a pound subsidy paid on American raw cotton exports.

There are hints that if Washington takes full advantage of this latter possibility the Japanese may not finally sign the agreement. Yet under the American farm program cotton textile mills in the United States go on having to pay 8 1/2 cents

Both sides of the walls were imbedded with small bones which had turned to soft calcium.

Dr. Green said the elephant tusk which had been partially uncovered by workers could possibly be from six to eight feet long. He continued that uncovering the tusks and recovering them intact would be too expensive for the value gained from them.

He explained that to recover the tusks in tact would require digging a pit directly above the tusks and uncover them from above. Once they were uncovered a plaster cast would have to be fixed around them so they would not break or crumble when moved.

Several local persons working at the discovery site have pieces of the bones taken from the tusks and teeth. Among them are Lindsey Williams and Lee Edward Elms.

Williams has a large section of one of the tusks and Elms has the large tooth.

Said one woman to another, "I understand that the congregations at your church are very small, is that so?"

"Yes," replied the other, "so small in fact that every time the minister says 'Dearly Beloved' you feel as if you had received a proposal."

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED the American negotiators got a highly favorable result in the 19-nation cotton textile agreement reached recently in Geneva.

It permits the United States to continue import quotas -- even more objectionable than tariffs -- for five years with only minor easing. And it would allow the United States, if necessary, to impose tax on imports to offset the 8 1/2 cents a pound subsidy paid on American raw cotton exports.

There are hints that if Washington takes full advantage of this latter possibility the Japanese may not finally sign the agreement. Yet under the American farm program cotton textile mills in the United States go on having to pay 8 1/2 cents

Both sides of the walls were imbedded with small bones which had turned to soft calcium.

Dr. Green said the elephant tusk which had been partially uncovered by workers could possibly be from six to eight feet long. He continued that uncovering the tusks and recovering them intact would be too expensive for the value gained from them.

He explained that to recover the tusks in tact would require digging a pit directly above the tusks and uncover them from above. Once they were uncovered a plaster cast would have to be fixed around them so they would not break or crumble when moved.

Several local persons working at the discovery site have pieces of the bones taken from the tusks and teeth. Among them are Lindsey Williams and Lee Edward Elms.

Williams has a large section of one of the tusks and Elms has the large tooth.

cheat. Maybe not because they notice a straying eye or recognize a few cheat notes being passed around, but mainly in the way a test is answered.

There are many ways of cheating. Sometimes we don't actually realize we're cheating. Everyone is guilty of asking their friends; was the test hard? How many questions were there? Did he ask anything about this? What else was there on the test? These questions are cheating. But how many times a day do you hear them repeated?

It would be twice as easy to study everything there is to know about a test rather than to rely on a friend for help. That same friend isn't going to always be around to help you with your many tests of the near future.

The answer is a simple one. Students can study and have an interest in school and their work. Without these interests there is not any possible way for a student to pass without relying on his friends for knowledge.

It's got chrome plated valve covers, Grant pistons, Iskenderian cam a 4:1 rear end, a McCulloch supercharger, fuel injection, 3/16 inch louvers across the hood with a four speed gear box with overdrive and runs only on nitro-methane and alcohol." "Man what a machine!" I enthusiastically yelled. "How fast will it go?" "I don't know," Sig said. "I can't find the ignition switch."
