NCA sponsors Young Cattlemen's Traveling Leadership Conference

The third annual Young Cattlemen's Traveling Leadership Conference, sponsored by the National Cattlemen's Association (NCA) and its affiliated state and national breed organizations, was competed recently. The program is designed to assist in the development of future leaders of the beef cattle industry.

The 24 young cattlemen, selected by their sponsoring state cattle and breed organizations, traveled across the nation, from Denver to Washington, D.C. They were exposed to various aspects of the livestock industry.

Attending from Borden County was John Robert Anderson sponsored by the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn.

Members of the group all under age 40, began their tour in Denver, where they were hosted in the new NCA headquarters building. NCA Executive Vice President W. T. (Dub) Berry and other NCA staff members presented an overview of the role of NCA. They were given workshops on policy development, communications and membership development. The group was also introduced to Cattle-Fax, a cattle market analysis service associated with NCA.

In an effort to learn more about the meat business, the group next visited the Denver pre-fabrication meat plant of Safeway Stores. Frank Lusk, manager of fresh meat procurement, commented on Safeway's retail marketing approach, including the firm's lean beef program.

The young cattlemen then traveled by bus to the Greeley, Colo., area, where they visited the Webster Feedlots and Farr Farms, both leading commercial cattle feeding operations. They then visited Monfort of Colorado where they toured the processing facility and met with several Monfort officials, including President Ken Monfort. They were given a special demonstration on the value of animal by-products.

The young cattlemen next traveled to Chicago, where they learned more about cattle futures marketing at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Ron Frost, CME vice president for agricultural marketing, suggested that a selective hedging program on live cattle futures contract was one of the best ways to transfer risk in the marketing of cattle.

Moorhouse Ranch claims Texas bragging rights

With 13 ranches and several dozen cow ponies in competition, the 1982 Texas Ranch Roundup turned out to be a three horse race, with the Moorhouse Ranch of Benjamin winning by a nose over two other ranches tied for second.

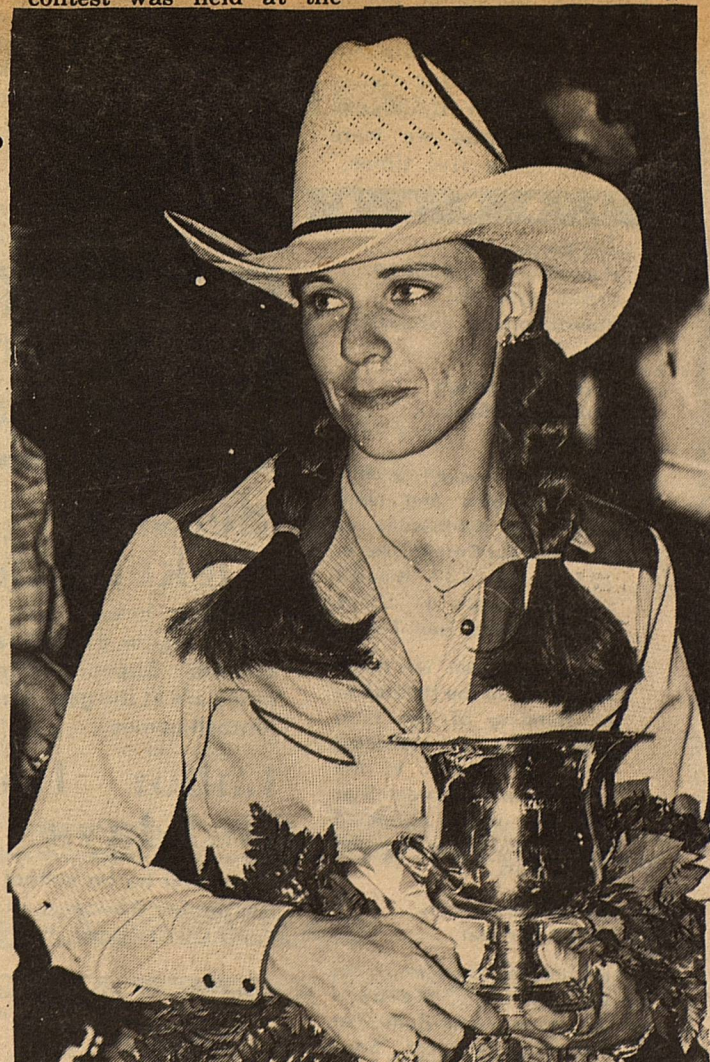

When the final whistle sounded, only one point separated the victorious Moorhouse cowboys from the Pitchfork Land and Cattle Company, Guthrie, and the U Lazy S, Post.

The two night ranch contest was held at the Wichita County Mounted Patrol rodeo arena and was co-sponsored by the North Texas Rehabilitation Center and Budweiser. All funds from the roundup will go towards the North Texas Rehab Center, the West Texas Rehab Center at Abilene and the West Texas Boy's Ranch at San Angelo. 1981's event netted $21,000 with the 1982 event earning $82,000.

The roundup pitted real working cowboys from the state's largest ranches

COYOTES SCORE 5 TIMES AGAINST STATE CHAMPS

It looks as if the Coyotes are beginning to work out of their problems of what position players will play. After Thursday's scrimmage with the Whitharral Panthers, the Coyote's questions about offense and defense are not so many, according to Coach Frisbie. Our offense did a fair job of defense recognition and we were able to score five times," said the Coach. Sammy Williams was moved from fullback to tailback, Kevin Telchik was moved to quarterback and Dennis Buchanan was placed at fullback. This will be our starting backfield in our season opener against Dawson", stated Coach Frisbie. Our offensive line will consist of Doug Love at center, Keith Williams at Guard and Mark Rice at End.

"Our defense played well on our contain type defense.

The Panthers were able to score only two times. We still are working at two positions until our defense is settled," added Coach Frisbie.

Coach Frisbie was proud of his team's progress in last Thursday's scrimmage as shown in these remarks to the press-- Over all, we progressed about 200 percent from our last week's scrimmage against Loop. We are in better condition and have a better idea of our goals.

BAND MAKES BIG PLANS FOR 1982-83 SCHOOL YEAR

The Coyote Marching Band, under direction of Mr. Thomas McGuire is planning an exciting year. The high school band now numbers 65, which is the most members ever belonging to the band. The Elementary Band consists of 46 members from the 5th and 6th grade.

For the marching season, Shana Bradshaw is serving as Drum Major and Stephanie Stephens is twirler. Jennifer Wilson will serve as Percussion Section Leader and Cam Stone will be Brass Section Leader.

The band is using new style low brass horns and new trumpets, so with the new director the band will also have a new sound. Also new to the Coyote Marching Band is a new style of marching, which may take two weeks for most students to master. The band will consist of 8 to 10 flags, 6 to 8 rifles and a 50 piece marching band for the 1982 season.

The band members will do a little traveling this year. On the calendar are the following:

South Plains Fair Parade-last of September

Texas Tech Marching Festival-October 23rd.

U.I.L. Contest-November 2nd

Several other parades are being planned.

November 1 is Borden County Coyote Band Day. Parents and friends are invited to the football field on Monday night to watch the Coyotes practice for the U.I.L. Contest.

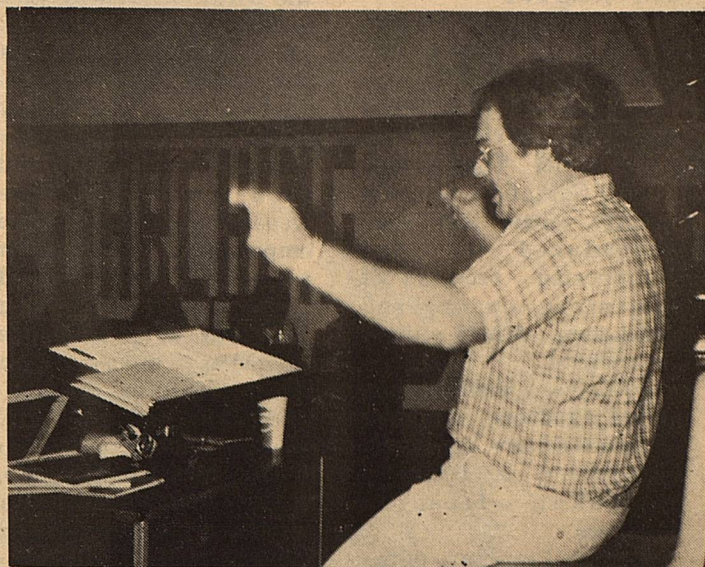

Livestock Meeting

There will be a general meeting of the Borden County Junior Livestock Association on September 15, 1982 at 7:30 p.m. at the Agriculture Shop.

At this meeting the following need to be taken care of, so everyone is urged to attend.

1. Elect officers for next year.
2. Discuss any changes that need to be made
3. Discuss plans for the 1983 stock show
4. Arena work for next year.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Band Director, Tom McGuire has fallen right into step with the band. A few new students are struggling to catch up with marching strategy and instruments, but as a whole, the band looks good.

DRUMMAJOR-Shana Bradshaw, Drum-major for the 1982-83 school year has been helping Mr. McGuire by teaching new students how to march.

The group then flew to Indianapolis, where the cattlemen visited Elanco Products Co., the agricultural division of Eli Lilly & Co. They visited Lilly's Greenfield research facility, where they were introduced to the complicated process of researching, clearing and marketing of new animal products. Monte Hemenover, manager of cattle products, with the help of Elanco scientists, conducted a tour of ruminant research facilities.

The final two days of the week-long tour were spent in the nation's capitol. Following a special tour through the Capitol building, the cattlemen attended a Congressional briefing and luncheon in the historic Mansfield room of the Capitol. They heard from top Congressional leaders, including Sen. Cochran of Miss., a member of the Senate Agriculture and Appropriations committees; Cong. Wampler, ranking minority member of the House Agriculture Committee; Cong. Lujan, ranking minority member of the House Interior subcommittee on energy and environment; Cong. Virginia Smith, ranking minority member of the House Appropriations subcommittee on agriculture and related agencies; and Cong. Doelho, member of the House committees on Agriculture and Interior and Insular Affairs.

The young cattlemen were then given an opportunity to visit with their home state Congressmen and Senators.

The final day of the tour was highlighted by briefings at the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the White House. Agriculture Secretary Block spoke to the group, as did other USDA officials, including Assistant Secretary C.W. (Bill) McMillan, FHA Administrator Charles Shuman and Economist Dr. Terry Barr.

The White House briefing, held in the President's family theater, featured a discussion on economic and fiscal policy with Michael Horowitz, of the Office of Management and Budget. A discussion on international policy was presented by Michael Calingaert, deputy assistant secretary for international resources and food policy in the Department of State. He emphasized that foreign trade is a two way street and that every effort is being made to get agriculture treated as in industry when considering trade matters.

NCA President-Elect W.J. (Dub) Waldrip, who traveled with the group, ended the tour with a challenge to the young cattlemen to continue in their leadership development so that they might help the beef cattle industry meet the challenges that lie ahead. He noted that several current leaders in NCA and other cattle organizations were members of previous young cattlemen's tours.

Accompanying the young cattlemen on the tour, in addition to Waldrip, were the NCA vice President for policy coordination, Don Nelson; Dr. Ashby Green of Mississippi, vice chairman of NCA's Young Cattlemen's Council; and NCA staffer Ron Francis.

12 Annual OS Events Announced

The Twelfth annual O.S. Ranch Steer Roping and Art Exhibit to benefit the West Texas Boys Ranch in San Angelo, Texas, will be held October 1, 2, and 3, 1982. Activities will begin Friday evening, 5 p.m., October 1, at the historic OS Ranch in Post, with the Art Preview Party.

This year the Art Party takes on a new look with the addition of a Triple Feature Auction. This auction will include ten select Quarter horses, ten registered longhorn cows, and ten pieces of collectors art.

The schedule of events for the remainder of the weekend is packed with excitement. It's a most enjoyable way to help the West Texas Boys Ranch continue their dedicated efforts.

4-H "Is"

Each year, beginning in September, more than 100,000 Texas boys and girls aged 9 to 19 join millions of others throughout the country in the world's largest youth organization - 4-H.

What is it and why do they do it?

A brief look into the nature of the 4-h program and what it has to offer youth and their families can provide the answers to these questions.

First of all, 4-H is fun. 4-Hers take part in a wide variety of enjoyable activities--club meeting, recreation, camps, learning laboratories and project work. Meanwhile, their families have the joy of working together on projects, participating in fun days, and enjoying a host of other opportunities.

Secondly, 4-H offers educational experiences. Youngsters learn that learning can be fun. 4-H learning takes place in small group work, in individual work on projects, and in conjunction with adult volunteers and family members. They learn at fairs and project shows of various sorts and in a variety of other "non-classroom" environments.

In a sense, 4-H education involves youngsters in a "learn to do by doing" atmosphere where useful and practical skills and facts are learned.

Finally, 4-H is for everyone--young or old, rural or city, male or female, regardless of race or ethnic group. Furthermore, 4-H requires no membership fee or dues. It is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service which is a Texas A&M University System and by local, state and national donors.

So, become a part of 4-H. You and your family will have fun, meet new people, and take part in many new and interesting activities.

Find out all about 4-H by contacting the County Extension Office at 915-856-4336.

Anatomy of an Organization

The anatomy of an organization includes four kinds of bones:

Wish bones: members who want someone else to do the work.

Jaw bones: members who talk alot, but do little else.

Knuckle bones: members who knock everything others try to do.

Back bones: members who get behind the wheel and do the work.

Ranch Rodeo

against each other in rodeo style events patterned after actual ranch work. Ranches also accumulated points towards the overall title in talent and queen contests and a ranch cook-off.

Judges for the weekend event were Bobby Brown, T. J. Walter and Butch Kirby of the "Budweiser Six Pack". Hadley Barret from North Platte, Nebraska announced the two night event.

Junior Daniel of the Pitchfork was named Best All-Around Hand for his outstanding overall performance during the roundup. Judges were particularly impressed with his participation during the Friday saddle bronc and wild cow milking events. "I thought I might have a chance at being top hand if I just did well Saturday," Junior said after taking a winning lap around the arena to try out his prize, a hand tooled saddle. He also received a portrait painted by Leon Hale of Colorado.

Susan Stephens of the Moorhouse Ranch captured the title of 1982 Ranch Roundup Queen, succeeding 1981 winner Eugenie Von Gontard Daniel, formerly of the Pitchfork. Representing the Moorhouse Ranch of Benjamin, Susan captivated the judges and beat out contestants from the other ranches for the honor. As a result, she'll wear the banner of the Texas Ranch Roundup as one of its official spokespeople. Which is especially nice, since her ranch, the Moorhouse, won top spot as 1982 Best Ranch in Texas.

In the ranch cook-off, which required ranches to prepare entries over an open pit, the U Lazy S took top honors with a plate of beef tenderloin and peach cobbler. Cowboy Steve White also added to the U Lazy S points by winning the music division of the talent competition with an original guitar composition, while Bob Moorhouse of the Pitchfork did the same for his ranch in winning the painting-photography division. First place in the crafts division of the talent contest was awarded to Lea Glover of the W. T. Waggoner Estate, Vernon, for her pottery.

Although the Moorhouse won first place spots in the saddle bronc and wild horse race events, and claimed the new ranch queen, the Pitchfork was right behind, boasting the new top hand, a win in the talent contest and strong showings in other rodeo events. The U Lazy S second place finish was paced by a team roping win and consistent point accumulations in other rodeo events, as well as wins in the ranch cook-off and talent contests. Sam Whitley was an outstanding U Lazy S contestant.

At their request, the entire team from the defending champion Lewis Ranches presented the bronze sculpture by Lex Graham to the 1982 winners. The Moorhouse "C" brand will be burned in the base of the trophy. Each of the Moorhouse employees will receive a pair of handmade Adams boots.

Of all the Roundup contestants, Borden County had four representatives. John Anderson, Butch Gass, Mike and Susan Stephens. Patricia Gass, Neil and Debra Overton also attended the event.

Friday night, Mike Stephens placed 3rd in the bronc riding, with the aid of Neil Overton's saddle, he bested the horse called "the Dukes of Hazzard" and scored a 72. He was also in the Wildhorse race, which the Moorhouse Ranch won.

Saturday night in the bronc riding, Butch Gass rode a paint horse belonging to Beutler. He was also a member of the 3 man Spade Ranch team who won the Wild-horse race to earn 10 points. It was said that Butch was the main hand in that event, as he eared, saddled and rode the bronc across the finish line. Watching the wild-horse race was a wild, wooly, western and exciting event! Each of the wild-horse race winners received a pair of trophy Klapper spurs.

Saturday morning, a Jackpot team roping was held. It was open to all employees of the ranches invited. John Anderson of the Spade Ranch was contestant in this event.

Results of the weekend event are as follows;

Best Ranch in Texas: 1. Moorhouse Ranch, Benjamin; 2. U Lazy S Post; 2. Pitchfork Land & Cattle Co., Guthrie; 3. Renderbrook-Spade Ranch, Colorado City; 4. Cowan and Son Circle Bar Ranch, Seymour; 5 R.A. Brown Ranch, Throckmorton; 6 Lewis Ranches, Clarendon; 6 W. T. Waggoner Estate, Vernon; 7. Scharbauer Ranches, Midland; 8. Adding to the big weekend, People magazine will do an article on one of the big winners of the weekend event. This is scheduled for a fall publication. Also NBC's Real People will air an hour special program about the Budwiser Texas Ranch Roundup rodeo this coming spring. The Real People TV camera crew filmed both nights performances and Saturday's events. Sarah Purcell of Real People was on hand at the arena Saturday and visited with many of the ranch employees and many interviews were filmed.

In addition to the ranch events, spectators were entertained by the Budweiser Clydesdales; Benny Binnions Stage coach and team of lack horses; and the Santa Rosa Palomino Club of Vernon, Texas composed of 36 men on Palomino horses. The club displayed drill team maneuvers with each rider carrying a Rebel flag.

MOORHOUSE RANCH CO.

O'Day, Williams exchange solemn vows

Tracey Lynn O'Day and Roger Keil Williams were united in marriage at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 7 in the First United Methodist Church. Rev. Bob Ford, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bob O'Day of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Williams of Borden County.

The altar was centered with a large arrangement of white starburst mums and gladioli flanked by two seven-branch candelabra lined with leatherleaf fern. Two nine-branch candle trees covered with leatherleaf fern and English ivy completed the setting.

Grandparents and parents of the couple were seated as Tammy Farmer, pianist, played "Sunrise, Sunset."

Darrell Collins sang "The Wedding Song" while the candles were lighted by Mindy Williams, sister of the groom, and Kristi Brewer of Mansfield, cousin of the bride. They wore white and blue print dresses with square necklines and puffed sleeves. Light blue satin belts completed their attire and they wore wrist corsages of blue carnations.

Katrina Humble and Mr. Collins sang "Endless Love." Mr. Collins also sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the wedding ceremony.

The attendants entered to "March for Maria" from "The Sound of Music," played by Barbara Perkins, organist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, entered to the traditional "Wedding March" by Wagner.

She wore a gown of white organza trimmed with appliques of silk Venice lace medallions. The Queen Anne neckline featured a stand-up ruffle of crystal pleating which also edged the cuffs of the full sheer sleeves. Covered buttons extended down the back of the gown from the neckline to below the empire waistline. Two rows of Chantilly lace edged the hemline which flowed into a full chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was of mantilla style with scattered Venice lace appliques. A row of silk Venice flowers bordered the entire veil.

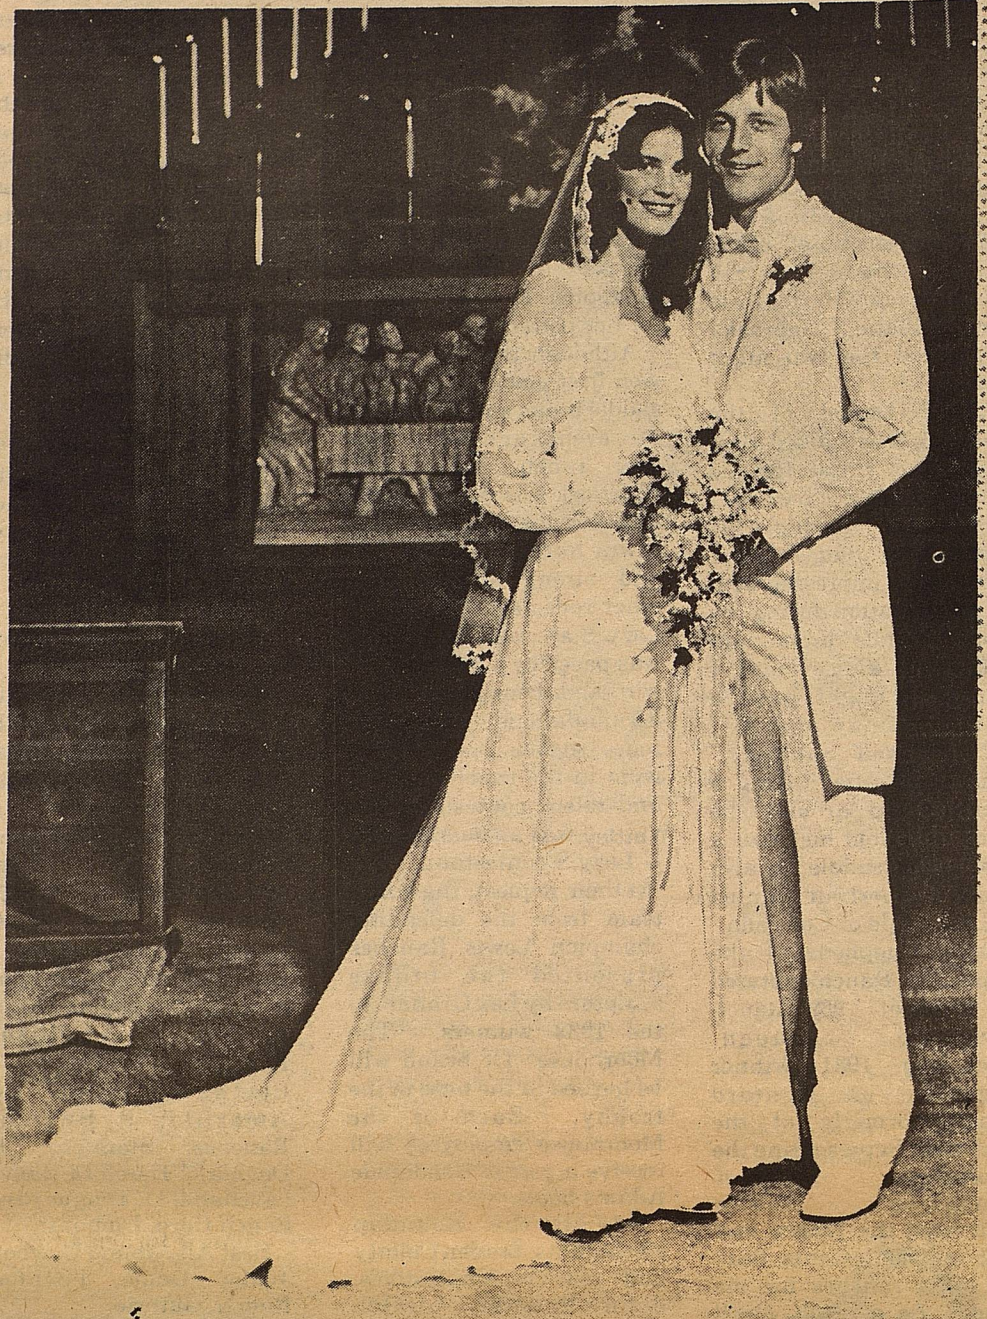

She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, starburst mums, frenched carnations, baby's breath, blue silk flowers, and English ivy with light blue and white ribbon streamers.

For something old the bride carried a lace handkerchief which her maternal grandmother had carried at the wedding of the bride's parents. Her gown was new and she borrowed her mother's diamond earrings. She wore a blue garter and pennies minted in the year of the couple's birth in her shoes.

Tammy O'Day of Canyon served as her sister's maid of honor. Her floor length gown was of light blue satinessa and miramist. It featured a square neckline with sheer sleeves and bodice overlay and a full ruffle flounce at the hemline. She carried a white lace fan adorned with blue and white frenched carnations, blue silk flowers and blue and white ribbon streamers. In her hair she wore a headband of blue silk flowers, baby's breath and English ivy.

Janet O'Day of Comanche, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmatron and bridesmaids were Kelly Williams, sister of the groom, and Kelly Jones and Katrina Humble. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Flower girl was Jenny Allen of Borden County, cousin of the groom. She wore a dress similar to the honor attendants' and carried a white wicker basket trimmed in bridal illusion and filled with blue silk rose petals. She had a matching headband in her hair.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER KEIL WILLIAM'S
(Ted Bigham Photography)

Mrs. O'Day wore a formal length pink gown with sheer ruffle-trimmed bodice and Mrs. Williams wore a formal length pink gown with lace-appliqued bodice. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids and stephanotis.

The groom wore a formal white cutaway tuxedo with tails and a white pleated shirt. His boutonniere was a white rose with stephanotis.

Best man was Gary Don Edmiaston. Groomsmen were Craig Turner of Odessa and Burt Jennings of Austin, cousins of the groom, Cole Herring of Fluvanna and Mike O'Day of Comanche, brother of the bride.

Jay Allen of Borden County, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer. He carried a heart-shaped satin pillow which had been used at the wedding of the bride's parents.

Guests were seated by John Bloom and Kenny Riley. All the male attendants and the fathers of the couple wore tuxedos of gray pinstripe trousers, white pleated shirts, and gray vests and coats. Their boutonnieres were blue carnations.

Mrs. John Bloom registered guests. The registry table was covered with an antique white cloth edged with rosepoint lace.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Wesley Hall.

The bride's table was laid with a blue lace cloth trimmed with white eyelet edging and satin ribbon over a white floor length cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of blue carnations and white mums surrounding three white candles in an antique crystal candle holder. The three-tiered cake rested on five smaller round layers. It was topped with white satin wedding bells and decorated with fresh blue carnations, white mums and baby's breath. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl and other table appointments were of silver. Lisa Franklin served the cake and Joyce Barnes served punch.

The groom's table was covered with a blue linen cloth over a white floor length cloth. The top layer of the groom's chocolate cake was horseshoe-shaped. It was decorated with the groom's brand and miniature silver boots, a spur, a horse, and a brown felt hat. An edible arrangement of pineapple, grapes, canteloupes and fruit dip decorated the table. The arrangement was made by Mrs. Warren Beaver, the groom's aunt. Pam Gray served the cake and Pam Smith served coffee from a pewter coffee service.

Individual tables were covered with white lace-edged cloths and centered with blue and white silk flowers encircling blue votive candles.

Members of the houseparty were Mmes. Robert Adams, Clinton Sellars, Bill Sikes, W. B. McSpadden, and Tommy Williams.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Union Community Center.

When the couple departed on their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a khaki tailored dress with red accessories and a red carnation corsage. The groom had a red rose boutonniere on his tan sport coat. Following a ten-day trip to Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah and New Mexico, the couple will live in Borden County.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Snyder High School and plans to attend Western Texas College.

The groom is a 1981 graduate of Borden County High School. He is employed by Williams Systems.

Out of town guests were from Hondo, Mansfield, Cypress, Dallas, Gail, Fluvanna, Hermleigh, Midland, Odessa, and Lubbock.

brother to begin a cow-calf operation. The Moorhouses had established roots in West Texas nearly a quarter century earlier, moving there in 1907 from Kaufman County east of Dallas.

Still active in managing the ranch, Togo today shares his responsibilities with sons Ed, John, Tom and Bob, who were brought into the family business when it incorporated in 1979. With six employees, the Moorhouses operate 40,000 acres, 10,000 of which they own. The remaining land, King, Stonewall, Knox, Baylor and Borden Counties is leased and includes leases dating back to the 1940s.

Moorhouse Ranch Co. runs yearlings on wheat pasture and maintains a cow-calf operation. In addition, the ranch raises its own saddle horses. Moorhouse cattle wear a C branded onto the left hip. This mark was chosen because it was simple and wouldn't blot.

Your County Agent Says

PREGNANCY TEST YOUR CATTLE

One of the most sound management tools available to you as a rancher in Borden County is pregnancy testing your cattle in the fall.

In my opinion, pregnancy testing is a direct measure of the fertility of a cow or heifer. When pregnancy testing is done in the fall around shipping time, adequate time is available to ship the open cows prior to cold weather. This procedure will reduce winter feed costs, increase calf crop percentage and ultimately will increase fertility of the entire herd.

You can accomplish this through the efforts of a veterinarian or by doing it yourself. It is a skill that can be easily learned and only gets easier with practice.

Plan to pregnancy test your cattle this fall and be ready to ship anything that is not bred. It is very likely that a cow that is not bred now is either barren or a habitually slow breeder.

If you need help or have any questions, give me a call.

Activity Around Kountry Korner

In spite of the hot weather Kountry Korner Art Club members are busy. Two work shops have been held recently. The July workshop by Sue Green was on Oil Paints. A delightful day was spent painting blue bonnet bouquets.

Nina Garner did a workshop on August 14 on Water Color. One student completed her picture and took it to a show and won 2nd best in the show.

The first regular air mail service for civilian mail in the United States started in 1918.

Program On Lowering Estate Taxes

Two 2-day seminars to help farmers and ranchers learn how to reduce taxable estates and learn new methods for passing their operations to the next generation are scheduled for Sept. 21-22 in El Paso and Oct. 21-22 in Waco. The seminars will deal with recent changes in tax laws and will include discussions on such basic estate planning devices as will, by-pass trusts, gifts, disclaimers and property titles. A special session will also deal with estate planning tips for farmers and ranchers with mineral income and property.

Strake Talk

TWO TERMS IS ENOUGH

Texans have a healthy skepticism of their elected officials, a wariness of entrenched power that they have embodied in the state constitution. They have historically refused to keep top state officeholders more than a few terms.

Now my opponent comes along, having spent nearly ten years in the Lt. Governor's office, one of the top state policy-making offices. Mr. Hobby wants yet another term to make it 14 years in that crucial job. That is unprecedented. Never in Texas' history has any Lt. Governor served that long—or wanted to.

His desire, frankly, puzzles me. You would think he would have other goals, other challenges he might want to tackle. As his primary opponent this year said, "If he had anything to get done, you'd think he would have done it by now."

My opponent will tell you that experience is what counts. I think voters need to look at the experience they have had with him. After ten years, our highways are in bad shape, the quality of education has declined, we still do not have a new, statewide water plan and he has refused to tackle the growing crime problem. We can't afford more of that kind of experience.

I have a long-held belief in what I call the citizen-politician: someone who holds a job, serves his country or state for a reasonable time, then returns to that job and private life. For that reason, the first order of business after I am elected will be to have a constitutional amendment limiting the Lt. Governor to two terms—eight years. That is enough time for anyone. Too great a concentration of power for too long is bad. That is a principle of democracy.
