WELL I know what I read in the papers, and I got to be an awful careful and close reader to see much that is much nowadays. You got to wade through many a gruelling murder, a few ransoms, a bevy of kidnappings, and auto deaths till it reads like a telephone directory. But every little bit you run onto some little item that sorter keeps the reader from becoming soaked.

E. K. Hufstedler, agent for the G. M. C. truck and Wayne all-steel bus bodies, was in Littlefield the last part of the week seeing the trustees of the Littlefield schools in regards to the purchase of school trucks.

The school board a few weeks ago voted to buy school buses this year and hire the drivers rather than hire drivers with their own trucks. They have announced, however, that no trucks have been bought yet.

America To Observe Her 158th Birthday Of Independence

Next Wednesday, July 4, marks the 158th birthday of the American Declaration of Independence. It brings to a close another year in the development of this great nation.

It marks the attainment of a government which has been able to take its place among the mighty of the earth.

July 4 reminds us again of that spirit of independence and individualism which has been a distinguishing characteristic of the American people ever since. It helps us to renew our vows to ever keep our nation above reproach.

Though July 4 is a national holiday, it is not at all times observed in this section of the United States as it is in some of the older states, but it gives pause to us all and causes us to again be glad that we can call ourselves American citizens and America ours.

LITTLEFIELD'S DOLLAR DAY SET FOR MONDAY, JULY 2

Next Monday, July 2, is Dollar Day in Littlefield. On each first Monday, the Littlefield merchants prepare for their customers a series of bargains for a dollar which would ordinarily cost much more. This is another in a series of Dollar Days which have been observed in Littlefield for several months to the satisfaction of both the merchant and the customer.

A cooperative enterprise which brings about good feelings and mutual profit, the Dollar Day has been well received in the past and is observed by practically all the Littlefield merchants.

Many of the merchants have their advertisements in this issue of the Leader for the buyer's benefit. By reading them they will be informed as to what is offered and by whom before they begin their shopping. Many of the merchants are offering bargains that can not be duplicated on any other day.

Many people have learned to know what Dollar Day really means to them and look forward to that time for their special purchases. Anything which helps a great number of individuals helps the town and its trade territory. By cooperation, the Dollar Day can be such an enterprise.

C. OF C. MAKE PLANS TO GET RELIEF MONEY

Federal Roads Grant Soon To Be Available in Texas.

Plans for obtaining for Lamb County its part of the new grant of $12,291,253, which is to be distributed over Texas out of the new $200,000,000 Federal Highway appropriation was the chief topic of discussion at the Tuesday meeting of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce at the Presbyterian church. This idea was connected with the plans for furthering work on Highway 7 from grants already supposedly available.

C. O. Stone, vice president, presided in the absence of the president. The chamber agreed that a committee should be appointed to make the proper application for the new Federal road grant and to push the request. However, no definite appointments were made, pending the return of the president.

The members agreed to form a committee very soon to go to Lubbock to see Guy R. Johnson, resident engineer of the Texas Highway Department, and try to get some definite action on the work on Highway No. 7. This work is to be done from state appropriations, former Federal relief grants or even from the present drought relief funds. It was suggested that the committee go to Austin if it were necessary or would aid in the work.

Joe Hale secretary of the chamber of commerce, pointed out that every country surrounding Lamb had (Continued On Back Page)

P. W. A. MONEY GRANTED FOR NEW PROJECT

City Commission States that Work Will Begin In Few Months

Federal appropriation of approximately $48,000 to finance the building of a new water system for the City of Littlefield was made definite Wednesday afternoon when Senator Tom Connally wired L. R. Crockett, mayor, of the action of the Public Works Administration committee.

The wire stated that Littlefield's application for aid had been favorably considered and that the appropriation had already been made. City officials suggest that it will be a matter of 60 days or more before the routine of transferring the appropriation can be made, and that by that time the people of Littlefield will be ready to accept the money and began work.

Thirty per cent of the money is a Federal grant, and the other 70 per cent must be secured by City Bonds.

Application was made by city officials about two years ago through the R. F. C. but was not granted. Then in September of last year, when the PWA was created, application was made through it. No action had been evinced until about two weeks ago. A group of officials here compiled a letter showing the necessity for a better system and sent copies of it to Secretary Ickes, Senators Connally and Sheppard, Marvin Jones and to President Roosevelt.

Most of the men had sent acknowledgement of the receipt of the letter several days ago, and then Wednesday, the wire showed the completion of the deal.

In pointing out the need for a new water system, the city commission cited the fact that at no time did we have a surplus of water and sometimes not even enough for actual needs when the people were saving with it.

It was pointed out that the city was in great danger if a real fire ever broke out, since the present wells could not supply enough for the need.

Yes, We Get No Money Einstein Says Naughty Two Pigeons, Hatching Silver Limp Back

Britain, owing to the United States $4,713,000,000, has decided that the best plan for this spring's installment is to pay nothing at all. They would have gladly handed in a "token," something for Uncle Sam to play with, perhaps a few silver dollars, but President Roosevelt had said: "Pay the amount due this spring, or consider yourselves in default."

The British do not like to be in default. Refusing to pay what they owe this nation would justify other nations in refusing to pay them. On the other hand, the British feel that, if they buy our dollars to pay us, they might increase the value of the dollar and diminish that of the pound.

The upshot is that our British friends decide to pay nothing, explaining with words well chosen that we ought to be grateful that Britain did not allow Germany to destroy the United States in the big war. And, anyhow, it is all our fault.

Spend Your Dollars At Home

Before you spend your dollar out of town—consider these things:

The dollar that you spend out of town is gone forever.

The dollar that you spend at home stays here and works. Regardless of the merchandise for which you spend it—it circulates at home.

Remember that your neighbor will take better care of you than a stranger. It is to his interest to do so. His future depends upon his winning and holding your friendship and confidence. And he is right here to make good any mistakes.

When you help the home merchant and the home industries, they, in turn, help to build up your town, thus making greater and better opportunities for you and your children.

Spending your money at home is putting a mortgage on it to come back to you. Spending it away from home is bidding it goodbye.

Monday, July 2, is DOLLAR DAY in Littlefield. The home merchants have arranged a great number of bargains that will mean real savings to you.

Read their advertisement in this issue of the Leader and bring your dollars to Littlefield to make your purchases. Dollar Day helps you by saving you money and it helps the merchant by increasing his volume of trade.

And remember that the dollar spent at home is an investment. It will stay here to work, to build up your town, and to increase your opportunities. Consider your home industries.

Texas Will Get Big Part of Road Money

State apportionments of the $200,000,000 fund provided for in the new highway construction act were announced recently by Rexford G. Tugwell, undersecretary of agriculture. From this amount Texas received the largest fund, $12,291,253, with New York getting $11,327,921; Pennsylvania $9,590,788; Illinois $8,921,401; and California $7,932,206.

The money will be made available immediately for allotment to construction projects on the federal aid highway system and its extensions into and through cities and on important secondary roads it was stated.

The Leader gives you complete news of the entire Littlefield trade territory, with up to the minute news pictures and special features.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The granddaddy of all pending NRA codes is the aluminum code, which is twins.

The so-called "Mellon aluminum trust" presented a code last August. But every time it has seemed to be progressing toward approval, a tiny group of independents in the industry has let out a frightful shriek and demanded that NRA take another good look at anti-monopoly provisions of the recovery act.

The independents have proposed a code of their own. It would prohibit the Aluminum Company of America, which owns all virgin aluminum deposits, from fixing the price on primary aluminum and selling aluminum products for less than that price plus manufacturing costs.

The little fellows have fought the "trust" code to a standstill all these months because they were smart enough to hire Oswald F. Schuette, famous here as a trust buster since his winning fight against the "radio trust."

It was Schuette who wangled General Johnson into agreeing to get a report on the "trust" code from the Department of Justice, which is investigating monopoly charges against the industry.

The D. J. report is said to have been critical, but the code just recently was passed on to Johnson through Divisional Administrator Charles E. Adams of U. S. Industrial Alcohol Co., U. S. Industrial Chemical Co., National Carbide Corporation, Pure Carbonic Co., and Air Reduction Co. The code went to Johnson without the D. J. report, but Schuette got to the White House in time to have the general instructed to study the report before he took any action. Code and report rest on Johnson's desk while he tries to avert the steel strike.

SOME of Wall Street's ideas as to composition of the five-man board President Roosevelt will select to administer the stock market act are greeted here with nothing less than ribald laughter.

The "insiders" up there picked on Sidney J. Weinberg and Thomas J. Watson as two of the five. Weinberg is a large factor in the celebrated Goldman Sachs concern, so well remembered by a horde of investors.

Watson is president of the International Business Machines Corporation and an associate of James H. Rand, who fought the stock market bill so hard that he even brought Dr. Wirt into the picture here in his attempt to beat it.

The Justice Department has a suit against Watson's company and the Remington-Rand firm to declare invalid their alleged monopolistic agreements as to sale of business equipment.

Wall Street is correct, however, in assuming the transfer to the new commission of Federal Trade Commissioners James M. Landis—co-author of the bill—and George C. Mathews.

Another good bet is John M. Hancock, of the Lehman Brothers banking firm, a friend of Roosevelt.

Summer Assembly

By J. D. STONE

I left Lubbock Monday morning June 4th on a special bus carrying delegates from the Northwest Lubbock district to McMurry College at Abilene Texas to attend the Eighteenth Annual Session of the Northwest Texas Conference Young People's Assembly. I made many acquaintances both on the bus and at Abilene. "Good fellowship makes a good fellow," so says an old adage.

Registration began Monday afternoon of the same day. Over five hundred representatives received meal tickets.

A banquet was given Monday evening on the lawn of the president's Hall. D. Cluster Q. Smith, newly elected president of McMurry, presided as toastmaster.

Welcome address by Dr. O. P.
 Clark; response brought by Young peoples president, Woodrow Alcock.
 Classes commenced Tuesday morning. My Enrichment course was "The Leaders Round Table", or the first principles of Theology, "program and organization" course, "planning the department program," along with creative thinking, I chose as my studies in the second periods. In the Enrichment Series I came to realize just how close man is related to God, and his omniscient nature. Progress made in the religious field during the past four years was studied along with this course. In the "General program and organization" work, conferences affairs, District, Union and Church divisions along with the various departments were all involved.
 In short, I now feel competent to handle problems which are continually emerging from the horizon of young people's christian culture endeavor.

Dr. H. L. Pritchett, head of depart-

114 PATTERNS COMPLETED
ROBY — According to the reports of 12 wardrobe demonstrators made to Miss Velma Heald, Fisher county home demonstration agent, 114 individual patterns have been completed by home demonstration club members in the county this year. Many other patterns have been started which are not yet completed and so were not counted in the total. Miss Heald states that these patterns save the expense of buying a special pattern for each garment made and because these are individual patterns they solve the problem of fitting dresses, slips, pajamas, coats and skirts.

LITTLEFIELD CLUB GETS REVENGE, TUNE OF 11-8

OLTON UNABLE TO HOLD THEIR FORMER LEAD

Game Sunday Noticeable for its Consistent Good Playing

The Littlefield ball club got revenge to the tune of 11 to 8, from the Olton team here Sunday for the shut-out of a few weeks ago. In a game that was noticeable for its consistent good playing, the Littlefield players demonstrated to the County seaters what they could do once they got things organized.

Probably 500 people witnessed the game. Visitors from Olton and surrounding towns combined with the Littlefield fans to give an air of excitement and high spirit to the contest. Rooting in this game was more prominent than any game of the season, thus far.

Up until the eighth inning, first one team and then the other was in the lead. At the beginning of that frame, Olton was one up. Littlefield came to bat and tied the score and then began scoring that capped the big end of the game.

Lowe got four hits from four times at the bat. Lumpkin got a couple and so did Dyer. Aldridge, Hardy, and Edwards each accounted for a run.

Lumpkin was good, but not as hot as in the game against Friona last week. However, the batting this time was considerably stronger.

The boys tangle with Fieldton here next Sunday.

Littlefield Beats Petit 6-4 Sunday

Not satisfied with one victory Sunday, the Littlefield club arranged a team mostly of subs and took the Petit team for a cleaning, 6-4.

Edgar and Aldridge did the pitching with Edwards catching. The game really got to rolling when Scott hit a home run with a man on base.

With two wins in one afternoon and with almost every man on the entire club having participated, the Littlefield locals feel that they are getting into pretty good form.

Girls Softball Club Plays at Amherst Tuesday

The Girls Soft Ball club are playing their first out of town game at Amherst Tuesday. With the practice they have been getting with the high-school girls the last week, the team is shaping up for a good showing with the Amherst team.

There are still too few girls playing for a regular home league, but plenty for a good team, and the high-school girls furnish plenty of practice.

They invite all the Littlefield fans to go to Amherst with them and see the showing they make. Amherst will return the game later in the season.

Firemen Trounce Oilers Wednesday By Score 15 to 1

The Firemen added to their cause last Tuesday evening when they found things to their liking and gave the ambitious oilers a sound drubbing to further their interest in the percentage column and at the same time put more depth to the cellar occupants. This has not in the least discouraged the losers for they are now making plans to so arrange their team to get the desired results. And serve notice to all competition that they may be down but not out.

The game proper was not up to the standard of play asked for in the league, but with no more games being played each week and no more rehearsals being resorted to, makes it seem proper that a onesided contest is unavoidable at all times.

The general interest among both the players of various clubs and the concern of the fan supporters is on the upgrade and some lively matches may be expected. The teams are becoming more evenly balanced and players are getting more familiar with the conduct of play which as a result means a higher brand of ball.

Oilers Rally In First Inning To Beat Businessmen

With an eight run attack in the first inning the oilers put up a fine scrap to win from the businessmen to raise their standing in the league and in so doing they have lowered the sights for the businessmen for a tie in the cellar at present.

As previously indicated the race for leadership is becoming more exciting as play continues with the weaker teams gaining ground and causing the skids to be placed under some of the early leaders for supremacy in the league standings.

The youthful lads who comprise the Oilers lived up to previous predictions that they are to be watched and once they got to clicking as a team they will be tough opposition for the more consistent teams in the Littlefield circuit. The Businessmen had their difficulties heaped upon them when their full strength so to speak was not available with some of their better men absent.

With the shifting of players in any lineup means the usual number of miscues and the businessmen were long on suits in this regard. In the final inning they put up a fight to extend a well earned rally that spelled defeat in many cases. However, with the late start they were unable to overcome the big lead held by the inspired oilers.

In one of the heaviest scoring contests and about equal on both sides, the Veterans Tuesday afternoon emerged victors after the count and score zig-zaged first in favor of the one, and then the other club on the field for the first five innings.

To start with the All Stars made one in the first to draw first blood. As they took the field the Legionaires garnered a total of six tallies for their first gesture at bat. The second frame went to the liking of the All Stars when they took advantage of

AMHERST GIN COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY FIRE SATURDAY NIGHT; LOCAL AND SUDAN FIRE DEPARTMENTS ARE CALLED

Farmers Cooperative Gin No. 1, Amherst, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin Saturday night about eleven o'clock. The Littlefield and Sudan Fire Departments were summoned to assist, but the building was so far gone when these fireboys arrived that nothing could be done to save it. A high wind blowing at the time also fanned the blaze. Defective wiring was thought probably the cause of the fire. Men worked in the building on a repairing program until noon Saturday, but did not return in the afternoon. The gin and equipment, which was burned to the ground, was valued at approximately $35,000 with $16,000 insurance.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

AUSTIN, Texas, April 2, 1934
To The Tax Collector:
You will recall from time to time since 1930 the Legislature has been suspending interest and penalties on Delinquent Taxes. Last May, the last measure of this kind was enacted, which provided a 2 per cent penalty on all ad valorem taxes delinquent on February 1, 1933, (later they included the split tax payments which became delinquent on July 1, 1933), if paid by December 30, 1933, and 4 per cent penalty, if paid by March 31, 1934; and 6 per cent, if paid by June 30, 1934. After this June 30, 1934, expiration date, the old law prescribing 10 per cent penalties and 6 per cent interest per year, will again be in force. This means that on and after July 1 1934, this year the penalty and interest you will be required to charge will not be 6 per cent, but will include 66 per cent interest per annum from the date it was first delinquent, plus 10 per cent penalty. For example: 80 per cent will be added to 1930 Delinquent Taxes. 24 per cent will be added to 1931 Delinquent Taxes. 18 per cent will be added to 1932 Delinquent Taxes. (A delinquent cost will also accrue in addition to the above.) In as much as the tax paying public may not understand the law, I suggest that you give this matter as much publicity as possible, in order to bring to the attention of the taxpayers the great saving, if they take advantage of the remaining period, which expires June 30, 1934. With kindest regards, I am, Yours very truly,
Geo. H. Sheppard,
Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The Dollar Bride

by Mary Inlay Taylor

ELEVENTH INSTALLMENT
THE STORY SO FAR

Nancy Gordon trades herself in marriage for fifteen thousand dollars as the price of her family honor — the freedom of her brother, Roddy, who stole, for a woman, that amount from the bank in which he had been working. Nancy, desperate in love for young Page Roemer, nevertheless agrees to a secret elopement with Richard Morgan, and with the money he loans her prevents Roddy's marriage. Dr. Morgan is loved by Helen Lomax, a sophisticated young married woman, but he adores Nancy and goes to win her after marriage. In Washington they are married. Nancy Richard's bride—and afraid of him. She liked Kingdon Haddon but she was afraid of his wife; she could not have explained her fear of her, but it existed. Haddon was sitting on the edge of an empty serving-table. "I came in to ask you a question, Major Lomax," he said irreverently. "You know about such things. How much is Gordon's place worth now? I mean the house and grounds, including the river lot next yours."

Major Lomax pushed his chair back, felt in his pocket for his pipe and began to fill it carefully. "Near as I can figure—about six or seven thousand. The house needs repairs. Why?" he added. "What's hit him?"

Haddon looked absently out of the window. "How should I know? Family troubles, I reckon. The bank holds the mortgage. Helena doesn't want me to touch it. I don't know what to say about it yet."

Major Lomax rose and began to tramp up and down. "Where's Gordon going to take his wife?" he asked abruptly, "she's rooted there—and so is he, for that matter."

"Perhaps the young people think it's old-fashioned," suggested Haddon. "Or Mrs. Gordon's tired of the house-keeping and wants an apartment—my wife does."

"Shucks!" the major sank down into his chair again, strumming on the table with his fingers. "You know better, Haddon! There's some trouble I'm sorry for Will Gordon. He's a good man, and she's a good woman. She'll take it hard."

The banker nodded, glancing thoughtfully across at Angie's pale face and pleading brown eyes.

"I saw Mrs. Gordon on Monday—in Washington," he remarked thoughtfully.

"In Washington?" Angie started. "Why, I didn't know she'd been away!"

Haddon nodded grimly, considering her pretty flush and her round, soft eyes critically.

"She was there all right. A decided beauty, too. I hadn't noticed it so much before. How's the boy turning out, Lomax?"

"Roddy?" The major twisted his old mouth into a queer expression. "Sowing wild oats, Haddon, I reckon. He's in New York, Greenough Trust Company gets twenty-five dollars a week—or did six months ago, I have-

New Go On With The Story

"Something terrible must have happened," cried Angie, with a gasp. "I know it!"

The major nodded, looking past her to the window.

"There's King Haddon coming in now," he exclaimed. "Go let him in, Angie; I'm going to finish my breakfast. Haddon or no Haddon! You can't let him go if you've a mind to."

Angie, flushed and angry, hurried to the room glad to escape those old eyes.

Haddon would not wait in the library.

"Where's the major? At breakfast I'll be right in—if you don't mind!" he went, in spite of Angie's protests.

"Hello! Still at breakfast?" he said as his eye fell on the old man's enmeshed attitude.

The major started up, half rising from the table, but Haddon stopped him.

"Sit down, Lomax, I didn't want to rattle you," he laughed. "I can wait. Angie didn't want to let me in here anyway."

"I said I wouldn't see you until finished. What's the matter at this hour anyway? I haven't robbed the bank."

Kingdon Haddon laughed. "Come, Angie," he said as the girl tried to pass quickly through the room to the kitchen. "I haven't come to talk secrets and your uncle's crusty—I need protection!"

Angie stopped, smiling and flushed, and leaned on a chair, looking at n't heard that he's increased in value, he added sarcastically.

Haddon, who was observing Angie, saw the girl's wince of pain and the red going up to her forehead. "In love with the boy—too bad!" he thought. "Family troubles drain a man's pocket sometimes," he remarked sentimentally.

Angie fired up, her brown eyes glowing with almost the wine tint of Roddy's. She was one of those gentle obstinate creatures who fight to the last ditch for love.

"They haven't got any family troubles, Mr. Haddon," she said hotly. "They're very fond of Nancy and very proud of her; she's lovely, I've known her all my life—and Roddy is doing well. Mrs. Gordon told me so herself."

Haddon listened with his lazy, good humored smile. "I wish I had a friend like you," he said.

Angie blushed crimson. "I'd feel very mean not to stand up for my friends. Anyone would—I should think!"

Major Lomax looked around at her with a grim smile. "My dear, there are a mighty lot of Judases in the world," he remarked dryly.

Haddon assented, buttoning up his loose spring overcoat, coughing a little as he did so.

Major Lomax glanced up at Haddon without rising. "Going right over to see Gordon?" he asked shortly.

Haddon half way to the door, turned. "Oh, I shall send for him to come to my office—when he gets to the bank today."

"You needn't—I've bought it myself."

"By Jove! You're quick at a bargain," Haddon exclaimed after a moment. "It was only just put in the market."

Lomax nodded. "Took it over the telephone before you came in," he said grimly.

Haddon reddened and then laughed.

"I concede the honors of war!" he said ironically, making for the door.

Mrs. Gordon opened the old worn gate timidly, and approached the house with a hesitating reluctant step. She was trying to realize that the place, which she had called home ever since Roddy was a baby, was no longer hers. She had just been down to the bank to sign the papers making over the house to Major Lomax, and her hand had trembled so that she had to apologize for her signature. She went into the house feeling a little faint and giddy. She did not know there was anyone in the library; she went straight in and sank weakly into a chair, staring blankly at the sunshine in the old south window.

"In my Father's house are many mansions—" she whispered tremulously, unaware that she spoke aloud.

Nancy rose suddenly from the corner opposite. Her mother had not even seen her and the girl had been silenced by her first glimpse of Mrs. Gordon's face.

"I will not!"

Mrs. Gordon looked aghast. She had never known Mrs. Kingdon Haddon well and she did not like her.

"She's come to see you, Nancy, I—"

Nancy pushed her shaking hands. "Go out there and talk to her—in the other room. Don't let her come in here!"

Mrs. Gordon, reluctant and embarrassed, allowed herself to be pushed. Nancy thrust her through the portieres, drew them behind her, and went back to her lounge. She meant to go upstairs but she actually felt faint and ill.

Bit by bit she became aware of voices. Now the words took shape and became sentences. It was Helena's voice, her full, soft, drawing voice.

"He's taking care of King; you know my husband clings to a doctor!" she laughed softly. "He and Richard Morgan are great friends now; I'm glad of it for I was afraid he wouldn't like Richard. Men are such queer creatures. As a boy, Richard was so much in love with me he offered to fight King for trying to marry me!"

She paused and Mrs. Gordon mumbled something, an indistinct sentence or two, evidently bewildered. Nancy sat up straight now and listened, although she knew that Helena wanted her to listen.

"I cared for him, too, of course—who wouldn't? But my father—you remember him, Mrs. Gordon?"

"I—think so, yes, I do," Mrs. Gordon's tone showed confusion.

He really insisted that I should marry Kingdon. I—well, I broke my engagement and—"

Mrs. Gordon, regretfully, "dear Mrs. Gordon, Richard felt it so much that I'm afraid sometimes—he'll never marry now. I really wish he would, it's so lonely over there for him since his mother's death!"

Mrs. Gordon evidently did not rise to the occasion for Nancy only heard a murmur. There were a few words more and then Helena's voice rose again, keyed to carry far as her listener knew.

"I was so sorry that Kingdon didn't buy your house when Mr. Gordon offered it. It's quite a lovely old place. You must hate to give it up so suddenly," Mrs. Gordon.

"Major Lomax wants us to stay on—to rent it from him," explained

Mrs. Gordon, her voice breaking. "I do hate to leave it!"

"I should think you would! And your son, Mrs. Gordon. What do you hear from him?" she let her voice rest a moment and then slowly drawing, "is he doing well?"

Nancy knew, without seeing it, the crimson flush that went up over her mother's face.

"Roddy's always done well. He's doing splendidly now."

"I'm so glad to hear it! Kingdon was asking about him yesterday. He knows someone in the trust company I think, a Mr. Beaver, a cousin of Major Lomax."

Nancy started, trembling with apprehension. She remembered Roddy's description of old Beaver with his nose to the ground. Did this woman know?

$83,000,000.00 working for a Greater Texas

LIFE INSURANCE FUNDS are reservoirs of thrift which feed the streams of progress. The funds of Texas legal reserve life insurance companies play an important part in the progress of Texas, through financing community development projects and home ownership.

At the close of 1933 these companies had $83,000,000.00 working for a greater Texas . . . invested in loans on farms and city property, in state, county and municipal bonds, in home office buildings and real estate.

This $83,000,000.00 is money in motion, constantly increasing, and parts of it constantly being paid back and reinvested. Every Texan shares the benefits of these investments. Not only are needed improvements made possible, but the money is put into circulation . . . spent for raw materials and labor.

In 1933 these companies put into circulation an additional $30,000,000.00 . . . in payrolls, taxes, purchases and payments to policyholders and beneficiaries.

When you show a preference for insurance in a Texas legal reserve life company you join hands with these companies and their 1,200,000 other policyholders in making Texas a better state in which to live and make a living.

HOW BIG A LUBRICATING JOB CAN A QUART OF OIL DO?

HERE is a record of motor protection and low consumption that conclusively proves how big a lubricating job a quart of oil can do. Six strictly stock cars, with one fill—five quarts only—of six different, nationally advertised motor oils were run to "destruction" at the Indianapolis Speedway under AAA Supervision. Under exactly similar conditions the cars were operated until their motors failed. Here is the result: Oil No. 4 went 1713.2 miles; Oil No. 6 went 1764.4 miles; Oil No. 5 finished 1815.9 miles; Oil No. 1 completed 2266.8 miles. Oil No. 3 totalled 3318.8 miles. Oil No. 2, New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, piled up the amazing total of 4729 miles! That was 3000 miles farther than the first oil to go out, and 1400 miles farther than the last oil to fail.

Such demonstrated superior qualities of greater film strength, ability to withstand increased heat, resistance to dilution—such proved performance should guide your future oil purchases. Be safe—look for the Red Triangle Sign.

The official sealing of crankcases after fill of five quarts was put in. No addition of oil was permitted in this "destruction" test.

Here is the winner!—the car that covered 4729 miles at fifty miles an hour, lubricated with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil.

W. M. S. FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH SPONSORING BENEVOLENT MOVEMENT

The W. M. S. of the First Baptist Church are sponsoring a benevolent movement this week. Boxes are to be sent to Butler's Orphan Home at Dallas, and Paul's Valley school for Mexicans at Bastrop; also to Baptist Hospital at Abilene. These are worthy institutions and need the support of all Baptists. All persons wishing to make a money donation, will be gratefully received. There are many useful garments in the homes that are not being used, that would be greatly appreciated by these institutions.

Those in charge of this work are especially asking for new towels and wash cloths for the hospital at Abilene. They ask that you please look through your children's outgrowing garments and bring everything wearable to the church before next Monday evening, as the boxes will be sent out July 3.

Will Rogers Says—

The apologetic is over. I sometimes think it ought to be done by just a hired manager, with no political affiliations whatever. You got a business, you go hire the best man you can. You don't know if he is an Elk, or an Eagle. He is put in there to run it. He hires and fires all that don't make good. Course that's nothing much but the city manager plan, only on a bigger scale, and I don't know that it has been so universally satisfactory. It should be though, for its proper way.

I tell you this finding out how to govern a Country, or even a state, or county, or even a town, has got the whole world licked. There is not a type of government that can point with complete pride, and say there is the best that can be had.

This man Roosevelt is racking his brain, and all the other best ones, to help us out, and he is doing a mighty fine job, but part of it has been due to the old political traditions that he has been able to smash, and there is lots of others that he hasn't been able to, or he would have done better. Making good in office is kinder like gambling. You can go in with plenty of money and the best intentions, but the old system is against you. That law of percentage against a man becoming great in politics is working night and day.

Its surprising in a state how many people will vote for a rascal. If Dillinger is as good a campaign speaker as he is a lawbreaker, you would be surprised at the places he could pole quite a few votes, enough to knock some good man out. Let him think up enough things in his platform to promise, and he would make em believe it. Our systems of nominating, where we let anybody run that can write his name down, is wrong.

There should be some way, maybe a high class commission or meet, that would pass on the qualifications, and decide which men would even be eligible to run. You can't get in a plane unless you know the pilot is a recognized pilot, but you will move to a state and live under it, when the Governor may have never had one hour's instructions at the wheel of the Ship of State. Or worse yet he is liable to have a record of cracking up on some previous trips. But these are all minor things. We are so big, and move along with such momentum, that we are able to live through everything. As socked as we are, we are better than all the rest put together.

recently been included in the drought relief area and would receive funds. Protests against the discrimination was widespread among the members and it was decided that the appointed committee see what could be done about having Lamb included with her neighbor counties. Last year Lamb county, part of Castro, part of Lubbock and Hockley counties was the only area in this section that was not classified as a drought area. With the other counties now receiving a new classification, the members want to see that Lamb is not discriminated against.

Reports show that the new East-West road extending from Hale Center across Lamb and Bailey counties has practically been completed according to highway specifications and that adjoining counties are going to do their part of the work on it soon.

Nothing definite was done about the classes at the meeting.

Local Bank Pledges Depositors Safety

An account with the First National Bank of Littlefield never causes you anxiety nor worry as to its safety. The protection of Federal insurance plus the assets and sound, conservative principles of this institution guarantee positive protection.

This bank offers to its depositors every banking facility known to the modern world, plus a welcome and a spirit of friendliness which makes its customers feel at home in their banking relations.

The First National Bank is an active participant in the functions of the Federal Insurance Corporation and guarantees protection in full up to $2,500 to every depositor. Through this Federal insurance, each depositor has the credit of the whole Federal banking system as his guarantee of safety.

And to larger depositors, this institution pledges its reliability. As the banks statements show, its assets more than offset its liabilities at all times.

When you deposit money in your home town bank, you are helping build your community. You are keeping money at home where it can work for the home community. And it is more convenient to do business at home than from a distance.

The officers of the First National Bank invite you to come in and become acquainted with them and to see for yourself the service they are prepared and ready to give.

And if you haven't opened an account yet, they invite you to do so as soon as possible, and to remember — you are safe. (Adv.)

Water System

Mr. Crockett says that by the north of the present wells a total of two, it is possible to get a well will supply 1,000 gallons per minute. The new equipment will handle a big volume, he states. With the new system in operation, the supply will be adequate for a number of years as big as the present Littlefield.

It was pointed out that the system would materially lower the fire insurance rate in the city.

Members of the City Commission suggest that with an adequate supply of water, the increase in consumption in the city will be enough to meet the long term plan which secures the Federal appropriation.

We are going on a partial silver basis, which means we are back of our money $25 worth of gold at the nominal imaginary rate of 100 per ounce, for every $100 worth of gold.

The government must produce some thirteen or fourteen hundred million ounces of silver, that will be worth silver prices probably ranging between seven hundred and one thousand million dollars.

Interesting question: How will government pay for this new silver? Will it pay with more interest-bearing bonds, on the assumption that the silver is really worth nothing? Or will the government issue nice new money, saying, "There is gold as back of this"? How long is the dangerous kind of "inflation" that interest-bearing bonds, to continue

The British government's Lloyd's to cease writing insurance the life of President Roosevelt, special list of rates had been prepared for those wishing to insure the President's life, 5 per cent for term against assassination or accident, per cent against death from other causes, 12 1/2 per cent against the President's being incapacitated.

By special request, and with a system of gambling on the President's life has been discontinued.

The most expensive thing in the world is carelessness. In New York state alone last year accidents workers cost one hundred million dollars. Twenty-five million dollars paid in compensation. The cost of $100,000,000 in the long run is by the public.

The important thing is the workers and their physical safety. There is no remedy, except good care on the part of workers, who come careless; men that handle dynamite, for instance, often throw the sticks about as they would sticks of wood. Also, there should ever-increasing vigilance as to use of safety devices on machinery.

Break Jail

The car was driven south from College avenue to the Lynn County line, evincing a report that the car was sighted west of Wood-

The Lynn-Lubbock county car was piloted eastward, south of Stanton. Major cities of the desperadoes were of Wilson, Tahoka and County roads were followed. The Caprock at Stanton's ranch drove south and spent the rest of the afternoon in the hills about 15 miles east of Big Spring. The car stopped several times at night. As Doupe's face was skinned in the jailbreak, and Stanton's shirt was bloody, Nelson did the trading. Nelson also was the driver most of the time, with Doupe serving as relief driver.

Elkin's car had five wheels, yellow or cream, and the extra was mounted on a trunk at the rear. The license number was 698-609.

Sheriff Tom Abel, who had been accompanied by Sheriff B. L. Parker of Lynn county, State Highway Patrolman Jack Reaves, George Eubank, former assistant police chief, and others, returned about 10:30 a. m. Monday. Constable L. H. Holt also was a member of the late-returning group.

The group, part of its personnel changing as one posse car met another and officers traded places, had been to Seminole in Gaines county, and had skirted the Hobbs and Livingston, N. M., vicinities.

Trail of the fugitive gunmen evidently had vanished in darkness in the Big Spring region and had not reappeared. Officers scoured the northeast part of Howard county during the night. They reported no clues were found.

With several jail trustees, Carpenter was preparing to feed inmates on the third floor. Stanton, Doupe, Nelson, and Stephens were together in one cell.

Armed with five pieces of metal they crouched in a space about 2 feet wide and 4 feet long, awaiting the chief deputy sheriff. They had pried and cut an iron strip from the doorway of their cell, had cut or broken the strip into five pieces, had pried open the door to the runaround and then that to the foyer.

A gun Carpenter had drawn was taken from him, after he was pinioned, and he was beaten about the face.

A counter attack by George (Bumzy) Maberry, a negro trusty, weighing 230 pounds, floored Stanton, and the huge negro was holding the killer when Nelson, with a pistol forced Stanton's release.

Describing his offensive as a "fly-in' tackle," Maberry later remarked: "That gun sho' saved Stanton — L'da fixed him—when they put the hot metal to me I quit.

The negro had been punched on the back with the pistol.

Carpenter was required to enter the elevator which Nelson operated in its descent.

The bank vice president was standing in the jail lobby, Nelson still with the gun, covered him. Posey raised his hands without speaking, so Carpenter said. They next covered Elkins who was sitting on a table in the jail office.

Nelson ran into the apartment usually occupied by Jailer James P. Posey, who with his family, was on a vacation. Mrs. Carpenter was in the apartment. Nelson tore the telephone from the wall.

Mrs. Carpenter said she knew immediately it was a jailbreak.

"I asked Nelson if they'd killed Bedford, and he said they wouldn't hurt anyone if I'd keep quiet," Mrs. Carpenter said.

The deputy's wife continued to cry out for help; the escaping men commanded her to hush. They did not threaten to harm her.

Keys, which the men had taken from the main tank door upstairs were used to open the gun cases in the sheriff's front office. The sub-machine gun, two 30-30 rifles, one sawed-off shotgun, and a 22 caliber pistol used in practice shooting were taken.

The prisoners found three clips of 20 shells each and a drum of 50 shells for the machinegun. They took them, as they did two partial boxes of shotgun shells. They had a total of 110 shells for the machine-gun, a .45 caliber weapon. They also took a sawed-off shotgun.

Stanton, who subsequently was sentenced to die for the murder of Sheriff Moseley, was captured in northeastern Lincoln county, N. M. July 17, 1933. That was a day after a gunbattle in which Stanton's confederate, Glen Hunsucker, and a member of a posse, Deputy Sheriff Tom Jones, were killed. Stanton's brother, Will, was captured with him. Neither resisted.

Four deaths of peace officers had been attributed to Hunsucker and two of them, those of Moseley and Jones, also were laid to Stanton.

For safe-keeping, Stanton was brought to Lubbock county jail from Tulla, Sept. 21, 1933, although his transfer here was not revealed until about a month later. Sheriff Abel said it had been kept secret at request of Tulla Authorities.

Moseley serving his third term as sheriff, was shot to death on the eastern outskirts of Tulla, early Jan. 23, 1933, when he was caught in a trap of gunfire after a running fight through the business district. The slayers, believed to have been three, held up a filling station near which the sheriff was killed. The gunmen were described by Floyd Ward, the filling station attendant, as deliberate and cool.

Two days after her husband's death Mrs. Moseley was named to succeed him as sheriff.

A jury at Tulla, Sept. 15, 1933, returned the death penalty against Stanton for the Moseley murder. Stanton, who took the witness stand, attributed the slaying to Hunsucker.

District Judge Charles Clements denied Stanton a new trial after a hearing six days after the jury verdict was returned. Smiling broadly, Stanton was brought back to Lubbock county jail.

The state court of criminal appeals last March 7 affirmed the death sentence, May 23 his motion for a rehearing was overruled by the appeals court. Stanton had lost his last appeal.

Hunsucker and Bernice Inman, a woman supposedly the third member of the trio that had left Moseley dead also had been indicted in that case.

A steel dagger with a needle like point was found inside Stanton's cell the first week in March. The metal has been sawed from the inside of a bunk. Other weapons and some hacksaw blades had been found in the cell earlier. At one time, a phial of poison was taken from Stanton.

A "John Dillinger" revolver, most of it carved from soap and the barrel a part of a fountain pen, was found May 29 in the cell occupied by Stanton, Doupe, Stephens, Nelson, and two misdemeanor prisoners. About 30 feet of cloth rope and a four foot iron rod also were found in the cell. Presumably the bar had been cut from a window with safety razor blades.

Doupe, a former Canadian soldier during the world war, June 13 was convicted of robbery by assault in connection with the holdup slaying of Robert Tharp in a grocery store here Oct. 15, 1932. He was given 10 years in the state penitentiary. His attorneys gave notice of appeal. Unless he returns voluntarily within 10 days his conviction will be affirmed automatically. He also faces a murder charge.

Doupe is an airplane pilot.

Sheriff Abel broke open the Tharp murder case soon after he went into office Jan. 1, 1933. He arrested Clyde Shaffer at Amarillo. Shaffer confessed, implicated Doupe and Mitchell, now serving a life sentence for armed robbery. Mitchell, given the death sentence, later commuted by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, was arrested at Kingsville, Texas.

Doupe led a chase across the continent from Broken Arrow, Okla., to California, doubled back to Colorado, and then went north into Canada. He was arrested in International Falls, Minn., by immigration authorities as he sought to reenter the United States. Sheriff Abel went there for Doupe, who was jailed here Feb. 15, 1933.

Nelson, an ex-convict, started his second crime trail after his release from the Texas penitentiary, by burglarizing his father's postoffice at Meadow, Aug. 22, 1933. Carried to Abilene by a United States deputy marshal for trial in the post office burglary, Nelson escaped in November. He now faces more than 30 years in the penitentiary for burglaries.

While at liberty he committed burglaries in Lubbock, Dickens, Floyd, Motley and other counties. Nelson and two others burglarized a lumber company quarters at Shallowater about Dec. 18, 1933. The fugitive Nelson barely escaped from Sheriff Abel at a farmhouse northeast of Asperbont.

Soon afterward a burglary of a hardware store at Floydada, in which guns and ammunition were taken, was attributed to Nelson.

Then came his arrest at Breckenridge, Jan. 17, 1934. Two other men were arrested with him in a hotel room. Nelson a gun in each hand was hiding under the bed. He surrendered without a fight.

Partial record of Nelson's convictions:

Lubbock, burglary, 5 years; Brownfield, burglary, 6 years; Breckenridge burglary, 2 years; tried and convicted of burglary in Matador, Dickens and Floydada.

J. B. Stephens was being held pending transfer to the state penitentiary. He was convicted of burglary in Motley, Floyd, and Dickens counties. District Attorney A. J. (Jack) Foley at Floydada recalled that Stephens received 10 years in two cases at Floydada, 5 years at Matador, and 15 years at Dickens, making a total of 30 years.

A group of Lubbock officers, joined by others from Runnels, Coke, Coleman and Taylor were attempting Tuesday to close on the fugitives in the territory north and southwest of Abilene.

The search was directed to that section early Tuesday after Night-watchman T. F. Sims of Bronte reported to Lubbock officers that the fugitives had stopped at a filling station there in a 1933 Chevrolet coach reported stolen from H. G. Ashley at North, Runnels county, sometime late Monday night.

The car belonging to Campbell H. Elkins, who with Walter S. Posey was carried as a hostage all day Sunday, in which the quartet fled from Lubbock, was found burned near Bradshaw 25 miles south of Abilene in Taylor county early Tuesday. The machine had been pushed into a creek eight miles west of Bradshaw.

MULESHOE PUBLISHER WITHDRAWS NAME AS CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Jess Mitchell, newspaper editor at Muleshoe, in Bailey county has withdrawn his name as a candidate for Representative from this 120th Legislative district, according to information received here today by the Leader.

The following statement from Mr. Mitchell being authorized for publication:

"It is with considerable regret that I announce my withdrawal as a candidate for representative from this 120th Legislative district, and I take this opportunity of thanking the citizens of this district for their very favorable response to my activities in this direction.

"During the past week there have arisen unforeseen business complications of a personal nature which demand my immediate attention, some of them requiring me to be out of the state for an indefinite period and which would handicap the prosecution of my candidacy, hence my decision to withdraw from the race.

"I have very greatly enjoyed the privilege of traveling over this district, meeting the voters and discussing with them the needs of Texas in general and of this area in particular. The fact that I have already had assurances from citizens which virtually guarantee me an entry into the second Democratic primary makes retirement from the race more regrettable to me. I deeply appreciate the thousands of voters all over the district who have reposed their confidence in my ability in promising me their vote and shall ever feel indebted to the hundreds of people in this district who have wholeheartedly sponsored my candidacy.— JESS MITCHELL."

AMHERST HAS DOG THAT RUNS ON WHEELS
Was Crippled When Run Over By Auto
Eight miles away in the town of Amherst some several weeks ago an automobile ran over a collie dog and crippled in the haunches. It was so severely injured that for some time it was felt the dog would not be able to get around at all. Mr. Brown the owner of the dog conceived the ingenious idea of building a small platform and attaching wheels to the side. This was strapped to the dog and supported him so that after a time he was able to get around as well as any of his canine friends. It is said that he can run approximately twenty miles an hour. He has become quite adept at fighting and can take care of himself in a free for all. The best part of the whole story in the writer's estimation is that the dog is improving by leaps and bounds and it is felt that it wont be long before he will be able to move about without any artificial assistance. It might interest you to know that one of our ministers in town did not believe the yarn, so he hid himself to Amherst taking a camera with him. Seein' is believing so he took some pictures and says he intends to send them in to Ripley. If you know of any interesting items come in or send them in. Would like verification of the story.

thirty-five varieties of... in my garden," says Mrs. White, farm food supply dealer of the Sod House Club. White not only is growing vegetable but is laying out a year round but is laying out sub-irrigation in her garden against the drouth. She has a foot of tile under her tomatoes. White will be glad to have this demonstration at any addition of two shelves, 4 hat and 2 shoe racks, and the re-arranging of hanging rod, medicine cabinet, etc., has made a much more convenient closet for Mrs. E. Bentley, 1st year ward-matron of Spade Club. The girls' encampment will be held at Fair Grounds at Amherst July 21. All club girls are urged to their next club meeting and their sponsors in making for this occasion. Every girl to encampment is to enter a stocking or arklet which has been named by her. Girls are asked where possible, a bouquet of some or wild flowers and a card to the girls' club will meet at Hall July 5 at 10 o'clock. Members are urged to attend. Club did not meet June 21 on account of Women's County encampment at Fair Grounds in Amherst July 21.

ROCKY FORD NEWS

folks we have been absent... and news is stacked high. Community was greatly shocked Sunday evening when the news came around that Jim Cate was ill. He had been ill only a few days. Many of our people did not know how greatly they feel our loss and feel we have lost a mighty good man. We sympathize with the relatives.

Sunday evening which cooled the atmosphere and gave the thirsty crops a nice little drink, maybe the drouth is broken, here's hoping it is. Strange how blue we can get and how a nice rain will revive our feelings of drooping spirits so quickly. Mr. and Mrs. S. Yandall have been going to Lubbock every day for awhile to see their daughter, Mae, who has been in a hospital for some time, they report her slightly improved. Harry Yandall from Boulder Dam spent a few days with homefolks here recently. Mrs. Laire, a Nazarene lady preacher filled our pulpit Sunday. Not much wheat around here but those who are harvesting report yields a little better than anticipated. Lovd Davenport is working in wheat harvest at Dimmitt. Clarence Bullin and wife of Spade wore Sunday visitors here Sunday. L. L. and A. Z. Dunn were called to Kirkland recently to the funeral of a brother who died at Electra. Bro. Booth returned recently from New Mexico where he held a revival meeting. Mart Farmer went to Cisco recently after his wife who had been taking treatment from a physician. Mr. Ivey visited his son, Curtis near Rocky Ford a few days ago. W. E. Cate and wife of Southland spent Sunday night in the Dorn home. Cleo Rogers says he don't like the idea of setting out in the road in the rain, out of gas. Everybody is invited to come out and help us in our Sunday school.

LUM'S CHAPEL

J. D. Humphries returned to his home Sunday much improved in health after seventeen days in the Lubbock hospital. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Landrum and Miss Alma Manuel are visiting relatives in Wellington and Oklahoma this week. Miss Dorothy Boothe spent the weekend with Miss Vanita Hodges. Mr. E. L. Nance and Miss Nance of Alabama are spending a few weeks

FIRST RELIGIOUS LIBERTY ACT PASSED IN MARYLAND-APRIL, 1649.

Answers to Previous Questions
McKINLEY used the telephone in 1896 and spoke from his home at Canton, O. to his campaign managers in 38 states. The call for organization of the Republican party was made by David Wilmut of Pennsylvania, Lawrence Bainerd of Vermont, William W. White of Wisconsin, A. P. Stone of Ohio, and J. Z. Groditch of Massachusetts. The Maryland Tolerance Act ordered tolerance to all who professed faith in Jesus Christ and submitted to the orthodox interpretation of the Trinity, but prohibited death for Arian heretics, Unitarians and Jews.

NEWS BRIEFS

A second son was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tunney. Exhausted and nervous by an all night ride after being kidnapped by three men, one of whom said he was "John Dillinger in person" Lowell E. McClure, Denver telephone company employee was released near Trinidad, Colo., Monday. A small group of members of the Farm Holiday Association of Texas attended the state convention held in the district court room, Lubbock, Tuesday. Judge L. Gough, Amarillo State president, delivered an address at the morning session. Two of the most famous women, Queen Mary and Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, sipped tea together Tuesday in her Majesty's private apartments at Buckingham Palace. Mrs. Madeline Cox, Canyon, has arrived here to become home demonstration agent for Dawson county. The county commissioner's court recently made the necessary appropriation. Her office is in the court house.

WHEN MAN'S WORK IS DONE
By Miss ELIZABETH LUCE Amherst

Day in and Day out, man works without reward. He has been given dominion over land and sea, but still, he never has any worldly goods. He was a peasant one thousand years ago, and today he is a peasant. He has been given his task, and he himself must do it, if he does not, it is not done. But what reward does he get? What satisfaction does he get? None. All the world complains about his working without reward. But do they try to help him? Do they do any more than complain? Do they relieve him? No. He works, still, with no rest, never knowing that the world is complaining for him, because nothing ever comes of their efforts to do him any good, so how can he know there is even an attempt being made? When God made man dominion over all, did he expect him to be left in this condition? Did he expect one man to get rewarded and the other to be left penniless? These questions are beyond our reasoning therefore, it is impossible to know what God really did expect. We think, however, that in the end, when man's work is done, he will get his long earned reward.

Interment took place immediately thereafter in the Littlefield Cemetery under the direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

Deceased was a member of the Baptist Church for many years, being a deacon at the time of his death. He had been a resident of Rocky Ford for the past eight years.

He leaves surviving him a widow and several children.

"VIVA VILLA!" FILMED IN NATIVE MEXICAN LOCATIONS

M-G-M Expedition Covered 10,000 Miles of Desert and Mountain Country Across Rio Grande To Get Spectacular Scenes

"Viva Villa!" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's candidate for epic honors in the screen's current crop of important photoplays will begin at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight and continue through Sunday afternoon and Monday, after one of the most adventurous production periods in history.

To get its authentic backgrounds and its countless thousands of extra players, motion picture makers risked death more than once. The "Viva Villa!" expedition into the interior of Mexico, fighting jungle fevers and mountain cold, ranks with the long march into the Arctic Circle for "Es-kimo" and the adventurous trek into Africa for "Trader Horn" as a daring and ambitious screen enterprise.

6,000 Extras Used

More than 10,000 miles were covered during the actual filming. Locations were used in some of the battle scenes.

The total number of Mexican natives who took part in the picture, first to last, runs well over 100,000.

Beginning last June, when the first scouting parties went across the Rio Grande and began their tortuous progress through the wilderness and deserts of northern Mexico, work on the picture progressed steadily.

At one time five separate units were operating far in the interior of Central Mexico. Each was in charge of a handful of Americans from the studio; each was using from 500 to 6,000 natives every day. Most of these extra players were Indians; many had never seen a motion picture and had only a vague idea what they moved in fleets of airplanes which deposited them in jungle settings for days at a time. They left Mexico and recrossed the Grande into the United States at the end of the year.

A Fictional Version

The result of this long march to the screen as "Viva Villa!" is a fictional version of the life and death of Pancho Villa, perhaps the greatest figure in world history in the twenty years of this country. The saga runs a strong and dramatic plot, with Beery as Villa, and Fay Wray and Katherine De Mille the two most important women in life.

Others in the notable cast include Leo Carrillo, Donald Cook, Sam Erwin, George E. Stone, Joseph Schildkraut, Phillip Cooper, Paul Puga and Henry B. Walthall. Conway directed.

"Viva Villa!" takes its place as one of the most entertaining and important pictures of the year.
