Coffee Drinker

BY M. GENE DOW,
Publisher
Seminole Sentinel
Sunday, June 4, 1989

I love coffee. I drink it from the time I get up in the morning until I go to bed. I never did know just why I liked the stuff so much until about a year ago. There was an article in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, detailing the restoration of Dorward drugstore, constructed in 1901 in Gail. A descendent of long-time druggist David Dorward recalled this story:

"Lorenzo Dow, publisher of the Borden Citizen, was dying, a victim of lock jaw resulting from getting his thumb caught in a printing press. The doctor had given up hope and started working with Dow's mother who had gone into shock.

"Druggist Dorward-- who as a young boy cooking at a chuck wagon near Tulia had seen a dying cowboy saved with radical treatment--got permission to try any means to save Dow. Like the doctor treating a cowboy shot by another cowboy out on the range, Dorward boiled a pound of coffee into two cups strong liquid, strained it & injected

"Electra's House"

I bent down to feel the tile of the bathroom floor. It's smooth, cool touch somehow gave me intangible contact with the former mistress of the home.

The house in Fort Worth belonged to heiress Electra Waggoner. Among her many distinctions in fact and folklore, she is remembered as the first customer to spend $20,000 in a single day at Nieman-Marcus.

After Electra married a Philadelphia blue blood in 1902, her daddy, West Texas rancher Tom Waggoner, in 1903-04 built the couple the palatial home in Fort Worth as a means of keeping his beloved daughter in Texas.

Although Electra called the home "Rubusmont" and that name is still carved in the mantle above the fireplace in its billiard room, it now is known as "Thistle Hill." Preserved by civic-minded Fort Worth ladies, it stands at 1509 Pennsylvania Ave., west of downtown. A few months back it was decorated by local interior designers as their "Designers Showhouse" and was open to the public. This is how I got inside its doors.

Electra's "Rubusmont" is a three-story red brick home with white limestone trim, a portico on the front and dark green tile on the roof. It's an understatement to say that it is a stately home.

Social events in the home, however, were not always so stately. Indeed it became the scene for now-legendary parties. Electra and her new husband, Albert B. Wharton, believed in having a good time. "Rubusmont" consequently became one of the centers of Fort Worth social scene. Many were the parties at "Rubusmont" that ran into the wee hours of the morning.

During my visit to "Rubusmont," most of the volunteer tour guides keep strictly to their prepared notes written about the various rooms. One of them, however, fortunately loosened up a little. She candidly related to me, "This place was really built as a parth house. She . . . came here to have a good time."

Electra did indeed enjoy having fun. Even before her 1902 wedding she had shocked her family and friends by reputedly coming home from a world tour with a butterfly permanently tattooed on her shapely leg.

After her 1921 divorce from Albert Wharton, Electra further enhanced her reputation as a lover of parties. By this time living at 4700 Preston Road in Dallas, she now could even better afford the luxuries because of her family's good fortune. A decade earlier oil had been discovered on Waggoner family property near Vernon. With petroleum royalties rolling in, money became no object.

Exquisite jewelry, fine designer dresses and closets bulging with furs all became parts of Electra's fashionable image. She seldom wore a dress more than once, and her shoe cabinet was said to have held 350 pairs of custom-made shoes.

Perhaps best remembered among Electra's social affairs on Preston Road were her outdoor barbecues and spaghetti dinners that followed swims in her private lake. During one weekend party she even carried the guest by private train to view a new oil well gusing in on her property near Vernon.

As I walked through "Rubusmont," I couldn't help but speculate about the people who had been there before me. When I entered one of the bathrooms, however, I thought about Electra herself.

I looked down on the tile floor, original to the house--white, red and yellow hexagons and I thought to myself, "Electra, the Texas glamor girl, walked across this floor in her stocking feet."

I had to get down and feel of it with my hands.

James L. Dow, the father of Dr. Harold (Rowdy) Dow, who many of you knew here in Seminole, who was also my grandfather, taught me the early day printing trade in Wink. Now I know why he always cautioned me about the dangers of getting fingers caught in the press.

So I have coffee in my viens from way back.

A Special Brunch For A Special Dad

Father's Day is the day that Dad should get to do whatever he wants, whether it's spending the morning on the golf course or lazing in bed until noon. But it doesn't matter if Dad's worked up his appetite on the links or just reading the Sunday paper, his day will get off to a great start with a surefire "Dad-pleaser": Ham 'n Eggs Brunch Bake.

This hearty dish starts with a simple Bisquick dough as a base. A savory ham and cheese egg mixture on top makes an all-in-one brunch dish that turns ordinary ingredients into an extraordinary meal.

Ham 'n Eggs Brunch Bake

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 Tbsp margarine or butter
- 1 can (6 3/4 ounces) chunk ham, drained
- 1 medium tomato, chopped
- 2 cups Bisquick baking mix
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 cup shredded Swiss or Cheddar cheese (4 ounces)
- 1/4 cup milk
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 1/4 tsp pepper
- 1/4 tsp dried dill weed, if desired
- 2 Tbsps shipped chives

Heat oven to 350°. Lightly grease rectangular pan, 13x9x2 inches, or 12-inch pizza pan. Cook and stir onion and margarine in 10-inch skillet until onion is tender; remove from heat. Stir in ham and tomato. Mix baking mix and water until soft dough forms; beat vigorously 20 strokes. Pat dough in pan with fingers dipped in baking mix, pressing dough 1/2 inch up sides. Spread ham mixture over dough; sprinkle with cheese. Beat milk, eggs, salt, pepper and dill weed with hand beater until foamy; slowly pour over cheese. Sprinkle with chives. Baked uncovered 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Garnish with tomato slices if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Heat oven to 375°. Use 1/2 cup boiling water to make dough.

Bisquick® is a registered T.M. of General Mills, Inc.

Help Your Heart

American Heart Association

Walking for a Healthy Heart

Every step you take can lead to a healthier heart. An everyday activity such as walking can help condition your heart and lungs if it is done briskly for 20 to 30 minutes at least three times a week. Conditioning increases the oxygen available to the body and enables the heart to use oxygen more efficiently.

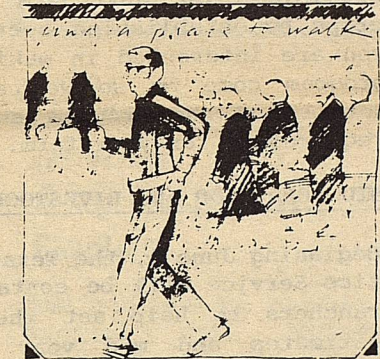

Lack of exercise has not been clearly established as a risk factor for heart disease, but it can lead to excess weight, which is a risk factor.

Vigorous exercise is not the miracle cure for heart disease. Major heart and blood vessel disease risk factors, such as high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol levels and cigarette smoking greatly reduce the benefits of exercise.

To lose weight, a person should consume the amount of calories needed to maintain a healthy desirable weight, and exercise regularly.

Check with your physician before beginning a vigorous, regular walking program.

A mall, the countryside, a neighborhood street or a park are among the many settings you can choose to help walk your way to a healthier heart. Select a place where you can maintain your exercise program year-round. A course with a smooth, soft surface is suggested for outdoor walking.

Bad weather doesn't have to interfere with your walking routine. A mall or indoor track at a school or recreation center are alternatives.

You don't have to walk alone. A partner may make walking more enjoyable and help you stick to the program. Your partner should be able to keep the same schedule and walk at the same pace as you.

Selecting the right shoes and clothing is important. Shoes should have thick, flexible soles. Layer your clothes in the winter. Cotton, fleeced-lined cotton, wool or breathable nylon are the best materials to wear. Don't forget to wear warm socks, a sweatshirt with a hood or a hat, gloves and a turtle neck to keep all areas of the body covered. In the summer, wear cotton or other materials that will allow sweat to evaporate. When it's hot, drink plenty of water before, during and after your walk.

Set a pace for yourself and don't push yourself too hard when you start.

Once you get started, you'll be on the road to walking your way to a healthier heart.

Paying their own way:

In Rwanda, Africa, foreign tourists are going ape over a unique sightseeing safari. They are paying more than 100 dollars per person for the privilege of trekking deep into the bush to spend an hour with the world's last tribe of wild mountain gorillas. International Wildlife magazine reports the monies raised by these excursions helps preserve the gorilla's fragile habitat and protect the big primates from poachers. The success of the project has spurred efforts to save other threatened species by opening up their habitats for a fee.

HAYING AND GRAZING OF ACR AND PAID CU

Borden County has been approved for Emergency Haying and Grazing of Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) and Conserving Use (CU) acreage designated for pay under the 1989 program. This will allow all program participants to utilize these acres through December 31, 1989 without regard to the 5 month non-haying or grazing restrictions.

However, as usual there is a certain amount of paperwork that must be accomplished before you graze or hay the acreage. First of all you must file a request at the county office and designate the acreage to be used. Also the approval is not without restrictions as to who and what can be done with the acreage, so be sure to file your request before you use the acreage.

FINAL PLANTING DATES

The final planting dates for Borden County have been established as June 20, for cotton and June 30, for grain sorghum. Producers are required to make an honest effort to plant or replant the crop acreage through this date in order to earn program benefits. This does not restrict planting after the final date if conditions warrant provided the crop is planted and farmed in a workmanlike manner with the expectation of producing a normal crop.

You can not fail a crop until after the final planting date for the crop. At that time you will be required to certify the crop acreage before making the request. Any crop following a failed crop will be "invisible" and will not be eligible for any program benefits.

ELIGIBILITY FOR DEFICIENCY PAYMENTS

Cotton and/or grain sorghum must be planted to be eligible for deficiency payments. You may plant 50% of the maximum permitted and receive payments up to 92% of the permitted provided you have the required ACR and Conserving Use acreage. In addition for grain sorghum there are 0/92% provision where by zero planted still qualifies the farm for payment up to 92% of permitted level if required ACR and CU requirements are met.

ADDITIONAL ADVANCE PAYMENTS

In the next few days producers who requested an advance payment for the 1989 farm program will receive an additional 10%. This amounts to 2/14 cents for cotton. 5 cents for wheat, and 9 cents for sorghum. Payments will be in Generic Commodity Certificates unless the amount is $200.00 or less which will be paid in cash.

FINAL CERTIFICATION

July 15, 1989 is the final date to certify spring seeded crops. (cotton, grain sorghum, corn, ect.)

Please be sure you file an accurate and timely certification as we are required to spot check 15% of all certifications. Any farm found out of compliance will be ineligible for ALL program benefits.

MEASUREMENT SERVICE

If you have any doubt as to the number of acres devoted to a program crop or ACR requirements, then we suggest you apply for measurement service.

The cost of aerial measurement service is $20.00 per farm plus 2 cents per acre after the first 25 acres. The final date to sign up for measuring service is July 15, 1989.

Remember, measurements made at the counter are NOT guaranteed.

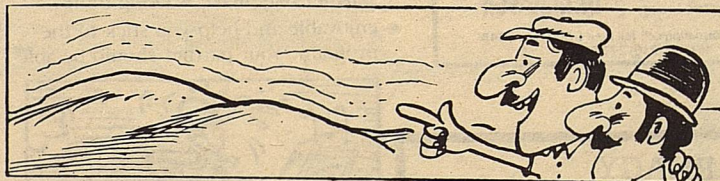

9TH CRP SIGNUP

Please make note as to the ninth signup under the Conservation Reserve Program (CPR), which will begin July 17th and run through Friday August 4, 1989.

This is the 10 year program which retires highly erodible crop land from production of program crops by establishing a permanent grass cover. If you are interested in making a bid under the CRP program come by so we can further explain the details of the program and review eligibilities requirement for your farm.

MID YEAR CROP AND LIVESTOCK REPORTS

Beginning June 1, the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service will be contacting Texas farmers and ranchers to help set the 1989 planted acreage estimates and mid year livestock inventories. Interviews will be conducted by telephone or in person. The reports are confidential and results will be published later this summer.

It was once believed in Spain that copper grew in the ground and a mine left alone would regenerate itself.

Biting irony:

The crocodile is one of nature's high powered predators. The reptile's cavernous mouth and powerful jaws leave little to chance. But despite being well endowed with teeth, crocodiles can't chew. International Wildlife magazine reports their long, sharp teeth serve mainly as survival weapons and clamps. A crocodile can eat only what it can swallow whole.

'Sodbuster' Program Outlined

Farmers who are planning to break out new land for planting crops need to be aware of the "Sodbuster" program dealing with highly erodible lands.

If the land to be broken out is highly erodible land as defined and shown on maps by the Soil Conservation Service, then a farmer needs to have a conservation plan in place before taking any action. Failure to do so will result in the farmer losing his eligibility for virtually all USDA programs on all land he operates.

Any farmer who anticipates dozing out brush and trees or plowing out grass for the purpose of developing croplands should check with the Soil Conservation Service to determine if this provision applies to his land. If it does, he should take appropriate steps to assure continued eligibility for USDA programs.

Farmers Updated on 'Swampbuster' Program

Farmers who anticipate draining or otherwise altering wet areas in their fields or marshy areas adjacent to their fields to expand their croplands need to be aware of a new program under which USDA currently operates.

That new program was contained in the 1985 Food Security Act and is a wetlands preservation program popularly called "Swampbuster".

The program states that any farmer who drains, or otherwise modifies wetland areas, and plants an annual crop on that land will lose eligibility for USDA program benefits for all his farmland, not just the area drained.

Any farmer who anticipates actions regarding wet areas should check first with the Soil Conservation Service to determine if the Swampbuster provisions apply to his land.

Sun Savvy

Dr. Frank Akin is an expert on the sun's effects on the skin. Here, he answers some frequently asked questions on sun care and protection in the sun.

Q. I have a very fair skinned little boy. How can I keep him protected this summer?

A. Try to limit his sun exposure during the peak hours of 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and always apply sunscreens when he is outdoors. Be sure to protect sun-sensitive areas such as the face, ears, lips, neck and arms. You may want to use a line of products specially developed for children such as Water Babies. In case your youngster does get burned, try the Water Babies Sunburn Relief Mist. It comes in a pump spray so you won't have to touch his sensitive skin.

Q. I have olive skin and have never had problems tanning. Recently, I got a very unusual sunburn. What would cause this to happen?

A. It could be a reaction to medications you may be taking. Some antibiotics, diuretics, tranquilizers and certain other drugs may cause photosensitive reactions. As with any unusual burn, you should consult with your physician and consider using a more protective broad spectrum sunscreen such as Shade 44 which screens out nearly 97% of the sun's burning rays.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

When David Livingstone volunteered for missionary service, he was asked, "Where are you willing to go?"

"Anywhere," he answered, "so long as it's forward."

Many haven't gone forward. They have the same habits. They make the same mistakes, and they yield to the same temptations.

But God wants you to go forward. If He meant for you to go backward, He would have given you eyes in the back of your head.

Life is an incline. If you don't go up, you go down. If you don't grow in grace, you go into disgrace. If you're not a better Christian, you're a worse Christian.

It's going forward that costs, but it's going forward that counts. I'm going forward with God. Care to join?

AT&T MultiQuest<sup>sm</sup> Service

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., (AT&T) announces its intent to introduce within Texas on July 14, 1989, AT&T MultiQuest Service, a new interactive 900-type telephone service. Since February 19, 1989, this innovative service has been available to Texas businesses only on an interstate basis. With AT&T MultiQuest Service, Texas business customers (otherwise known as sponsors) may offer value-added information services to callers originating long distance calls from Texas or elsewhere in the United States over AT&T's public switched network. A Texas caller, accessing the service by dialing the sponsor's 1-900 plus seven-digit number, can obtain recorded and/or live information by communicating with attendants, voice messaging equipment and computer data bases. Flat-rate, time sensitive usage charges will be billed to the caller for the sponsor's service.

AT&T is offering AT&T MultiQuest Service within Texas in response to requests by its business customers for a service that offers intrastate as well as nationwide interactive voice & data transport capability. Potential sponsors include entrepreneurial companies entering into new ventures that are information intensive, local mass announcement sponsors who want statewide as well as national coverage coupled with interactive capability and other information service providers.

The Texas intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service will be tarified as an "add-on" offering to a sponsor's existing interstate AT&T MultiQuest Service. The intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service costs will be recovered from sponsor usage charges set forth in AT&T's intrastate tariffs. The usage charges billed to the caller are determined by the sponsor as appropriate to the service being offered and are not tarified charges.

For more information about AT&T MultiQuest Service please call your AT&T Account Executive or AT&T's business consultants toll free on 1 (800) 552-0212. They can answer your questions regarding this service and how it can be of benefit to you.

AT&T intends to file a tariff to offer this service with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on June 13, 1989, effective July 14, 1989. Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may contact the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf, or write to them at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757.

Intrastate AT&T MultiQuest Service is projected to generate $1.1 million in the first year of its offering or .1% of AT&T's total gross service revenues in Texas.
