Gen. Romulo Proud Of Philippines Press

By ED NASH Pampa News Staff Writer An ex-newspaperman who was with MacArthur during World War II and now heads the Philippine delegation to the United Nations is convinced his native country has "the freest press in the world."

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, in Pampa today for a meeting of the Top of Texas Knife and Fork Club tonight, said that the press was the main reason the 1953 election, which Ramon Magaysay won overwhelmingly, was a free one.

"The government overlooks libel laws," the former publisher and editor of four Manila newspapers declared. Country Has Liked Reds Gen. Romulo, who received part of his education at Columbia University, also credits the press - and radio - with helping to keep the Communists out of action.

"The Philippines is the only country in Asia where Communism has been successfully defeated," he said. But it is Magaysay, under whose appointment he is special envoy to the United States with the title of ambassador, that really did the job.

Magaysay, who was Philippines secretary of defense before he was elected president, built up the Philippines Army and riddled it of graft and corruption, the UN delegate said. After World War II, the Hukos began to gain ground and "in 1950 they could have taken over the government."

At that time Army officers were wont to tell how many Hukos they had been killing. So, recalls Gen. Romulo, Magaysay bought 1,000 cameras and told his officers to take pictures whenever they killed any Hukos. There were no more big statements on slain Hukos. Agrarian Reforms What has really pulled the Philippines up has been the idea of

"land for the landless," Gen. Romulo continued. That is how Magaysay got many a Huk - including their chief, Moscow-trained Luis Taruc - to surrender, and how he was elected president. Gen. Romulo said he was against admitting Red China to the UN (one qualification for UN membership is to be a "peace-loving nation"), that he hoped something "definite" would be done about the Korean stalemate before the

UN adjourns Dec. 7 and that whether Chiang Kai-shek would be able to return to the Chinese mainland was "the 94th question - I don't know the answer." In August, 1941, Gen. Romulo remembered, he took trip throughout Southeast Asia, wrote a series of articles for an American syndicate and received a Pulitzer Prize. He predicted the Japanese would attack before the end of Both Batchelor and Dickenson, who is serving a 10-year sentence on conviction of charges similar to those lodged against the Texan, were "progressives" (Communist sympathizers) during their long captivity in North Korea. They, along with 21 other Americans and one Briton, rejected repatriation and planned to become "peace fighters" for communism.

Batchelor and Dickenson later changed their minds and returned to American lines at Kaesong after the normal prisoner exchange had been completed. Lt. Col. Donald E. Manes Jr., law officer (judge) for Batchelor's eight-officer court martial, ruled Wednesday that Batchelor now is sane enough to be tried. But he refused to rule whether Batchelor was sane when he admittedly collaborated with the Reds, and said that was a question for the court martial to decide.

"The defendant has sufficient mental capacity at this time to stand trial," Manes ruled. "On the question of his sanity at the time of collaboration, I will submit that to the court."

Should the eight officers, all veterans of Korea, decide Batchelor was insane, as his defense lawyer contends, they will announce that Rogers Slates Capital Visit Rep. Walter Rogers, of Pampa, returns to Washington, D. C., Sunday, but will be back at his Comba-Worley Building desk the morning of Oct. 11.

Originally, he had been scheduled to be in Washington two to three weeks. He is in Amarillo today and will be in Hartley tonight. Friday he will be in Amarillo for appointments.

Van Fleet Says Reds Got 'Tip'

'Knew U.S. Would Not Attack Them'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 - UP - Gen. James A. Van Fleet is convinced the Red Chinese were tipped off that the United States would not attack their home bases, if they entered the Korean war. The former commander of the Eighth Army in Korea said he is sure the Chinese Communists would not have crossed the Yalu River into Korea unless they had received advance assurances they would be no U. S. retaliation on the Chinese homeland.

"It is my own conviction that there must have been information to the enemy that we would not attack his home bases," the retired general said last Wednesday. He made a "guess" that the Reds got the assurance through some embassy source in Peiping.

Van Fleet, who just returned from a special military survey mission to the Far East for President Eisenhower, reported his views in testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. He planned to submit a confidential report on his trip to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson Thursday.

In his testimony, Van Fleet insisted the United States should break relations with Russia, that the Chinese Nationalists should have been used in Korea, and that the United States should withdraw from the United Nations and expel its headquarters if Red China is admitted.

Asked whether any Americans were involved on the "Communist side" when he was in Greece from 1948 to 1950, Van Fleet said Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of the U. S. economic mission there, had "difficulties" with Homer Bigart, correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune.

Army To Add Five Divisions WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 - UP - The Army is going to transfer thousands of GI's from desks and training units in the next two years to give the nation five new combat divisions despite sharp manpower cuts.

Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens announced the decision at a news conference last Wednesday. He said it is tailored to fit "conditions short of general war" and "current strength and budget limitations."

He also announced a major shift in the rotation system for overseas troops to create more esprit de corps, spur re-enlistments and boost combat effectiveness. Starting next summer, the Army will rotate men overseas on a division and unit basis rather than as individual replacements. Each division will serve 33 months overseas and 31 months in this country. Draftees will be trained at home but spend 17 of their 24 months in overseas service.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army Chief of Staff who took part in Stevens' news conference, said the Army will continue to have nine divisions assigned overseas, as far ahead as he can see. This will include five divisions in Europe, three in the Far East and one in Hawaii.

Juvenile Delinquency Report Judge Tells Ways To Combat Crime

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second in a series on juvenile delinquency. Its author is a judge in a Brooklyn criminal court and, as such, he has been dealing closely for years with juvenile crime. The United Press asked him if he could list 10 ways a community could combat crime among its youth. This is his provocative reply.

By JUDGE SAMUEL LEIBOWITZ NEW YORK, Sept. 30 - UP - The terrifying juvenile crime problem is not going to be solved this year, or next year, or the next. If we are sensible and lucky, it will take a whole generation to cure. I only wish it were possible to list 10 ways a community could approach its juvenile problem with some assurance those 10 ways would work.

In any public library you will find volume upon volume discussing the causes and cures of juvenile delinquency. They cover the problem pretty well and there is not much to add except this: These books, and the youth clubs, recreation programs and constructive social attitudes they advocate, may be of help. But if the problem of juvenile crime is to be solved it must be attacked at its very roots. Those roots lie in the American home. Too many Americans are worshipping the fruits of life. In too many homes the only "good" seems to be the new refrigerator, the high-powered car or the television set. These objects are virtually worshipped as symbols of the "best." State To Rule On Successor For McCarran

By ROBERT BENNHOF RENO, Nev., Sept. 30 - UP - State Attorney General William Mathews was expected to rule Thursday on Gov. Charles Russell's authority to appoint a successor to Sen. Pat McCarran, veteran Nevada Democrat who died Tuesday.

Russell, a Republican facing a stiff battle for re-election, said flatly he will name a member of his party to replace McCarran, if the state's election laws permit him to do so. He ruled himself out as McCarran's successor.

Mathews, a Democrat, gave no indication how he would iron out the controversy created by McCarran's death. Democrats disputing Russell's powers cited an ambiguous provision in Nevada election laws which says "vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary election shall be filled by the party in Committee of the county, district or state, as the case may be. Such action shall be taken not less than 30 days prior to the November general election."

The general election is only 33 days away. Consequently, State Chairman Keith Lee of Reno called a meeting of the Democratic State Central committee for Friday afternoon "for the purpose of nominating a candidate for U. S. senator."

The Republicans insisted, however, the law applied only to offices on the ballot in November, whereas McCarran's term would not have expired until 1957. Most observers conceded that if the issue goes to the voters, the Democrats would most likely retain the Senate seat.

Navy Accepts Delivery Of A-Sub Today

GROTON, Conn., Sept. 30 - UP - The world's first atomic submarine, the "Nautilus," will be turned over to the Navy Thursday in a history-making ceremony which will usher in new concepts of warfare at sea.

The Nautilus, which is believed to be capable of circling the globe without resurfacing, will be accepted by Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, at 2 p.m. est.

The Navy will enter a new epoch when the commissioning pennant, a narrow hunting with seven stars, is run up the $55 million submarine's short mast at the top of its conning tower.

The Nautilus is the first ship which will be driven by atomic energy. A few pounds of uranium in its revolutionary new powerplant is expected to supply enough power for 30 days at sea without resurfacing.

The vessel will be manned by select and highly trained specialists. Its 12 officers and 85 enlisted men were assembled as long as three years ago to learn their complex jobs.

Rejects Plea Of 'Enlarged' Brussels Pact

LONDON, Sept. 30 - UP - Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told the nine-nations German rearmament conference Thursday that the United States will insist upon retaining control of the nature and disposition of U. S. aid to any European defense organization.

He flatly rejected a French proposal that control over American arms aid be turned over to an enlarged Brussels alliance. Dulles said the United States will consult with the interested powers on the placement of American offshore procurement contracts. But he emphasized that the final decision in that matter too must remain with the United States.

Dulles clarification of the American attitude on control of aid nipped an attempt by French Premier Pierre Mendes-France to enlarge the diplomatic victory he won Wednesday when Britain promised to maintain four divisions of British troops in the continent to back up Europe's new defense organization. Dulles also promised that American troops would remain on the continent if the defense arrangement is worked out at the current conference. But he warned that U. S. troops might be withdrawn if the conference fails.

Thursday's defeat was the first that rebuffed Mendes-France has encountered since he came here to bargain sharply for a western European defense arrangement, tailored to French plans.

Authoritative sources said the French premier pressed at Thursday morning's sessions for further concessions from his erstwhile allies in the defense arrangement. Brussels pact control of arms aid and even more firm commitments on the stationing of American and British troops in Europe were said to have been among his objectives.

Cold Stalled In Panhandle

Tornadoes, electrical storms and high winds struck at North Texas and in Oklahoma Wednesday night, and forecasters said the rains are expected to continue at least to Thursday night, but without so much turbulence. A cold front that carried hope of a relief from the heat for Texas was still stalled Thursday in the upper Panhandle.

"It will probably be a stalemate for another 24 hours," a forecaster said, "but it's expected to move deeper into Texas eventually, probably late tomorrow or early Saturday."

At least four tornadoes were reported in Texas and three in Oklahoma, but the weather bureau doubted that most of the reports actually were tornadoes. One was reported at Decatur, Tex., another at Kennedale, another northeast of Dallas and another near Perrin Air Force Base at Sherman.

Martin Dies To Speak Here

Rep. Martin Dies, congressman-at-large from Lufkin, will be the featured speaker Oct. 12 at the annual Oil Progress Week banquet in the Pampa Country Club. George Cree, Jr., chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and oil and gas committee, which is sponsoring the special week in Pampa, late this morning, said Rep. Dies had agreed to attend.

His subject has not been announced, but it has been reported it will be a "dilly" of a speech. Rep. Walter Rogers will introduce Rep. Dies and in turn, will be introduced by Curtis Douglas, a Pampa attorney. Dies was scheduled to show up last year for the event, but cancelled his engagement at the last minute, Cree said. There will be a social hour from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Oct. 12. Cree continued. Then there will be dinner and, following it, the speech by Dies.

The State Department has demanded that Communist Poland and Hungary release Herman Field, upper left, and his brother, Noel, and his wife, Herta, upper right, who disappeared behind Iron Curtain in 1949. Police Hold Prime Suspect In Boy's Death

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Sept. 30—UP—Police questioned a 30-year-old music salesman about the bludgeoned murder of eight-year-old Jimmie Bremmer Thursday and said they "think we have the right man."

Jimmie's decapitated, mutilated body was found in an open field near here Wednesday. The boy disappeared four weeks ago and thousands of persons had searched a three-state area for him.

Questioning of the itinerant music salesman, an Omaha, Neb., resident, was stepped up after the chance discovery of Jimmie's body.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that Sioux City police were in contact with police in Auburn, Maine, concerning the disappearance and slaying of a 12-year-old boy there last July.

Police here called the salesman, who specializes in children's music, their "prime suspect."

The salesman, who has not been publicly identified, was picked up a few days after Jimmie's disappearance Aug. 31. He admitted talking to a boy of Jimmie's description shortly before the lad's disappearance, but denied any knowledge of his death.

However, police said, a lie detector test showed the salesman had not told the truth about some phases of the investigation.

Jimmie's body, shirtless but still clad in the blue dungarees he wore when he disappeared, was found by two county road workers four miles from the lad's home—the vicinity where he was last seen.

The left side of the boy's head was battered in and the head was severed from the body. Investigators said decomposition made it impossible to tell whether the killer had cut off the boy's head or whether it was the work of marauding animals or natural processes.

Boys Ranch Official Guest Speaker At Optimist Meeting

"Boys from all walks of life have made their home at Boys Ranch in Amarillo the past 16 years, with a majority turning out to be outstanding citizens," Daune Engholm, chaplain of the ranch, told the Pampa Optimist Club members last night.

Engholm, who has been associated with the Amarillo Boys Ranch since 1932, was the guest speaker at the weekly Optimist meeting at the Schmeider Hotel Pine Room last night.

"Between 800 and 900 boys have come and gone at the Boys Ranch since Cal Farley established the home 16 years ago," Engholm said.

"A majority of the boys come from broken homes and through the courts but their training at Boys Ranch usually straightens them out," Engholm added.

"We've only had about 20 boys of the estimated 900 who have gotten in trouble with the law after leaving the ranch which is a good percentage," Engholm continued.

Engholm is winding up his duties at the Boys Ranch as he leaves next week for Japan to do missionary work.

"Being a missionary has been a long ambition of mine," Engholm said, "and although I hate to leave the Ranch, I believe I've made the right decision on going to Japan as a missionary."

'Skeeter' Horde Invades Orange ORANGE, Tex., Sept. 30—UP—Orange county residents, plagued by the worst mosquito invasion in years, hoped for federal action Thursday to help combat the menace.

Mayor Joe Runnels Jr., Orange, has appealed to Texas Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Price Daniel and Rep. Jack Brooks for "immediate aid."

Runnels, joined in the plea by West Orange and Cove City officials, said steps were being taken to organize a mosquito control district "but we are powerless to do anything about the immediate problem."

Officials said swarms of mosquitoes were invading the area from nearby Louisiana marshes faster than city workers can fog likely breeding places.

ROMULO (Continued from page one) It was after Pearl Harbor that Gen. Romulo joined the Army and was put on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff. "I was with him during the whole war." It was after the war that he became resident commissioner of the Philippines in Washington and helped establish the UN in 1945 in San Francisco.

His father was a governor of one of the Philippines' 49 provinces and knew William Howard Taft when he was the first U. S. civil governor. "I grew up with the late Bob Taft. We were close friends."

When he leaves politics, the general will not return to newspapering, though. He will continue to write books. His sixth, tentatively titled "Crusade in Asia," will be published in January.

Right now, he is "playing hooky" from the UN and will speak in the Pampa High School, following dinner at 7:30 p.m. today in the cafeteria.

Still, though he will not return to the newspaper profession, he goes all-out for newspapering. "It's the greatest training, a great school, superb for diplomatic work," Gen. Romulo is the proof of it.

Housing Scandals

Do you just yawn, the story with the above headline being just one of the series of scandals by which Uncle Sam and his maze of federal institutions are sinking down so far as to undermine the foundations of our faith in all government?

This story reeks with more of the political shenanigans of the Federal Housing Administration.

Only a few citizens have glimpsed the inner workings of this vast bureaucracy.

Only a few can see that the political insuring of mortgage loans creates a standing invitation for crooks, great and small, to come dip into the gravy-boat of politics.

Only a few can know that the honest mortgage banker, the honest promoter of real estate development, the honest builder, architect, engineer, and, above all, the honest appraiser, is at a disadvantage when he deals with one of its offices. That by its very nature, the FHA makes it extremely profitable to be crooked. But this is so! The stories of the scandals have explained it all . . . how the statutory 80 per cent or 90 per cent loan can become the 110 per cent or 120 per cent loan by a mere stretching of a statement of valuation by a politically appointed valuator.

Political lending. How did politics get into the loan rockets in the first place?

It was back when the Communal-Social idea of sharing the wealth through a political redistribution of the earnings of production was imported. The New Deal developed the idea of communal lending as "emergency" depression policy. And it turned out to be such a promised land of political milk and honey that, at once, Washington promoted the idea that welfare lay in an individual, a family, a corporation, a municipality, a state or a nation getting into debt for:

- (1) As many projects as possible.
- (2) As large an amount as possible.
- (3) As long a term as possible.

This created wealth. Bonds and mortgages, including Government Bonds, became accepted evidences of wealth in their new books of economics. Thus it became the social obligation of governments to provide as many permanent and convenient "counters for borrowing in the shortest possible time. More especially for veterans of wars who could get extra large loans for terms up to the rest of their natural lives.

Private commercial or mortgage bankers must in theory, at least, be prudent and think of the day of repayment in appraising the pledged collateral.

Not so with politicians and their great heart and open hand.

One of the first acts of the government of social experiment was to slip a cushion under those who had borrowed unwisely in the boom markets in creating RFC for the bruised corporation and Home Owners Loan Corporation for the buyers of over-priced houses.

Wonderful! Both borrower and lender had thought they were stuck in those days when the pledged property was often worthless or a liability. And so popular was the general idea that opposition was almost nil when Congress "gave the people" the method and the means to reckless credit in a whole catalog of communal lending corporations. And how the administrators and manipulators made all this popular with the private bankers, especially the big ones who became the brokers of easy loans is another sickening story of national bribery of a whole people WITH THEIR OWN TAX MONEY. And now what?

Will they abolish FHA and its inherent evils as a discredited institution by which the all-powerful state tried to supplant natural laws of risk and repayment with political whim and favor?

Ask your Congressman or Senator.

If he is reasonably frank and honest, he will tell you that like the RFC whose evil life was prolonged, the FHA is the refuge and meal ticket for too many poor relations of too many politicians. And the milk-cow of too many generous campaign contributors.

Are we too easy-going to care?

I. THE WAY TO PEACE

V. ORVAL WATTS PH.D. (Christian Economics) Would surrender of national sovereignties to a world government bring peace to the world? Let us see. Great Britain held sovereignty over many peoples in 1776. It tried to remain that sovereignty by an imperial force similar to the world police force that many persons think might keep peace today. Yet part of that Empire, the 13 American Colonies, challenged its widespread sovereignty and won their independence.

On the other hand, when Great Britain gave Canada, Australia and New Zealand virtual independence, the ties of Empire grew stronger. This appeared in the way these dominions answered the call to arms in 1914 and 1939.

Evidently, then, a big government cannot guarantee peace within its borders, and complete independence of governments does not prevent cooperation.

The truth is, I believe, that the way to peace is not at all through surrender of national sovereignties, but through individual freedom and growth of understanding. This was the faith of the Founding Fathers of these United States, and insofar as they and their descendants acted upon it, there was peace among the members of this Nation.

Results of Our Foreign Policy

Here is the last installment of Howard Buffett's article in Faith and Freedom under the heading of Global Intervention—On Its Record.

Could We Have Stayed Out of War?

Here is a good place to review another propaganda legend. For fifteen years Americans have been told that if we had entered the League of Nations everything would have worked out okay and the second world war would not have occurred.

To assess this claim, let's just make a little comparison. On the one hand, "isolationists" kept us out of the League of Nations, and for twenty years there was no serious conflict in the world.

On the other hand, beginning with 1939 and markedly since 1945, the advocates of global intervention have gotten their way on every scheme they have proposed. We went into the United Nations, whole - hog; and five years later found ourselves in a bloody conflict in Korea.

The whole story since 1939 hardly needs retelling. First our resources were poured into the hands of those who were fighting Hitler. As the strain of this burden increased, it became essential to those nations and to the continued big boom in America that we enter our military forces as well as our resources, in that war.

The existence of the secret determination to plunge our military into the war was revealed in the postwar publication of Secretary of War Stimson's diary. Secretary Stimson wrote in his diary on November 25, 1941 (after returning to his office from a cabinet meeting):

"The question was how to maneuver the Japs into the position of firing the first shot without allowing too much danger to ourselves."

The question was soon solved. Exactly twelve days later the United States was at war.

In that war approximately 40 thousand Americans died in uniform, while 300 thousand plus came home mental cases. Probably 300 thousand more came back so scarred by war that normal life was out of the question. A million of our best youth were sacrificed.

But that is only part of that story. With a million boys eliminated, a million American girls lost the chance for a normal life with husbands, homes and families. This is just a small part of the domestic cost of U. S. global intervention during World War II.

A tree is known by its fruits. This costly sacrifice—what were its fruits?

More Militarism—Out of World War II came a Russian Communist empire with control over 800 million people, one-third the population of the world. And now our military leaders are telling us that Russia constitutes the greatest menace in the history of the world.

They said that about the Kaiser in World War I. They said it about Hitler in World War II.

It is Russia that menace today, who made that power possible? Not the Russians!

Before we entered World War II, Germany and Japan stood on opposite sides of Russia like two great dikes, protecting their respective continents from the Slavo-Communist horde.

Who destroyed those dikes? It was not the Russians!

American military might—American global intervention—destroyed those dikes, and ended the balance of power that had confined the Russian bear to his lair for hundreds of years.

But that is only one phase of our peril.

At home we are now struggling with the financial consequences of thirty-seven years of global intervention. Today it is costing so much that it becomes only a question of time until we embrace communism by way of a debauched currency—by way of an alley that has elsewhere led straight to totalitarianism.

Simultaneously we are deep into the most gigantic preparation for war that the world has ever seen.

Our troops are in forty - nine lands or more. Our youth from 18 to 25 have lost their freedom. Our dollars pay the troops of a dozen or more countries. Our diplomatic somersaults frighten even those whom we call friends.

Global intervention—a tree is known by its fruits.

The question now is: Are our rulers doing any better at understanding and countering Russian moves today than they have done previously? If so, where is the evidence? Is it Korea? Indo-China? Europe?

Continued American global intervention is leading us into another war, and war that would result ultimately in global victory for communism. Whether the final masters in the empire of global communism would be Russian or otherwise could make little difference. Whoever the masters, there would be room for freedom or justice, for righteousness or opportunity.

Whether this total disaster comes about may depend on the action of American church people in the next few years. If the church people of America will stop blindly supporting global intervention, the policy may soon be abandoned.

Entangling Alliances With Nonesense—America can again be the light of the world—by restoring its faith in the Monroe Doctrine, and by Jefferson's time-tested injunction: "Peace, commerce, and honest friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none."

National Whirligig Conservative Republicans May Bring On Dem Congress

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Even though their open rebellion may give President Eisenhower a Democratic Congress to contend with for the next few years, Conservative Republicans are determined to defeat every New Dealish and liberal candidate on their Party's ticket in November.

They would prefer to rebuke Ike and lose control of Capitol Hill, if it will re-establish their control of the GOP. They want an immediate showdown on the future direction and policies of the national Administration and organization.

The anti-Eisenhower faction is well organized and heavily financed. It has underground leaders in almost every section of the country. Since it consists chiefly of politicians who worked for Senator Robert A. Taft's nomination in 1952, and of individuals who have helped to finance Senator "Joe" McCarthy's anti-Red campaign, they are professionals at the game, not amateurs.

It is not only Eisenhower's advocacy of so many Roosevelt-Truman reforms which they resent. In accord with the Taft-McCarthy philosophy, they oppose the Administration's general foreign policy, especially the assumption of so many responsibilities overseas and the costs which our new world leadership imposes upon American taxpayers.

Republicans' opposition to the New Jersey boss' nomination of Clifford P. Case for U. S. Senator represents the most spectacular example of their tactics.

Former Representative Case voted for many New Deal measures, and showed complete independence of the leadership on Capitol Hill.

Many organization leaders have announced that they will not support him. The plan seems to be to write in the name of former Representative Fred A. Hartley, Jr., who joined with Taft to write the Taft-Hartley Act.

In view of New Jersey's recent Democratic tendencies—their elected a Democratic Governor last year—this defection may cost the Republicans a seat from this normally GOP state. And Eisenhower cannot afford to lose many Senatorial contests, if he is to retain control of the Senate.

But the Case revolt, although the most publicized, is not the only seed of rebellion. The regulars and reactionaries may stay away from the polls in New York, where Senator Irving McNeil Ives has been nominated as the Republican candidate for Governor. Governor Thomas E. Dewey is anathema to so far we cannot turn back, the answer is simple. If we are not following policies contrary to our God's laws, and the record to date would seem to validate that conclusion, then we must turn back or perish. God is not likely to change the natural laws of the universe to accommodate our erroneous notions.

Jesus changed the world by persuasion and example. Only when we return to his methods will our actions become a blessing rather than a blight on the world.

The real question has now become, do we have the courage, and intelligence, to turn back while there is yet time?

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

"I have recently been told," writes M. K., "that I have Lupus erythematosus. I do not know anything about this disease but have been told that I must keep out of the sun entirely. Would you please discuss it?"

This disease, which was formerly considered rather rare, may be increasing; at any rate there seems to be a great deal of interest in it.

At times it appears to affect the skin alone and only a portion of the skin at that, but at others and too frequently it involves considerable parts of the body, and it must be considered as a generalized rather than as a skin disease.

THE DISEASE SEEMS TO involve certain tissues of the body which are the binding substances for the blood vessels. This tissue is called collagenous tissue. It has been studied a good deal in recent years but our knowledge of its functions and diseases is still far from clear.

Weakness, fatigue, and fever are common early signs of Lupus. Unlike many diseases accompanied by fever, there is a low white-blood count, that is, smaller than average number of white blood cells in the blood. Pains in the joints are also common.

Although the skin symptoms have long been considered characteristic, they may be absent at the beginning of the disease and sometimes never appear at all.

LUPUS ERYTHEMATOSIS is much more common in women than in men. It may start in children as young as six or eight years old. Its diagnosis has been simplified in recent years by an ingenious laboratory test.

The fever and joint pains are generally improved by using drugs like aspirin which contain salicylates.

Male hormones have been tried but have not been shown to have any definite effect on the course of the disease. The skin of patients with lupus erythematosus is frequently sensitive to light and usually has to be protected against sunlight. ACTH and cortisone have brought some good results.

There ought to be a law, you say—and there is—one that makes parents liable to a fine up to one thousand dollars and jail sentences up to six months if their children wilfully destroy public property.

"Other cities have laws like that, too," says Moses, "but they have the same experience we have—the penalties are too harsh so the law is ignored. Result: When the cops bring little Bush and his pals into court for twisting the tail off General Grant's horse, the Judge says, 'Tut, tut, boys will be boys—run along home now and don't do it again.' If anything, he's likely to bawl out the cops for picking on innocent children instead of catching murderers, so the police are tempted to look the other way when they surprise a young demolition gang at work."

"Besides," says Moses, "no cities have enough police to ride herd on these marauders and even if they had it's not the policemen's business to be nursemaids and teach youngsters good manners and civic virtues. This is the parents' responsibility and anything citizens can do to make them shoulder it instead of palming it off on the authorities should be encouraged and not sabotaged."

More On Hall-Mills Murder; Fake Seance Fails To Work

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LITCHFIELD, Conn. — Continuing yesterday's essay on the Hall-Mills murder case, after the failure of the seance with a female reporter disguised as "Madam Astra," Phil Payne, the wild editorial genius of the New York Daily News, thought it best to let Jimmy Mills stew in his juices a few weeks. Mr. Mills, relit of the pious lady who was married with the Rev. Edward G. Hull, dominion of a wealthy congregation at New Brunswick, N. J., had been enticed into a railroad flat in New York to hear a message from "the spirits." He had come up from New Brunswick in the company of another young lady reporter on Payne's staff whose byline was "Investigator." It was, to be frank, a dark plot.

Ellis Parker, a Quaker detective of national renown, sat behind the heavy velvet backdrop just back of Madam Astra's gilt musical comedy throne. A court reporter sat by him, but the next day, when Jimmy recounted the colloquy to Mr. Parker at his study in Mount Holy N. J., his version disagreed fundamentally with the transcript in Parker's drawer. During the seance, Madam Astra had urged the skinny little widow man to "go to your friend and confide in him." She had described the friend in terms which unmistakably meant Parker.

Jimmy Mills had met Parker several times during the wild investigation of the Hall-Mills murder case and now recognized him by Madam Astra's description. Parker had gone out of his way several times to cultivate Jimmy. He had flattered him with compliments on his cleverness in dealing with the county detectives and the suave slickers from the New York city papers. Parker told Mills he was determined to send a rich and haughty aristocrat to the chair at Trenton vindicating the principle of classless justice. That was why, on the morning after the seance in New York, Jimmy told "Investigator" of his intention to go right to Parker. But the interview with Parker at Mount Holy washed out and Phil Payne put the Hall-Mills case in his future book.

A month later, Payne summoned "Investigator" and called in Otto Liveright, an author's agent who was, in domestic life, the husband of Madam Astra. She was one of Payne's best reporters, with experience as an actress and voluptuous qualities. Mr. Liveright had volunteered to act as esoteric consort to his wife at the seance. Accordingly, he had hired at a masquerade studio a turban with an Atlantic star and crescent, purple harem pants such as cucumbers traditionally wear, and satin slippers, upturned like scorpions. He had a complexion the shade of dairy lunch toast. He was plausible that night in the parlor of the railroad flat which had been invested with oriental mystery by income from a brass kettle and other props from Cain's theatrical boneyard.

Now, after the interim, Phil Payne invoked Mr. Liveright to make a sudden apparition to Jimmy Mills in the dark of a winter night. Accordingly, Otto and "Investigator" set out in a chauffeured limousine. Otto was to knock sharply on Jimmy's door. When it opened he was to blurt, in pidgin: "You are bad man. Madam Astra, she suffer. You did not do truth. The spirits are very angry. Beware!"

But Jimmy went to the movies that night and did not mount the creaking outside stairs to his flat in a wooden tenement until 30 o'clock. Mr. Liveright pulled himself together and, with an eager bound, was up to Jimmy's place banging at his door. It was flung open.

"You are had man, she Otto began," Madam Astra, she suffer. With vulgar outcries, Jimmy Mills went for Otto waving a carrying knife. The New York author's agent sprang for the stairs and slid across the sidewalk and into the car and away. Mr. Mills stood there, brandishing his angry blade and filling the night air with coarse exclamations.

In New York, at the Liverights' railroad flat, Madam Astra and "Investigator" b r i d e g r o o m , a young journalist in the field of sport, offered one another warm consolation.

At five in the morning Otto and "Investigator" arrived. Some psychic force had denounced them to Jimmy Mills, nor was that made a false move in the blizzard, landing them in a railroad yard. This called for cops. They had been coarsely skeptical of Liveright's explanation that they were just returning from a masquerade ball. What ball? Where? A . . .

"At last they had talked their way free and made it home. This may be the first time that Jimmy Mills has heard the truth of his seance with Madam Astra, his visit to Ellis Parker and that oriental apparition on his back landing on a winter's night, 32 years ago. I am sure it is the first publication of a grand exploit, conspired by the tabloid city editor who had been a preliminary fighter in Union City, N. J., and became a fantasy in our journalism ere he went down in the Atlantic trying to fly to Rome."

Four Killed As Truck, Auto Crash

LEWISVILLE, Tex., Sept. 30 — UP — A dump truck and an automobile collided and caught fire Wednesday two miles north of Lewisville and another car plowed into the wreckage. Four persons were killed and four others injured. The dead were Louis Eugene Cox, 26; his wife, Bobbie, 22, and their son, Jimmy, 19 months, all of Corpus Christi, and L. R. Massey, 50, of Grand Prairie, Tex., who was driving the dump truck. The four injured persons were all in the car that plowed into the burning wreckage. Massey was trapped in the cab of his dump truck. The fire spread rapidly to the car, and kept burning even though the load of dirt in the dump truck fell on it. Darrell Arnold, 21, of Denton, who was driving the third car, said the dump truck crossed the double stripe in the highway just before the collision. He said he was driving right behind the Cox car and the collision was so sudden he was unable to stop. Arnold and the other persons in his car were injured. The others were Doris Boswell of Denton, H. G. Shelby of Denton and W. A. Pfeifer of Wichita Falls.

Six Missouri Cons Charged With Murder

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 30 — UP — Six Missouri penitentiary convicts were arraigned here Wednesday on charges of murdering Walter B. Donnell, 30, St. Louis fellow inmate, during the Sept. 22 prison riot in which three other convicts were killed. The six men, all serving robbery or larceny sentences, were taken from the prison to the Cole county courthouse six blocks away in a caravan of six highway patrol cars. Troopers armed with riot guns accompanied the convicts, who were attired in regular prison uniforms. Two convicts, handcuffed to each other, and two patrolmen rode in three of the cars. The other three vehicles served as escorts. All traffic had been cleared from the street in front of the courthouse but a good-sized crowd had gathered. There was no disturbance as the convicts were hustled inside. The men were identified as William R. Hoover, 23, Kansas City, serving five years for armed robbery; James W. Stidham, 28, Jasper county, 25 years for robbery; Rolfie M. Laster, 21, St. Joseph, 12 years for robbery; Paul G. Kenton, 23, Henry county, 16 years for burglary, larceny and jailbreak; Jackie Lee Noble, 26, St. Louis, 15 years for robbery, and Don William DeLapp, 19, Madison county, four years for burglary and larceny. The complaint charged that the men killed Donnell, an informer, with "dangerous and deadly weapons with a sledgehammer and a knife... and their fists and hands and feet."

Solon Seeks Water Fund

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 — UP — Rep. Harold Parish said Wednesday he will introduce a constitutional amendment in the next legislature calling for creation of a multi-million dollar water development fund, similar to that administered by the veterans land board. The Portland legislator would build up the fund, used to guarantee state-sponsored bond issues, through levying of a one-cent per $100 ad valorem tax. This would yield about $85,000 a year, he said. A "Texas Water Development Board" — composed of the governor, attorney general and comptroller — would administer the fund. In practice, the state would guarantee bond obligations up to $200 million. Texas would borrow the money and loan it at the same interest rate to local governmental units to finance water development programs. The projects would be paid for, Parish said, through sale of power and water.

Employe Cleared In Python Escape

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30 — UP — Fort Worth's park board Wednesday had cleared Harry Jackson, owner of Forest Park zoo's 14-foot python, of negligence in the reptile's escape Sept. 18. The board Tuesday called Jackson to appear before it and answer questions concerning the escape. After the board meeting, the members went to the zoo and inspected the reptile exhibit. Hamilton Hillson, city park director, said Wednesday that the board members were convinced "there was no negligence involved in the snake's escape."

Shaver Defense To Begin Today

BRADY, Tex., Sept. 30 — UP — Attorneys for Jimmy Shaver, Grapeland, Tex., airman being tried for the rape-murder of a three-year-old girl, were to begin presentation of their defense Thursday. The state rested Wednesday after introducing a statement Shaver gave after he was arrested last July 4, the day after Chere Jo Horton was killed. "If she was raped, and if she is dead," the statement said, "then I must be responsible, since I was the one who picked her up and put her in my car." Chere Jo disappeared from a tavern the night of July 3, while her parents visited with the tavern owner. Defense attorneys asked if Shaver hadn't been beaten during the questioning before the statement was signed, but officers denied it. The Bexar county health officer, Dr. G. D. Boyd, testified he examined Shaver that day and found no bruises or other signs of a beating.

Texan Claims Property Tax Is On Way Out

BRETTON WOODS, N.H., Sept. 30 — UP — The property tax is on its way out as a source of government revenue, according to a Houston, Tex., businessman. William E. Davis Jr., told a tax conference here that property taxes accounted for 74 per cent of city revenue in the United States in 1932 and only 52 per cent in 1950. "Other types of taxes such as sales, gross receipts, corporation, and personal income taxes are becoming increasingly important as sources of government revenue," he said. He said the property tax is unfair in many cases because it is assessed without regard to income from the property as in the case of homes and businesses. Davis, an official of the Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp. of Houston, also attacked the system of politically-controlled and unpaid tax assessors for placing "uninformed men in a professional job."

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screens: How many old movies are running on TV? I didn't count them but a survey firm did — 3,282. But about 3,183 should be re-cut — right down the middle.

Heartbreak note: For the first time, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll aren't on the set during the shooting of the "Amos 'n' Andy" telefilms to help Alvin Childress and Spencer Williams, their video counterparts.

Gosden is still grief-stricken over the tragic death of his young son a few weeks ago and Correll is devoting himself to helping his own son recover from polio.

The controversial life story series on Marilyn Monroe in a London newspaper ends with the star returning to Tokyo and telling Joe DiMaggio about the cheers she drew from G.I.'s in Korea.

"You've never heard anything like the cheering," she tells Joe. "Yes, I have," replies Joe. "Don't let it go to your head. They'll boo you as loud as they cheer you. Just miss the ball once and see."

JESS BARKER is no longer singing extra choruses of the "Let's Reconcile, Susan" song. Pals of the Victor Matures who have chewed their nails during past marital upheavals insist that there is still a chance of Dorothy changing her mind about the divorce. They point out that she filed once before.

Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, who once watched every dollar, can now relax. From now on out, they will earn more than the quarter of a million between them every 365 days.

Donald O'Connor's spring is out of the hospital and recuperating with daddy at his beach home. Donald, by the way, is collecting material again for another stab at his autobiography. He started writing it a couple of years ago, then shelved the idea.

The Shellie Connelly who is apt to wind up as the next Mrs. Guy Madison was once wed to movie producer Harry Danziger.

FRED MACMURRAY and June Haver have agreed not to work together as a co-star team. Despite all the Mr. and Mrs. Scripts and the big-money offers, they'll stick to their guns as solo stars. But there's still doubt in June's mind about whether she'll ever return to emoting.

If they listen to Jack Palance's advice about husband and wife cost a fling team, they won't change their minds. Jack isn't denying those hectic backstage rows with wife Virginia Baker in a Chicago summer stock production of "Dark of the Moon." he says:

"I'm not the easiest man in the world to get along with. My wife is a good actress but I believe she'll really do her best without my presence on the same stage. And she believes the same about me."

Casting dancing cuties for Roz Russell's comedy, "The Girl Rush, Producer Fred Brisson sent down orders:

"They must put a strain on a sweater — but none on the imagination."

Mario Lanza and his ex-business manager, Sam Weiler, have been meeting to discuss their differences. Both want to avoid a court hearing if possible. Dorothy Shay is warbling it at the Cal-Neva Casino at Tahoe: "Just A-Waitin' for Chips That Never Come In."

MARILYN MAXWELL'S expected to wed Jerry Davis but ex-fiance Johnny Fobbs has been visiting her in Vegas. It's pure vaginal witchcraft by Peggy Lee in a new Disney cartoon feature, "Lady and the Tramp." The warbler is the voice of a young bride, a dog and a pair of Siamese cats.

Marilyn Thorpe, just as beautiful and as talented as mama Mary Astor was when she quered it on the screen, admits there's a temporary roadblock on her career road. Anxious for a return to greaseland after becoming a mama, she told me:

"The opinion of some people is that I appear so 'unusual,' so 'un-Hollywood,' that they think I'm not interested in working. The truth is I love acting." Living with Marilyn and her hubby is her 15-year-old half-brother, Mary's son, Tono del Campo.

Name of a speedboat used for movie water skiing scenes at Balboa: FANNY DUNKER.

Russian A-Blast Dust Detected

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 —UP—Radioactive dust "presumably borne by winds from the explosion of a Russian nuclear weapon" has been detected here by monitoring instruments at the Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Dr. Leonard Ruffel, supervisor of the nuclear physics section, said the detonation has stepped up Chicago's "radiation content" to approximately 700 counts per minute.

However, Ruffel said the present count is much less than that given off by a luminous dial watch.

SUSPECT

By Hugh Lawrence Neison

THE STORY: Everyone seems to be lying without reason. Jim Dunn thinks after the sheriff arrives to investigate the death of Mrs. Angella Jones, whose body was found in the cellar of a basement lodge occupied by Jim's club. Jim, a private detective, and his wife had been passing as caretakers at the lodge while working for Mrs. Kit Carson, who thinks she is suspected of what may be an unsolved murder on the West Coast. Miss Wister, Dunn's secretary, arrives unexpectedly and seems not to be telling the truth about her association with Angella. And even the woman sheriff, Mrs. Tully Argyle, seems strangely peculiar.

XV
"I think of it," Mrs. Gelstrap said. "A lady sheriff." She looked her lips, appeared happier. The aroma of good whiskey was heavy, but the cook appeared in full possession of her faculties. "In a hurry to clean up, wouldn't you?" Agnes Argyle demanded.
"I'm always cleaning up," Mrs. Gelstrap whined. "You ought to know how it is with housework. Let me get ahead of you and it's always ahead. And I'm not one to do things. The missus likes things neat and clean. And I try to oblige, I'm sure."
"Your missus is still sleeping."
"She's had a little-bitty pill. Nothing. When Mr. Dunn came breaking in with the news she was shocked. I had to give her a little pill."
"I didn't break in," Jim said. "The kitchen door was unlocked."
"I looked. I guess I ought to know. I looked it myself."
"You were plastered," Jim said bluntly. He turned to the sheriff. "The kitchen door was unlocked, and Mrs. Gelstrap was passed out at the kitchen table."
Mrs. Gelstrap objected. "Some people don't want other people to have any rest at all. Maybe I did have a little drinker. What of it?"

Oh... Oh, you're sure? ... I see... Yes. In a few minutes." She replaced the instrument, reached in automatically to turn the crank to announce the end of the talk, then faced Jim Dunn. She did not give him a chance to explain. She was hopping mad, even paler with her rage. "I won't have it! I won't have you lying to me. What's all this about sending your wife to phone? What did you want in the gate cabin? What did you want so badly you rigged up that cock-and-bull story about the phone being out of order?" She did not give him a chance to answer those questions before she went on. "And another time you lied to me! You lied about not touching or moving anything in the basement. You lied, you hear me? Because Angella had been moved! The elevator had been raised off her. She had been underneath it, and you pulled her out and put her where you wanted me to find her!"
JIM smiled grimly. Perhaps it was not unfair, only natural. Agnes Argyle listened to whole tirades of lies without batting an eyelash. Her questioning of the truth might be logical.
"I should have remembered about the phone," Jim said. "I forgot it was necessary to turn the little crank to call central. Maybe it was the French-type phone that threw me off. Anyway that happened. And I didn't touch anything in the basement. I did not pull the body out from under the elevator platform. I did not raise that platform."
"Somebody did," Sheriff Agnes said. She looked thoughtfully at Miss Wister and Mrs. Gelstrap. "Possibly somebody attempted to help Angella Jones. There's no reason that shouldn't be admitted, is there?"
"You believe this death was an accident?"
"It could have been. Another accident. Probably if the body had not been moved I would have considered the death accidental." Jim's mind fastened on her use of the word "another." So the Junction Creek sheriff knew of the California death!

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

(This column, based on Federal law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

With October 1 to 8 being observed this year as National Newspaper Week, public attention is focused upon the important part which a fully informed, free and uncensored press plays in all our lives. At the same time we should remember that freedom of the press is no accident in this country. It is provided for in our federal Constitution and jealously protected by the courts, along with the other guarantees of our Bill of Rights.

The right of freedom of the press is secured by the first amendment to the Federal Constitution, which says, "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of... the press." The Constitutions of the several states likewise contain similar guarantees.

Why did the framers of New England, the planters of the South and the small storekeepers of Philadelphia, New York, and Boston insist some 160 years ago that the original Constitution be amended so that the people would be specifically guaranteed freedom of the press?

It was because the founders of our country had an abiding faith that enlightened citizens could be entrusted with the job of governing themselves. If they could have an unfettered opportunity to read the history and to learn the lessons of the past, to understand the never-ending clash of ideas, to read about what forces are alive in the world, to check on their government as to its activities, its successes, its failures and its abuses, and to write and speak unimpeded—then they could not be made slaves.

The framers of the Constitution believed that freedom of the press would aid in enlightening the people. Competition of ideas would point out the choices of the people. With this freedom, they could decide their own problems better, with more resulting happiness to themselves, their families and their communities. The men who wrote the Constitution knew intimately of those countries across the seas whose governments controlled thought, censored information and made political, economic and religious decisions for their subjects. They believed in the principle of competition and the value of permitting every citizen to develop himself to the limits of his abilities, and they insisted that this right of freedom of the press be recognized by the fundamental law of the land.

Of course, all rights entail correlative obligations and duties. Freedom of the press is not unlimited. It does not permit license, libel, violation of the law nor interference with the orderly running of the government. With but a few insignificant exceptions, the press of the free world has admirably justified the faith of the philosophy of the framers of the Constitution. Throughout the Western Hemisphere and in the free countries of the Old World, the "fourth estate" has fearlessly accepted its responsibility and has aided in preserving freedom and in checking tyranny and dictatorship.

The press has been able to continue performing its important

Railroads Cut Rates For Farmers

DENVER, Sept. 30—UP—The White House Wednesday announced that the American railroads had agreed to cut freight rates 50 per cent on hay shipments into 15 drought-stricken states until mid-December.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson requested the cut Monday. On hearing of the reduction from William T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads, the President said he was "profoundly gratified at the prompt response of the railroads."

Faricy informed the President that the request was submitted to three territory rate boards of the A.R.R. and they notified them that "substantially" all of the carriers agreed to a temporary reduction of 50 per cent on carload hay shipments into designated drought areas.

Faricy said the reduction would probably go into effect Oct. 1 and extend to Dec. 15.

"We are determined to do everything we can to reduce the hardship and suffering of those severely affected by drought conditions," the President said. "This is a problem which concerns the entire nation."

"The railroads' response is another manifestation of how America can rise to meet its crises."

The President selected a new White House staff secretary and defense liaison officer—Col. Andrew J. Goodpaster, now Army district engineer at San Francisco.

McCarthy Wed Year Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—UP—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy observed his first wedding anniversary Wednesday, nursing ailing sinuses and quietly hiding out with his wife.

The controversial senator was reported to be somewhere in Washington although his residence was not answering telephone calls. McCarthy's office said it did not know what plans, if any, he and his Auburn-haired wife Jean had for observing the anniversary.

McCarthy and the former Jean Kerr, a onetime Northwestern University journalism student, were married one year ago in St. Matthew's cathedral here.

Sales Taxes Keep States In The Black

BELTTON WOODS, N. H., Sept. 30—UP—Sales taxes are the biggest source of income to most states, a researcher said Tuesday.

Hartford L. Henderson, director of the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research, St. Paul, Minn., said 31 states collected more than $2.5 billion from sales taxes last year.

Income and motor fuel taxes are the next biggest sources of revenue, Henderson told the 47th annual taxation conference sponsored by the National Tax Association.

"Anyone studying the 48 state tax systems must wonder at the ingenuity which has produced such a diversity of state tax structures through the use of a variety of taxes," Henderson said.

He said many states, including Texas, have "definitely shunned taxes that tend to hurt industry."

Henderson said industry is moving to the South and West and that taxation, though an important factor in the location of industry, has not "affected the situation to any great extent to date."

He said New England, southern states should "reconsider their tax systems as well as their total tax burdens in order to create a more favorable atmosphere for encouraging industrial development."

He said states which "appear to be in difficulty from excessive tax burdens" include Louisiana, Oklahoma, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Colorado.

By 1960, it is estimated, the U.S. will have 16 million persons over 65 drawing ten billion dollars a year in retirement funds.

Miss America Plugs, Natch, Orange Juice

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—UP—What would you expect the new Miss America to plug but the juice of the orange? Lee Ann Meriwether hails from California and was fetched up in the proper manner. The lovely Lee Ann, who won her spurs in Atlantic City at the last convention of talent and leg showoff, wastes no time telling anybody who'll listen that she's a loyal daughter of the Golden Gate. "What I like best is orange juice," she said while here to watch the National Celebrities golf tournament. "I have it for breakfast. I have it when I feel a need for a lift-up coming on. There is nothing like an orange—no matter where it comes from." The lovely lady from California has as one of her sponsors the citrus folks from Florida.

"I never drink coffee," the San Francisco brownie added, as if she regarded it as a competition. "Lee Ann is five-feet, eight inches tall. She is about the size the present committee wants on the road to typify the real all-American girl."

Mostly, the judges usually look for a musician, but Lee Ann gives with the dramatics. And apparently she gives right well.

A Lip Artist
I had never seen the girl before she came here. But she has natural beauty. She doesn't use much makeup and she keeps on the lip rouge. She fixes her own hair, wash, curl and all.

And if you potential beauties are listening, the young lady starts off her lipstick routine with a fat sponge, and applies her lipstick with a sponge. She is what you might call a lip artist. The end result is fine. Same with the other makeup, which she does with a professional touch.

Lee Ann thinks that a gal can use about the same makeup in the daytime that she uses at night.

Guess-What for Breakfast
"I don't worry much about my figure," she said. "I drink orange juice."

The western beauty is a little off the scale or the perfect woman, who is supposed to wear the same size bust as hips. Her bust is 34½ inches, hips 35. Her waist is right trim, 22 inches.

She eats what she jolly well pleases, mostly orange juice to hear her tell it. Her weight is 124 pounds and she isn't worried about piling it on in the wrong places.

Judy Garland's Career May Depend On Movie's Reception

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30—UP—Judy Garland's career may depend on the verdict of 2,816 jury members who will parade into a glittering theater on legendary Hollywood Boulevard Wednesday night.

The jurors are film celebrities and fans lucky enough to snare $5.50 tickets to the premiere of the pug-nosed singing star's comeback picture, "A Star Is Born." Nearly four times as many Hollywoodites clamored for ducaats to the opening that's the most dazzling and ballyhooed since "Gone With the Wind" flashed on an Atlanta screen.

For on the 16 reels of celluloid hang the future of the explosive and highly talented actress. The behind-the-scenes story of this movie is a star-is-born story, too. The picture started on a $3 million budget and wound up costing $4 million. The shooting schedule stretched to 10 months—the longest incubation time for any motion picture.

This Is It
Three top film executives anonymously say if the critics and audience shrug at the extravagant film, Judy may never work again in Hollywood.

But most film experts agree if the picture is a success—and with star names and such publicity it is likely to be one—movie-makers will rush to hire Judy, so-called "temperament" and all.

Only one executive said he favored the picture may be Judy's greatest but her last because of the trouble that dogged the picture.

Big-eyed Judy had a phenomenal career as a child star at MGM, but her grown-up life stumbled on unhappy marriages, held-up pictures, fights with her studio, illness and an attempted suicide. She quit movies to regain her confidence and success on the stage in New York and London. Then she returned to Hollywood, to a happy marriage and child with producer Sid Luft and another try at the silver screen.

Troubles Multiplied
Producer Jack Warner agreed to release and finance her property, "A Star Is Born". After eight days of shooting the company changed cameramen and switched to Cinemascope. The difficulties were only beginning.

Judy was sick off and on. After differences of opinion with the fiery star, the musical arranger and the costume designer quit. Judy finally was so afflicted with insomnia that the company had to shoot at night so she could sleep by day. She put her heart and life into the picture, and her insistence for perfection soared the cost.

The movie already ran more than three hours when she decided to add another musical number. New songs had to be written, new sets built. That number alone took 24 days to shoot.

"Other studios would have lowered the boom but Warner urged her on. He felt he had a great picture," one studio worker explained.

Arkansas White Girl Strikes Blow Against Racial Prejudice

By JAMES K. CARBERRY
LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 30—UP—Dorothy Martin has returned to college here not only to complete her education but to strike a unique, personal blow against racial prejudice.

She expects to be the first white student ever to graduate from a Negro college.

While it took a U. S. Supreme Court decision to crack the pattern of racial segregation throughout the South, Miss Martin, who grew up below the Mason-Dixon line, believes her example will help, too.

She is newly enrolled as a senior at Arkansas Philander Smith College, where she is the only non-Negro among 575 students. She attended Philander Smith last year as a junior, and expects to get a diploma next spring.

"I'm trying to show that all human beings should have equal rights and that we actually damage ourselves most when we have hate in our hearts," she said.

In some southern states the court ordered integration of white and Negro students in the same schools, has led to special legislative sessions, "Stay at home" strikes and plans to try to maintain a segregation policy through legal loopholes.

Integration Smooth
But Miss Martin's integration in a Negro school went off smoothly.

"I didn't know a soul and felt completely alone at first. But pretty soon they accepted me as they would any other student. That was the highpoint of it all—I was accepted as a student and as a fellow human being," she recalled.

Miss Martin, who was once married to a Methodist minister, is 32 and grayed prematurely. She works for her board and room at a rooming house off the Philander Smith campus, and last year was elected to the student government organization.

Unusual Situation
She recalls that some students at first did not realize she was not a Negro. Until a newspaper report of her unusual step they had presumed she was a Negro who resembled a Caucasian.

When the Supreme Court handed down its decision outlawing racial segregation last May, Miss Martin recalls, the reaction on the Philander Smith campus was restrained.

U.S. Behind In Air Race, Says General
NAGOYA, Japan, Sept. 30—UP—The United States is losing the air power race with Soviet Russia, Lt. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the Fifth Air Force, said Tuesday.

Right now, Ramey said in an exclusive interview with the United Press, the U.S. Air Force is too small to beat off an all-out Communist attack. In addition, Red warplanes were so close to Japan that vital American bases could be knocked out with little warning.

"The Russians have something like two and a half times the combat aircraft the U.S. has," he said. "Something near 8,000 Communist airplanes are in reach of Japan and the majority of them are jets. They're awfully close to us."

June Talk

By JAYE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

MY FRIEND BETTY HARRIS (Mrs. Bill) gave a mouth-watering suggestion the other day on a different way to prepare wieners and beans. Split the wieners and place cheese in them — any kind you like. Wrap the wieners and cheese with bacon strips and cook in the broiler. Underneath the wieners place a pan filled with pork and beans. While both are cooking, the bacon and cheese "juices" drop into the beans and flavor them. Betty says its real delicious and it certainly sounds like it. It was her husband, Bill, who gave her the idea.

HUSBANDS ARE OFTEN good cooks in their own right. I must admit most of what I know about cooking Nick taught me. One of my favorites, learned from him, is chili. It's not a "hot" chili, as we find those a little hard on the digestive system. But Nick's variation we like, and it keeps for days in the refrigerator.

Ingredients:
1 lb. hamburger
1 green pepper, chopped
1 medium or large onion, chopped
1 can of tomatoes
1 can of pork and beans
1 or 2 tsp. sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
Method: After chopping up the green pepper and onion, simmer them in plenty of oleo in a large skillet. When soft, add the hamburger. I mash down the hamburger and scoop the green pepper and onions over the top of it. When the hamburger is cooked, add the tomatoes, which I also cut up. Let simmer 15 minutes. Add the pork and beans. Let simmer another 15 minutes. About 5 minutes before it is done, add one or two tsp. sugar. I also salt and pepper after each addition. And I sometimes add some garlic powder for a little added flavor. I imagine a chopped garlic bud would be good too.

Wheeler Review Club Meets For Business
The Wheeler Review club met recently in the home of Mrs. Thurman Rives. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Carroll Pettit. Mrs. Earle Barnes was appointed as vice-president by a committee. After the business session, members read the club booklet. The program, under the direction of Mrs. Harvey Wright, was on Federation. Mrs. Wright discussed "How Good Is Your Federated Club?"

The hostess served sandwiches, cherry larts, coffee and soft drinks. The favors were tiny umbrellas containing candy and nuts. Those present were Mmes. Earl Barnes, Roy Ford, Gene Hall, Glenna V. THE CURRENT ISSUE of The American Home Magazine says, "Down in Texas they cook good, eat good, live good, and look good. And the editors of the magazine have designed a kitchen for Texans. 'The Bluebonnet Kitchen,' besides being featured in the magazine, it will be shown at the Texas State Fair in Dallas, Oct. 9-23.

The kitchen has ideas for new builders, add-ons, or remodelers, even new blue-customized finished steel cabinets. (They can also be had in 14 other colors plus two wood exteriors.) "A study of the photos and plans will show how to incorporate almost any of the ideas pictured... especially if you're starting from scratch," a news release says. "If you're planning to remodel, think in terms of knocking out a wall between your present kitchen and a breakfast room or back porch. If you're in an add-on frame of mind, you'll see how easily the plan works as a right angle addition to the back of the house.

In the summer — the breeze can rush through adjustable glass-paned windows. And in the winter — meals can be cooked in a bright kitchen with light and sunshine flooding in from both sides. "The gas range, refrigerator, sink and dishwasher are just a step from each other and there's counter space on all sides. "One whole side of the room is Pop's domain — there's a gas fired barbecue with an electrical driven spit built right into the brick wall.

MODEL SCHOOL

Grace Friend
In Long Beach there is a school in finishing and modeling. However, unlike other schools in this line, it is noted for its work with housewives and the average business girl; it teaches poise, personality development etc. to the average person, rather than to the person interested in fashion modeling.
Do you know of this school or one of its kind in a near by town. We are not interested in those schools teaching professional modeling.
Mrs. H. L.

Dear Mrs. L.
I don't know of such a school here. If any of my readers does and will write me I will be happy to send the information on to you.

WANTS LETTER
My Dear Friend
I'm writing these few lines to you and hope that you don't mind. I had a copy of the paper and I happened to see your name. I'm very much interested in your part of the country as I lived there a good many years ago.
If you would care to write to me I would be so pleased to hear from someone there. And if you don't care to write yourself perhaps you may know of someone there that would write to me.

Hot Lunch Problem Solved By Pot Pies

Are you mothers perplexed again for an easy answer to the perennial schooltime question — what to fix as a nourishing, hot meal for hungry Sister and Junior when they hurry home at noontime?

This fall there is a convenient and appetizing new answer — a complete, well-balanced meal packaged in a modern can. It is a complete beef (or chicken) pot pie that needs no refrigeration and is large enough to serve two or three healthy children.

Each pie contains over a pound of carefully selected beef or chicken in tender chunks, wholesome potatoes, carrots and peas, rich gravy and seasonings, all enclosed in dough which bakes into a golden, flaky top and bottom crust.

Preparation is so simple that older children could prepare their own lunch. The can is opened with any wall-type or hand-twist can opener. Then it is popped into a 450-degree oven for thirty minutes of baking. And lunch is ready to be served direct from the attractive pie-pan can.

Mother likes this modern-day meal because it doesn't dirty any pots or pans and this easy-to-fix meal can be served for dinner too.

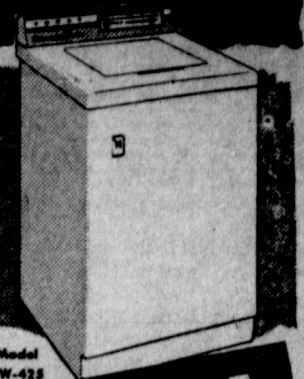

An extra bonus is the special pie-pan can, reusable as a baking dish and for dozens of other household uses.

These pies are available in the canned meat sections of most grocery stores and super-markets in this area.

QUICK HOT LUNCH to satisfy schooltime appetites is chicken pot pie which comes oven-ready in a special pie-pan can. The chicken pie and companion beef pot pie do not need refrigeration. Thirty minutes baking right in the pan-can produces a well-balanced hot meal for two to three children.

STUDIES RECIPE — Mrs. Gene Fatheree, 502 W. Kingsmill, looks over her recipe for Italian Chicken, which she got from a "lady in San Antonio." "Chili ground" meat can be substituted for the chicken, Mrs. Fatheree says. (News photo)

This Is My Dish:

Italian Chicken, Garlic Bread Give Tasty Meal

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

A woman who loves to cook now, but says she didn't "know how to boil water" when she was married, is Mrs. Gene Fatheree. "I sort of learned how by myself," she explained.

Originally from Austin, Mrs. Fatheree has lived in Pampa since 1938. In addition to keeping house and cooking for her husband, city commissioner and wholesale druggist, her daughter, Norma Jean, 12, and her son, Richard, 8, Mrs. Fatheree belongs to the Parent Education Club, is active in the Junior High School and Sam Houston Parent-Teachers' Association, is on the Red Cross and the Girl Scout boards, is an assistant Girl Scout leader, and is president of the Intermediate Girl Scout Leaders Club.

"It seems like there are meetings nearly every day," she laughed. But cooking is her hobby. "I like to experiment and try new things," she explained.

One of Mrs. Fatheree's favorite recipes is for Italian chicken. She says whenever she has served it at a party, her guests ask for the recipe.

ITALIAN CHICKEN

- 1 box spaghetti, drained
- 1 cup onions, browned in 2 tbsp. butter
- 1/2 cup celery
- 1 green pepper
- 1 chicken, cooked and boned
- 2 cups tomato paste
- 1 can mushrooms
- 1 tbsp. chili powder
- salt and pepper to taste

Mix the above ingredients together. Add stock from chicken. Cook slowly, about 200 degrees, for 3 or 4 hours. Serves 10 to 12 persons.

Mrs. Fatheree says the longer you cook it, the better it tastes. She serves it with a combination salad, French garlic bread, and chocolate pie. She says you can make it up ahead of time as it will keep three or four days in the refrigerator.

A variation of the recipe, which she says is also good, is to substitute 2 lbs. ground meat for the chicken. The meat should be chili ground — in "big hunks." Mrs. Fatheree acquired the recipe from a woman in San Antonio.

Mays, Rhodes Giant Heroes In Opener

By LEO H. PETERSEN NEW YORK, Sept. 30—UP—Heroes, Inc., the amazing crew which upended the supposedly invincible Brooklyn Dodgers to win the National League pennant, was "even money" Thursday to make the record-breaking Cleveland Indians a bunch of spear carriers in their latest dramatic hit.

That was the startling turn the 1954 World Series took in the wake of the New York Giants' dramatic 5 to 2 triumph over the Indians in Wednesday's opener at the Polo Grounds.

Leo Durocher, confident that he is about to win his first world championship in 15 years of managing, named 21-game winner Johnny Antonelli to make it two in a row for the Giants, while Manager Al Lopez stuck with his choice of 23-game winner Early (Gus) Wynn to hurl the second game for the Indians.

Rated 17-10 underdogs by the Broadway bookies when the Series started, the explosive Giants suddenly found themselves no worse than 6-5 pick 'em for both Thursdays' second game and Series as a whole. A victory Thursday would virtually make them "out bets," for no team has ever won the first two games of a seven-game series and failed to win the championship.

Outstanding in the first day's heroics were the amazing Willie Mays, baseball's great new star, and the equally amazing pinch-hitter deluxe, Jim (Dusty) Rhodes.

Warren Hasse, the other "expert," won last week's contest by "lucking" out on 11 of 13 games.

Another 13 games are on tap this week with a new "Masked Marvel" competing against the two "experts."

Of Starting A World Series Game Antonelli Realizes Six-Year Dream

By OSCAR FRALEY NEW YORK, Sept. 30—UP—Curly-haired Johnny Antonelli waited six long years for Thursday, and he'll tell you that money isn't everything.

The New York Giant speed ball pitcher who goes against the Cleveland Indians in the second game of the Series had the money, at least, while he waited for this big chance. But too many dollars is what caused most of his trouble.

It was the main reason why the shy southpaw took such a long time to reach the top.

The Antonelli saga started in 1947 when he was a schoolboy wonder in his native Rochester, N. Y. His father had worked long and faithfully to ready him for a pitching career and after Johnny's graduation he took the youngster to Florida and tried to get a major league contract.

When that failed, Papa Antonelli arranged a semipro game in Rochester and invited a host of major league scouts to watch Johnny perform. He was sensational.

Of Starting A World Series Game Antonelli Realizes Six-Year Dream

By OSCAR FRALEY NEW YORK, Sept. 30—UP—Curly-haired Johnny Antonelli waited six long years for Thursday, and he'll tell you that money isn't everything.

The New York Giant speed ball pitcher who goes against the Cleveland Indians in the second game of the Series had the money, at least, while he waited for this big chance. But too many dollars is what caused most of his trouble.

It was the main reason why the shy southpaw took such a long time to reach the top.

The Antonelli saga started in 1947 when he was a schoolboy wonder in his native Rochester, N. Y. His father had worked long and faithfully to ready him for a pitching career and after Johnny's graduation he took the youngster to Florida and tried to get a major league contract.

When that failed, Papa Antonelli arranged a semipro game in Rochester and invited a host of major league scouts to watch Johnny perform. He was sensational.

AROUND THE WORLD

WHY?—Donna Skogrand, 17, who's not a bad-looking chick herself, is holding two Araucana chicks, hatched from colored eggs. Grown Araucanas, which will be exhibited at a county fair in Pomona, Calif., lay eggs that are nature-dyed in Easter egg tints, but they're being cross-bred with other strains to obtain naturally colored eggs.

FEEDING TIME—A lad at a zoo in London, upper left, is offering a between-meals snack to a willing zebra who appears to be laughing happily at the idea, but a baby raccoon, in Ann Arbor, Mich., seems to be contemplating a little breaking and entering, right. A local youngster is raising the animal because its mother was killed. In New York, TWA hostess Muriel Heinlein helped feed a 10-week-old buffalo which was being flown to Germany, lower left, while Jimmy Ferree gave his purebred boxer a cooling drink from a hose in Kansas City, Kans., right.

SUDDEN LANDING—Pedestrians are peering incredulously at a small English auto which collided with another car in London, then crashed through an iron fence to land in a basement area. Despite the seeming violence of the mishap, the driver of the car was only slightly injured.

THRILL OF A LIFETIME—It took place in Columbus, O., when Boy Scout Robert Van Skoy, 11, got some instruction in the control of a giant diesel locomotive from engineer R. F. Brandon. Robert and other Scouts were being given help in attaining Scouting's new honor, the Railroading Merit Badge.

STEPPING IT OFF—Choreographer John Heawood is helping dancers Dilys Lay, left, and Stella Claire get into the mood for some fancy footwork during rehearsals of "The Boy Friend" in New York. This musical comedy about the '20s was brought over from London and is heading for some gay doings on Broadway.

SMART—A cotton knit cardigan jacket by Smartee has three-quarter pushed-up sleeves in fine jacquard print design. It may be worn with slacks or skirts in color combinations such as red, black and white, red and charcoal, or black and teal. It's washable.

TWO OF A KIND—This young lad may have chosen that spot in the Luxembourg Gardens in Paris in order to receive inspiration from the thoughtful statue. Even the threat of rain proved no deterrent to the lad's studies. Cold, rainy weather in the French capital this summer has not met with the approval of tourists who annually flock there.

TRIPLE THREAT—That ice cream cone doesn't have much chance to survive as three young ladies start to consume it by licks in Asheville, N. C. The girls were among 200 kids who were guests of a local club at an amusement park, and they're having fun.

THANKS TO HANK—N. Y. Giant third baseman Hank Thompson was greeted by teammates Whitey Lockman, Willie Mays (24), and Alvin Dark, right, as others approached the plate in New York to add congratulations. Thompson, with a four-run blast in the seventh inning, broke up a comparatively close contest as the Coogan's Bluffers went on to beat Brooklyn, 13-4.

TO THE RESCUE—When a sudden downpour caused a mass exodus from St. Mark's Square in Venice, Italy, actor Rock Hudson caught up Italian actress Novella Parigini to help keep her pearl-studded shoes dry. Hudson is seeing a bit of Europe after making a movie in Ireland.

ACCIDENTAL FUN—When a water main broke in Manhattan, water rose through the pavement and flowed into a sewer as delighted youngsters made quick use of their new amusement. But an emergency squad of the Water Supply Department put an end to the dry-land maneuvers in about five minutes, and the kids had to revert to their old ways of entertainment.

The nation's crime wave continued upward during the first half of 1954, with the greatest increase, 11.9 per cent, reported in rural areas. Greatest increase was burglary with a 16.7 per cent jump above the 1953 figure; next highest was larceny with a 13.6 per cent rise. Negligent manslaughter, rape, and auto theft all showed slight decreases.

U. S. CRIME TRENDS—Overall crime during the first half of 1954 increased 8.5 per cent above the 1953 level as shown on above Newschart. Largest increase was robbery with 20.4 per cent, largest decrease was negligent manslaughter with 3.9 per cent.

CRIME AT ALL-TIME HIGH

Criminal activity in the U. S. is climbing to an all-time high, according to the FBI Newscharts show city, country and overall U. S. crime trends for the first half of 1954. The figures released by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, show that a major crime was committed every 13.8 seconds, and every four minutes there was a murder, rape or assault to kill during the six-month period.

Crime in the cities during the first half of 1954 was up 7.2 per cent over the same period in 1953, according to the FBI's semi-annual report. Robbery saw the biggest increase, 22.6 per cent over the 1953 figure; burglary was next with an 11.8 per cent increase. The largest decrease was negligent manslaughter with 6.4 per cent.

Hitchhiking Grandmother On 2,700 Mile Trip Across Nation

By BETTY BAUER
 THENDARA, N. Y., Sept. 30—UP—Mrs. Florence Du Bois will leave Friday on another 2,700 mile trip.
 Lots of folks do that these days, including other grandmothers edging on 70. But not like Mrs. Du Bois.
 She's been hitchhiking cross-country twice a year for a dozen years now. And while "the thumb method" isn't the easiest way, it's the cheapest to commute between this tiny Adirondacks village and Tucson, Ariz.
 "It would be heaven to be able to just once to take a train, sleep and eat meals and travel as I used to, in a room, when I had the means. But it costs a lot," she sighed. "Buses make me ill, and I am afraid of airplanes. I can do the hitch-hike trip within $50."
 One Trip Cost $28.50
 She thumbed west the first time in 14 days, but now Mrs. Du Bois averages eight or nine. "My record is seven and a half days for the 2,700 miles, and my lowest cost $28.50," she said.
 Mrs. Du Bois, a widow, runs a riding stable here in the summer. Winters, she tutors Tucson high school and college students in "everything that doesn't require a scientific laboratory." She also has been a symphony orchestra violinist, vaudeville dancer and singer.
 The long-distance switch from currying horses to teaching involves little preparation from Mrs. Du Bois. She boards her seven horses at a farm, puts on a dark dress and sturdy oxfords and heads for the nearest highway.
 With a small suitcase at her side, she politely gestures westward.
 "Mostly people are very nice to me, and I have good friends all over the U.S.A.," Mrs. Du Bois said. "The nicest people on my journeys seem to be either from Ohio or Iowa."
 Before leaving, she also carefully pins on a Phi Beta Kappa key.
 "I wear it, not to boast, but because to people who know what it means, it shows who I am," she explained. She won the key at Syracuse University, which she entered with $10.10 and left four years later—in 1911—"with $20 in my pocket."
 Mrs. Du Bois said she has varied her trips "so as to cover the whole U. S. going and coming." The first year she hitchhiked back here by way of California—a three-week jaunt.

AWOL To Carry More Penalty

DENVER, Sept. 30—UP—President Eisenhower Tuesday substantially increased the punishment for members of the armed forces absent without leave.
 Most AWOL penalties were doubled by executive order and circumstances for granting dishonorable discharges were widened.
 Asked whether the tougher policy toward AWOL service personnel was caused by an increase in desertions, the White House conceded that the "reforms were needed."
 For example under the new order more than 30 days of absence can result in dishonorable discharge and one year in prison. Under previous regulations, the dishonorable discharge and prison term could not be applied until 60 days of unauthorized absence.
 There were numerous new provisions for forfeiture of pay. The possible prison terms for service personnel missing from movement of a ship, aircraft or unit were doubled.
 The chief executive also added new provisions to the Manual for Courts Martial providing dishonorable discharge for persons convicted for more than three absence violations.

Girl Scouts Give 'Year Of Service'

(Editor's Note: This is the seventh and final in a series of articles on the 1954 Pampa community United Fund drive which will be held Tuesday. The subject of this article, the Girl Scouts, has been allotted $7,250 of the $45,150 drive goal.)
 The Girl Scouts of Pampa call 1954 the "year of service to our community."
 Mrs. Dorothy Statton, Girl Scouts executive, reports the girls themselves—the seniors and intermediates—decided on it a year ago.
 Among the projects completed this past year are:
 (1) the giving of laying hens to Girlstowns;
 (2) the "trick-or-treating" on Halloween during which items were collected for Girlstowns;
 (3) the dressing of dolls for needy children;
 (4) the collection and distribution of toys which were repaired by Pampa firemen, then turned over to needy families;
 (5) the holiday parties and presents during the year for the Negro nursery;
 (6) the taking of tray favors and magazines to the two Pampa hospitals;
 (7) the "adoption" of those who were shut-in with individual visits and holiday presents;
 (8) baby-sitting for Parent-Teacher Association mothers;
 (9) the making and filling of more than 100 kits for Korean relief;
 (10) the purchase of a bus by the Senior Girl Scouts;
 (11) working with the United Fund; and
 (12) participation in the annual Santa Day parade.
 Mrs. Statton gave a break-down on the 1953 budget: 38.71 per cent, council assistant (Mrs. Statton); 29.42 per cent, clerical help (Mrs. Fern Dawson); 7.7 per cent, adult training; 6.4 per cent, upkeep at Camp Mel Davis and the Scouts' "Little House"; 3.8 per cent, insurance; and the remainder for office furniture, fixtures, emergency, phone, telegraph, postage, car expense, stationery, supplies and national charter.
 The cost per Girl Scout the organization has had to get by on over the years has decreased, the Girl Scout executive points out. In 1948, with 478 Scouts, it was $12.55; in 1952, with 748, it was $10.27; and this year, with 904, it is $8.57.

Hidalgo Ballots Confiscated

EDINBURG, Tex., Sept. 30—UP—District Judge S. N. McWhorter ordered absentee ballots in Hidalgo county's runoff primary impounded so that a grand jury may investigate charges of widespread voting irregularities.
 McWhorter signed the order on the motop of District Attorney Joe Alamia. Alamia asked for the impoundment immediately after a new grand jury was sworn in.
 "We have information that certain irregularities occurred in the second primary," Alamia said. He said he wanted the ballots impounded so that the grand jury could open the ballot box and examine the ballots.
 Magus Smith, a McAllen attorney who served as a voting supervisor, charged that 59 absentee ballots had to be thrown out because of the irregularities.
 Smith said the signatures of voters on certain documents did not tally with the supposed signatures of the same voters on other documents.
 But he said the signatures did resemble those of two notaries public, one in LaJoya and one in Mission. The notaries had supposedly witnessed the signatures of the voters.

MacArthur Could Have Won Korean War, Ex-Aide Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—UP—of the United Press, whom he describes as "one of the most effective of reporters in Korea." Baillie wrote that "intelligence knew what the Communists were scheming and knew South Korea was going to be invaded in June. But it was not U.S. policy to defend Korea and 'MacArthur's general to a 'savagely and brutal' firing as Far East commander."
 The intelligence officer, Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, makes these assertions in a book titled "MacArthur: 1941-1951," published today by McGraw-Hill. Willoughby, now retired from the Army, wrote the book in collaboration with John Chamberlain, a journalist.
 The author quotes a Far East dispatch of Hugh Baillie, president

Let's attack the problems - not the schools!

As millions of children return to school, the Ladies' Home Journal offers a full review of the problems that beset educators and parents!
 What do we want of our schools?
 "Our school problems, financial and philosophical, must be solved by informed citizens. We offer these stories and articles, not as a cross section or endorsed solution, but to stimulate those who must grapple with similar situations in their own communities."
 Frances Dandel
 Patricia Broderick Gault
 EDITORS

This month, in a round-table discussion with Journal editors, six important educators, headed by A. Whitney Griswold, President of Yale, speak out frankly on questions like these which plague their profession, and endanger the future of our children.

- What caused the mounting crisis in public education?
- Do children really fail to learn to read?
- Should all children be promoted every year, regardless of progress?
- Should all high-school courses be watered down to the lowest level?

The Journal brings this challenging and controversial forum to you and millions of other American women because women have more influence on our educational system than men do—much more.
 You'll want to read this entire October issue which features many articles and stories discussing problems affecting parents and educators today.
