THE COUNTY SEAT NEWSPAPER

County Ordered Off Special Relief List

New Classification Leaves Wheeler Out of Drouth-Stricken Area Group of Counties

Advices received here Wednesday from state authorities following a reclassification of the Panhandle drouth-stricken area indicates that Wheeler county has been withdrawn from the group. This information was received with considerable surprise and no little disappointment by those who have been laboring for the relief of needy people in the county. County Commissioner Doug Sims is busy Thursday morning securing names of the other commissioners of business men to a petition addressed to the state relief board protesting the change, and asking reconsideration of the action.

The communication sets forth in concise terms the situation existing in Wheeler county and points out the need of further help here. Since the present CWA setup throughout the state will be brought to a close within a few weeks, the drouth-stricken area has been prodded for through a special relief fund that is being worked out. Therefore, if the new classification leaving Wheeler county out of the fund prevails, the county will be deprived of further outside assistance.

IS. HAZEL CLAY PASSED AWAY LAST THURSDAY

Mrs. Hazel Shadden Clay passed away Thursday morning, March 1, at Zeigler Clinic in Shamrock, after three months illness. She underwent an appendicitis operation on Dec. 3, 1933, from which she never fully recovered. Mrs. Clay was born March 27, 1884, in Lone Camp, Palo Pinto county, and died March 1, 1934, in Wheeler county at the age of 49 years, 11 months and two days. In 1930 she was married to Teddy Clay and to this union one child, a son, was born who preceded his mother's death on Jan. 5.

Mrs. Clay was converted in 1925 during a Baptist revival conducted by Rev. Virgil Lollar of Magic City. Although she had never united with a church she was ready and willing to do so. Besides her husband, Teddy Clay, she is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shadden of Twitty; her sisters, Mrs. Tom Forrest and Mrs. Etta Mae Shadden of Twitty; her brother, Mr. Morris Burgess of Briscoe. Funeral services for Mrs. Clay were conducted at the Twitty Baptist church Friday afternoon, with Rev. Robert Mathis in charge, assisted by Rev. Virgil Lollar of Magic City, with burial in the Shamrock cemetery.

SANDERS HAD GOOD DAY

Notwithstanding unfavorable weather, Sanders Cash Grocery enjoyed good day's business at its homecoming last Saturday. Approximately 200 visitors received refreshments during the day. In addition to the regular patrons, many new ones, some from as far as Allison, attended the affair.

MOBEETIE SCHOOLS GRANTED AFFILIATION

State Inspector E. E. Chamness granted classification Wednesday to the Mobeetie schools and affiliation was recommended to the state department in 13 subjects, viz: English I, II and III, Early European History, Modern History, American History, Spanish I and II, Government, Commercial Geography, Bookkeeping, General Science, Algebra I and II.

This action places the Mobeetie schools among the standard schools of the state. Three thousand dollars teacher aid from state funds has also been granted, assuring a full nine months term.

Mobeetie patrons are justly proud of their school system and stand as a solid unit in its support.

Much of the credit for the schools' progress is due to Superintendent Carl Chaudoin, a capable educator and tireless worker.

Improvements At Puckett's Store

Deciding that more floor space was needed for conducting their business with greater convenience to the public as well as to the employees, Roy Puckett, manager of Puckett's Store No. 4 in Wheeler, has made changes and additions to interior fixtures that add much to the comfort and appearance of the establishment.

The partition between retail and storage departments has been moved back 10 feet and new shelving installed to display stocks. The former center counter arrangement has been shifted to a sideline position, leaving much more floor room for accommodation of customers.

Work on the improvements was started the latter part of the week and pushed to practical completion Saturday night with the help of a crew of assistants who stayed on the job until a late hour.

ANGLIN GETS NEW CHEVROLET COACH

Walter Anglin, local salesman for Chevrolet cars, working with the Ewton Chevrolet company of Shamrock, obtained a new 1934 coach Wednesday, which he will use as a demonstrator.

"I'm ready now," declared Anglin, "to take interested parties for a ride at any time. And there is absolutely no obligation implied, either. I just want to prove to the motoring public what a fine car the Chevrolet actually is."

Both Anglin and Mr. Ewton, manager of the Shamrock company, who was in Wheeler Wednesday to complete a sale, declare that shipments of new cars are coming through much better and they expect to be in position to make prompt delivery on orders from now on.

HUGE CARROTS GROWN BY WHEELER COUNTY FARMER

That Wheeler county can grow bumper carrots is demonstrated by two specimens brought to this office Tuesday morning by A. W. Grant, who lives in the Dixon community, 16 miles northwest of here. Combined weight of the two carrots was five pounds. The larger one measured 14½ inches around and was nearly a foot long.

Grant dug them up when making preparations to plow his garden spot. Although remaining in the ground all winter, the carrots are in perfect condition and were still growing until the recent cold snap, which nipped the tops.

FUNERAL HOME TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY

D. A. Hunt, manager of the Wheeler Funeral Home, formerly known as the Hunt Funeral Home, announces a formal opening of the establishment, to be held next Saturday, March 10. The public is cordially invited to visit the parlors and inspect the newly-arranged conveniences for conducting the last rites for the dead.

Hours will be from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Flowers will be provided for lady visitors, and favors for the men and children.

Miss Peggy Page of Canyon spent the week end in Wheeler. Her mother Mrs. J. A. Page, Mrs. Neva Sampson and Mrs. Grace Couch met Miss Page in Shamrock Friday night. She returned to her school work Sunday.

Legion Anniversary Observance Thurs.

Local Post to Give Dinner-Program at Legion Hall on Evening of March 15th

Arrangements are being made by members of Wheeler Post No. 138, American Legion, to give a dinner and program at the Legion Hall next Thursday evening, March 15, in observance of the fifteenth anniversary of the national organization. Members of the American military forces laid the foundation during March, 1919, at Paris, for the great organization which has since spread throughout the United States and numbers among its membership a high percentage of World War ex-service men.

Thursday night's affair will include a varied program to follow the dinner, which will be served by the Legionnaires. Judge R. H. Forrester and Dr. H. E. Nicholson are listed as the principal speakers. A group of old army songs by the assemblage are to be a feature. Forty-two and other games will be arranged for those who care to play.

Members of the cast of "Crashing Thru", a play sponsored by the post recently, will be special guests of the evening. All ex-service men of the community, whether members of the Legion or not, are invited to attend.

A large anniversary cake, bearing a candle for each new member recruited during the membership drive which began March 1 and closes March 14, will be in evidence at the dinner.

Wheeler Post was organized in 1922, according to the best information available, although a previous effort to form a post was made. The membership now stands at 33.

Present officers are Claud R. Cox, commander, and J. E. Risner, adjutant.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Esslinger and son Tommy of Roswell, N. Mex., and their daughter Mrs. Jess Harris of Alto, N. Mex., who spent a week with the former's son, Roy Esslinger and family, returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Launch Business Women's Week

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will formally open the seventh National Business Women's Week of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs Monday evening, March 12. Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, president of the federation, announces that the president's wife will set in motion the various activities of the annual observance through a nation-wide broadcast. Mrs. Roosevelt, who is an honorary member of the federation, will speak from New York over a coast-to-coast hookup, and will announce to the business women of the country the outcome of their campaign to put 10,000 of their sisters back to work.

Immediate re-employment of 10,000 white collar women has been the goal set for themselves by the 1,300 clubs of the federation in celebration of National Business Women's Week, March 11-17. Each one of the clubs has made an effort to secure a minimum of eight jobs for white collar women—one for each weekday and two for Sunday! The result will be announced by Mrs. Roosevelt and is being heralded as definite proof of the confidence of the federation in America's recovery program.

Other broadcasts throughout the week in connection with observance of the occasion include an address by Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman,

HOG-CORN SIGN-UP DRIVE TO CLOSE MARCH 17TH

According to Jim Trout, member of the committee directing the drive, word was received here this Thursday morning stating that Saturday, March 17, has been fixed as the closing date for signing contracts in the hog-corn production control campaign which has been under way for several weeks.

Glen Porter Buys City Water Plant

Another city property transaction occurred Tuesday of this week when Glen Porter, owner of the City Drug store, purchased the Wheeler water system from Ed Strentz. Offices of the plant have been moved to the drug store.

The new owner plans some improvements and expansion in the near future, when more mains will be laid and preparations completed for serving additional patrons.

Strentz, who came to Wheeler six years ago from Roswell, N. Mex., is the "father" of the water system here. He built the plant and has operated it for the past five years.

Ed Strentz has also been manager of the local Panhandle Power & Light company plant. He contemplates making a change which, if carried out, will take him to a new location in south Texas, where he will engage in another line of work. He is not in position to say just when he will leave Wheeler, since it might be anywhere from 30 days to six months.

Many friends and business acquaintances here will be sorry to see the Strentz family leave this community, where they will be greatly missed.

GIN MEETING SATURDAY

Officials of the Farmers New Deal gin, Wheeler, announce a business meeting of the group, to be held at the high school auditorium in this city next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Election of officers for the ensuing year is the principal business scheduled for the gathering.

Owing to unfavorable weather, this meeting was postponed last Saturday afternoon.

Proclamation by Mayor of Wheeler

TO ALL WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME: National Business Women's Week was inaugurated seven years ago, and each year we pause to draw attention to the achievements of women in the business and professional world. Some of the outstanding contributions to business methods and scientific knowledge have been made by women, and our city, state and nation should rejoice in an opportunity to honor the modern woman and all she stands for today. We are stimulated by her example of fair play, courage and zeal in obtaining the highest standards.

It is fitting that the people of our city encourage and give recognition to the business and professional woman. Her deeds in the past speak for themselves, and the future can be depended upon to bring her even greater and more worthy laurels.

Therefore, I, R. D. Holt, Mayor of the City of Wheeler, Texas, request that the period of March eleventh to seventeenth, 1934, which has been set aside by the National Federation of Business & Professional Women's clubs, be observed as National Business Women's Week.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto signed my name officially this 7th day of March, A. D. 1934.

(Signed) R. D. HOLT, Mayor.

HOLT GREEN IMPROVING

Holt Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Green of this city, who underwent a major operation at the general hospital in Shamrock on Feb. 25, is reported improving nicely. Holt announced his candidacy for the office of district clerk a short time ago. Due to illness, he has been unable to press his campaign, but expects to soon be out among the voters.

OKLAHOMA COUPLE WED HERE

County Judge W. M. McMurtry performed the ceremony Tuesday afternoon at his office in the court house, which united in marriage Miss Vena Rowsey and J. S. Dunivan of Oklahoma City. The couple gave 436 North 27th as their street address.

NATIONS TO OPERATE BEAUTY SHOP AND BARBER BUSINESS

O. Nations, recent purchaser of the Lowrie barber shop, announces that Mrs. Nations will operate the beauty shop in connection with the barber business after Monday. Jewell's Beauty Shoppe is moving to quarters in Mrs. Morton's Garage apartments.

Pampa Club Praises Former Wheeler Man

Aaron Meek, Educator, Receives High Tribute at Kiwanis Club Meeting Recently

Accepting an invitation to luncheon as a special guest of the Pampa Kiwanis club recently, Aaron Meek, a former Wheeler county citizen and a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Meek, who live seven miles north of this city, was pleasantly surprised at being the object of a tribute paid in glowing terms by Newton P. Willis, member of the club.

Meek has been principal of the B. M. Baker grade school in Pampa for the past seven years. He has made a success in his chosen calling. But those familiar with his activities declare he has made even a greater success, if possible, in helping unfortunate youngsters to obtain nourishing food. Through his connection with the school cafeterias, supported jointly by the Lions club, of which he is a member, other organizations of Pampa, and some public funds, he has made it possible for boys and girls from families in straitened circumstances to attend school and to make normal progress.

Neither pompous phraseology nor flights of rhetoric (common to luncheon speeches) can conceal the deep sincerity of praise contained in the following tribute to Meek, delivered by Nathan P. Willis:

My brethren: From information that has come to me concerning the personal life and activities of one of our guests I deem it not inappropriate to bestow upon him this encomium, feeling as I do that it will be as merited as it is surprising. This man of whom I speak has lavished unstintingly the extra hours of his life upon the unfortunate whose cause we Kiwanians have espoused, thereby materially cooperating with us in the altruistic projects which we have set about to achieve.

Even as Abou Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase), according to Leigh Hunt, awoke one night from a deep dream of peace to find an angel in his room, making it rich and like a lily in bloom writing in a book of gold the names of those that loved God, in response to Ben Adhem's request that he should write him as one who loved his fellow man, wrote Abou's name upon the golden scroll as leading all the rest, this philanthropist of our city has been a leader, a foster father to the Boy Scouts, a solicitor for the school cafeterias and a benefactor to the underprivileged children for whom we have in common striven.

I therefore in closing this panegyric propose a rising vote of thanks to our comrade from the Baker school who so thoroughly has aided us in our ideals; he answers to the Christian name of Aaron, spokesman for Moses, and fate has further endeavored to 'hide his light' under a bushel, by concealing him under the humble surname of Meek, one which he lives up to with all humility.

Let us rise to pay tribute to this generous friend of ours who has devoted his golden moments, not only to nameless unremembered acts of kindness and of love, but also auspiciously has protected and cared for these precious children of ours, Pampa's jewels.

Methodist Revival Started Wednesday

Rev. Johnston, Wellington Pastor, to Deliver Sermons in a Ten-Day Campaign

Although confronted by a cold stormy night, the first service of a ten-day revival series was held at the First Methodist church in Wheeler Wednesday evening. Notwithstanding the cold weather, a fair congregation was present.

Rev. T. M. Johnston of Wellington has been engaged to do the preaching for Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, local pastor, during the revival. Rev. Johnston is now in his fourth year as pastor of the First Methodist church of Wellington.

His standing as a minister and citizen is attested by the people of his home community. In 1933 he was voted by the people of Collingsworth county as its most useful citizen in a poll conducted by a Wellington newspaper.

Local church leaders feel that Wheeler is indeed fortunate in obtaining the services of this consecrated and useful man.

The public, states Rev. Kirby, is not only cordially invited but is urged to attend the meetings. Throughout the week, morning worship will start at 10 o'clock and the evening hour is 7:40 p. m. The intermediate group will assemble at 4 p. m. and the young people at 6:30 each afternoon during the revival.

COUNTY SCHOOL CENSUS TAKEN DURING MARCH

Annual Event Will Enumerate Children—Complete Data is Highly Essential

According to O. B. Miller, county superintendent, enumeration of all school children in Wheeler county will be compiled during the month of March. Trustees in each of the 34 school districts of the county are charged with this duty.

Parents or guardians are requested to use care in reporting children's ages, giving the day, month and year of birth. All persons between the ages of six and 18 years are to be listed, whether in school or even married.

Other data required is the length of time a child has lived in the present district, the former residence, and nationality, as determined by the language spoken in the home. Physical defects, if any, are to be noted. This information is used as a basis for placing afflicted children in rehabilitation schools or affording other needed relief.

It is hoped to complete the work during March.

NEW DENTIST COMING

Dr. F. N. Reynolds of Pampa, a dentist of many years experience, visited Wheeler Sunday evening and looked the field over with a view to locating here. A phone call from him today stated that he will arrive in Wheeler Monday and make arrangements for a permanent location. Inquiry at either of the drug stores will reveal the doctor's whereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cooper entertained the following guests Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Ted Reno and daughters of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Redus Mooney and children and Cecil Anglin of Jowett, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Moon and children and Mr. and Mrs. Udell Teague of Kelton, W. S. Reno of Shamrock, Mrs. Ruby Murphy of Skellytown and Mrs. W. L. Gaines and daughter of Wheeler.

THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1934

ON THE UPGRADE

Yes, business is better. And the curve is holding stubbornly to its upward trend. Mainstay of the jump is still the automobile industry's spectacular recovery—and spectacular is the word. Every fresh report coming from the motor centers is more encouraging than the last. Unfilled orders for both trucks and cars are zooming. And other industries are racing along with the auto makers.

In the department stores, according to the last announcement, the cash registers are ringing merrily, with an average national gain of 25 per cent in dollar volume over last year. The chemical industries, which survived 1933 in good shape, are continuing their advance now, with glass, textiles, paper, etc., finding good markets and stable prices. The most recent department of commerce survey shows steel output higher, business activity better, commodity prices on the rise, stock and bond prices up and general betterment all along the line.

Discontinuance of CWA, which has employed 4,000,000 people—including teachers, artists, street cleaners, insect eliminators, a poet or two and about every possible classification of worker—is beginning and will naturally react unfavorably on business. But leaders hope for the best—and, what is more, seem really to expect it.

YOUR CHILDREN—AND THE FUTURE

The birth of every child is accompanied by happy and confident planning for its future. Parents study every detail of raising, of environment, of education.

And education stands out most important of all. The world of today is intensely competitive—both for business and individuals. The place for the untrained and unskilled worker grows steadily smaller. This is the age of the specialist and the expert, whose education has prepared him to do one thing well.

The actual cash value of education was computed some years ago in a thorough-going survey. It was found that the average untrained boy goes to work at the age of 14. He reaches his maximum income of about $1,700 at the age of 40. By the time he is 60 he has earned $64,000.

The average high school graduate reaches a maximum income of $2,800 at 50. His total earnings, at sixty, are $88,000.

The average college graduate is earning $6,000 to $8,000 a year at 60. His total earnings are $160,000 to $200,000—three times that of the untrained worker.

Beginning March 19, the nation is to observe Financial Independence Week. Life insurance, in all its branches, will be discussed and explained. Among the various policies offered by the legal reserve companies are those guaranteeing education for one's children. They are impervious to depressions and financial distress of all kinds. And they solve one of the most pressing and vital of all problems faced by parents.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

Turning from city newspapers to small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and headache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items, and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.—Christian Science Monitor.

TO THE "BOSS"

"The Boss" is the title given the editorial reprinted below which appeared in the Omaha World-Herald: During these changing days when some labor is going on the forty-hour week and men by the hundreds of thousands are going to have more leisure than they ever had before, it is well, perhaps, to give thought for a moment to the one who isn't going to be quite so happy. We mean the boss.

He's the man that the national recovery administration refers to as an executive who is exempt from the code provisions for the shorter week. He is exempt for the simple reason that he is going to work harder and longer hours and carry greater burdens than before. He's the guy who must think up ways and means of changing his business methods to meet code conditions and still, if possible, keep out of the red. He's the fellow who has to dig up the newer and higher wage scale cash, so that the pay envelopes will still be available on Saturday night. He's the man who must answer "I will" to the president, and, in order to get that precious eagle emblem, think and work and worry as never before.

In some future day when, we all hope, historians will look back upon the summer of 1933 and record it as the period of a new emancipation of the American people; when they will tell the story of a nation united to destroy that old' debbil Depression; when they will write of a leadership that was courageous and confident and determined, at that future day we hope the Prescotts and Gibboneses of the era will find time for at least a paragraph about the usually unsung, unhonored and unwept hero of it all—the boss. Just in case those future historians neglect their duty, we hasten to seize the opportunity here and now to cast a few bouquets and laurel wreaths at the fellow who is too busy to know or care about praise, who is only hoping he can scheme a way to make ends meet, while he devotes forty and twice forty hours a week to the process.

ASSIST RECOVERY

In normal times the construction industry is one of the greatest direct employers of skilled and unskilled labor—carpenters, plumbers, bricklayers, metalworkers and a dozen other categories of workers. And, indirectly, it employs as many more in the industries making construction products.

In 1929, these industries furnished over a million jobs. They include the manufacture of shingles, pipe, cement, wire, paints, papers, lime, linoleum, lumber and so on. The total value of their products was over five billion dollars. Forty-nine thousand plants were involved, with payrolls of close to $1,600,000 a year.

Those figures show why stimulated construction is essential to recovery. Home building is the most important branch of construction, constituting about fifty per cent of the total. It isn't the million-dollar skyscrapers that make the bulk of the jobs—it's the small homes, costing three or four thousand dollars. By the same token, home repairing, in the aggregate, is of equal importance.

Spring is almost here. In the average home much can be done to make it more comfortable and efficient. Prices are still low with sharp rises in prospect. Build now, repair now—save yourself money and do your bit toward regaining good times.

HELP ALL OF US

Every man's business in a community is a little chamber of commerce all its own, in a way. Every business contributes its bit to the employment of people, to the making of more and better homes, to the business activity and the civic attractiveness of the place we call our town.

But every business has its own problems on which its greatest effort must be centered. We need, therefore, an organization, fostered by the entire community, and financed by the various business interests, which can concentrate and enlarge upon the common problems and the common opportunities. Name it a chamber of commerce or what you will, it is much needed.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Considerable interest and comment were engendered throughout Texas a couple of weeks ago by the Young Democrats of West Texas when they came out flatly for sweeping constitutional reform in Texas. This young organization in its action is grasping its greatest opportunity for leadership and is advocating changes which most intelligent Texans believe are needed.—Hereford Brand.

When an Amarillo deputy stopped on Main street on his way to Wichita Falls with an adjudged lunatic, his party suddenly desired a cash transaction at the First National bank. He bit the deputy's finger as he jumped out of the car in his haste to get to the bank.

Once inside, Cashier Walter Taylor was attempting to verify the safety of a check for the stranger when Sheriff Pierce entered with handcuffs and made phoning an Amarillo bank unnecessary.

The Wellington Leader makes the suggestion that the Panhandle should chain these sand storms down and make a paying proposition of them. The Leader states that sandpaper might be manufactured.

Hemphill county farmers have an idea that sounds a lot more reasonable. Several are harnessing the wind for electrical power. One farmer in this section is now building himself a large plant. He expects to store up enough electricity to give him light.

Two new wells were brought in last week that attract attention to this part of Gray county. The No. 1 Webb of Eben Warner was rated at 3200 barrels for the first few days, but the well had increased to such an extent that it was reported flowing at 200 barrels an hour the first of the week.

The Vulcan Oil Company's No. 1 Kinard in the Gracey community was estimated flowing 60,000,000 feet of gas, spraying oil so that it had to be shut down to erect storage.

The Skelly Oil Company's No. 4 Webb has been finished with an average of 299 barrels commission test. This part of the Gray county field is coming in for a lot of attention lately, and oil men predict the next big play in the McLean field.—McLean News.

The lodges represented included: Amarillo, Memphis, Hedley, Goodnight, McLean, Shamrock, Wheeler, Claude and Wichita Falls.—Clarendon News.

The latest improvements are the most important that have ever been made and will surely make the Aermotor more decidedly than ever the outstanding windmill of the world.

The performance of a windmill depends much upon which it stands. In buying a windmill like the Aermotor is going to last for many years, it is important that on a strong, rigid tower which will last as long as the Aermotor Towers are wonderfully strong and durable.

WHAT IS YOUR NICHE?

What kind of a niche do you fit in your school affairs? Are you a good student? Is it with regret that the teachers notice your absence or do they breath a sigh of relief without you?

What our school life is largely determines our conduct through future citizenship. If we work systematically in school, taking pride in our achievements, we may rest assured that such habits will assist us in after life. Dr. Benedict, president of Texas University, has discovered by class study, that the larger percentage of successful business men in the United States were A and B students in high school and college.

Are you desirous of dragging on in a mediocre existence or are you anxious to achieve success that could easily be yours? The answer is in your own hands. Are you willing to put forth the necessary effort?—H. G.

SNICKERS

Elizabeth: I don't have to do everything you tell me to.
 Wait: If you did you would stop breathing.

Inez and Exie are complaining of being sore from riding a horse. But personally my sympathy is with the horse.

Bill (with eyes shut): Give a nickel to the blind.
 Anna Mae: I don't have a nickel.
 Bill: That's O. K. I'm not blind.

Joe: How about some jokes?
 Ray: I know one but it is so rude that I might get prosecuted if I told it.

John (putting hands on Anna Mae's eyes): If you don't guess who it is in three guesses I am going to kiss you.

Two Casts Try Out For One-act Play

Because of the large number that are taking part in the one-act play for the county meet at Mobeetie, this school will be required to present the play twice in order to select the best characters for the different parts. The "try outs" will be some time next week. The name of the play is "Emily's Revolt". Everyone seems to be enthusiastic states the sponsor, Miss Winona Adams. Those that are trying for the different parts are: Buster, a poor boy, Earl Sivage and Guy Robison; Maggie, a poor girl, Louise Craig and Anna Mae Puett; Emily Tucker, Marguerite Ficke and Mamie Lee Starkey; Ed Tucker, brother of Emily, Joe Meek and Earl Farris; Mrs. Sarah Tibbet, Inez Shipman and Nerine Young; Mrs. Mary Greenwood, Fae Ficke and Bonnie Adams; Squire, Curtis Weeks and John Ficke.

There are also a large number reporting for declamation according to Mrs. J. L. Gilmore, sponsor. Those who are trying for senior girls are Elizabeth Joss, Ruth Garrison and Exie Creekmore. Senior boys are Curtis Weeks, Laveau Cole, C. L. Balch and Carlisle Robison. Junior girls are Alline Buchanan, Dorothy Tolliver, Ferrol Ficke, Gladys Warren, Helen Sanders and Florine Wright. Junior boys, Everett Cole.

JUNIORS PRESENT SKETCH OF PLAY WEDNESDAY

Chapel program for last week consisted of an introduction of the characters of the junior play and the presentation of a short sketch from it.

Those who took part in the play were Mamie Lee Starkey, Aunt Martha Weed; Doris Tolliver, Bee Lambert; Carlisle Robison, Otter; Merriman Hawkins, Ben Cobb; Ford Newkirk, Wilbur Weed; Cosette Crofford, Jenny; Helen Gilmore, Bella James; Theodore Conner, Joe Cook; Florine Guynes, Hattie Street; and Forrest Strentz.

BELIEVE IT OR DON'T—

Inez weighs more than Chub.
 Ruth made F one time in English.
 Jody made a good impression on a Shamrock girl.

Theodore, after a month's practice, is still bashful in proposing to Helen. John May talked to a girl the other day without blushing.

C. L. got to English class on time yesterday.
 Turner and McCarroll are installing cuspidors in their office.

Mildred doesn't flirt any more since she has been ill. (So J. C. says.)
 Capitola flirted with Walter.
 The seniors didn't "act up" at the junior play.

Arthur Burke missed a day at school.
 Mildred didn't write a letter to Magic City this week.

The writer wishes to express his appreciation to Mrs. Gilmore for her permission to write this in her study hall.

Legal Notices

Any time that you see this sign you will know that it is a good place to take all law cases—"so 'tis said": "Turner and McCarroll, Lawyers—The Long and Short of Law. We Strive to do Worse".

In the next case to be brought before this honorable court, "Liz Joss is suing Raymond Creekmore for robbing the cradle. (Means step-in's out with Fish). The senior class has filed a case against two of its "honary" members, Coy Hix and Walter Adams for "wandering astray and spending the night. (In Canadian).

These two lawyers have requested me to say that the new cuspidors will be installed soon and if there is enough business these lawyers will furnish cigars and soft cushioned chairs; otherwise you may have to stand up. From twelve to one each Wednesday night on the third story of the high school building this court meets for the trials. Be sure to come so they won't file a case against you.

For references and information pertaining to these men call, phone, write or ask Ray McCulsum, who has just recently given them some business. One of them served as lawyer and the other as prosecuting attorney. Help the boys to build up a good business.

Wheeler Teams Win Games From Briscoe

Basketball season ended with a victory for the Mustangs as they defeated Briscoe 14 to 10 in a game played at Briscoe Friday.

Although Briscoe led at the half they never scored a point in the last half as Wheeler played a fine defensive game. The starting line up for Wheeler: Creekmore and McCarroll, forwards; Conner and Adams, guards; Ford, center. Substitutes, Sivage and Lewis.

The Wheeler girls also ended the season by winning over Briscoe 28 to 13. Wheeler led throughout the game never being seriously threatened. The starting line-up: W. Hollabough, B. Hollabough and Tillman, forwards; Puett, L. Hollabough and Shipman, guards.

TEACHERS OF COUNTY PLAY BALL TWO NIGHTS

In order to raise money to buy a loving cup for the county meet which will be held at Mobeetie this month, the teachers divided into two groups called North and South and played two nights.

Both men and women teachers took part in these games. Friday night both teams played at Mobeetie, with the South men and the North women winning. Saturday night the squads met at Shamrock. The winners were the same as the night before.

CAUGHT in the LASSOO'S NOOSE

Willie Mae was in Allison from Friday until Monday. Must be something serious.

Chris, when did you get the lucky (or maybe unlucky) break? I hear you were with Willie Mae Wednesday night, that you and Chub went to the show together the next night, also you were seen with Agusta at the junior play. Tsk, tsk.

Say, juniors, you shouldn't spoil the sophomore party like you did. You will have time to do those things when you're seniors.

Found on a blackboard: "Wheeler, school of dumbells, saps and plane geometry students."

Feature Chub playing leap-frog over fire plugs. This really happened (believe it or not).

By the way, there is a new Romeo in school, judging by the junior play. His initials are Theodore Conner.

Say, you fish girls, how do you like the Shamrock boys?

What's this about Wheeler having a student council? I hear they have.

Creekmore, explain what you were doing out in a car when you were supposed to be in the study hall.

Liz, I hear you are going to sue Creeky for robbing the cradle.

Why was it that two senior boys were tardy Monday morning? There are rumors about Canadian, also about a couple walking toward Wheeler.

Why can't John May have a love affair or something so that I can write about him? I did hear that Liz was trying to flirt with him the other day.

Chub, who was the boy friend the other night?

DEMPSTER

THE MASTER OF THE WINDS

ANNU-OILED NO. 12

WINDMILL

Come in and let me explain this mill to you thoroughly. Then judge it on its own merits and by what others say about it.

Just the slightest breeze and your Dempster Mill starts humming. It assures plenty of water for many years. Note the following points assuring superior performance:

Positive Oiling Feature—The internal working parts of the Dempster Mill are constantly oiled by a simple system of "drip and carriage." Keeps every working part properly oiled all the time.

Perfect regulation assures proper speed at all times. The Dempster No. 12 Mill pumps in the lightest wind and takes care of itself in the strongest. Turns out of the wind according to the variation of the wind, responding quickly without jerking or racking.

Double Spring Bumper—Two short, stiff, yet flexible, springs instead of the usual long springs on the bumper absorb the shock caused when the mill goes into the wind.

Weather-Proof Hood of galvanized sheet steel fits snugly over working parts, keeping out dirt and moisture. Cannot come loose.

The Sturdily Braced Angle Steel Vane Stem will not sag nor buckle. Thoroughly galvanized, it will not rust. Provides ample support for vane.

The Dempster is DOUBLE, not single, geared. Has roller-bearing turntable, equipped with Timken bearings. Runs in a bath of oil. Drain and refill only once a year.

Movie Chatter
 By a Rogue

"Terror Trail"
 Last week the ole Rogue left it up to you as to whether or not the picture was good. It was the general opinion the Fiddlin' Buckaroo was as good as you could ask for. Then too papa has always said: "Honesty is the best policy". So for this week the Rogue offers you Tom Mix in what he believes will measure up to last week's fare, namely: "Terror Trail". So if you like Tom it might be to your advantage to take a squint at this one, and at the same time look over the two-reel comedy, "Sailor Beware".

"One Sunday Afternoon"
 The title does not sound so hot, does it? But you can never tell about the title. Sometimes we expect great things from a reported GREAT picture and it turns out to be a Grand Hotel or Rasputin. Then again, when we do not expect much from a certain picture we come out feeling fine because it was pretty good after all and maybe better than we expected. "One Sunday Afternoon" is just an ordinary picture with two good stars, Gary Cooper and Fay Wray. The Rogue believes that you will enjoy this none too big picture. And as an added attraction, Bing Crosby in a two-reeler, "Please". I wonder.

The Fourth Lovely Lady

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Following the splendid wedding of her niece, Cintra, to Lester, which she has financed, Lida Smith Lovely ("Smif," by her insistence), youngest and physically the weightiest of the four Lovelys, finds herself in decidedly lessened circumstances. She has her plans for the future, however, and she refuses to divulge to her prominent figures in New York City.

CHAPTER II.—The historic Lovely Lovelys, in Virginia, is owned Smif's brother, Bill-Lee, but, financially unable to maintain his position as a "Lovely should," he is living in Chile, while the estate is rented to a Mr. Johnstone Nesbit. Smif's own wish is to own Lovelys, to which she feels sure her brother will return.

CHAPTER III.—Under the name James Saitou, Smif establishes herself as a "Little Sister of the Rich" consultant. The business promises to remunerative, but there is contention among the other Lovelys, in the idea that one of the family should, as one tartly expresses it, become an "adventuress."

CHAPTER IV.—Smif has a client, a (she does not require her callers give their names) who desires to have the Lovelys, in return for an extraordinarily stout lady, his neighbor, in the name of Mrs. Lida. Later, the question, Miss Martha Washington Mercedes (Merced, for short), is. Her story is that because of an excess weight she has lost her husband, Johnny, Smif, recognizing the value of her caller, advises her to get until she has reduced. Smif promises that Smif, who is herself afflicted with an overabundance of flesh, will try the "cure," and if the results are satisfactory Smif will follow her example. For a generous fee, she consents.

CHAPTER V.—On his next visit Smif, by mere chance discovers the identity and is himself recognized by Smif as the tenant of Lovelys. Johnstone Nesbit. She knows Smif as the owner of an adjoining Lovelys. Smif feels that she must know more of Nesbit and him to tell her that evening or apartment. He tells her a pale story of his unhappy childhood, and Smif makes a strong appeal to Smif's heart.

CHAPTER VI.—Born abroad, but the American parents, circumstances Nesbit the lessee of Lovelys, used to Virginia's ways, his education, having been English, he has been a victim of the "Americanism" as he bitterly says, feels himself a "pariah," having been cast into a darkness by his neighbors as a gentleman. He has a miniature of a great-grandmother which bears a great resemblance to Smif, and she has the portrait of a Lovelys. Smif, also, a descendant of Lovelys. According to Virginia tradition, Smif and Smif are "cousins," and does not feel in any way inclined to claim the relationship.

CHAPTER VII.—Smif's "reducing" gives promise of splendid results. Nesbit takes an apartment in York. His real name is Rockwell, for family reasons he took the name of Nesbit, Johnstone Nesbit, father of Smif.

CHAPTER VIII.—Smif does not follow her idea to some day have Lovelys for her own, though Nesbit does know this. Pamela Phelps, youth-friend of Smif, becomes the threat of a blackmailing plot. "Madame Saitou's" ingenuity as a counter of troubles bids fair to be a thorough test.

The room was small but the artist in pace rapidly up and down contracted space and to utter himself: "I am to be the goat, am I am to lose all and gain nothing." He paused in front of Smif pointed an accusing finger at her. "You, Madame, you trifle with me, know that there will be no suit, rich father and mother of Madeleine, they will never permit that should figure in the nasty little papers."

"Can't you see that that has nothing to do with it so far as your interests concerned? I assure you that my plan to Mr. and Mrs. Phelps would force the case into the open—the widest publicity possible. Phelps would lose nothing by publicity. But you would cut a ridiculous figure. You would be laughed out of town."

"I don't see that that has nothing to do with it so far as your interests concerned? I assure you that my plan to Mr. and Mrs. Phelps would force the case into the open—the widest publicity possible. Phelps would lose nothing by publicity. But you would cut a ridiculous figure. You would be laughed out of town."

"There is that relationship of the home life to other institutions which determine the progress of these institutions. It is from the family that other institutions are the results, so, our country stands or falls by the conduct of the American Home."

Our juvenile court judges tell us that very seldom do you find a boy who has committed a crime that has done well in school and had acquired his full high school education, or who had attended Sunday school and church services regularly. Whatever is done for the upbuilding or the destruction of society, must have a very vital and at the same time, a very direct bearing on the home. What society and all constructive agencies must assist in doing is to capture our modern manners and conveniences for righteousness.

own problems, and we have been very proud of our success with Pam. I think she is as good an excuse for our existence as a fine painting or any other masterpiece. I don't know how we would have met this menace had we been here. I fear we would have fallen into a panic."

"That's what the wretches hoped for," said Smif grimly. "They thought an immediate settlement was sure."

"It seems to me it would have been as dangerous a lowering of Pam's standards to permit her to pay blackmail as it would have been to trail her through the publicity of a trial."

"I went over and over all the possibilities, and I couldn't decide which would be the worst," Smif confessed. "I realized that it wasn't such a weak scheme after all, when I began to suspect that Mr. Pulaski had persuaded

She Had Scarcely Greeted Him Before He Asked Her to Marry Him—to Marry Him at Once.

"If you tell us the whole plan from the beginning," she said, "I may find a way of escape for you. At present you seem to be in a terrible hole."

Apparently Mabeuse reached the same conclusion Smif had, for he finally began to speak in a flat voice which showed more clearly even than his abandonment of all bluster, that he felt himself to be at their mercy.

"The whole thing came about simply enough. I met Mrs. Mason first when she was working with a charity organization for the aid of my poor nation after the war. She became interested in my portraits and volunteered to help me find commissions if I paid her a percentage. At first I did well; then hard times struck the country and luxuries were cut off. One day we were talking about where all the money had gone. Mrs. Mason said she had cousins who had millions, and quite in jest, we worked out a plan to get from them an amount they would never miss. Pulaski is a sharp lawyer, and at first he refused to have anything to do with it. Later, Trude talked to him and he consented."

"That was when he saw that they'd be secure if they turned it from pure blackmail into a case where the wife actually believed that she was wronged and demanded legal release from her husband as a consequence," cried Stone. "I was right, Mabeuse. You are elected the goat."

Stone had drawn his chair up to a little table and, taking a fountain pen from his pocket, was writing busily on a sheet of drawing paper.

"The thing for you to do," Smif advised the artist, "is to go back to your wife at once. Tell her you found out that she was being headed for prison, not for Hollywood, by her friends Mayer and Pulaski. Tell her you've saved her by taking all the blame on yourself."

Stone was waving his finished product in the air to dry the ink, but put it back on the table and handed his pen to Mabeuse.

"Now if you'll read what I've written and sign it," he took up his role, "I'll write you out an order for the miniature you're working on and a large portrait of Madame Saitou as well, which is to be done in the style of another miniature—"

This had been no part of their careful plan and Smif protested.

"Of course Mabeuse doesn't deserve any leniency from us," Stone ignored her interruption, and went on sternly: "It happens that I've seen work of his that pleases me, and what I want is a really lifelike portrait of my great-grandmother. You'll pose for it. I suppose you have no objection to that, Smif?"

"None whatever," she acknowledged meekly, "only heaven knows when I'll find time to sit."

"I'd suggest some of the hours you waste on Doctor Blanton," Stone said maliciously, and at once turned to Mabeuse, who, on the strength of such an unexpected boon, was beginning to revive. "Brace up, be a man, forget your criminal past. What you want now is panache. Go home at once and act the master of the house as if you were a star at Hollywood."

They left Mabeuse expanding under this conception of the part he was to play and gathering his few belongings together preparatory to going home.

"What about Mrs. Mason?" Stone asked, as they walked away from the house.

"Nothing about her," Smif said positively. "Her claws are clipped. Besides, I know that Pam has had rather a bad jolt to her ideals in another case this year and I mean to spare her this. Which reminds me—whom did you know well, besides Captain Miles, among the men who came over for Cintra's wedding?"

CHAPTER X

As the summer wore away, Smif grew increasingly weary of her chosen occupation. Again and again she made acknowledgement to herself that it fell far short of furnishing the human interest and the thrills she had hoped for and confidently expected. Meanwhile her family and acquaintances were drifting back to the city.

First to arrive (his cure completed) were Charles and Susan Phelps; and Pam at once told her mother all that she herself knew of the predicament from which Smif had extricated her.

Susan was the earliest of Smif's visitors the next day, and those who saw her only as the very dignified and distant hostess of her formal parties would not have recognized the grateful woman who kissed her friend fervently with tears in her eyes.

"There are no words to tell you our gratitude," she said chokedly. "It would have broken our hearts to have come back and found Pam altered in any way. In our circumstances, it's not easy to bring up a girl and keep her the simple straightforward child Pam has always been. The rich have their visits to Madame Saitou. The doctor implored her to persist in her attempts.

"Don't give up, I beg you," he said over the telephone when she had called him up to report no progress. "I don't think the lad has a friend in the world. There's some sort of dam within him shutting off all emotions. Break that down and maybe he'll be human."

So, continuing her efforts, the next time Comyn had an appointment she met him carrying a fluffy Angora kitten. While she talked to him, she petted the kitten but made no move to draw his attention to it. Finally she used an excuse to leave the room and in passing him dropped the kitten on his knee.

"Hold it till I come back," she said casually. On her return he was still holding it impassively; but, since it

This proposal came as a shock to Smif, her business contacts were so impersonal to her. Afterward she reproached herself for having been so positive in her refusal. If she had left him some glimmer of hope the outcome might have been different.

He went directly back to his apartment, rang for his man to take the kitten and shot himself through the heart.

Smif had telephoned Doctor Newbold at once on Alfred Comyn's departure, worried over the possible result of her refusal. The doctor had been greatly interested in the evidence of awakening emotion in his patient and inclined to regard it as a favorable symptom.

"Of course you couldn't marry him," he said. "I understand your position perfectly. I'm hopeful this will be precisely the jolt he needs to make a normal man of him."

He arrived at the apartment too late. His patient was already dead.

WANTED

500 Fathers and Mothers In and Around Wheeler To Teach Their Children Morals In the Home.

"Character is not born, but builded. Here dietary influences are at work everywhere and always, but the character of the child is largely determined by the character of the home. The home of today will determine largely the character of the nation tomorrow. The nation is at last aroused to the fact that its very strength and continuity depends upon the morals of its people, and that morals depend largely upon the training of children and young people in the home."

Our nation has stressed cooperation as a means of improvement, but this is no more true of the nation than it is of the family. To assure better homes in Wheeler each family must cooperate within itself and with all other families of the community. This implies that we must have confidence in ourselves and each other. It is impossible for any one person to do all the work of a community, but each individual is depended upon for his share of our social effort. Seneca, a Roman philosopher, said, "God divided man into men that they might help each other."

There is that relationship of the home life to other institutions which determine the progress of these institutions. It is from the family that other institutions are the results, so, our country stands or falls by the conduct of the American Home.

We extend a cordial welcome to those who are not attending church elsewhere to come and worship with us.

Sunday school meets at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m.

B. T. S. meets at 7 and preaching at 8.

The regular monthly workers conference meets next Tuesday at New Hope. We hope that many will be able to attend.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
J. EDMUND KIRBY, Pastor

Attention of the public and the congregation in particular is called to the revival now in progress at this church. Should the weather turn cold again, we urge folks to make a special effort to attend the services. We have a good building which will be heated and comfortable. The only discomfort will be in getting to and from the church. We go everywhere else in the cold, then let us go to church also.
