Nixon Answers Stevenson Blast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 —UP— Vice President Richard M. Nixon has slammed back at Adlai E. Stevenson's criticism of GOP foreign and defense policies and the Democratic leader has taken a poke at administration "expediency."

The top Republican and Democratic campaigners fired their latest blasts in the struggle for control of the 84th Congress in different parts of the Midwest Tuesday night.

Nixon said at Lansing, Mich., that the Eisenhower administration is dedicated to a goal of world "peace without surrender." He said that it would be "easy" to "blunder into war" or to win peace "by surrender."

In a speech billed as an answer to Stevenson's attack on the administration last week, Nixon agreed that cuts have been made in foreign aid and defense spending. But by wise spending, he said, the nation is "stronger militarily than it has ever been before and we are capable of meeting aggression whenever and wherever it occurs."

Nixon said President Eisenhower makes the final decision on what U.S. military strength should be and added: "I have greater faith in the President's judgment on this issue than that of Mr. Stevenson."

Paul Beisenherz, council Scout executive, said that is about one-half the total expected. He figures there will be about 50 troops and 1,900 Boy Scouts on hand.

George Newberry, council camping and activities chairman, will be camporee director. Don Cain, Santa Fe District chairman, will be quartermaster.

Others in charge of specific events will be Rufe Jordan, tug-of-war; R. M. Barrett, string-burning; Roy Webb, tracking; Harry Wilbur, Jr., Canadian, compass; and Jimmie McCune, health and safety. An estimated 70 men will be needed for work during the camporee, Beisenherz said.

452 Scouts Signed Up For Shindig

A total of 452 Boy Scouts from 26 troops, representing 19 communities, late this morning had been signed up for the first annual Adlai E. Stevenson Council camporee, scheduled Oct. 22-24 at Camp Kiowa.

Prayers Ring Out Today For Peace

President Eisenhower led millions of Americans Wednesday in prayers for peace.

His appeal for a day of prayer for world amity received little support, however, from state and local officials.

Many mayors and governors even confessed that they weren't aware of Mr. Eisenhower's request.

Only in Dallas was a special public observance made of the day of prayer.

However, in scores of other cities, ministers threw open the doors of their sanctuaries and citizens filed in individually to offer their appeal for God to bring peace on earth.

Mr. Eisenhower set an example for the nation by going to chapel early Wednesday at Lowry Air Force Base.

In his proclamation, the President called for a day of prayer as "an act of faith so strong as to annihilate the cruel, artificial barriers erected by little men between the peoples who seek peace on earth through the divine spirit."

Dr. C. H. Huvell, Litchfield medical examiner, said a note found near the body indicated Randaus committed suicide. Huvell said vital organs had been sent to the state laboratory in Hartford to determine the cause of death, and that an official report would be issued later. He refused further comment except to say that an autopsy showed "nothing to indicate that it was not a suicide."

In six years, starting with nothing but uncertain prospects, the United States has become one of the world's leading uranium producers," he said. "We shall be competing for first place and part of the time be in first place."

Uranium already is at least a $100 million U.S. industry, he reported. But he said "even greater expansion is just ahead" to meet the need of atomic power plants which eventually will involve "billions of dollars" in investment and require nuclear fuel reserves "sufficient for at least 100 years."

Touch Of Fall In Texas Air

By UNITED PRESS There definitely was a "touch of fall" in the air in most sections of Texas Wednesday as a late-summer cold front lumbered temperatures as low as the mid-40s.

Readings generally were in the 50s across the north half of the state, but at Bonham, newspaperman Bob Cantrell, who is a volunteer government weather observer, reported a 45-degree low.

At Junction, in the Southwest Texas hill country recorded a minimum of 44 degrees. Dalhart, Lubbock and San Angelo 51, Amarillo and Lufkin 53, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Mineral Wells and Dallas 54, Fort Worth and Tyler 55, Waco 57, El Paso 60, Austin 62, San Antonio 63, Houston and Port Arthur 64, Del Rio 65, Presidio 68, Corpus Christi and Laredo 75 and Brownsville 76.

It was the coolest weather in mid-Texas since early June. Except for the Panhandle and South Plains, where slight warming tendencies will prevail, Thursday morning's readings were expected to be about the same as fall officially begins at 7:36 a.m.

Tuesday's highs ranged from 98 degrees at Laredo to 81 at Lubbock with most readings in the 80s except in South Texas.

Newspaper Man Believed Suicide

LITCHFIELD, Conn., Sept. 22 —UP— Clem J. Randaus, 59, newspaper executive and former business manager of the United Press, was found dead in bed at his home Tuesday.

Dr. C. H. Huvell, Litchfield medical examiner, said a note found near the body indicated Randaus committed suicide. Huvell said vital organs had been sent to the state laboratory in Hartford to determine the cause of death, and that an official report would be issued later. He refused further comment except to say that an autopsy showed "nothing to indicate that it was not a suicide."

Port Arthur's 44-Week-Old Strike Stalemate Continues

EDITOR'S NOTE: A strike has been going on for 44 weeks in Port Arthur and there is no sign it is nearer an end than the week it started. That strike was mainly responsible for Texas' anti-Communist law—though the men running it bitterly deny there is any communist involved — and it was a major issue in the recent gubernatorial campaign. What's the situation in Port Arthur now? John Colton, manager of the United Press bureau at Houston, tells about it in a series of two articles, the first of which appears below.

By JOHN COLTON PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 22 —UP— The Port Arthur strike, one of the most controversial in Texas history, entered its 44th week Wednesday with the best hope for an early settlement snuffed out.

District Judge Melvin Combs has refused to hand down a summary judgment in 12 damage suits filed against four unions, and an atmosphere of "what now?" hangs over this picket-weary petroleum refining and shipping center.

However, Combs did not set a trial date. The suits were filed last March, four months after the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers of America, local 85, started a strike which eventually touched the lives of nearly all of greater Port Arthur's 80,000 residents.

Hearing Is Delayed

SHAMROCK — Justice of the Peace J. H. Templeton late this morning was still expecting the arrival of John Johnson, a Negro farm-hand being held in Wheeler County jail in connection with the Sunday slaying of his wife's nephew, Marvel Menefield, 17.

Preliminary trial and setting of bond was originally scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday, then was postponed till 10 a.m. today. Near noon today Judge Templeton still had heard no word of when Johnson would be brought before him.

Menefield died Sunday night in Shamrock, some 2 1/2 hours after he was struck in the head by an iron bar on the Melvin Hill farm, 12 miles southeast of Shamrock, where the Negro family had been working.

AEC Official Says: Free World Ahead In Uranium Stores

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 —UP— An official of the Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday there is "little chance" Russia has matched the free world in producing vital uranium despite its "feverish" effort and use of "slave labor."

Jesse C. Johnson, head of the AEC's raw materials division, conceded Russia is an "unknown." But he expressed considerable professional doubt that its uranium output is equal "even to that of the free world's leading producer" — the Belgian Congo.

But in a speech before the American Mining Congress Johnson spoke glowingly of America's own capacity to produce the all-important fuel of atomic bombs and power reactors.

"In six years, starting with nothing but uncertain prospects, the United States has become one of the world's leading uranium producers," he said. "We shall be competing for first place and part of the time be in first place."

Uranium already is at least a $100 million U.S. industry, he reported. But he said "even greater expansion is just ahead" to meet the need of atomic power plants which eventually will involve "billions of dollars" in investment and require nuclear fuel reserves "sufficient for at least 100 years."

Senate May Be Recalled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 —UP— Although there has been nothing official, observers believe the indications were that the group is heading toward agreement on some form of criticism of McCarthy. Whether it will formally recommend some action, however, remains undisclosed.

It was learned the committee has been keeping in close touch with Knowland, who has been at the bedside of his stricken wife in California, and with Johnson, who is in Texas.

U. S. Debt Ceiling Due To Be Raised

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 —UP— Prospects that President Eisenhower will propose a general income tax cut next year dimmed Wednesday with disclosure that the Treasury probably will have to ask Congress for another hike in the federal debt limit.

But the administration is expected to seek revisions in the tax laws which would benefit certain persons, such as those receiving retirement income not covered by pension plans or income from foreign investments.

Other tax changes under study by administration experts would affect business mainly. They include revisions in tax treatment of capital gains and losses and of co-operatives and tax-exempt organizations, and oil and mining depletion allowances.

Officials said that odds are great now that another increase in the debt ceiling will be necessary next June 30 when the recent temporary hike of $6 billion expires.

Mr. Eisenhower's ultimate goal is a balanced budget. And it appears unlikely that he will recommend a general cut in personal income taxes when the public debt is rising in a period of deficit financing.

The administration last week upped its deficit estimate from $2.9 billion to $4.7 billion for the current fiscal year of 1955 which will end next June 30.

To Borrow $4 Billion The federal debt soon will go up to about $278.3 billion when the Treasury borrows $4 billion. Further borrowing may push it up before Jan. 1 to about $280 billion — approaching the temporary limit of $281 billion.

Treasury officials are confident that heavy tax payments in the first half of next year will enable them to bring the size of public debt back down to a "few hundred million" dollars under $275 billion.

But, if the present deficit trend continues, another boost in the debt ceiling probably will be necessary to carry the government through the second half of next year.

7th Fleet Commander On Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sept. 22 —UP— U.S. Adm. Alfred M. Pride paid a surprise visit to this Chinese fortress island Tuesday amid reports Russian warships are sailing south to reinforce the Communist fleet.

Pride commands the Seventh Fleet, which has been ordered to protect Formosa against the Communists who recently have been bombarding Quemoy and other Nationalist islands nearer the Red-held mainland.

He flew here from his flagship, the cruiser St. Paul, to confer with U.S. Ambassador Karl Rankin and Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, chief American military adviser to Nationalist China. Chase has visited Quemoy twice in the past 10 days.

Pride also is expected to discuss the situation with Chinese President Chiang Kai-Shek and other Nationalist leaders during his stay here.

1954 Meat Outlook

Lots More Beef Due On Market

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor CHICAGO (NEA) — Look for lower prices on grass-fed beef for the next several months.

This should be the result of a more than normal slaughter of dairy cattle due to reduction of milk support prices and an increase in pork supplies.

Translated into family dinner terms that spells more pot roasts, stews, hamburgers and frankfurters for the same amount of budget dollars.

Even under favorable weather conditions, there will be a lot more beef in the market this year. Although most breeders and packers interviewed are cagey about predicting any price drop, simple arithmetic and Federal livestock reports point to lower prices.

Wholesale livestock and meat prices at Chicago in July, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, showed a drop of 8.3 per cent on "good" beef and a drop of 15.9 per cent on "utility cow" beef. Prime steers dropped only 6.5 per cent.

P. C. Smith, Swift & Co's vice president in charge of beef, veal and lamb, stated cattle slaughter volume this year so far has been running about 12 per cent over last year.

"The result is record supplies of beef for this season," he added. "And prices of beef are fully reflecting the heavy supply."

Carl F. Neumann, general manager of the National Livestock and Meat Board in Chicago, foresees tremendous supplies of grass fed beef on the market.

"Grass fed cattle are so dependent on weather that disaster conditions can develop if the drought continues to grow worse," he said.

Neumann would not speculate on the effects such conditions would have on retail prices.

The record supply of beef under normal weather conditions, plus the steadily increasing numbers of grass fed cattle being liquidated ahead of time because of drought, have breeders and packers worried.

In an effort to unload more of this extraordinary supply into retail channels, organizations representing meat packers, cattle producers and processors are working to develop a market for the surplus.

Citrus Crop Outlook Good

DALLAS, Sept. 22—UP—A forecast of larger production of both vegetables and citrus fruit in the Lower Rio Grande Valley was made Tuesday at the 12th annual convention of Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers.

The citrus crop has made a remarkable recovery from the damaging freeze of January 1951, one of the speakers said at a business session Tuesday, and the outlook is bright for improved production.

Speakers on the second day on the three-day meeting were E. W. Ligon of Westlaco who discussed vegetable prospects in 1954-55; Stanley Crockett, of Harlingen, who discussed citrus acreage now and in the future, and William Cloughley of Alamo, Tex., who discussed the citrus crop prospects.

Principal speaker Monday was Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing, U. S. immigration commissioner. He suggested this government gradually stop acting as hiring agent for Mexican farm laborers who want to work north of the border.

Crop Drops to 150,000 Boxes Cloughley said 28 million boxes of citrus were produced in last normal year before the big freeze of 1951. That fall and spring he said 150,000 boxes were shipped.

This season the total will be a "strong 8 million boxes," he said. He forecast production of 10 million boxes by the 1955-56 season with grapefruit of the pink or red variety hitting 75 per cent of the total.

Crockett said before the freeze there were 14 million trees or 200,000 acres in citrus fruit representing a $200 million investment with an annual income to farmers of $50 million.

The tree population was cut to 3.5 million by the freeze or 47,000 acres. Since the freeze there have been replantings to boost the tree population to about 5.5 million or 75,000 acres. And, Crockett said, about 1,250,000 new trees will be planted this year.

Grapefruit Market Grows The Midwest market, he said, is very strong for Texas pink grapefruit and is growing.

Ligon's vegetable survey covered Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy counties. He forecast an increase in planting and acreage of both carrots and lettuce, due to prorated cotton production and a boosted water supply since completion of Falcon dam.

The immigration commissioner's talk at a luncheon Monday followed a morning round table discussion on migratory labor problems.

Every 100th person attending will be given a demonstration long distance call. Everybody's welcome — guides will show you through the dial building from 1 to 3 and 4 to 9, p.m., today through Friday. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

THIS STORY: Strange foreboding creeped over Private Detective Jim Dunn and his wife Nancy as they strolled for their evening walk. Kit Carlson, at the Spire, part of the Carlton suite. They are isolated from other members of the Carlton club and Mrs. Kit has not yet arrived. Then Nancy sees a hideous, misshapen face pressed against the windowpane, looking in from the outside.

Dunn had a fair-sized pile in the elevator at last and began working the crank, moving the load upward to the recess with the clink-clank, clink-clank he remembered so vividly from the night before.

The elevator moved up out of sight into the recess which made the window seat above. He was not usually morbid, but the six-by-three-foot recess reminded him of only one thing.

He moved quickly across the basement, mounted the steep stairs. The door at its head was locked. He pounded on it.

"Jim," he said impatiently. "Jim Dunn. Come to light the fire as ordered. Remember?"

He heard the sound of some piece of furniture being pulled aside, heard the key turn in the lock.

He pushed through, mentally listing all the things he intended to do, all the questions he wanted explicit answers to. One look at his client's face, and a good-look at the pasty Mrs. Gelstrap, and his questions vanished.

The two women were frightened. "What is it?" he demanded. "Who—is it?"

Kit Carlson sat before some smoldering papers in the mammoth fireplace. She did not look at him as she spoke. "It's just—the cold. I'm so terribly cold. I didn't realize it would be so cold here this time of year. I—I was right—before. And that terrible, terrible noise the water makes. Can't you shut it off?"

Jim had to admit that was a feat beyond his powers. He opened the window seat, found he had pulled the largest pieces of wood on top, with the small

Troops to Eat Canned Meat SEOUL, Sept. 22—UP—Canned meat will be a staple of the U. S. Army diet in South Korea during the next two months. An Army announcement said the refrigerator ship Surprise, due in Pusan Tuesday with fresh meat, has been delayed until Oct. 6 by engine trouble.

Kit Carlson and Mrs. Gelstrap eyed the instrument hungrily. "Isn't there some other way of heating this place? I mean beside the fireplace?" It was all too obvious the young woman was torn between a desire for warmth and an almost irresistible impulse for eavesdropping.

Jim knew now of one possible means by which the two women could have been frightened. He had his mind on that, and he made a big mistake by not thinking about what he was saying. "There's a furnace in the basement."

Kit Carlson's face relaxed at this solution of her quandary. "Splendid. Splendid. Would you build a fire there, too, right away? Please. We can have our talk in the morning."

Jim let himself be pushed from the room. He stood on the stairs until he heard the door locked behind him and the scrape of the piece of furniture being pulled before it.

He clanked open the door of the furnace, stared into its dusty maw. "Me and my big mouth," he muttered as he started hauling wood.

United Fund Agency

The Organization With A 'Heart'

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles on the agencies included in the Pampa community United Fund which will hold its annual drive Oct. 5. The Gray County Heart Association, subject of this article, has been allotted $2,000 of the $45,150 drive goal.)

The Gray County Heart Association was organized in January, 1952, with Dr. Malcolm Wyatt as first president and W. D. Waters as secretary-treasurer.

Association activities are classified as research, education, and community service, according to V. L. Hobbs, president.

"One cannot learn of the phenomenal achievements of the last few years through the united efforts and plain, unselfish, hard work of physicians, scientists and laymen, without becoming enthusiastic about the future," Hobbs says.

"Despite sharply limited funds and the necessity of developing, at the same time, a growing network of local chapters to carry on the program, the most optimistic hopes have been outdistanced."

One major phase of the education program is the transmission of research findings to physicians and allied professional groups throughout the county, Hobbs pointed out. In addition to the official journals of the American Heart Association, the Texas Heart Association distributes without charge to its physician members the monthly AHA publication, "Modern Concepts of Cardiovascular Disease."

A number of forums are sponsored by district and county chapters with leading medical scientists and cardiologists as speakers. Gray County sponsored a public forum in February. Speaking to an audience of 800 persons were Dr. Robert M. Barton and Dr. J. W. Duckett, both of Dallas; and Dr. Allen E. Greer and Dr. Lee L. Conrad, both of Oklahoma City.

Those needing help from the county's heart association, Hobbs continues, should first consult their family physician and enlist his help in contacting the proper authorities for information on funds available. Sixty per cent of the funds collected go for local distribution. The other 40 per cent is used for research, 15 per cent by the national association and 25 per cent by the state association.

Most research is now directed toward the discovery of causes and controls of rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, which account for more than 90 per cent of all heart disease. There are 10 million sufferers in the United States who suffer from some form of heart disease.

Dr. William R. White, president of Baylor University, is chairman of the 1954 Texas Heart Fund. With him on his committee are Gov. Allan Shivers, Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and Ben H. Wooten. Local officers are V. L. Hobbs, president; Mrs. Anne High, vice president; Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, secretary; Floyd Watson, treasurer; and Dr. R. M. Bellamy, medical advisor.

Batchelor Tells Of Commie Plans To Infiltrate U. S.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 22—UP—Ex-Progressive Cpl. Claude Batchelor admitted Tuesday that the Communists plan to send agents into the United States to burrow into "sensitive spots," like New York police department, the FBI and military counter-intelligence service.

Batchelor, called back by the Army in his trial by court martial on charges of collaboration and informing, did not go into details. He said only that these were general plans to the Communists as he got them from the Chinese Communists in prison camp.

The Army wanted to make the point that Batchelor might still be working for the Communists. He testified Monday that, with the encouragement of two U. S. intelligence officers, he tried to transfer from the First Cavalry band into the counter-intelligence corps.

Not on Red Orders Joel Westbrook, the chief defense lawyer, asked him flatly whether he was acting on Communist orders when he put in for the transfer. He said he was not.

Lt. Col. Donald L. Manes Jr., law officer for the court, refused to let Westbrook enter a deposition from 364. Gen. William Dean, who was a prisoner of the Chinese Communists.

The trial, which began August 22, was almost over. Court was adjourned Thursday until Friday so a decision that the Second Army is being sent to the Second Army is being sent to the Second Army.

Shivers Gets New Aide

Dillard is a former newspaperman, and was an FBI agent for five years. He has been active in Rotary International, serving as president of the Waco and Mexia clubs as well as being a former district governor.

Dillard was campaign manager for Shivers in 1952 and an assistant in the 1954 campaign. He formerly was editor of the Mexia Daily News and later assistant manager of the Waco Chamber of Commerce.

Who says that teachers aren't human and nothing but overgrown students? Mrs. Madge Rusk (history) almost caught Coach Terry Culley as he was pitching a ping-pong ball against her wall yesterday. He got away in time, but Coach Clifton McNeely told on him.

Noticed a mumbled noise in the halls recently and thought it was probably just undertones of "Sh-boon" or "Sugar Lump" or "mfy-be." The High and the Mighty turned out to be A Cappella choir members, however, practicing saying the only words to the Russian choral composition that they have most recently tackled — "Hospodi Pomilui."

A touch of fall! And isn't it wonderful? Especially for girls. Have heard many voice their tiredness of summer clothes, grinning and accessory flowers. They're hankering for the autumn-tinted skirts, straight or full and equally bright sweaters. Moss green, dark rust (only with a fancy new name), antique gold and the several new shades of brown-tan will be seen around the halls this winter.

Hear by the grapevine that Mrs. Luis B. Owen, Latin Club's sponsor, "got dunked" in a tub of ice water by Marion Sligo at the Latin picnic the other afternoon. The wine also carries that she retaliated by smearing him good with watermelon. If all this is true, it sounds like revelry to equal that of the old Romans.

What's this I hear about Betty Osborne, Jo Tooley and Pat Reynolds' intentions to form a trampoline team? Hope they do — can hardly wait to see them perform.

Thespians are really going to be an active organization this year, already starting to work on three one-act plays to be presented sometime in the first week of October. Don Sprinkle and Charlotte Hoggatt have copped the lead roles.

Liquor Store Killing Puzzles Houston Cops

HOUSTON, Sept. 22 —UP—A 38-year-old Auburn-haired divorcee was shot to death in a liquor store Monday night in what first appeared to be a holdup but which developed Tuesday into a baffling murder mystery. The victim, attractive Mrs. Lucille Lacy Smith, was found sprawled in the back room of Em's Liquor Store, where she clerked, at 8:45 p.m. She had been shot twice in the face.

Cash drawers were forced open and $25 was taken. Police said two powder-burned towels, apparently used to wrap around a weapon to muffle the shots, were found near the body. Tuesday, two bullets were found — one in Mrs. Smith's head, the other embedded in a wall. They came from different guns and police theorized the killer used two guns, or there were two slayers. Homicide Lt. Ben Porter discounted the robbery theory entirely. Porter said there were no signs of a struggle, that evidence pointed to Mrs. Smith having been casually smoking a cigaret as she knelt. When she was found by two store customers, she was lying on her back, ankles crossed, arms outstretched and her clothing carefully and modestly arranged.

Savings And Loan Executives Named

Two ex-Pampans, John Keller and James F. Smith, have taken over the executive responsibilities of the newly opened Amarillo Savings & Loan Association. Keller, formerly associated with the Cabot Co. and Hughes enterprises in Pampa, is the association's secretary, manager and Smith, also a former Hughes associate, is serving as president. Pampa stockholders in the enterprises are Harold Miller, Mrs. Jerry Terrie, Otis Nace and John I. Bradley.

In two of them, and Gary Griffin and E. Jay McVain are teamed in the other one. Miss Helen Shaffer, head of speech department, is sponsor and director.

Will to work, intestinal fortitude and good alarm clocks must be the possessions of Harvester band members these days. Occasional 7:30 a.m. practices prove it. Besides the night practices, Moore power to 'em.

Of course, the heartiest of congratulations to the Pampa Harvesters on their win over the Austin Panthers of El Paso. Hope many PHS fans get to go to the Vernon game this Friday. Everyone who does go — yell your head off! Good luck, boys, hope you win.

Ever since the pep rally, Pat Taylor has been telling everyone to be calm, be cool and be collected. That's the name of the yell that was introduced. Most students agreed that it was real gone.

Looking forward to the installation assembly next Wednesday. All student body officers, class officers, home-room presidents and club officers will be introduced and installed. This is the first time an assembly of this type has been presented in Pampa High.

Ever noticed just how big and bare the halls look during classes, when there is no one in them? Even a senior, much experienced in all phases of PHS (????), including this one, (feels lost).

The "driving" student body is due congratulations for the order which has been kept in the parking area behind the school. Even the sophomores, who might have been confused since the system was new to them and not explained, have fallen into line with the rest to keep in good order this completed project of last year's Student Council.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to student body vice-president Carl Blankvist, who was injured in a fall from a horse Sunday.

Just an afterthought — if you can't be at the game, be glued to your radio. Support those Harvesters!

Mass Rabies Shots To Be Administered

HOUSTON, Sept. 22 —UP—Harris county's 50,000 dogs will start moving to free clinics — and the needle — Wednesday in what is billed as the nation's largest mass anti-rabies vaccination program.

The dogs will be inoculated at 94 free clinics at strategic points in the county while an armada of 14 dog-catcher trucks and 15 city and county vehicles will spread out looking for stray dogs.

The mass attack on rabies was undertaken after Dr. Ernest Tierkel, U. S. Public Health Service Rabies expert, said the rising incidence of rabies here was "worst in the nation." Since Jan. 1 a total of 383 rabid dogs have been found in the county.

The vaccination program will last through Saturday and all "shots" will be given by veterinarians who volunteered their services. Boy Scouts, Red Cross and civic workers will take part in the program.

Free clinics will be open from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. through Friday and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. Saturday.

Young Airman Found Hanged

BRYAN, Tex., Sept. 22 —UP—A husky, 24-year-old airman was found hanged at Bryan Air Force Base Monday and officials ruled it a suicide for lack of any evidence to the contrary.

The victim was Airman 1C Walter R. Rineer, Strasburg, Pa. A fellow airman found him hanging from a rafter in a squadron mail room.

There was no suicide note and friends of Rineer said they had no idea why he should want to kill himself. They said his wife, Evelyn, returned to Strasburg, Pa., to await birth of a child.

Peace Justice H. L. Graham ruled it a suicide. Deputy Sheriff Billy Hanover said there was no definite proof of suicide.

"But that's all it could have been," he said. "There was no indication it could have been murder."

Man Slays Wife, Child; Blows Self Up

WISE, Va., Sept. 22 —UP—Lester Green, 40, beat his wife and eight-year-old daughter to death with a hammer Tuesday and then committed suicide by blowing up his eight-room frame house with dynamite, Sheriff Harold Fleming said.

A 16-year-old daughter, Betty, told the sheriff she was awakened about 4 a.m. and heard her mother screaming loudly. She said her father had hit her mother, Verdie, 35, on the head with a hammer and that when her younger sister, Peggy Ann, ran into the room, Green also struck her with the instrument.

Betty said she fled from the house to the nearby home of a relative, Cossie Dotson, and they in turn went to the home of Peggy's grandmother. She said that just as they reached the grandmother's, her own home was demolished by an explosion.

Sheriff Fleming theorized that Green went to the basement where he had seven or eight cases of dynamite stored and set it off deliberately. Green operated a small strip coal mine with two brothers, Roy and Lloyd, and used the dynamite in the mining operations. Fleming said parts of the house were blown over a 900-foot area. The bodies of Mrs. Green and the young girl were found intact but Green himself was blown to bits, the sheriff said.

Ochiltree County Agent Resigns

PERRYTON (Special) —Hood Willis, former Ochiltree county agent, feed mill manager and Farmers Home Administration administrator, has accepted the job as county agent of Hardeman County, and has moved to Quannah. He came to Perryton in 1943 as Ochiltree county agent, a job which he held for eight years. Prior to coming to Perryton he was a vocational agriculture teacher at Pampa and Miami.

Mrs. Willis has been a member of the Perryton elementary school faculty for a number of years. They have two daughters, Martha and Mary, both students in the Perryton schools.

Coercion Charged In Confession

AUSTIN, Sept. 22 —UP—A Houston attorney charged Tuesday Maurice Sampson, convicted Negro killer, confessed a crime he lacked the intelligence to commit because of beatings by Harris county sheriff's deputies.

Henry E. Doyle, Houston attorney, pressed a plea for commutation in a hearing before the Board of Pardons and Paroles. Sampson is scheduled to be executed Sept. 29 at Huntsville state penitentiary.

Along with Willie Gilbert, a second Houston Negro, Sampson was convicted of the gunshot slaying Jan. 6, 1953, of Ruth McCasland, a flower shop employe. Gilbert was sentenced to 99 years.

"That crime was planned by somebody of high intelligence. Sampson can barely write his name. One look is all you need at Willie, he's a moron," Doyle said.

"That crime was planned with the precision of a military attack," the attorney added.

The flower shop murder-robbery netted the criminals $5. The gun was never found.

Sampson, Doyle said, confessed to being the trigger man only after a deputy climbed earlier beatings by jabbing a finger into his eye. Board Chairman T. B. White heard Doyle's charges. Member L. C. Harris was out of town because of a death in his family, and the third member, Jack Potts, is on vacation.

Church Guild Plays Host To District

The Business Women's Guild Fellowship of the First Christian Church will play host Sunday to the district meeting of the organization.

District No. 1 Guild Fellowship will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the Public Library for registration and coffee, followed by morning services at the church and a noon luncheon. Afternoon activities will feature a business meeting.

The local group met recently at the home of Mrs. Frank Land, east of the city. Mrs. Bob Roberts was co-hostess.

Mrs. John Wood led a discussion program on the work being done by Christian churches throughout the nation to meet the needs of urban populations.

The devotion was given by Mrs. D. V. Burton, president.

Two Men Have Same State Job

AUSTIN, Sept. 22 —UP—The State Board of Insurance Commissioners studied the problem of two men in the same job Tuesday.

The board fired Renne Allred Jr., last Saturday and appointed Emmet Shelton as general counsel for the board's liquidators.

Shelton, an Austin attorney, asked Allred to turn over his files, but Allred refused.

"We're not sure what we're going to do," Chairman Garland A. Smith said. "We're studying it now. We may go to the Court of Civil Appeals, or we may go direct to the State Supreme Court."

There has long been a controversy whether the commission's liquidating division is subject to its orders, or those of the district courts which order receiverships.

Allred was discharged for allegedly exceeding his authority and because he was unco-operative. He said he would stay in office until relieved by the courts.

Juke Boxes Drive Bandmaster 'Mad'

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 —UP—Mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the noonday sun, according to the old song. But a British bandmaster visiting this country for the first time says he's found one monstrous insanity here that the British don't have.

"Juke boxes," said Capt. C. H. Jaeger, grimacing as if in pain from being hit with a curdled note from a saxophone section.

"They'd drive me right up the wall — just mad — if I had to listen to them every time I ordered a meal."

Otherwise, said the captain, America's tremendous. He's finding that out on a concert tour with the Irish Guards band, which he directs. He came to New York Monday night to conduct the "United Press March" as the guest of Paul Lavalle on the Cities Service Band of America radio program.

Jaeger and the Irish Guards band introduced the number, which Lavalle composed, to British last year when they played it in the coronation procession. Monday.

Flabbergasted

You, too, will be flabbergasted by the fascinating electronic equipment — like the unbeatable Tick-Tack-Toe machine made up of telephone relays — now on display at the open house in the telephone building.

Every 100th person attending will be given a demonstration long distance call. Everybody's welcome — today through Friday, 1 to 3 and 6 to 9 p. m. — daily. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

day night was the first time Jaeger had conducted an American band. His performance evoked rousing applause from the student audience, and autograph seekers besieged him afterwards.

Asked what was the most striking thing he had encountered in America, he replied without hesitation: "Putting a nickel in a slot and getting a cup of coffee out." He said this vending-machine miracle had come to pass at way-stop beside a New England highway.

Other impressions of an inveterate Britisher in the USA: Friendliness — "Everywhere we go, people come right up to us and start talking as if we were old friends."

Transportation — "In America you've got so many motor cars figure nobody ever walks."

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

New Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP*

- Boosts power as much as 15%!
- Increases spark-plug life up to 150%!
- Gives you extra gas mileage, too!

Here's the most revolutionary advance in motor fuels since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922 — new Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP, brought to you by special arrangement with Shell Oil Company. TCP is Shell's trademark for the remarkable additive first developed for aviation fuels.

Now you can actually enjoy the benefits of an engine tune-up — just by changing to new Conoco Super Gasoline. Chances are, by the time you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel the increase in power. And you'll keep that extra power just as long as you use Conoco Super.

For Conoco Super with TCP is a new kind of gasoline. It overcomes the greatest single cause of power loss affecting most of the cars on the road today. Now, you can enjoy all the power that was built into your car.

Why you need Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP
In the average automobile, the by-products of fuel combustion constantly build up deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. These deposits can "cheat" your car of power in two ways. First, they actually short-circuit your spark plugs. This causes mis-firing. Second, deposits in the combustion chamber get red hot and cause the fuel to ignite before it should. This is called pre-ignition or "wild ping." The effect of fouled spark plugs and pre-ignition is a loss in power and a waste of gasoline.

Wicked Private Power

On Sunday a syndicated column with wide circulation headed "Washington, D. C., the City Which Makes up Your Mind for You" appeared on the subject of something the late Senator Maybank told the people.

It should be a source of delight to all who believe with the "liberals" that salvation lies down the road of more... then a little more, political ownership and management of man's enterprise and woman's purchasing power.

The columnist writes: "Sen. Burnet Maybank of South Carolina, who died suddenly last week left a legacy in an observation he once made. It is well worth thinking about in this time when our government is under the direction of men lacking in boldness and imagination."

At a time when imagination and boldness in its use are the principal ingredients of the improvisation called "Foreign Policy," one might stop right there and gulp at what the man says.

But let that pass... this is what the Senator is said to have said, "No government ever went broke developing for the people their own natural resources."

Let's be fair to the Senator who is not here to qualify.

He is that delight which all "liberals" aspire to if they are good politicians. He proves he was "liberal" in a conservative sort of way.

By contrast the reckless "liberal" who must always justify the ever-expanding public debt will always stop after he has said the axiom "No government ever went broke!" Meaning, of course, that no one seriously expects the federal bonds to be paid except the people who buy them.

From here on one is kept in the dark as to whether or not the columnist would leave any of the development of natural resources in the hands of man private as contrasted with man political.

He doesn't mention private capital, the very end when "profits" of a few corporations are mentioned. But in some block-faced type he praises the Senator's views on putting the development of River Valleys into political hands... and few of us live so far back in the hills that we are not near some creek or draw which puts us in the River Valley.

"The philosopher," raves the columnist, "the humanitarian, the poet like to talk and sing of the enrichment of human life, etc., etc. They think in terms of intangible values, etc., etc., happy homes, radio, television... labor saving devices in kitchen and barn."

Then he gets realistic with an appeal to the money-getting instinct: "... increased incomes of farmers, new job-making industries, profits, salaries, wages, cold cash."

Finally, he gloats that all this provides government with additional revenues... that government is repaid many, many times over.

From all this we are supposed to draw the stock inference in this kind of socialist propaganda.

The inference is this:

When people of a wicked, wicked group have taken the trouble to save a few bucks, get together privately and risk their money in a pool of corporate shares and from there on hire engineers and contractors to develop a piece of property... then the philosopher, the humanitarian and the poet can only take down their hair and mourn.

For when they hire people to send — for example — electricity throbbing out over the high-lines, no home owner, no farmer, no industrialist, no wage earner gets any possible benefit.

Now what the columnist says is stock stuff.

It is repeated over and over through all that group of "liberal" papers and periodicals of which the Daily Worker is the MOST LIBERAL OF ALL.

We would like to just mention one of the most beautiful river valleys in America — the Wisconsin.

No... those fruitful lands, the river bottoms are NOT under water like the Tennessee.

You see, a bunch of grasping capitalists got there first ahead of the Public Planners of communal enterprise and ruined it for everything but the American, the Private way... free men competing for a market.

They tell us that here is a model of flood control and power development which did not cost the public a cent.

It is so well managed that there is no need to hide the true costs in hog-pocus like the TVA has had to do to break even.

And it is even said that poets have "talked and sung" of the great fruitfulness and beauty of this capitalist empire... not dreaming that the blessings of electricity made the farmer, the cheesemaker, the industrialist prosperous enough to pay out vast sums in wages and dividends.

No — no government ever went broke... but a whole global landscape is littered with the remnants of governments and civilizations of which it is written that a people just sat down and quit trying because their rulers taxed away the incentive and squandered it on vast armaments to send overseas.

Then what?

Well the barbarians, mostly ASIATIC barbarians, came down and found that they were a pushover... whether or not they had actually gone broke.

"What the UN Means to Us" According To Lodge, Jr.

I received the other day a pamphlet from the State Department containing a statement by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U. S. Representative to the United Nations on "What the United Nations Means to the United States."

Since I always like to read all the arguments on the opposite side from that which I believe, I was glad to read this document to see if I was wrong in contending that the United States should get out of the United Nations — to see if we were in error in distributing "Let's Get Out of UN" buttons.

This statement by Lodge is full of unsubstantiated statements. He admits that the Security Council is becoming less and less active due to the veto power, and then he has the following to say in parenthesis:

"A veto-proof method has at last been evolved for bringing a collective defense program into being by recommendations passed by a two-thirds vote of the General Assembly. When, as, and if aggression occurs in the future, we will no longer be paralyzed by the Communist abuse of the veto."

But since each one of the 60 nations has one vote in the General Assembly, then the larger nations or the nations that believe in a government with the consent of the governed, can be forced into action by a small percentage of the total population of the 60 nations. Each nation has five delegates, but has only one vote in the General Assembly.

Where in the world does he get the idea that we have a common sense of justice and a common view of the relation of the individual to his government, when we have nations like Russia based on the theory that might makes right? How can there be a common view of the relation of the individual to his government if the United States is to take the view as set forth in the Declaration of Independence that "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed?"

Most of the other nations have the concept that the individual is the servant of the state rather than that the state is the servant of the individual.

World Forum
Ambassador Lodge makes a great deal about the United Nations being a world forum. Forums are good, but we want millions of forums instead of one world forum. A one world forum is especially dangerous when the members composing it are invariably politicians — men drunk with popularity who are invariably more interested in keeping their jobs than promoting justice and will say and do things that give them more power. And if we rely on a one world forum instead of having millions of forums, millions of men trying to understand God's and Nature's laws that will promote good will and justice, we will not develop individual responsibility. We will detract attention from our duty as individuals to help preserve justice and entrust it to politicians with gun power. How can we have much confidence in a world forum with such persons as Eleanor Roosevelt as delegates, when she will not answer certain questions for $1,000? She is not interested in all people being equal before the law as they are before God; she is only interested in promoting Eleanor Roosevelt.

Ambassador Lodge also says: "We have developed valuable allies — certainly not as many as we should have liked." One wonders what valuable allies we have developed. The United States, according to all reports, is in worse repute throughout the world now than it has ever been.

Lodge also says that the United Nations is not a world government and that it cannot impose taxes of any kind and cannot draft a single soldier from any country for service in Korea or elsewhere. But the UN can assess a certain amount of money that each nation must pay. While it doesn't have the power to say how each nation should raise the money, it has the power to assess us all collectively.

Lodge harps on the fact that the United States cannot exist without supplies far in excess of what it can produce. In the September issue of U.S.A. a survey was reported that showed that the Americans can produce everything we need for defense and we do not need a UN in order to get supplies from the Americas, let alone other parts of the world.

Lodge contends that there is great need for the UN. He says: "This explains why men of good will throughout the world would be straining every nerve to create even the impetuous device which we have now if the United Nations did not exist."

That is an arbitrary statement not based on any evidence. I know of no men of good will who will answer questions without evasion who would be "straining every nerve" to create a UN. Men of good will who will answer questions are devoting their energy to trying to get people to believe that free trade and free immigration are good and that protective tariffs and immigration quotas are bound to lead to war and to tyranny. But the UN thinks we can promote peace with gun power and have protective tariffs and immigration quotas. It is folly to waste time on the UN that diverts our attention from the real causes of war, when we should be giving our thoughts and energy to getting more people to realize that following the Golden Rule is the only way to really promote peace.

Guessing Game (Anyone Can Play)

National Whirligig U. S., Vatican Relations Have Improved Under Ike

By RAY TUCKER

ROME — Relations between the Vatican and the United States have improved immeasurably under the Eisenhower Administration after a poor start. The greater understanding results from the wartime friendship between President and Pope, and the latter's sympathy on behalf of western unity against the threat of Goddess Russia.

The Vatican, which has been recognized as a temporal power and sovereign state by most leading nations, still aspires to be accorded similar recognition by the U.S. It enjoyed a semi-official status during World War II, when Myron C. Taylor, former head of U. S. Steel, was accredited as P. D. R.'s "personal representative."

Although Ambassador Clare Luce is a prominent Catholic, Vatican diplomats do not and cannot regard her sympathetic religious affiliation as a substitute for or alternative to a separate and official White House emissary. To do so would jeopardize the Church's historic claim to a world estate.

Roosevelt's recognition resulted from his realization that the Vatican had the finest and most far-flung Intelligence Service then operating, especially in former enemy lands. The same situation exists today. The Pope, who served as papal secretary of state for many years, has broad experience, contacts and knowledge of foreign affairs.

He obtains data on economic and political conditions in Iron Curtain countries that are not available to Allen Dulles' Central Intelligence Agency or to the famed British Foreign Intelligence. For the handful of observers which they have in Russo-Chinese satellite areas, the Pope has tens of thousands.

Like certain countries which have neglected after using them during World War II, His Emancipation has not been given due recognition by the leading power of the Western anti-Communist coalition. However, it can be said authoritatively that the Pope entertains no such sentiment. In view of his personal grief over the Reds' persecution of such eminent prelates as Cardinal Mindszenty, and over Moscow's recently renewed war on religion, it is unthinkable that he would withhold from us all possible co-operation simply because official recognition has been denied for reasons of domestic politics.

He has many able American advisers on political and religious problems in the U.S., stationed here and in our country. According to authentic report, Eisenhower would like to send an Ambassador to the Papal State, but fears adverse reaction on Capitol Hill, in the South and in the Middle West.

It is folly to waste time on the UN that diverts our attention from the real causes of war, when we should be giving our thoughts and energy to getting more people to realize that following the Golden Rule is the only way to really promote peace.

Ike's hatred of religious intolerance is recognized and respected at Rome.

The Catholic Parties exercise considerable influence in Italy, having large and solid voting blocs in each Parliament. They are also strong in such satellite areas as Austria, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Eastern Germany. It is largely due to the Vatican's steady and conservative influence that they invariably support leaders — Mendez-France, Adenauer, Seelba — and policies friendly to the West.

During the most critical year of the war — 1944 — diplomats agreed that the two most influential world figures at that time were the President of the United States on the politico-military side, and the Pope of Rome on the emotional and religious side.

Since the ultimate battlefield in the current conflict is men's minds, it is fortunate for the free world that this unwritten and non-military alliance still exists.

The Vatican's vast and mystical hold over hundreds of millions in all countries was demonstrated recently at a ceremony which the writer was privileged to witness. It made talk of wars — how to lop them or win them — seem like the stuff of a bad and unreal dream.

It was the Pope's Sunday evening audience with 10,000 Marian Year pilgrims from more than 50 countries. For an hour, he spoke to them in 14 languages from a courtyard balcony at his summer retreat at Castel Gandolfo, 18 miles outside Rome.

As a Tiltan sun sank behind the soft blue Alban Hills that Raphael and Michelangelo used to paint as background for their masterpieces, it was an inspiring, peaceful and magnificent spectacle — to peoples of all faiths and nationalities.

But the most impressive feature was that the frail figure in white cap and vestments spoke to love, of only such simple things as kindness and his prayerful hope of the permanent peace which the statesmen have not yet brought to the world.

Congressman Kit Clardy has called for an investigation of an outfit called "The National Committee For An Effective Congress, and it's about time."

"About six years ago," says Mr. Clardy, "this organization was formed by the same masterminds that direct the Letting 'Americans For Democratic Action.' It calls for the end of Congressional exposures of Communism and continually smears those engaged in ferreling out Reds, Red fronts, Red dupes or Red stooges. It has invaded state after state with money from outside sources to influence free elections. I strongly suspect that it is violating the laws relating to lobbying as well as other statutes. If it has its way, it will impose a one party government and that party will be Socialist and, eventually, Communist."

Military Leaders Forced To Pay Honor To AFL Group

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Victor Riesel's package-goods column on "labor" recently announced "the armed forces, represented by chief of staff General Matthew Ridgway, will pay tribute to AFL members" at the opening of the annual convention of racketeers' old-home week in Los Angeles. Actually, it was not quite that bad. But it was bad enough to amount to a rotten imposition on all the armed forces and the people of the United States.

I promptly wired the general inquiring whether this was a correct statement and if so whether he was doing this under official orders, and if so, whose orders, and whether willingly or under protest.

I added that Lieut. Gen. Tony McCalliff, now commander of the 8th army in Germany, the man who said "nuts to you" when the Germans invited his surrender at the bulge, had flatly refused to obey an order to appear at a political testimonial dinner in "honor" of Drew Pearson in Boston.

I could have said further that Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, then chief of Naval operations, adorned a similar dinner in "honor" of Elliott Niles, a brother of the late David K. Niles, the White House political agent of the Frankfurter-Truman regime.

Elliott had been waived into the army with the rank of captain but with imperceptible military qualifications during the war-time draft. He got out with the rank and veteran's perquisites of a Lieut. Colonel, after a career in the Pentagon.

Admiral Denfeld later was bounced by Truman in a scrap over unification and took his flag into retirement. Elliott Niles had done nothing to deserve the honor of the presence of the chief of naval operations at any public demonstration.

Hearing nothing from General Ridgway, I telephoned his office and was informed that he was not going to present himself at the AFL convention but would be seen in a special film on television.

This is a degradation of the armed forces by political order of the White House. That need not be questioned because the department of defense would not initiate such a disgrace and nobody knows better than the chief of staff should that the AFL was the mastermind of a stupendous shakedown of the treasury and people of the United States and of many millions of war-industry workers during World War II.

For that matter, the same exhortations are still being practiced in all the public construction "projects," civil as well as military, and all the operations involved in the production of weapons, vehicles, aircraft and ships. Unions take their toll of every dollar so spent.

Most of you had the same experience. Somebody gets the idea of organizing a little club — just a few kindred souls who can put their feet under the table, and their elbows on it, and with this leverage move the world. You get together in the corner of a restaurant and you have a wonderful time until someone suggests that maybe you should have a regular place to meet — just a small place because you are going to keep this exclusive. And then someone says the magic words, "It won't cost much."

All clubs start like this — but it's only a matter of time until they get out of hand. The warning signal is when someone says "We need larger quarters because we are turning down people. If we took them in we could get more things done." This is the point where someone should shoot the speaker. But before the body is disposed by any of the accepted TV mystery methods, a funeral with ART and TIME, fell through oration should be made over the deceased, and copies distributed far and wide to other little clubs who think they are getting too big to Europe, where he is still making their bristles. The oration could go something like this:

"In the most successful club you will never see more than two people hard at work. Gathered around them in easy attitudes of organized apathy, are the rest of the members getting in the way of the two who are working and criticizing their efforts."

President Eisenhower certainly knows these facts, and we saw proof of his awareness in his appointment of impudent unionsters in construction jobs in the atom program all the way from St. Louis through Kentucky and down into Tennessee.

Because Riesel said Frank Sinatra and Danny Kaye would take part in the same gala in Los Angeles, as members of a number of unions, I asked General Ridgway whether he would take the trouble to learn what they did in World War II. Neither one did anything.

Sinatra drew 1A classification and said he was proud of his chance to serve his country, but was deferred because of a punctured ear drum.

General Ridgway could have learned by phone from selective service that Kaye was excused on ground which did him no credit. However, Kaye did have the strength and gall to fly into Washington to take part in a demonstration on Un-American Activities.

A dozen reds went to prison as a result of the expose. James K. McGuire, a patriotic combat veteran of the first war, was whispered out of Hollywood after a distinguished career and died broken-hearted of a heart attack.

He was only one of many pro-Americans who were whispered out. Many of the pro-Reds never suffered the least inconvenience. This demonstration and the cordial publicity volunteered not only by Riesel but by other constituents an interesting reaction to an unusual incident — recent news of crimes of the union racketeers, both AFL and CIO.

There have been many indictments in St. Louis, East St. Louis and Springfield, Ill., involving extortion on construction jobs, $400 and other routine union atrocities. In New York there are disclosures of enormous thefts of so-called welfare funds by typical unionsters who will be exonerated because the two dirty political parties refuse to exact laws forbidding this normal practice lest "insulting" vote against their candidates.

Eisenhower started off knowingly wrong by appointing Martin Durkin, president of the plumbers' union, and a Democrat, his first secretary of labor. Many of Durkin's unions reek and when he stepped out he did so with an insult to the President which Ike had earned by his stupid recklessness in appointing Durkin. To ripen the stench of this nasty episode, President Vice President Nixon to appease the racketeers at their next national convention and they jeered him, which served them both right.

That should have been enough but it wasn't. However, it is one thing to deputize a politician to grovel for the favor of this national disgrace.

"So what? Nothing happens at our club meetings anyway except reading the minutes of previous meetings at which nothing happened. Think how exciting it would be if one never knew when the floor would cave in and drop all the basement where some of our best people are living these days."

"Let me tell you a story. There was a poor young sculptor in New York. He got a cheap studio on the top floor of an old tenement building and started to model a statue out of clay. As he worked he fell in love with his idea so he decided to enlarge it, and then he became so enraptured he made it the central piece of a large group called "Time Passes, Art Alone Endures."

"For days and nights he carted the clay up five stories and smashed speaker. But before the body is disposed by any of the accepted TV mystery methods, a funeral with ART and TIME, fell through oration should be made over the deceased, and copies distributed far and wide to other little clubs who think they are getting too big to Europe, where he is still making their bristles. The oration could go something like this:

THE TIME FOR PARTIES is back again with the fall club activities. I had one column with hints on table setting and decoration, but would like to add something more. It is also timely with the Beta Sigma Phi table setting contest coming up in November.

ONE SUGGESTION from the experts goes with the use of silverware that has a rose-type design. It is suggested you take the rose for a setting. You can place a few large roses, real or artificial, in the center of the table, using a white cloth to set them off. Or you can pin a rose to each napkin. Rose-decorated crystal and glasses and rose-tinted or rose-painted china go well with this setting.

Another variation of the rose theme is to use a rose lace table cloth with a centerpiece of roses. If you don't want a centerpiece, but would like to use candles, you can fasten one or two large real or artificial roses to the candle holders or candelabra. It seems to give the table an added attractiveness.

For an ornate, heavy, silverware design that is suggestive of a garland of flowers, make the centerpiece a real garland of flowers, using a plain china, with only a narrow band decoration, the experts recommend.

If you use silver with a wheat design, a complimentary centerpiece is a silver dish lined with wheat containing apples or other fruit. This is especially good for fall — wheat and apples sort of suggest this time of year. There are also crystal pieces with wheat designs that go well in this setting.

It's interesting to see what you can do with this idea — taking the design of the silverware as a decoration theme. You could do the same thing with a china or crystal design. Some of the dried plant arrangements I told you about last week would fit in well, too.

NOW THAT the contest to discover the most distinguished Pampa man, I hope you are all thinking of someone to nominate. You can send in your choice any time. Don't wait too long. I'm anxious to see whom you select. If you hurry and vote, we may be able to print pictures of the nominees. This is your contest, so let's get busy.

Here's a good party suggestion for you teenagers from the educational bulletin, "Quaker Quotes." It is a "come as your ambition" party, which you can combine with a record jam session. Everyone comes dressed as his favorite ambition. It should provide a lot of fun and a lot of laughs.

Another suggestion was a fortune telling dinner party. Decorations would include tables covered with checkered cloths and centered with candles in a bottle. A lot of fun is had by placing a "fortune" forecast in each cookie which doubles as the dessert. As each person eats the cookies he finds such things as "there is a tall, handsome man in your life," "in love," "this is good for the teen-age crowd," "date affair or a high school crowd dinner. Who knows, we adults might ever find it fun.

Luncheon Meeting Held By Art Club

The Pampa Art Club opened its fall session with a luncheon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. A. D. Hills, 705 N. Frost.

During the business session, led by Mrs. Hills, president, plans were made for an art exhibit at the time of the opening of the new library. The group voted to withdraw from the Council of Clubs because of facilities in the new library for exhibits. Meeting dates were changed to the third Tuesday of each month. And the group voted to accept Mrs. Harold Gregory as a new member.

Next meeting will be in Oct. 19, in the home of Mrs. Harold Wright.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Roy Chisum, J. J. Evans, C. F. Purley, N. B. Ellis, J. F. Herring, C. C. Matheny, Harold Wright, O. W. Appleby, C. G. Shirley, Lillian Snow, Dorothy Statton, A. C. Houchin, A. C. Cox, Harold Gregory, A. D. Hills and Jim Cornutt.

BSP Sorority Has First Fall Meeting

Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Upsilon chapter, began its new club year with its first meeting recently in the City Club Room.

Mrs. John Campbell, president, led the short business meeting. Miss Eliza Pianta, past president, gave a review of last year's activities for the new pledges. Year books were passed out and secret sisters named.

Following the meeting, refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips and soft drinks were served. The table was covered with a green cloth, and centered with a football, encircled by fall flowers. Mrs. John Phelps and Mrs. Alberta Rader were hostesses.

Members and pledges attending were Mmes. J. Campbell, H. Buckingham, Jr., J. Phelps, B. M. McMullan, R. J. Saylor, Jr., A. Kemp, H. E. Deck, R. Johnson, K. Calkins, W. D. Price, Jr., D. Morrison, W. F. Goode, Jr., H. Fabian, E. D. Young, R. Sypert, R. McKinney, K. Reeves, Kay Fancher, M. Hinkle, H. Ousley, W. Trice, R. Buzzard, Thelma Bray, W. Garrett, C. McNelly, T. Culley, and Misses Alberta Rader and Helen Schaefer. Mrs. Jack Foster, sponsor, also attended. Guests were Misses Peggy Shough and Jean Taylor.

Why do so many boys and girls of school age bypass an adequate breakfast? Reasons usually given by students between 12 and 18 are: Not enough time; no breakfast ready; no one to eat with.

Every serious study by educators and nutritionists proves that students who skip on the first meal of the day often are careless and inattentive during the late morning hours.

As the new school term begins, getting children to eat 1-3 to 1/4 of their daily food needs before setting out to school is sharply stressed as a health and educational "must" for parents and educators alike.

The basic breakfast pattern, generally accepted nationally, is based on five low-cost foods available everywhere. They are fruit, cereal with milk, bread, butter or margarine, and milk to drink. Eggs, bacon, meat or other protein foods can be added. But the basic pattern, as given above, is nutritionally adequate and provides the 1-3 to 1/4 of the day's total nutritional needs.

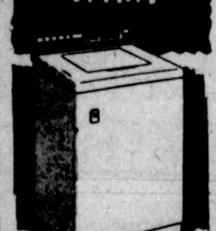

Arranging the child's schedule so that he gets enough time to eat an adequate breakfast, having it ready for him, or teaching older children how to prepare it for themselves, need not be a great household chore.

The basic breakfast can easily be prepared in 10 minutes. It may not always be possible for the family to breakfast together. However, reports show that generally children who eat breakfast with the family eat better.

Suggested family menus for breakfasts that take only 10 minutes to prepare:

1. Chilled tomato juice, farina with dates, milk, brown sugar, toasted nut bread, butter or margarine, milk, coffee, tea.
2. Sliced peaches on corn soya strands, milk, soft-cooked eggs, hot buttered toast, milk, coffee, tea.
3. Fruit juice, raisin bran flakes, milk, sweet rolls, butter or margarine, milk, coffee, tea.

Southwesterners Elect New Heads

Election of officers highlighted the meeting Monday evening of the Southwesterners in the home of Mrs. Leonard Husted, 737 N. Dwight.

Those chosen were Mrs. Omer Bybee, president; Mrs. Buck Moore, vice-president; Mrs. Joe Gidden, secretary; Mrs. Murray Sealey, treasurer; Mrs. Brooks Hubbard, reporter.

During the business session, the group voted not to enter the Beta Sigma Phi table setting contest in October. The meeting dates were changed from the first to the second Wednesday of each month. The group previously met on Mondays. It was decided to continue the Secret Pal system and the members will draw for them at the next meeting. A discussion was held on the 1954-55 yearbooks and Mrs. Evari Revard was appointed to present some ideas at the next gathering.

Next meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Oct. 6, in the home of Mrs. Buck Moore, 507 N. Sumner, with Mrs. Olin Bridges acting as hostess.

Members present were Mmes. Kenneth Hamon, Buck Moore, Evari Revard, Floyd Lassiter, Murray Sealey, Norman Flaherty, Omer Bybee, Olin Bridges, Brooks Hubbard, and Gordon Lyons.

Parent Education Club Has Brunch

The Parent Education Club held its first fall meeting Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. J. B. Veale, 2125 Mary Ellen. Co-hostess was Mrs. Myron Marx, Jr.

Mrs. Rex Rose presented a short program on parliamentary procedure, followed by a skit on "how not to conduct a meeting."

Refreshments of meatballs on candied pineapple, sweet rolls and coffee were served, the table was covered with a red cloth. The "New Year" theme was carried out in the centerpiece, an arrangement of balloons, horns and confetti. Each member was presented a miniature horn with her name on it.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Bud Johnson, A. L. Smalley, Jr., Z. B. Deer, Jr., Clinton Evans, Gene Fathere, Jack Foster, R. C. Goodwyn, H. L. Gunter, R. M. Hampton, Julian Key, Myron Marx, Jr., Rex Rose, Tom Roose, George Snell, Bob Vail, J. B. Veale and C. C. Whitney, Jr.

Las Cresas Club Has Initiation Tea

An initiation tea was presented recently by the Las Cresas Club for its new members in the home of Miss Marietta Mitchell, 1529 N. Williston.

Each new member was presented a yellow candle by her big sister, next to whom she stood while taking the membership oath. Miss Lynn Followell led the club song and initiation prayer. Following the ceremony, each new member introduced her mother.

Decorations included a mantelpiece rainbow arrangement of yellow and white flowers from which white streamers hung. On each streamer was the name of a new member. The arrangement was surrounded by the yellow candles used in the service.

The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of white and yellow dahlias. At one end of the table was a large white cake, decorated with yellow roses and the words, "Las Cresas." Other refreshments were punch, minis and nuts. Misses Betty Bullard and Marsha Wicker, served.

During the business session, the group decided to hold dances Oct. 1 and Oct. 15.

New members of the club include Misses Phyllis Phillips, Jerry Hodges, Margaret West, Rose Smith, Jeanne Bullard, Sherron Hill, Carol Champion and Wanita Anderson. Mothers attending were Mrs. H. M. Phillips, Mrs. Dallas Hodges, Mrs. M. E. West, Mrs. S. M. Smith, Mrs. Archie Bullard, and Mrs. Joe E. Hill.

Members present were Misses Dorothy Denham, Marietta Mitchell, Betty Bullard, Barbara Bullard, Peggy Owen, Jovannah English, Lynn Followell, Janice Frasier, Martha Wicker, Dixie Robinson; and Mrs. Don Robinson, sponsor.

THE OILERS HAVE THE UPPERHAND

in the current series with Clovis Pioneers although the Seitzmen did even up the series last night behind the veteran Red Dial.

The Oilers have Vibert Clarke ready to go tonight with Jonas Gaines ready for his turn tomorrow night. If these two fellows are right, the Oilers should wrap up the series tomorrow night.

Some of the fans were questioning the decision today on why the Oilers started Jim Lemons last night against Dial.

Then, too, Lemons has been known to pitch some good games and there was no reason to believe that he wouldn't have come through last night.

The way Dial was pitching last night, Lemons would have had to pitch a shutout and then he might not have won anyway since it would have been a 0-0 draw and gone into extra innings.

Manager Hersh Martin will likely be on hand for tomorrow's sixth game here.

Martin, you know, is still recuperating from the bus wreck injuries. Martin was being treated in the Abilene hospital since the wreck occurred 10 days ago.

Even if he is able to be on hand for the game tomorrow night he may have to watch it from an ambulance stretcher.

Martin saw the last game at Abilene from a stretcher along the right field line and it seemed to have brought the Oilers luck as the Pampans wrapped up the series that night by clobbering the Blue Sox, 17-3.

We're hoping Hersh will be on hand tomorrow night. I'm sure all good Oiler fans will be out tomorrow night to give Martin and the Oilers a royal welcome home.

Pat Tipps of Canadian ranks third in the scoring with 19 points. Two players, Bobby Philley of Clarendon and Kenneth Mason of Gruver, are tied for fourth and fifth places with 18 points.

Schoenhals Takes Over 1A Scoring Lead

Eugene Schoenhals, speedy Canadian halfback, moved into the individual scoring lead of District 1-A last week, scoring 13 points against Wheeler to boost his season's total to 32.

Schoenhals passed last week's leader, James Smith of McLean, who didn't play last week as McLean had an open date. Smith, nevertheless, held the second spot among the 1-A point-makers.

Pat Tipps of Canadian ranks third in the scoring with 19 points. Two players, Bobby Philley of Clarendon and Kenneth Mason of Gruver, are tied for fourth and fifth places with 18 points.

Clovis Pulls Even With Oilers In Playoffs, 8-0

CLOVIS, Sept. 22 —UP—Carroll (Red) Dial, the West Texas-New Mexico League's star pitcher, pitched his Clovis Pioneers back to even ground with the Pampa Oilers in the championship playoff.

Dial stopped the straight-season champions on a four-hitter—all singles — as Clovis night to even the best-of-seven series at 2-1.

The fifth game will be played here Wednesday night with the series moving back to Pampa after that contest.

Dial, who won 25 games during the season to lead the West Texas-New Mexico League, gave up two hits to Pampa third baseman Curtis Hardaway and one each to L.B. Palmer and Gene Harardo.

He didn't walk a batter and struck out seven, and Pampa got only one runner as far as second base—that was because of an outfield error.

Meanwhile, Clovis rapped Jim Lemons and John Coddington for 12 blows, including a homer, three triples and a double. The homer was by Pete Trabucco with two aboard in the fourth inning.

Wilkinson Is Coach Of Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 —UP—In a profession where worry is a watchword he is a "versatile pessimist."

Few football coaches have learned to worry about more things at once.

His Sooners now are rated as potential national champions but he'd sooner not have them so highly touted.

He is United Press Coach of the Week Clarence (Bud) Wilkinson, who is afraid his Oklahoma lads will get over-confident after their smashing 27 to 13 triumph against California in a big-time opener for both schools.

Already, he thinks they're over-rated.

"This is the most over-rated team I've had since I came to Oklahoma eight years ago," he said. "And I don't think that our triumph over California proved Oklahoma is any better than last year."

TCU Bigger Test Wilkinson thinks the game with Texas Christian Saturday will be "a more difficult test."

"They will have offensive formations we are not used to and if their T-formation doesn't work they can go into a spread," Wilkinson said. "We have not been strong against the spread."

"I was not pleased with our pass defense. Paul Larson of California completed 16 out of 23 for 167 yards. I consider this alarming. TCU was out there watching us on television, too. And nothing can be done about it."

Minor League Files Suit Against Majors

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Sept. 22 —UP—Organized baseball faced a revolt in its own ranks Wednesday as a group of independent minor league executives prepared to sue Commissioner Ford Frick and the major leagues for $50 million.

Frank Lawrence, white-haired President of the Portsmouth club of the Piedmont League, said Tuesday the club owners would file the suit in a federal court later this week.

It will be based on damages minor league franchises allegedly have suffered from invasion of their so-called territorial rights through major league radio and television broadcasts.

"We're prepared to fight it to the bitter end," Lawrence said. "The damage that the majors have done to independent minor league club owners is incalculable."

Wants Drastic Action "They have flooded our territory with their radio and television broadcasts has caused 200 minor league cities to fold up. There are that many towns where the fans no longer have the wholesome diversion of real live baseball and unless something drastic is done, baseball is dead."

In New York, Frick said he did not want "eviction" until I find out what it is all about."

Lawrence is on a committee of nine men from the majors and minors named by Frick to revise the entire structure of baseball law and to change the draft rules whereby players are moved up in classification.

"When this committee of nine was meeting, I asked the commissioner to do something about this radio and television problem," Lawrence said. "Three different times he refused my request. He said we had to stick to the agenda. He wouldn't even let us discuss the matter...."

"If This Is Treason" "I just hope Frick doesn't want to have me arrested for daring to talk back to the bigwigs. But if this is treason, let's make the most of it."

Lawrence said there had been various federal court suits involving baseball but that "no one has had any luck putting the powers-that-be into court and that's what we're trying to do."

Canadian Puts Mark On Line At Perryton

Conference play starts in two Class A districts this weekend, but the main Texas schoolboy football attractions will be non-district games involving high scoring teams.

Canada, which has yet to be scored on while pushing across touchdowns at a 40-point-per-game pace, tackles Perryton, which has bowled over three opponents at a 41-point-per-game average.

Albany averaging 52 points-per-game in two victories, takes on Stamford, a high-scoring outfit in its own right with 89 points in two wins.

Piano has appeared only once, but piled up a 64-point total in that one game — far more than it's expected to do against defense-minded Carrington.

Firemen Answer Alarm At Dairy

Firemen were called out at 11:35 p.m. Tuesday for a run to Sunshine Dairy, 716 W. Foster, where some belts were burned. The report: no damage.

STRIKE.

Before the month was out, the city's two principal hotels—the Goodhue and Sabine—Woolworth's, McLellan's, the Fair, Phoenix Furniture Co., and 25 other firms, were engulfed.

There was little violence — a few threats, some name-calling — but the effects of the strike were best visible in the quiet streets, the empty business establishments, the curious who came to see the pickets. There are a lot of union families here. The AFL claims 6,000 members and the CIO 8,000 wage earners in the Fort Worth area.

A half-dozen firms, including Grant's, Holsum Bakery, two supermarkets, Juneau's cafe and Lane's clothing, signed up. Phoenix Furniture Co., which operates in Texas, Louisiana and Georgia, moved out of town.

The rest of the businessmen held the line. And retail sales in Beaumont-Jefferson county's "big city" 20 minutes north of Port Arthur soared. There were no pickets walking in front of Beaumont stores and shops.

The union asked for recognition, better conditions, better pay. The businessmen charged that the DPOWA had a checkered career of left-wing associations and its top men—Arthur Osman and David Livingston—had pleaded the fifth amendment before a congressional committee on July 6, 1953.

Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepperd stepped in and denounced the union as Communist-dominated. The Texas State Industrial Commission investigated and agreed, although it found no Reds among Texas union members.

The findings put the union in a bad spot and Osman and Livingston left town and Fred C. Felper Sr., a ranking official of the CIO from Atlanta, Ga., arrived and was reported to have called the strike a "mistake." However, he said, "the fact that a mistake in judgment was made by the union (DPOWA) in no way minimizes the responsibility of employers to recognize their employees' choice."

Felper dissolved the DPOWA and chartered the Sabine Local Industrial Union No. 1814 to take its place and continue the strike. The Oil Workers International Union, local 23, gave the new union its blessing.

(Tomorrow — The strike becomes a political issue.)

The best samples in the cereal wheat contest, the top 10 percent, will have their wheat milled and baked by a commercial bakery. The wheat award is sponsored by the Texas - Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Association.

Scout Council Picks Shelhamer Convention Head

E. E. Shelhamer, president of the Pampa Rotary Club, today was named chairman of the Ad Walls Council planning committee for the Region Nine annual convention.

Convention will be held April 16 in San Antonio, according to Paul Eisenherz, council Scout executive. The council's executive board made the appointment.

The council won the "man-mile" award this year in Houston with 47 persons used five donated planes to attend the convention. Region Nine includes Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

San Antonio is closer to Pampa than Houston, so more persons will be needed to attend in order to win again, Eisenherz pointed out.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY
 OH DEAR! WHAT'S THE MATTER, HONEY?
 I'M OUT OF HAND LOTION AND MY HANDS ARE SO SORE THAT I CAN'T DO THE DISHES WITHOUT IT!
 AW, THAT'S A SHAME ANGEL. I'LL RUN RIGHT OVER AND GET SOME FOR YOU!
 WELL, THANKS, PAL!

IT DOESN'T SAY ANYTHING ABOUT THE LITTLE LEAGUE FIELD, DID IT? I DIDN'T YA PUSH THROUGH MY PROGRAM?
 SORRY, TERMITES!
 THAT'S A NICE PICTURE OF YOU, JILL. NOT VERY OFTEN WE SEE A PICTURE OF JUST ONE OF THEM?
 FOR ONCE I FEEL LIKE AN INDIVIDUAL!
 RING
 IT'S THE BOY CREEPS!
 WHERE TO TONIGHT, KIDS?
 THE FIREMEN'S FAIR, DADDY? I WANT TO SEE THAT AERIAL ACT I OKAYED YESTERDAY?
 WE'LL SEE YOU OVER THERE!

I CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY MEN TAKE SO LONG SHAVING IN THE MORNING.
 YOU USE TOO MUCH LATHER, AND TRY RUNNING A LITTLE HOT WATER OVER THE BLADE.
 NOW TAKE THE RAZOR AND USE FAST, LOOPING SWINGING STROKES FROM RIGHT TO LEFT.
 NEVER TAKE ADVICE FROM A WOMAN ON SHAVING.

AFTER THE WAY YOU FUSED ABOUT "POOR OOP," I MUST SAY YOU DON'T SEEM VERY CONCERNED NOW THEY'VE GOT A CHAIN ON HIS LEG!
 ROOH! WHAT'S A CHAIN ON HIS LEG? IT WAS A RING IN HIS NOSE I WORRIED ABOUT.
 EHP HAVEN'T YOU TUMBLED YET?
 DOC'S GOT A CRUSH ON THE MAID IN ARMOR!
 OH, NO!

IT'S GREAT TO GET OUT IN THE COUNTRY WHERE YOU CAN ROLL IN THE GRASS WITHOUT SOME SOTHEHEAD YELLING AT YOU.
 SNIFF-SNIFF-KEEP ON PICKING A RABBIT TRAIL!
 WE'RE TOO CLOSE TO A FARM-LET'S HEAD INTO THE WOODS.
 IT'S RAINING- YOU COULDN'T FEEL IT IN THAT HEAVY BRUSH!
 IT'S GOING TO STORM! LET'S FOLLOW THIS ROAD AND FIND A SHELTER!
 LOOK HOW DARK IT'S GETTING- HERE COMES A CAR- GET OFF THE ROAD QUICK!

GREAT SCOTT, CHICK WERE FLYING THROUGH SOLID WATER!
 AND A 150-KNOT WIND, I DON'T LIKE IT, PAL!
 FOWLER! STAY IN CONTACT WITH THE OCEAN, WE'RE FLYING BLIND!
 CRISIS! THE NEPTUNE LUNGES WILDLY THRU A ROARING VORTEX OF WIND AND WATER.
 CAN'T SEE THE WATER? I'LL SWITCH TO RADAR ALTIMETER. HEY! YOU'RE ONLY 85 FEET FROM WAVE TOPS!.. GET YOUR NOSE UP!
 HOW'RE WE GOING TO FIND OUR WAY THRU THIS, CHICK?
 IF WE CAN JUST HOLD ON... AND KEEP HER OFF THE WATER... THE WIND'LL CORKSCREW US INTO THE EYE, BUZZ.
 VISIBILITY ZERO.

"THE CALIPH'S EYE" IS A FAMOUS AND PRICELESS DIAMOND, IT WAS GIVEN TO ME BY A WEALTHY MAN MANY YEARS AGO IN TANGANYIKA... I SAVED HIS SON'S LIFE.
 I GAVE IT TO MY WIFE, EMILY, IN HER LATER YEARS, BEFORE HER DEATH, SHE BECAME ECCENTRIC AND HID IT, FEARING IT WOULD BE STOLEN... EVEN I DON'T KNOW ITS WHEREABOUTS! LATELY I'VE FOUND IT... HE'S NOT SO CRAZY AS PEOPLE THINK!
 HE ALWAYS BLAMED EMILY FOR HAVING HIM CONFINED... SHE USED INFLUENCE TO SAVE HIS LIFE... HE'S A MURDERER AND SHOULD HAVE HANGED.
 WE'VE GOT TO FIND A WAY OUT AND NOTIFY THE POLICE!

ENCEE, HONEY, LET'S TURN THE LIGHTS DOWN LOW!
 NO... FATHER WON'T LIKE IT!
 I'M NOT GONNA KISS YOUR FATHER, I'M---
 OH, JEFF! THE LIGHTS WENT OUT!
 DON'T WORRY, HONEY! IT'S PROBABLY ONLY A FUSE! I'LL GO DOWN AND FIX IT!
 THERE YOU ARE! ALL FIXED!
 NOW, WHY DID I DO THAT?

I'VE DECIDED NOT TO WEAR MY SALESMANSHIP ANY ONSEER... COME IN!
 NOW YER GETTIN' SMART!
 I GOT ALL NEW STUFF! SHOW YA T' DAY!
 I DIDN'T THINK THERE WAS MUCH NEW IN THE LINE OF BWUSHES!
 THERE AIN'T!
 I JUST BEEN TRANSFERRED TO THE GAMES AN' NOVELTIES DEPARTMENT!

I'LL MURDER THAT MUTT!
 HE'S CHEWING ON THE SAME BONE WITH MY BRUSSELS!
 YIPES!
 QUICK, MR. BOTTS! WASH OUT BRUSSELS'S MOUTH WITH SOAP AND WATER...
 AND I'LL DO THE SAME TO MY OLIVER!

OUT OUR WAY By J. R. Williams OURBOARDING HOUSE with MAJOR HOOPLE

WHAT'S THIS-- YOU YELLING, 'HEY, IF ANYBODY CALLS FOR ME I'LL BE UP IN THE BATHROOM WASHIN' UP? WHY, I HAVE TO DRIVE YOU TO EVEN WASH YOUR HANDS?
 SHE'S ALLUS GOT A LOT O' WASHED STOCKS' HANGIN' UP THERE AN' I WAS TRYIN' TO GET THE NEWSPAPER, BUT SHE TOOK IT WITH HER! THEM'S JUST THE ADS!
 UM-YAS, MARTHA, MY DEAR! BUT BEFORE YOU ZOOM INTO THIS STYRACOPHORE, LET ME EXPLAIN THAT THIS IS A REWARD IN WHICH TWIGG HAS A SHARE-- HAK-KAFF! IT'S A THREE-- WAY SPLIT-- YOU CATCH ON?
 A CHECK FOR $1,000! MADE THAT'S YOU! WELL, SIT RIGHT DOWN, BIG SHOT, AND LET'S HAVE A LITTLE CHAT ABOUT THIS! I'LL FETCH TEA AND CRUMPLETS AS SOON AS I GET CONTROL O' MY KNEES!
 WHY, THAT'S ENOUGH FOR EVERYBODY!

LOTS OF EXPERTS WORKED OUT THE ASSIGNMENT THAT BROUGHT ME HERE TO SPOT THE HITCH IN THE BUILDING OF A RADAR STATION-- AND NOW THE WHOLE DEAL RESTS IN THE LAPS O' LITTLE BLONDE CHICK.
 THESE CLICKS HANG SOME JUICY CHANCE THAT MAKES IT WORTH THEIR WHILE TO BUCK THE ENTIRE CANADIAN AND U.S. DEFENSE SETUP, SO KNOWING ME OFF WOULDN'T LOSE THEM TO MUCH SLEEP, THAT MAY BE WHY MISS MIZZOU TOLD THEM I AM AN AIR FORCE OFFICER ON ACTIVE DUTY.
 THEY'D HAVE TO MAKE MY DEATH LOOK ACCIDENTAL, EVEN IN THIS BUSH COUNTRY BECAUSE THEY KNOW SOMEBODY WILL COME LOOKING FOR ME-- AND KEEP ON LOOKING.
 I HAVE TO TRUST THIS GAL I HARDLY KNOW-- AND SOMEBODY IT SEEMS ODDS LONGER TO DO SO-- ALTHOUGH I'M AFRAID I CAN'T MAKE OUT A REPORT TO THE PENTAGON THAT SAYS I HAD FAITH IN MISS MIZZOU BECAUSE HER HAIR SMELLS SO CLEAN-- IN A PLACE WHERE SHE'D BE TOP DOLL EVEN IF SHE HAD ANTS IN HER HAIR!

I DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT.
 YOU WILL, SEEMS A SHAME THOUGH... SUCH LOVELY FEATURES... THERE'S A LOG ROAD ABOUT FIVE MILES SOUTH OF HERE... HAVE A SACK IN MY CAR...
 MISS DAVIS, WHO FLIPPED ATTORNEY STRONGS IN A SACK, ALSO PRASSEB HIM DOWN A CONSPIROCY ROAD?
 YOU'RE KIDDING! I MEAN-- WANT I'LL TALK! WEASLE WAS THE SUN, BUT HONEST I DON'T KNOW WHERE TO FIND HIM!
 THANKS-- AND I WAS KIDDING!

I THINK THAT I SHALL NEVER SEE A POEM LOVELY AS A TREE
 A TREE WHOSE HUNGRY MOUTH IS PRESSED AGAINST THE EARTH'S SWEET FLOWING BREAST
 A TREE THAT MAY IN SUMMER WEAR A NEST OF ROBINS IN HER HAIR
 HEY, CINDY! CAN'T YA SING SOMETHING BESIDES 'TREES'?

WELL, ASK HIM WHY THE CRATES ARE GONE FROM THE PLANE, EASY. I'M SURE HE'LL HAVE AN EXPLANATION.
 SURE, I'M SUSPICIOUS OF POTTER, TOO OFTEN HIS STORIES DON'T JIBE WITH THE FACTS!
 I'M SURE WE WILL-- BUT IT WON'T MEAN A THING! OF COURSE THAT COULD HAVE BEEN FAKIN' MACHINERY, BUT SOMEBODY I-- HEY!
 IT'S THOSE LIGHTS OFF SHORE ASHAW-- BEYOND THE POINT!
 IT'S ODD THAT THE NATIVES HERE WOULD BE PUSHING THIS LATE, AND IT'S FIFTEEN MILES TO THE MAINLAND--
 NAN! A POSSIBILITY JUST OCCURRED TO ME! YOU GO BACK TO THE HOUSE, I'D BETTER INVESTIGATE ALONE!

THE CHOICE IS ENTIRELY YOURS, PUG! A BUSINESS CAREER-- OR JOURNALISM, IN WHICH YOU SEEM TO HAVE SHOWN GREAT APTITUDE! WE MIGHT DISCUSS SOME OF THE ADVANTAGES OF A JOURNALISTIC CAREER--
 FIRST AS A MEANS OF WITHSTANDING DANGER, ADVENTURE-- AND SO FORTH! MOREOVER--
 FREQUENTLY THERE ARE SWIRLMISHES WITH DANGER, ADVENTURE-- OPPORTUNITY TO MINGLE WITH CELEBRITIES-- I'LL THINK IT OVER!

YOU FIGURE I SHOULD GO TO NEW ORLEANS WITH UNCLE PHIL, SERGEANT?
 I'M NOT WORRIED ABOUT NEW ORLEANS, MICKEY-- HE'LL BE IN GOOD HANDS WITH UNCLE PHIL, THERY I'M THINKING OF WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN AT DONNYBROOK PARK-- ON HIS WAY BACK!
 OH, HE SHOULDN'T GET INTO ANY TROUBLE THERE EITHER-- HE'LL BE TOO BUSY WITH HILD AND HEADACHE!
 LOOK, MICKEY-- HE EXPECTS THE HORSE TO WIN EVERY TIME NOW, AND IF IT SHOULDN'T, HE'LL UNDOUBTERLY GO INTO ONE OF HIS MOODS AGAIN! HE MIGHT EVEN DISAPPEAR FOR WEEKS-- RATHER THAN FACE HIS FRIENDS AT CLANCY'S!
 GOSH! YOU DON'T THINK THEY'D BET ON HEADACHE IN A BIG RACE LIKE THAT, DO YOU? --AGAINST SUCH GOOD HORSES?
 I'M AFRAID SOME OF THEM WILL, MICKEY!
 PHIL SAID HE'S SURE I'LL PAY AROUND 100 TO 1 AT THE TRACK, MEGINTY!
 HMM! SCHULTZ, THAT GIVES ME AN IDEA!

COACH BAGLEY MANAGES TO TAKE A STUDENT INTO A FOOTBALL UNIFORM!
 LOOK AT THAT GIANT MOW 'EM DOWN! MAN!
 ATTA BOY!
 NOTHING YOU CAN SAY CAN STOP HIM!
 YOU CAN SAY THAT AGAIN, COACH!
 I DIDN'T STAND YOU UP, PHEGON-- HONEST! COACH BAGLEY MADE ME JOIN THE FOOTBALL TEAM!
 A FINE FISH STORY!

Injury May Be Permanent
BALTIMORE, Sept. 17 — UP— Veteran third baseman Vern Stephens, the "old pro" of the bedraggled Baltimore Orioles possibly has played his last major league game. Stephens, who wrenched his ankle earlier this month in a game against Detroit, said Thursday he will leave for home immediately and will decide during the winter whether he will play again next year. Stephens led the Orioles in the runs-batted-in department with 44.

Argentine Gets Cortisone Plant
BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 22 — UP— A U.S. pharmaceutical concern has announced plans for a $200,000 cortisone plant, making it the first to benefit from Argentina's liberalized foreign investment law.

Plague Closes Ecuador Border
QUITO, Ecuador, Sept. 22 — UP— The government said Wednesday it has sealed the border between Ecuador and Peru because of a reported outbreak of bubonic plague in a Peruvian coastal town.

This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING TAIL-END" of gasoline which GULF refines out

This lamp is burning NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX, the cleaner-burning super-fuel

Instead of trying to fight trouble-making deposits with so-called "miracle-additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place. That's why Gulf, in making new Super-Refined NO-NOX, refines out the carbon-forming, "dirty-burning tail-end"—more than a cupful in every gallon. Just look at the plates the Gulf scientist is holding in the untouched photo above and see what a difference Gulf super refining makes!

New super-refined gasoline solves today's No.1 engine problem!

Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result: a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power... free from knock or pre-ignition.

Starting with your first tankful this new super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

- ▶ More complete engine protection than so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines. Why? Because Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline, the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines—treats this new Super-Refined NO-NOX to give it a complete range of protective properties. It protects every part it touches against harmful deposits—carbon, rust, gum.
- ▶ Extra gas mileage. Why? Because new

NO-NOX is specially blended for the short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

- ▶ No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's super-compression engines. Why? Because the anti-knock power of new NO-NOX has been stepped up to an all-time high.
 - ▶ Stall-proof smoothness—no more worries about carburetor icing in chilly weather, or vapor lock on warm days. Instant starts, too—and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.
- That's why new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you more power-with-protection than you've ever known. See road test proof...

Road tests show: new No-Nox actually makes cars perform better than new... even after 15,000 miles!

TRUE! After 15,000 miles per car—covering all conditions—Gulf test cars showed: Higher-than-new horsepower! Better-than-new in gasoline mileage! And not a single trace of carbon knock or pre-ignition at any time—even on the steepest mountain grades!
