Try Members Of Colorado Bandit Gang at Lamar

BY UNITED PRESS
LAMAR, Colo., Sept. 12.—Without any show of nervousness, George J. Ashier, alias W. C. Messick, Herbert L. Royston and Ralph Fleagle, members of the notorious Fleagle gang of Kansas bandits, pleaded guilty at their preliminary hearing here today to charges of murder, bank robbery and kidnapping in connection with the holdup of the First National bank here May 23, 1928. After Judge A. F. Hollenbeck, presiding in district court, had explained to each of the men the charge might bring death on the gallows or life imprisonment, and each had answered that he understood this and still wanted his plea to stand, the judge set October 17 for their trials. Messick was arrested at Grand Junction, Colo., Royston near Sacramento, Calif., and Fleagle near Garden City, Kan. There was no excitement in the courtroom. Less than 100 persons were present when the arraignment started.

BY UNITED PRESS
LAMAR, Colo., Sept. 12.—Three members of the Fleagle gang of bank bandits, who held up the First National bank here May 23, 1928, and escaped with $210,000 after killing the president of the bank and his son, were to be arraigned on first degree murder charges here today. The men, W. C. Messick, Grand Junction, Herbert L. Royston, Sacramento, Calif., and Ralph Fleagle, Garden City, Kans., have confessed their part in the robbery and are charged to the bank robbery gang. A. N. Parrish, 74, president of the bank, and his son, John Parrish, 35, resisted the holdup and were shot to death. E. A. Kesing, cashier, was taken with the gang as a hostage. He later was killed because he knew too much. Dr. W. W. Wineinger, Dighton, Kans., physician, was murdered after he was called to treat Royston, who was wounded in the exchange of shots at the robbery. The trio was captured in scattered parts of the country in the last six weeks. A countrywide search still is being made for Jake Fleagle, alleged "brains" of the gang.

County Bankers Hear Miller And Adams at Ranger

Seventy-five bankers and guests attended the meeting of the Eastland county bankers association Wednesday night in the Gholsen hotel in Ranger when addresses were delivered by Nathan Adams, president of the American Exchange National bank of Dallas, and by Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller. The changing conditions of American business were dealt with by Mr. Adams. He spoke of chain business and said that chain banks had started. He expressed his preference, however, for individual banks which could adapt themselves to local needs and conditions. The lieutenant governor's address developed the ways in which the citizens can help in making the functions of government more efficient. He said that the citizenship can have the kind of legislation it desires, pointing out that 15 laws affecting banking were passed by the recent legislature, largely because the bankers recommended them as good laws. It would be manifestly impossible for the legislators to know whether a measure affecting banking, another measure pertaining to business and still another dealing with some industry should be adopted as far as their own individual knowledge is concerned, but they must rely largely upon the suggestions and counsel of their constituents, who are engaged in the particular calling or business. Will Tyler of Rising Star, president of the county bankers association, called the meeting to order, a banquet preceded the program. Hall Walker of Ranger was toastmaster. A musical program was rendered by Miss Buchanan, violin; Mrs. Newham, piano; R. L. Maddocks, cornet, and J. M. Edwards, vocal.

Cyrus Frost And Family Moving To State Capitol

Judge Cyrus B. Frost, a long time citizen of Eastland, and one of the county's best and most progressive citizens, is moving today with his family to Austin where they will take up their residence. Their purpose in removing from Eastland is to be near the State university where their sons and daughters will attend school.

Judge Frost served Eastland county two terms as county attorney and one term as county judge. He was elected to each of these positions without opposition, being the only man in the history of the county to do this. Judge Frost voluntarily retired from politics at the close of his first term as county judge and engaged in the practice of law and in the oil business. For the present at least Judge Frost will maintain law offices in both Eastland and Austin.

Born in Bowie, Texas, Judge Frost moved with his family to Eastland when a small boy and 29 years of his life has been spent here. He is a graduate of the Texas state university. Mr. Frost has always been a leader in the civic development of Eastland and Eastland county and a leader in church work. The congregation of the First Methodist church, to which he and his family belong, last evening tendered the family a banquet, which was largely attended.

Judge Frost, who has been very successful as a business man, declined to state his plans for the future were other than that he would open a law office at Austin. The Frost home in Eastland will be occupied by Judge Leslie, associate justice of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals and his family. "I am telling you one good bye, and I am not selling any of my Eastland property," Judge Frost said.

Mavericks Ready For Clash With Rising Star Fri.

Game With the Husky Visitors Will Be Played Here at 4:00 p. m.

Eastland high school Mavericks will meet a squad of husky youngsters tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock when they clash with the Rising Star high school grid team. Thirty-five men compose the Rising Star squad. The Mavericks will miss Reasor, half, out in last Saturday's game with a leg bone fracture. But the squad will be bolstered by the addition of Wade and Waverly Massenzale, the former a full-back, the latter a tackle. The score after the final whistle blows tomorrow is not expected to be as top-heavy in the Mavericks' favor as was true of last Saturday's contest, when the locals swamped the Clyde Bulldogs 34-0. On the other hand, the team may show some surprising alertness and driving power for a bigger score—certainly the fumbling of the opening game will be less in tomorrow's contest, as the men have handled the ball a week longer and are responding more speedily to the various plays. The weather has been warming gradually since the cool snap of the first of the week, and both teams may be slowed up a bit by the warmth. Season tickets at $5 a booklet—good for the Ranger game and the five games at home, with Breckenridge, Big Spring, Abilene, Cisco and Mineral Wells—were put on sale this morning. Coach Joe Gibson said.

Quorum Assured In Senate; House Yet In Doubt

Session to Be Called to Remedy Defects In Confederate Pension Law.

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—With a quorum assured in the Senate and many House members signifying willingness to serve without pay a special session of the Legislature to consider changes in the Confederate widows' pension bill seemed assured today. Twenty-one Senators, a quorum had answered the letter of Senator W. A. Williamson asking them to attend a session to remedy the effects of the law passed at the last session which cuts off from pension all widows under 75 years of age. No senators have refused to attend. In the house, 60 members have agreed to attend, and 10 have refused, Senator Williamson said. If further replies follow that ratio the desired quorum of 99 will be secured. Possibility that Governor Moody might submit other topics than the pension if the session was called caused some concern among legislators. The governor has indicated he would seriously consider calling a special session immediately if a quorum could be secured, but has not said whether he would submit other topics for legislation.

Charter Plane To Carry News Of Grid Game

Boycott House, Ranger Times Editor Will Fly From Big Spring With Report For His Newspaper.

RANGER, Sept. 12.—The Oil Belt district scene of record breaking crowds and thrilling races will set the pace not only for Texas but for the entire nation on Saturday when for the first time a newspaper will charter an airplane to cover a high school football game. The Ranger Air Transport plane, piloted by Travis Boggs, classmate of Lindbergh, will convey Boycott House, editor of the Ranger Times, to Big Spring, when the Ranger Bulldogs and the Big Spring Steers will go together in the first official game of the season in Texas. The distance between the two cities is 185 miles—a two hour trip by air. Consequently, while Ranger fans are little more than started back toward home Saturday evening, the Times editor will be seated at his typewriter dashing off a complete story of the game for the early Sunday issue, or perhaps for a Saturday evening "extra."

Ten Cent Purchase Is Cause of Big Suit

DALLAS, Sept. 12.—A misunderstanding over a ten cent purchase caused a $10,000 damage suit to be filed today in district court here against F. W. Woolworth. The petition states that Agnes Marie Harvison went to a Woolworth store here in the company of another person and bought a ten cent purse for her little girl. As she was going out of the store she heard a voice calling "stop." She did not pause because she did not realize the voice was addressing her. Then the store detective, a woman, ran after her, held her, while a crowd gathered around. The plaintiff states she was detained and subjected to "humiliating" questioning and "accusations" while being gazed at by the crowd in the store. This resulted in the plaintiff bringing suit.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 12.—After deliberating only five minutes a jury in Judge S. D. He is charged with having shot and killed Luke Pentress during a party at Lake Worth.

brought to await the filing of complaint in the federal court at San Angelo.

Allegations are that the man rented a box at the Brady post office under a fictitious name and that goods were ordered from mail order houses and payment was made by bogus checks. Upon arrival of the merchandise the man merely called for "Mr. So-And-So's" mail. It is alleged that several orders were executed by the mail order houses, some parcels being sent to Brady and others to nearby towns.

Planes Equipped

Rubber Landing Gear
DALLAS, Sept. 11.—Airplanes equipped with rubber landing gears that will bounce when they land instead of cracking-up may be the result of the 50,000 mile experimental flight now being made by eight single motored Aristocrat monoplanes of the General Tire Sky Fleet, officials of the flight said today.

The fleet of planes landed here late yesterday and will leave Thursday.

Gas tanks of the eight planes are covered with rubber to prevent the fuel from spreading in case of a crash. The cockpit and dashboard are equipped with rubber to prevent injuries to pilots and passengers. The landing gear is especially equipped with sponge-like shock absorbers.

Today the planes gave an exhibition of formation flying.

The dog was accidentally locked in the house when the Bays left for a month's vacation. When they returned, they found the dog in the house, nearly dead from starvation. Torn curtain on several windows lent mute testimony to the pet's attempts to free himself from his prison.

He was too weak to stand when the Bays returned. Food and water were administered in small portions and the dog recovered.

Says Students Hard Workers

Editor's note: How a prominent educator views "the younger generation" and problems of its formative education is told in the following article, the first of two interviews with Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle, president of the National Education Association and widely known Nebraska teacher.

By E. W. WERKMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 11.—In the face of what Papa and Mamma may have heard, university students are an earnest, hard-working lot, according to Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle, president of the national education association.

It's the college student with a silver spoon in his mouth who worries professors, Miss Pyrtle said. His cup runneth over and his desire to drink of the nectar of wisdom may be repressed by more material things, she hinted.

The "silver spooned" student is the net result of Papa's pampering pocketbook plus that dilemma of deans—the boy, the girl and the motor car—in the interpretation of Miss Pyrtle.

Despite "the collegiate," Miss Pyrtle sees no reason to label a college degree an award of a country club. She is impressed by the intensity with which college students seek an education.

"Taken as a whole, university students are pretty earnest, hard working lot," she said.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Daily Mail printed a dispatch from its Geneva correspondent today stating that League officials were convinced that William Shearer had much to do with the failure of the three power naval conference in 1927, the correspondent said.

Shearer, it was stated, never concealed the fact that his mission was to prevent the United States reaching an agreement with Bri-

MUSTANG PROSPECTS

Coach Ray Morrison of the Southern Methodist University Mustangs is banking heavily on making a great quarter out of Bob Gilbert, footballer pictured above. Gilbert is the 175 pound triple threat ace who set the talk surging around by his spectacular playing last year on the freshman team. Whether Gilbert is the man that Morrison plans to fill the shoes of Redman Hume, the Galloning Gazette of last year's varsity, is not known, but Bob has plenty of talent.

BY THE WAY

(By Boyce House)
Perhaps the most remarkable athlete in the illustrious history of Southwestern conference football was K. L. Berry.

Berry was All-Southwestern tackle in 1915. Very well, but that's not so astonishing, you may remark. But just bear that date in mind—1915.

When the Mexican border trouble developed, Berry entered the service and played on the famous Second Texas Infantry team which defeated an eleven composed of All-American stars who were in the army. The score was terribly one-sided. Many experts think that the Second Texas was the most powerful team that was ever assembled. But that's not all of Berry's record.

From 1916 on, he played football every year on army teams. And then in 1924 he re-entered the University of Texas as he had one more year of football. Mind you, he was then 33 years of age. He not only made the team but he was chosen All-Southwestern guard—nine years after he had been selected All-Southwestern tackle.

Dave Pena, former high school coach and college coach, who lives in Ranger, was talking about Berry recently. Pena, as a member of an All-Star team, used to meet Berry's army team regularly every Christmas for four years. Incidentally when it comes to football playing, Pena has a rather long record himself—four years in high school, four years in university and four years in All-Star games. His last game was Christmas, 1923.

Pena is no longer playing and after coaching teams at Austin college, John Tarleton college and Eastland High school, he is no longer coaching but he is keenly interested in the sport and his services will be in demand in the Oil Belt this fall as an official.

Tab Sets Off This Hat

A tab of green grosgrain hangs down from the front bandeau of a green felt hat for fall, in the proverbial "right in the middle of the forehead" manner.

New York 2-10, Pittsburgh 1-5. Cincinnati 4, Brooklyn 2. Chicago 5, Philadelphia 2.

Texas League. San Antonio in the Texas league cellar position, outhit and outplayed Dallas Wednesday to win 5 to 3. A home run by Casey, San Antonio fielder, with one on base in the ninth won for the Indians.

Defeating Houston 9 to 4, Wichita Falls scored their fifth straight victory Wednesday. Houston failed to score until the last two innings.

Larry Cox's home run in the fifth inning with two teammates on base gave Beaumont a 6 to 5 victory over Fort Worth.

Winning for the seventh consecutive time, Shreveport defeated Waco, 7 to 6.

Watching the Scoreboard. Yesterday's hero: General Alvin Crowder, right handed ace of the St. Louis Browns who blanked the New York Yankees for the second successive time, 5 to 0. The Yankees have gone scoreless in four of the last five games with the Browns. Crowder allowed five hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals swept both games of a double header with the Boston Braves 11 to 4 and 7 to 1. Al Grabowski, Cardinal rookie hurler from Danville, fanned five in his initial major league effort.

With all the scoring packed into the first inning, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 4 and moved to within four games of mathematical certainty of winning the pennant. Lefty Groves failed to last an inning.

The Washington Senators slipped into a tie with Detroit for fifth place by virtue of a 5 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians. A three run rally in the eighth clinched the game.

METHODIST CHURCH CONGREGATIONAL BANQUET HONORS FROST'S FAMILY

The booster class room of the Methodist church was colorful in its setting Wednesday evening at seven o'clock when a banquet table laid in hollow square, was centered with around table, which seated the honor guests, the speakers, the toast-master, the pastor of the church and the artists who rendered the program, including personnel of Judge of Mrs. Cyrus B. Frost, their daughter Misses Wilda and Lura Mae; their sons, and Miss Gretchen Overton who had been the secretary for Judge Frost a number of years. T. L. Overbey, T. L. Fagg, Judge and Mrs. Earl Conner and Mmes. Mert McGlamary, D. L. Kinnaird; Everett Grisham and Madge Hearn, and Pastor George W. Shearer, who asked benediction before the formal service.

The tables were centered with tall handled baskets filled with roses, zinnias, bright hued begonia and plummy ferns. An outline of ferns and flowers traveled the tables' length, weaving in and around the handsome baskets.

The banquet was served cafeteria, under the direction of Mrs. June Kimble, by members of the Epworth League; Misses: Martha Frances Thomas, Loraine Taylor, Maurine Davenport, Jane Rotramel, Ruby Tindall, Wilda Frost, Lucile Brogdon, Adrien Steele, Lucile Brawner, Evelyn Hearn, William Leslie Jr., John Shearer, and Jack Frost. The plate provided baked chicken and ham; meat loaf cold slaw, escalloped potatoes, a variety of salads, stuffed eggs, pickles, stuffed tomatoes, iced tea, pie a la mode, and fruit frappe.

Mr. Overbey was a fluent toast-master and response of the speaker developed the immense strength and help Judge Frost has been to the church, to the community, and to the future of Eastland. A glowing tribute was paid to Judge Frost by his life long friend Judge Earl Conner, his subject "My Friend Cyrus" given with feeling. "The Frost's As Neighbors" by Judge Leslie developed the beauty of the worth of Christian character and its influence upon environment. "What the Frost Family Meant to the M. E. Church" was a glowing character tribute by Rev. Shearer. A toast to the Frost family was given in verse of clever meter by Miss Jane Rotramel.

T. L. Fagg, a steward for many years in the church, made an earnest response to the toast "Judge Frost as Steward in the Church." The program of piano, Chopin Nocturne in G Minor, rendered by Mrs. McGlamary, introduced the following numbers spaced between toasts: "Love's Sweet Song," voice Durango to Mazatlan in two hours. The rail journey requires five days.

Not far from Brownsville is the largest natural palm grove in the United States. As the visitor approaches he sees ebony trees and native huts covered with palm leaves—a la the South Sea islands. Countless palm trees tower to a great height. A narrow road has been hacked through the jungle. So tangled are the tropical vines that at high noon the sun's rays penetrate but dimly. Chattering apes with cocoanuts in their paws are the only element lacking to convince one he is in Africa.

On the opposite bank of the Rio Grande from Brownsville is Matamoros, a progressive Mexican city of 10,000. This writer saw the Matamoros Rotary club in session, with the same comradeship present that one finds at a Texas Rotary club. The plaza with its band concerts, the curio shops, bars, market and quaint streets are viewed by several thousand tourists daily.

Lieut. Governor Speaks Before Ranger Meeting

Barry Miller in Address Before Joint Meeting of Lions and Rotarians, Urges Hearers Carry Out Duties as Citizens.

Ranger Texas Sept. 12.—"The question is being asked, 'What is the matter with government?' Crime seems to be striking at the foundations of government," declared Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller in an eloquent address before a joint session of the Ranger Rotary and Lions clubs Wednesday at noon in the green room of the Gholson hotel.

"The great error is the belief that good government can come from the enactment of laws," he continued. "Congress passed 5,000 laws and the legislature passed a thousand, yet crime increases. There are more men and women in Texas prisons than ever before—more than 5,000 convicts."

After telling his hearers that the majority of the prisoners in federal penitentiaries and in the Texas prison are under the age of 25, the lieutenant governor declared that this nation must return to God and to the old-fashioned idea of home. Other nations have waxed strong, great and prosperous and then have fallen, he warned.

Then he declared to his audience: "You are the government and no government can be better than the men who compose it." He stressed the obligation and duty to serve on juries and of voting.

The speaker appealed to the citizenship to meet the duties of a citizen in peace just as their forefathers had met the duties in time of war when they dared the might of Great Britain in '76 and when they fought at the Alamo and at San Jacinto for Texas' liberty.

"I am in favor of economy but even if it would be necessary to tax you to the limit, I would favor doing it if thereby every barefoot boy in the state could receive a high school education—and I would make history the chief study of the curriculum," Miller declared, amid applause. Although our forefathers did not have the radio and electric lights, they were as wise as we are as they proved when they penned the state and

BEAUTY, HISTORY, PROGRESS

Are Brownsville Characteristics; International Airport is Immense.

By Staff Correspondent BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 12.—It would be difficult to find within the borders of the United States a more picturesque yet progressive city than Brownsville on the southern tip of this nation, within that famed area known as the Magic Valley and within proximity to the Gulf of Mexico whose cooling breeze fans the brow throughout the summer.

The old and the new, the past and the present rub shoulders here. Where else could you find a trolley car, made half a century ago that was used in Mexico and looking like a dead-ringer for the Toonerville trolley; and a locomotive that was brought to Texas in 1863 and is said to be the oldest engine in the State—while in this same city is the most magnificent international airport of the Western hemisphere where Colonel Lindbergh, Captain Hawks, Amelia Earhart and Captain Eaker have been at the same time?

Here you will find beautiful homes and modern business edifices while a few blocks away are Fort Brown, one of the oldest army posts in this half of the nation and the house where Robert E. Lee and U. S. Grant attended a dance. You can see, still standing, the building that was the headquarters of Gen. Zachary Taylor in the War with Mexico; they can point out to you a battlefield, and another historic place is the house where Porfirio Diaz lived while he made his plans to seize the reins of power in Mexico—an undertaking in which he was successful and for many years ruled the Silver republic.

Reverting to Brownsville's airport: It covers 640 acres and this mile square of smooth, level terrain represents an expenditure of $300,000 by the city. It has been leased for a nominal amount and the company has agreed to spend half a million dollars for improvements in the next 10 years and another half million dollars in the following 10 years. At the end of that time, the field goes back to the city.

The aviation payroll in Brownsville is around $500,000 a year. There are lines to Tampico, Mexico City, Central and South America; to Monterrey, Torreon, Durango and Mazatlan; and the T.A.T. to Fort Worth and Dallas, connecting to the North and East. The government is installing beacon lights every 10 miles and arranging emergency landing fields not further than 30 miles apart along the Brownsville-Dallas route.

Great Palm Grove At the airport headquarters, there are immigration, customs and agricultural representatives of the United States and Mexico, American and Mexican postoffices and a United States weather bureau.

In one of the big hangars at the time of our visit there were three tri-motored Ford planes as well as a number of smaller ships. How aviation has almost blotted out distances may be realized when one learns that Mexico City to the south of the sluggish Rio Grande, is only five hours from Brownsville. The airplane is playing a great part in Mexico due to that nation's great distances, high mountains and deep canyons. A passenger by plane can go from federal constitutions and we have gotten far from those constitutions.

The speaker urged observance of law, whether the individual personally approved of a law or not. "The strest way to get a bad law repealed is to enforce it," he said. "I have no fear that this government will ever be destroyed from without. Only a few years ago, the flower of the youth of our land proved that when they sprang to her defense."

But he said if America fell, it would be because of forces within—chiefly the inactivity of her own citizens. He referred to the recent election of constitutional amendments when only 10 per cent of the people voted and he said thoughtful men were inclined toward the law in France which fines a man if he fails to vote unless he was sick; for the second failure, he is placed in jail, and for the third failure to cast a ballot, he is disfranchised for seven years.

The address was one of the most impressive and forceful that the Ranger clubs have ever heard. Loud and prolonged applause greeted the conclusion.

Edw. R. Maher in a few words filled with praise introduced the speaker of the day who was greeted with applause, everyone rising. M. R. Newham, president of the Rotary club, presided. The Rev. P. T. Stanford pronounced the invocation. Visiting Rotarians included E. H. Cope of Fort Worth and Dr. J. T. Wilson of Eastland. There were a number of guests, the banquet hall being filled. Lion President C. J. Moore dismissed the session with the Lions giving their famous roar.

Dr. Randolph Clark, one of the founders of Texas Christian university, was present and Lieutenant Governor Miller paid tribute in his address to the educator, who formerly was senate chaplain. Miller said that Dr. Clark's efforts would live "after we and our children have died, so richly has he wrought in the realm of education."

Boy" in the United States but not to be confused with Gainsborough's "Blue Boy," for $295,000 to an unnamed American.

Now it is revealed that in 1926 the picture was sold in London for $8,500 by Walter Burns who inherited it from his mother. A sister of the late J. P. Morgan. Burns sold the picture after the National Gallery ruled that it was not of sufficient "national importance" to be exempt from death duties.

"Master Tennant" is a comparatively unknown Romney portrait in blue of the young son of William Tennant. Romney obtained $250 for the study.

A member of the London's most prominent art gallery said the price paid for this picture was "most surprising." "It merely shows," he said, "that the ordinary standards of art values which we recognize in this country absolutely go by the board in America. A picture would not have said the picture was worth more than ten or fifteen thousand dollars at the outside."

"Rich Americans," he concluded, "often collect pictures at high prices because the possession of them is one thing which distinguishes one millionaire from another."

CALLOW SAYS WEST HAS ADVANTAGES IN ROWING
BY UNITED PRESS
ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 10.—Western men are larger and have a distinct advantage over eastern collegians in sport, according to Rusty Callow, formerly of Pennsylvania rowing coach, who led here recently.

The late season prevents turnouts for rowing. West another advantage sport, he declared. "The men on the east coast are smaller than those on the west, and because most attending college are more than Western collegians, strength and stamina of the easterners," he said. "We had only 24 men for crew at Pennsylvania last year. I used to have 100 at Washington."
