Kick-Off Time Is At 8:00 P.M. In Canyon

The Memphis Cyclone and the Stratford Elks are paired up at the top of the bracket in the Class A State Play-offs in the football game which will begin at 8 p.m. Friday in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium in Canyon. The 8 p.m. kick-off time in Canyon was selected by school officials to give working fans opportunity to close their doors and get to the ball game, and possibly grab a bite to eat on the way. The game pits Dist. 1A Champion Stratford, 7-2-1 for the season, against Dist. 2-A Champion Memphis, 9-1. Memphis has been holding down the No. 1 spot in Harris Rating system in the state in Class A, but this service is not available for publication until Thursday each week. Memphis is back in the play-offs after a year's absence last year, as the 1974 Cyclone team went to the Class A Quarterfinals, under Coach Clyde McMurray. Stratford's last appearance in the play-offs was in 1964. The match-up between these two teams should produce an exciting contest for fans. Memphis will sit on the visitors' side of the field (East stands), and the only gates to be opened will be the two south gates so fans should park in the south parking lot. Other gates will be closed. The winner of this game will meet the winner of the Hart - Petersburg game which is being played at Plainview. All Cyclone fans are invited to the 2:30 p.m. pep rally at the Cyclone Gym Friday afternoon, and business firms are being asked to close their doors early Friday to attend the game. Coach Clyde McMurray told Memphis Boosters Tuesday night that Stratford has a fine team, two good running backs, a 6-foot 4-inch quarterback who passes accurately when the Elks go to the air, good receivers, and an aggressive defense which has been holding opponents to only two TDs per game. Stratford has been averaging three TDs per outing. "We have been a five to one team this season" Coach McMurray said, "so the game really hinges on the play of the defense and punters." "Stratford has a fine punter, and the Elks like to keep their opponents in poor field position when punts are exchanged," Coach McMurray said. Stratford's Joe Pete Albert was named Class A Player of the Week by Amarillo Daily News this week as Albert accumulated 271 yards total offense and helped lead the Elks to a 27-20 victory over Gruver in winning the play-off berth. Albert is the taidback. Fullback Leonard Duncan with 127 yards on 22 carries also was instrumental in the victory. Gruver, going into the game, was noted for its defense. Quarterback is Will Allen, who also kicks points after.

Heavy Snows Slow Cotton Harvesting

Heavy snowing in this area on Friday night and Saturday morning slowed cotton harvesting. The ground was heavily covered with snow. Although some cotton was picked Friday, it was Wednesday of this week before major harvesting was resumed. Reports from the area were in the neighborhood of .59 of an inch. Melting occurred generally on the roads and highways in this area but fields retained snow through Tuesday. The snow was a blessing in respect. It allowed area farmers to get in some Quail hunting on the first and second day of the season, Saturday and Sunday. Closing Report: The local market was light this week according to T. J. Proskie, in charge of the Memphis, Texas Cotton Classing Office. Supplies were limited as volume picking is just getting under way. Demand was strong. Offerings were in mixed lots of mainly new crop cotton. Offered prices on the few lots were in mixed lots of mainly new crop cotton. Offered prices on the few lots ranged from 70.00 to 72.00 cents per pound for lots containing mostly 42 and higher grades, 30 and longer staples, and premium mikes. ### Cotton Demand Good!

As the 1976 cotton crop in this area is being harvest- ed, as soon as more favorable weather appears on the scene, keen interest is being shown in the cotton market, the price area farmers may be receiving for their prod- uct.

The market at this point appears good and all hope the situation continues, for the area will not be harvest- ing any bumper crop this season so it is even more im- portant that prices remain good.

According to a recent release from Cotton Incorporated, cotton is setting records in the market place while the price of synthetics is suffering.

"U. S. synthetic fiber manufacturers are seeing their profits fall below expectations—and, in some cases, dip into the red. Many are having to sell their artificial fibers below the cost of production," the news release stated.

Not too many years ago the situation was reversed. The difference between then and now is consumer de- mand—demand which cotton producers can claim some credit for building through the research and promotion activities.

U. S. cotton producers are now receiving the highest average prices of the 20th century for their fiber. But, farmers will also be quick to point out that cost of pro- duction is the highest in the 20th century as well.

In the synthetic fiber industry, DuPont, the giant of the industry, reported losses in its fiber division for the third quarter of 1976 and indicated that it is selling its synthetic fibers below cost.

Celanese informed its stockholders that polyester tex- tile filament demand and prices remain in the doldrums because of the weakness of double-knits and industry overcapacity.

Leaders in the cotton industry point out that even though cotton is priced higher than synthetics, mills are finding that consumer demand for natural fibers requires continued purchasing of cotton.

At the roots of this situation is the term, "consumer demand." Without efforts to improve cotton products, and the creation of demand of these products in the market place, marketing of cotton products will suffer, and so will the market price paid farmers.

ANALYZING ELECTION!

The top CBS team of tele- vision commentators (Cron- kite, Severid, et al.) were doing a post-election anal- ysis of the Presidential elec- tion a few nights ago, and seemed to concur with Walter Cronkite's observation that the country was sharply divid- ed between Ford and Carter along regional lines . . . the West and Mid-West solidly for Ford, the South and East almost solidly for Carter. They were looking at the con- test from the standpoint of electoral college votes, of course.

But the electoral college is antiquated and outmoded, as has often been pointed out, and provides a mighty faulty perspective for viewing the political mood of the nation.

The presidential election pointed up a sharp, and al- most dead-even, division among the voters, all right . . . but it wasn't a division based on regional or geographi- cal lines, as these astute ob- servers surely must have realized if they'd thought for a moment about what they were saying. Because the vote was as closely divided between the two candidates on the west coast as it was in the east, and almost as closely divided between them in the South as it was in the mid- west.

On the basis of popular vote, which is a far more ac- curate reflection of the pub- lic mood than the electoral college with its state-by-state winner-take-all mechanics, the country was quite evenly di- vided between the two candi- dates (and the two parties) in every section.

Jimmy Carter was the preferred candidate by a few percentage points overall, and so he will be the new Presi- dent, which is as it should be. But he was not the choice of any special geographical re- gion of the country, any more than President Ford was re- jected by any special geo- graphical region of the coun- try . . . and if Jimmy Carter's election points up a sharp philosophical division among Americans, it is not a division based on geography or regionalism.

The president - elect made it clear in his first press con- ference that he doesn't view himself as a regional choice, and doesn't intend to be a regional President. And his effort to reunite this country will be along national, and not regional lines. We're bet- ting that he will succeed in that.

Jimmy Carter will bring to the Presidency a freshness and enthusiasm which has been lacking in our White House for a decade and a half. We predict that it will be contagious, and that we will have a renewal of national pride and national en- thusiasm which we have sore- ly lacked for much too long.

PLEASING EVERYONE

We often think about how many people we are expected to please. Maintaining a staff has been a problem since the early days of World War II. Many demand concessions not even available to "the boss." Then one must make some attempt to please the adver- tisers. After all, they pay the rent. Then there are the subscribers and readers. There won't be any adver- tisers if there aren't any readers. Then there's the Wage and Hour people, al- ways breathing down one's back. And Internal Revenue. Then OSHA comes around to complain about scraps of pa- per on the darkroom floor, an untidy restroom, or per- haps no "exit" sign over the back door. Or maybe they want an electric typewriter grounded or a guard around the big press.

Then there is someone to make sure a classified ad in- cluding the phrase "for men only."

Then the post office snoops around to make sure we aren't mailing papers to delinquent subscribers, that we compute weekly the percent- age of advertising in each edi- tion, that we publish a state- ment of ownership and circula- tion within ten days after we file our annual statement on October 1. And they are interested in whether or not we publish news of lotteries. We are not to advertise or publish the results of draw- ings where the public has bought chances. The name of our paper must appear on each edition including inserts, those grocery or insurance supplements which we often run.

And we haven't ever gotten down to the rules and regu- lations affecting political advertising. The government itself sometimes can't ferret out the law. Sometimes we get contradictory instructions. Sometimes we get instruction one week and two weeks later those instructions are changed or cancelled.

And there's the sales tax. We must collect it on each single copy as well as each Texas subscription . . . and report it regularly which we do.

And we must be careful to post a sign in the building which informs the employees of the minimum wage, a store license certificate, and an OSHA report which includes infractions and actions taken to correct the infractions.

And all our records must be kept for several years in case somebody wants to come along and examine them. Our warehouse was vandalized sometime back and we found old records, cancelled checks, and the like, scattered within a radius of two blocks.

We would urge all those who are seeking release from the pressures of city life to retire to the country and pub-

THE TEXAS PANHANDLE!

We clipped the following from the Crescent Park Church of Christ bulletin and thought it should be shared.

It was one of those days when God was creating the Earth, He was working on Texas as darkness fell at the end of the day, and had to quit.

He gave the Great Plains of West Texas, a smoothing stroke and said to Himself, "In the morning, I'll come back and make it pretty like the rest of the world, with lakes and streams and moun- tains and trees."

But the next morning when He returned it had hardened like concrete overnight. As He thought about having to tear it all out and make it over. He had a happy thought, "I know what I'll do." He said, "I'll just make some people who will like it this way."

And that is how it came about that the people who live in the Panhandle like it this way.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Hayfever Sufferers Can Take Heart; Natural Enemies May Control Ragweed

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Hayfever is an allergic reaction to airborne plant pollen. Aeroallergenic pollen-producing plants are numerous in North America today. Estimates indicate that 10-20 percent of the United States population suffer from ragweed hayfever.

early in a weed control program. Piper says the main difficulty with biological control of a native pest like ragweed is in finding a source from which to introduce highly host specific insects. The richest source of this material is likely to be at the center of origin and diversification of the weed, which for the ragweeds is the Sonoran Desert region of California and Mexico. Unfortunately, insects adapted to the wet-dry cycles of this region are unlikely to survive in the cold-warm and much damper cycles of the northern and eastern U.S. where hayfever producing ragweeds are extremely abundant. The most probable area to harbour cold-adapted ragweed insects not present in the U. S. would be the mountains of Mexico.

At this time of year, countless sufferers from allergies cross their fingers when they go outdoors, hoping that this year they won't have to go through another season of sneezes, runny noses, tear-filled eyes, and just plain feeling rotten.

In Texas, there are three kinds of ragweed most frequently encountered: common ragweed, giant ragweed and western or perennial ragweed. These weeds are often abundant in both cultivated and non-cultivated fields, along roadsides, in pastures, and in areas frequently disturbed by man. Ragweeds are serious agricultural pests because of their fast, dense growth in cereal grain and cultivated row crops.

The severity of the hayfever problem could be lessened if enough ragweed plants were destroyed before flowering. Many municipalities attempt this with mowing and herbicide treatments. However, the wide variety of site, soil and moisture conditions tolerated by these weeds, as well as their rapid growth rate, make economical control difficult.

For months, many of these people have been marching down to their doctors' offices for a series of injections that they hope will save them from their annual misery. Others have been stockpiling nasal spray, eyedrops and decongestant medications. These individuals have one thing in common: they are all hayfever victims.

Texas Agricultural Experiment Station entomologist Gary L. Piper suggests biological control of weeds through use of plant-feeding insects as one approach that may in the future provide a more permanent solution to the ragweed problem. When suitable and effective natural enemies are available, this method is inexpensive and permanent, involving no repetitious treatments or corrective measures.

These mountainous regions have been climatically stable long enough to acquire a highly diversified plant and animal life, which have been hindered from extending into North America by the Sonora and adjacent deserts. Extensive collecting of insects occurring on ragweeds growing at elevations with temperature and rainfall conditions similar to those of the northern and eastern U.S. should reveal cold-adapted forms that might be one possible source of biological control

CHUNKY CHOWDER IS CERTAIN TO PLEASE--Fall means cooler weather, and soups are a natural for supper. The Texas Department of Agriculture home economist recommends Chunky Sausage-Cheese Chowder. A steaming hot bowl is full of nutritional goodness, thanks to vegetables, sausage, Cheddar cheese and milk. A loaf of crusty bread and tossed salad round out the meal.

Shoppers Warned To Be Aware And Avoid Mail Order Fraud

COLLEGE STATION — If you read ads like "Make easy money at home, send $3 for details," do you obey their command? If so, you may be defrauded, says Claudia Mittel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"This type of ad may be one of many that defrauds consumers seeking to supplement their incomes at home," she added. Dishonest ads for business opportunities may promise payment for at-home work only to send the hapless consumer a letter on how to start his own mail order business or inform him he must pass a test or pay a registration fee before qualifying, she explained.

"Frequently the victims are homemakers with young children at home, shut-ins, elderly persons and the unemployed." "Unfortunately, many consumers who fall prey to these schemes never complain because of the small amount of money lost. But these small amounts add up when there are tens of thousands of responses," she said.

Before investing in a work-at-home opportunity, be cautious if: The advertisement promises large profits for little work. The ad requires you to send money to receive further information. The ad tells you that no experience is necessary. The company will not supply the names of other employees so that you can check on their experience. You are required to buy and then resell a product at a profit; the item may be of poor quality and unsaleable. "If you do plan to invest in a work-at-home plan, call your local Better Business Bureau or Retail Merchants Association to find out if the company has a good reputation. Always think twice before paying for the chance to work," she reminded.

Plan now to purchase tickets for the luncheon, attend the church service, your choice, eat with the luncheon and enjoy Band Concert later in afternoon.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — How to slice $2.6 billion to $3 billion additional state revenues next year dominated discussion at Texas Association's briefing of the 1977 legislature. Governmental leaders made clear there are no shortage of ideas for putting all the money — and more — to use.

Gov. Bill Hobby said demands for new spending already total $5 billion.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Gov. Dolph Briscoe's $60 million school finance and highway aid bill and a $1 billion capital revenue account, coupled with elimination of the sales tax add up to $2.9 billion.

Briscoe said he still favors socking away $1 billion of the so-called surplus into a rainy day, interest-drawing reserve, a hedge against an expected future decline in oil income. In his presentation to the TPA briefing, the governor also assigned priority to his $1.6 billion school-highway program.

Bullock warned that the items he enumerated do not cover funds for extraordinary costs of government services or pay raises for state employees and school teachers.

Both Clayton and Hobby urged on state college bonds secured by state revenues. Clayton urged the bonds "gimmick financing," and promised a bill to pay them off. The bill was pre-filled last week to establish a $170 million bond retirement fund. It would be used to pay tuition and constitutional water development bonds which are subject to

Other key legislative problems discussed included crime control bills, medical malpractice insurance, energy matters, tax code reform, and coal slurry pipeline rights of way.

Roads Wearing
More than 70,000 miles of main Texas roads and streets will wear out within the next 10 years due to a 24 per cent increase in traffic, a former state highway engineer has warned.

J.C. Dingwall, state chairman of The Road Information Program TRIP, said three-fourths of the 8,198 miles of major Texas trafficways should be resurfaced or reconstructed by 1986 to serve 12 million vehicles traveling 100 billion miles a year.

Unemployment Down
Unemployment dropped to a tenth of a percentage point in September, leaving 9,300 fewer Texans out of work than the month before. Texas Employment Commission said total employment also declined by 22,000.

TEC found 5.4 per cent of a 292,000-member Texas labor force officially jobless, reflecting in part that summer job seekers had withdrawn from the labor force and gone back to the classrooms.

Courts Speak
Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld an

Bentsen Says People Demand Better Government, Not More Government

Washington D. C. — Senator Lloyd Bentsen Monday said in his travels across Texas during the recent campaign he found that more and more people feel they are not getting their money's worth from government.

"The people I talked with as I travelled around our state said a government that takes a dollar from them— whether through taxes or higher prices — and then gives back far less than a dollar in services or benefits doesn't deserve their support," Bentsen said at a news conference in Washington Monday morning.

Senator Bentsen said one of the first orders of business for the new Congress and the new President next January must be to reorganize the Federal government, "to cut out some of the deadwood and weed out unnecessary regulations."

The Senator listed two legislative items he will be pushing: the "sunset" bill and a bill that would require Federal agencies to cite specific legal authority for regulations they issue.

"I cosponsored the 'Sunset' bill in the last Congress and I regret that it was not passed into law. It means the sun will set on wasteful programs and I'm going to push for early approval of it in the new Congress," Bentsen said.

"I also want to take away some of the latitude that government regulators have.

Right now they have sweeping power to issue regulations without specifying exactly where they get their authority; all they have to say is which law is involved. That's pretty vague. And it is far too broad. I think they should be required to specify what section of what law grants which authority when that regulation is printed in the Federal Register," Bentsen said.

"The people don't want more government but they are demanding better government. They are demanding value received from government for value given to government. And the Congress had better pay attention," Senator Bentsen said.

Bentsen said he will also continue to push his proposal that all new legislation include an assessment of the number of new federal employees it will require and the amount of government paperwork it will generate.

Hunter's Hazards Are Many and Varied During Hunting Season

AUSTIN — Hunting to most of America's early settlers was not a sport. It was a means of survival. The hazards of hunting game in a wild and untamed land were many, but it was often the only alternative to starvation.

During this fall and winter season, more than 20 million Americans will again take to the open country to hunt. Today's hunter may have different motives and rewards, but many of the hazards our ancestors faced still exist.

For this reason, The Texas Safety Association has issued a call for all hunters to take extra precautions during this Bicentennial hunting season.

TSA Vice President for Recreational Safety, Gawain Bonner, points out that: "Although the primary hazard to earlier hunters was a hostile environment, today's hunting and firearm accidents have something in common with all mishaps... they are preventable."

"Prevention," Bonner continued, "requires that we first identify the problem areas and place them in proper perspective. Then, effective countermeasures and precautions can be taken."

"The Texas Safety Association has identified ten major hazard areas related to hunting. A brief description of the ten follows, and includes measures for preventing and/or minimizing the possibility of accidents."

Firearms
Two cardinal rules of gun safety are (1) don't load a gun until you're ready to shoot, and (2) don't point a gun at anything you don't want to shoot.

Many accidents occur when hunters transfer loaded guns in and out of autos, carpools, boats, etc. Loaded guns also are a hazard when hunters are climbing fences, walls, trees, or moving quickly through rough terrain.

It might sound absurd to advise a hunter to be sure of his target before pulling the trigger, but casualties mistaken for game number in the hundreds every year.

Overexertion
In addition to the danger of a heart attack, overexertion can cause fatigue, which in turn causes the hunter to all sorts of additional and unnecessary hazards. If you're not acclimated to the rigors of your sport, spend enough time to get in good physical condition; which, by the way, would be good for you in any event.

Falls
Falls, mostly from trees, ledges, slopes and rocks, account for many hunting accidents. Remember, even simple injuries and sprains can lead to serious consequences when you're far from medical care. Try to avoid climbing that tree, chasing that doe, jumping that stream, or taking that "shortcut."

Drownings
Water is a silent menace to all hunters, not just waterfowl hunters in boats. If you find yourself suddenly in water, don't thrash about in panic. Think. Don't remove your clothing, trap air in your clothing which will float you to the surface. From this floating position, the hunter can move toward safety in a modified breast stroke.

Hypothermia
Severe injury and death can occur from prolonged loss of body temperature, or hypothermia. Dress warmly and keep dry. If you're in an open fast moving vehicle, the wind chill factor can cause rapid loss of body heat even in above freezing temperatures. Wear clothing in layers which will provide better insulation.

Exposure
Severe and crippling injuries can result from simple frostbite, and prolonged exposure can be fatal. One early sign of frostbite is intense tingling discomfort followed by loss of sensation and a peculiar stiffness. Treatment consists of rapid re-warming, in luke warm water if possible. Extremities such as toes, fingers and ears are most susceptible to frostbite.

Lost
If you become lost, stay put. If you must move, try to find a high vantage point to spot help and be spotted. Conserve food, water and energy. Improve a shelter, keep warm. Remember the international distress signal in three short blasts fired in the air in quick succession. Many hunters carry whistles for use as a safety communication device.

Animal Attacks
In some of the wilder areas hunters may have to be on guard against animal attacks. Remember, almost any wounded animal can be dangerous, and blood sometimes attracts predators. Local information and advice should always be sought.

Alcohol
A swig of spirits may seem to have a warming effect on a cold day, but its value is deceiving (alcohol actually lowers skin temperature). Alcohol impairs judgement and coordination. It creates additional hazards, and is not used by responsible hunters.

In From The Field
Hunters would be remiss if they limited their firearm safety concerns solely to the open field. National Safety Council statistics show that 900 persons died in firearm accidents in public places in 1975. It is estimated that about half of these deaths were related to hunting. At the same time, 1,600 persons died from firearm accidents in the home environment. Obviously, the hunter's concern for his gun must not end when he returns from the field.

When you return home with your unloaded gun, lock the gun and ammunition in separate places. Keys should be kept by a responsible person, not on a hook next to the gun cabinet.

Amarillo To Hold Job Matching Fair

AMARILLO — A Job Matching Fair will be held in Amarillo December 11 under the second phase of Governor Dolph Briscoe's successful TEXAS FIRST program, Campaign Chairman Reagan Brown announced Friday.

Brown and R. C. "Jack" Neely, chairman of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce-Industrial Committee and TEXAS FIRST local coordinator, said Amarillo is the first in a series of job fairs to be held throughout the state.

"During phase one of TEXAS FIRST, the Job Creation Campaign, business leaders told Governor Briscoe that a lack of qualified workers was a major impediment to their economic expansion," Brown said. "This is especially true here in Amarillo where the unemployment rate is only 3.4 percent — a reflection of the number of unfilled job slots in an area bursting with industry."

The day-long Job Matching Fair will be held from 9 a.m.

The Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation will provide transportation to the job for people living in outlying areas, and will also assist with the prescreening. "Our participating industries will have booths in the gym, and prospective employees will be directed to the right interviewers who have openings calling for their experience and skills," Neely said.

"Governor Briscoe asked the Amarillo Chamber if they would be interested in having a job fair, and if they could help put it on," Brown said. "The response here has been tremendous. It's spread to 19 communities already."

The Texas Association of Business, Amarillo College, the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation and the Panhandle Regional Planning Council are working with the chamber to produce the job fair.

The TEXAS FIRST program began in May of 1975 to overcome recessionary thinking by both business leaders and the general public. During the Job Creation Campaign, more than 45,000 jobs were identified, and almost 36,000 of them are known to be filled.

Under the leadership of the Texas Industrial Commission, the Texas Education Agency, Texas Employment Commission and Texas Department of Community Affairs are working together to solve problems arising when a business tries to expand whether in the areas of production, payrolls or facilities. More Rheumatoid arthritis affects more than five million people in the U. S. It is one of the most serious of the 10 varieties of arthritis because it can affect the lungs, skin, blood vessels, heart, muscles, spleen and eyes as well as bone joints, the Texas Medical Association has said.

The symptoms include morning stiffness, painful movement and more than one tender, swollen joint, said the November issue of Texas Medicine, the TMA journal. The Arthritis Foundation said a tingling sensation in the fingers, hands and feet and unexplained weight loss, fever of tiredness also can be symptoms. A doctor should diagnose any complaint to determine the cause and prescribe treatment.

One of the most popular treatments is aspirin. However, even this simple drug should be given under a doctor's guidance because aspirin side effects can be very serious in some people. People who are "free bleeders" generally should avoid aspirin because it can increase bleeding in these people, the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) reported. Too much aspirin causes upset stomach in about 5 percent of the people on aspirin therapy, said Don Smiley, M. D., of The University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas. He also quoted a study which said aspirin is not a significant cause of peptic ulcers but may make them worse.

Other side effects can include ringing or other noises in the ears; inflamed, scaly skin or other problems. Of- ten careful regulation of aspirin dosage by a doctor can control bad reactions. It is impossible for a patient alone to tell how aspirin dosage should be handled because of possible hidden internal problems.

The TMA journal said a doctor may prescribe rest, heat, certain exercises or other drugs to help control rheumatoid arthritis. If a patient attempts self-treatment, valuable therapy may be overlooked that could prevent crippling and deformity.

Patients unable to take aspirin may be able to take certain prescription drugs although they may not be as effective as aspirin in some cases, the November issue of Texas Pharmacy, the Texas Pharmacy Association journal said.

One of those drugs, Naprosyn, currently is involved in a controversy over its safety. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has threatened to order the drug off the market because of faulty test data. Syntex, the company that makes the drug, has said Naprosyn is safe and effective. A FDA hearing will be held probably by mid-November.

To The Editor

Memphis Democrat
Memphis Texas

Today as I was searching for some papers I had filed away I came across a copy of the August 5, 1943 issue of the Democrat. It was very interesting for the old timers reunion. Also the list of 18 year olds registered with the local draft board. Several letters from service men as well as other news.

It is interesting to note the food prices compared to today's inflation. I graduated from Memphis High 1917 and have often wondered how many of my class mates are still living.

I am the daughter of Parks Mitcham, we came to Hall County in 1906. My sister Demia Easley and myself are the only ones left of my family. She lives in Washington.

I have lived in Los Angeles for 51 years and its a joy to remember the lovely weather we had before WW2, no smog and ninety percent of the weather was just wonderful. Smog and hot weather as we have had the last few years were unheard of. I note August 5, 1943 it was hot there 114 degrees.

Sincerely
Frankie Mitcham Yawter

Winter weather isn't very bothersome... so long as you go to Florida.

MYRON BALDWIN

The first Thanksgiving observed by the pilgrims 355 years ago was a little rough on the cooks as they did not have super markets where they could gather up their supplies in a cart and paper bags. There were only 5 women to serve the initial feast on Plymouth in 1621. They had all that remained of the adult women who arrived on the "Mayflower" the previous winter. Counting themselves, these mothers had 50 pilgrims to feed and 90 Indians who showed up for the feast which extended over a 3-day period. The girls who also survived the first hard winter at Plymouth, these five stouthearted women somehow managed to serve what turned out to be history's most famous banquet. They also thanked God for His many blessings and His faithful care over them. Today, three and a half centuries later, the impulse of the day remains much the same as it was then, as Edwina Winslow expressed it recently in 1621, "And although it was not always so plentiful as it was at this time, yet by the goodness of God, we are so far from wanting that we often wish partakers of our plenty." For the Pilgrim mothers, their thankfulness was rewarded when the affair ended, the kettles all washed, and they probably told the folks the next day, "I will have to eat the left-overs." I can remember when my family bought their turkey in the fall, put it in a coop and started feeding it good so he would be fat Thanksgiving. Now in most times, you can go to market and buy that bird already dressed and modern turkey is blessed with its body about half white.

There is one lady I would want to invite for Thanksgiving dinner. This lady is Libby Thomas of Austin, Texas, who is 5 ft. 6 inches tall and weighs 120 pounds. She claims she spends as much as $200 per week on groceries. The 23-year-old stated, "I have to eat." Miss Thomas' winning records by defeating 78 pancakes in one contest and 30 eggs in another. The last food eating contest she was in she consumed tuna fish sandwiches and two cakes before winning the contest over 7 men by downing 13 hamburgers. The second place winner polished off 10 hamburgers and the third place winner was an airman who had fasted two days getting ready for the contest, and he stopped on his 6th hamburger. His quote was, "I know when I am out-classed, and the lady's got me." As for the 25 dollar prize Libby Thomas won, she said, "I am almost positive that I will use it to buy food." I would think this would be bad publicity for a young lady if she was looking for a husband, as any man would think three times before committing himself to a 200 dollar a week grocery bill. She might be able to go on a cabbage diet with water and cornbread.

I read an article a few days ago by Frank L. Remington on "How's your Presidential I. Q.?" which was very interesting to us and I will give the answers below. Grover Cleveland dropped the "ex" and became president again as he was both the 22nd and 24th president. The tallest president we had was Abraham Lincoln who was 6 ft. 4 inches. Martin Van Buren was nicknamed "The Little Magician." The heaviest president was William H. Taft who weighed 350 pounds and at one time, got stuck in the bathtub. The president who never married was James Buchanan, and his niece served as the mistress in the White House. Herbert Hoover was credited with feeding millions of starving people in Europe. The first president to die in office was William Henry Harrison.

President Grover Cleveland fathered the only child of a president to be born in the White House. Dwight D. Eisenhower was the oldest at retirement. He was 70 years old. The youngest president to be inaugurated was Theodore Roosevelt who was 42 years old. There were 8 presidents who had succeeded from vice president upon the death of the chief executive. The president who lived to see his own son inaugurated was John Quincy Adams whose son was John Quincy Adams. The president who fathered the most children was John Tyler who fathered 15 children. After leaving the White House, John Quincy Adams served 9 terms in the House of Representatives. He was also the longest lived president as he lived to be 90 years old. John F. Kennedy was the wealthiest president as it was estimated that his net worth was 10 million. James Garfield could write with either right or left hand. The first vice president to succeed to president was John Tyler. Five presidents have served whose last names began with the letter "H." Other president besides John F. Kennedy buried in Arlington National Cemetery was Wm. H. Taft. Grover Cleveland was the only president to have his wedding ceremony in the White House. Herbert Hoover was the first president to be born west of the Mississippi River. He was born in Iowa and amassed a huge fortune as a mining engineer. William Henry Harrison served the shortest term as he died from pneumonia 31 days after his inauguration. Calvin Coolidge was the only president who was born on the 4th of July. He was born in 1872. There were 3 presidents who died on July 4th, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and John Adams. I do not have the size shoe and hat nor the height and weight of our new president-elect, Jimmy Carter. From what I read in the daily papers, he may be more conservative than we first thought as he does not want to have too expensive an inaugural occasion. The last Inaugural we had was for President Nixon with a cost of 4 1/2 million dollars! It may be Jimmy can save the taxpayers 3 million on this special occasion.

He also anticipates that he can fill the 1700 heads of offices in Washington with 200 people in assorted colors and sexes. Visiting with us the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harris with their two children, Adair, 13 years, and Tol, 10 years. Mrs. Harris will be remembered here as Kay Hamker when she was in the Memphis schools. They are now living in Georgetown, Texas, and Kay Nell is teaching in their schools. She will also be remembered as the daughter of Mrs. Jack T. Baldwin. They were on their way home from Amarillo where they attended the memorial service for Kay Nell's grandmother, Mrs. S. P. Vineyard, who passed away at the age of 96 with a full life. She moved to Claude in 1900 from Kentucky and married Dr. S. P. Vineyard and they moved to Amarillo in 1902 where she had lived the past 74 years. Her husband was a brother of the late Mrs. J. Claude Wells. We had a telephone conversation with Lottie Kinard who is now in Abilene where she has been recuperating from her illness. She seemed to be in good spirits and thought she would be in her home in Memphis in a few days. Mrs. Carl Smith had as her guests in Heritage Hall the past week her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl Jack Smith and the three grandchildren from Grapevine. With the cold weather spell the past week, we noticed that most

Prospects Dimming For Fed Cattle Market

AUSTIN—The fed cattle market in Texas is not making the mid-year upswing that cattle feeders had anticipated. As of August 1, 1.49 million head were on feed, 12 percent below 1975, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White announced.

Losses between $40 and $150 per head have been reported since January, and the outlook for the rest of the year is not promising, White noted.

Profit problems have caused feeders to slacken placement rates, with 262,000 head placed on feed in Texas during July, a 12 percent decrease from the same period a year earlier.

Several factors have resulted in the current situation.

"Fed cattle have been trying to compete with the continued culling of nonfed cattle. The result—higher than expected beef production this summer—has contributed to the depressed fed animal prices," White explained.

"Advances in feed grain prices this summer and uncertainty about forage supplies because of unfavorable weather conditions have also boosted nonfed cattle slaughter rates, helping to delay anticipated fed cattle price advances," he continued.

Indications are that the overabundant supplies of cattle will be brought under control, according to White.

"The 1976 calf crop, the smallest since 1971, points to the possibility that the feeding loss trend may begin to reverse itself in 1977," White explained.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin—If someone approached you—a Texas businessman or businesswoman—with a sure-fire method for increasing your profits with a minimum of effort, I know you would be anxious to hear what he had to say.

Well, this office offers just such a proposition. And I wish that more businesses would take advantage of it, particularly those smaller ones where a few extra dollars can be so important in these times of high overhead and smaller profits.

It's a plan for prepayment of sales taxes and it could mean more dollars for your business. Some 4,500 firms, mostly the larger ones, already are taking advantage of the prepayment plan. And it's meaning extra dollars to them.

Businesses that report and remit to the state on a timely basis the sales tax they collect are allowed to retain one percent of the tax as reimbursement for their expense in collecting it.

But what some businessmen and businesswomen appear to forget is that they can earn an additional two percent discount by estimating their sales tax collections for the next period and paying in advance.

The plan is available to both monthly and quarterly filers.

Here is how it works. Let's suppose you remit the sales taxes you collect on a quarterly basis. You estimate that you will sell $100,000 worth of taxable items during the next quarter. That would mean you will owe $4,000 in state sales taxes.

On or before the 15th day of the second month of the quarter for which the tax is due you would file an estimated tax report and include a check for $3,880.

You get this figure by deducting three percent from the $4,000 estimate—one percent for the timely filing and two percent for prepayment.

You may do the same thing for the city sales tax, but that must be filed on a separate form.

If your estimate was $100 low, for example, you would send us a check for the difference, less one percent for the timely filing. If you paid too much, you can request a refund or have the difference applied against your tax liability for the next quarter.

I know the savings from the example above aren't going to buy a new Cadillac. But it all adds up, and as I said earlier, every little bit helps in times such as these.

If you would like assistance in prepaying your sales tax collections, contact our field office nearest you or call this office toll-free from anywhere in the state by dialing 1-800-252-5555.

Turkey Tips For Holiday Buying Given

COLLEGE STATION — "Turkey and all the trimmings" make the holiday festive for most people.

Mrs. Sally Coble, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, offers consumers some tips on buying and storing, along with cooking and serving the turkey.

"Turkeys are a good buy, because they're in season now. Amount to buy depends on the appetites of those eating, but a guide for servings per person may help plan how much to buy. If cooking for persons with hearty appetites, figure the number of servings needed — not how many people are to be fed," she advised.

Storing Methods

Fresh, ready-to-cook poultry (whole or in parts) is available in plastic wrapping. Remove the wrapping and place the meat on a dish or tray, covering loosely with waxed paper or foil. Refrigerate immediately. Turkey stored this way will keep for a few days.

Frozen turkey should be placed in the freezer and held at 0 degrees F, or below, until time to thaw for cooking. For top quality, do not keep longer than six months.

Commercially frozen, stuffed birds should not be thawed before cooking. Follow one of these recommended procedures for thawing unstuffed frozen turkeys.

Frozen whole turkeys and parts need to be cooked soon after thawing. Frozen turkey also may be placed directly in the oven, but the cooking time will be longer.

Cooking Turkey

Ready-to-cook turkeys require little cleaning. Wash the bird in cool water and dry with paper towels.

Salt the body cavity well. Grease the skin of the bird with softened fat or oil. Place breast-side-up on a rack in a shallow pan and roast at 350 degrees F, until the internal temperature reaches 180 degrees F. A meat thermometer may be inserted into the thickest part of the breast or thigh muscle. The following chart indicates the approximate cooking time to reach the desired temperature.

"The goal if turkey cookery is to have the meat completely done, but still juicy and tender. The skin should have a brownish-yellow color and be moist and tender to the touch. Consumers should pay close attention to cooking instructions on the bag for best results," Mrs. Coble said.

Stuffing A Turkey

A stuffed turkey is an ideal place for harmful bacteria to grow. But if special precautions are followed, stuffed turkey can be safe to eat.

Stuffing should be placed inside the turkey cavity just prior to roasting. Never hold a stuffed turkey at room temperature or in the refrigerator. The roasting time will be longer to reach the desired 180 degrees F. In a stuffed turkey, she said.

After serving, remove the remaining stuffing from the cavity before storing in the refrigerator or freezer. Remember, you can still bake a dish of stuffing alongside the roasting unstuffed turkey, the specialist said.

Serving The Holiday Meal

Turkey will be the highlight of the holiday meal. Allow the turkey to stand 30 minutes before carving. This makes carving easier and the turkey tastier, she said.

"Most families have special foods they serve for Thanksgiving meals. Remember to include foods from the basic four food groups to insure good nutrition," she said.

"Take care in storing leftovers so they will be safe to eat and good for another meal. Leftover turkey may be stored in the refrigerator for a few days—or longer in the freezer," she added.

For recipes and further information on turkeys and turkey recipes, B-1065, "All-Time Favorites - Chicken and Turkey" is available for 30 cents from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Send money and order directly to the Department of Agricultural Communications, College Station, Texas 77843 or pick up an order form from your county Extension agent's office, Mrs. Coble suggested.

Miss Wanda Crawford of San Angelo and Bothe Bennett of Rankin visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Crawford of Memphis and also a sister, Mrs. Garland Mills, in Carey over the weekend.

EXTRA POINTS—Pictured above (left) is FB Woodrow Richardson as he plows his way for three yards and a two-point conversion against Claude here last Friday night. Although these are the only points the Sophomore fullback has made this season, he averaged 6.64 yards a tote on 22 carries. The other Cyclone pictured is Tackle Val Stone, No. 70. Several others are buried in the pile.

Farmers And Ranchers Farm Inputs Plentiful

COLLEGE STATION — Despite the many problems facing farmers and ranchers today, agricultural inputs remain generally plentiful, notes an agricultural economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Wayne Hayenga points out that the availability of farm and ranch inputs is a bright spot in an otherwise bleak outlook for agriculture.

For example, fertilizers will be ample to meet farm and ranch needs this fall and next spring. But, prices can be expected to increase slightly in the near future.

Pesticides will probably also go up in price, primarily due to more cotton, soybean and sorghum acreage, although supplies should be sufficient.

As far as machinery is concerned, farmers can expect a slight shortage of machinery ahead and costs will inch upward. "If you are going to buy machinery soon, it makes sense to hop to it now," contends Hayenga. "There is a good selection, and you will qualify for investment tax credit by buying this fall."

The fuel situation should remain stable unless there's a long, frigid winter or an oil embargo.

Although farm income will be off this year and farmers' debts continue high, they can still rely on a fairly steady rate of credit in the coming months, add the economist.

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Vehicle theft has recently emerged as a growing and major problem for law enforcement officials in Texas and across the nation, and as a staggering financial loss to our citizens. Today, vehicle theft accounts for one of the highest dollar loss figures in the category of crimes against property, and the motor vehicle has become a major accessory in both local and interstate crimes.

in the Texas Crime Information Center included 34,926 passenger cars; motorcycles accounted for 13,020; pickup trucks, 6,627; truck tractors, heavy equipment, motor homes and campers, 5,147; and tractors—front-end loaders, 937.

Texas has approximately 12 and one-quarter million citizens and almost 9 million registered vehicles. And, when 1976 tabulations are closed, it's expected that 60,000 of those vehicles will have been stolen. While this is well below the national average of one vehicle stolen out of each 130 registered, it is still a great number of thefts.

Passenger cars lead the list of those vehicles stolen. In July 1976, the stolen vehicles listed

A Note From Walt Garrison -

First National Bank Of Memphis received a letter of apology from former Dallas Cowboy Walt Garrison who had scheduled a visit with Memphis citizens at the bank but was unable to meet this obligation as well as attend Clarendon College Rodeo.

Mr. Garrison mailed 50 personally autographed pictures to the bank for distribution to the disappointed young people who showed up to meet him, and offered to supply as many more as there are youngsters who sign up at our bank with name and address when the supply of 50 is gone on a first come, first serve basis.

Mr. Garrison asked our bank to explain to the kids what had happened and says: "Quite honestly, I was unaware that there would be such a large crowd of young people there on a school day. I think that people who know me know that I would do anything not do disappoint young people. I enjoy my job working with the colleges and have always enjoyed young people. I've been trying to think of a way to make amends, so I am sending a number of autographed pictures to give to the young people if they would like to have them. If any of them would like them personalized, I would be happy to send more if you would send me a list of their names."

Inheriting Cancer 'Not That Simple' Says Genetics Expert

Can you inherit cancer just as you might inherit blue eyes or brown hair?

While a few rare exceptions do exist, for the majority of the 100 types of human cancer, the role of heredity is far from being simple, says an M. D. Anderson expert.

"I can't really say a person inherits cancer directly. Instead, some people inherit a disposition or higher risk for cancer," explains Dr. C. Strong, director of the Medical Genetics Clinic at M. D. Anderson.

For almost every cancer, he adds, it is believed that there are at least two forms—those with inherited implications and the other without.

While the inheritance pattern varies in significance for each cancer site, in almost every instance those hereditary cancers are in the minority, she says.

Even if one inherits a disposition to cancer," explains Dr. Strong, "apparently something else has to happen. That something else is exposure to environmental agents such as expected cancer-causing agents, exposure to a physical agent such as radiation or possibly be the inheritance of a virus. It could be a spontaneous occurrence that has no known cause as time."

That cancers are most commonly known to be inherited by genetic factors? We think a large percentage of childhood cancers are genetically determined—be as high as 40 percent in some forms—even though most cases there is no family history of a similar cancer," says Dr. Strong.

In some of the more common adult cancers such as colon cancer or breast cancer, we estimate maybe 30 percent in this country are genetically determined," she notes.

The old argument, heredity, environment, is no longer heard, notes Dr. Strong. Instead, genetic and environmental factors seem to be complementary, she says.

Some people, she notes, are genetically at risk to get cancer only because they are genetically affected by certain environmental factors. For example, some people might be genetically predisposed to lung cancer but would actually develop cancer only if they smoke cigarettes or come in contact with other environmental agents that cause lung cancer.

Heredity is known to play a role of some kind in every major disease. High blood pressure, heart disease and diabetes (to name a few) are all known to have genetically predisposed subgroups as does cancer, she says.

By understanding the relationship of heredity to a disease like cancer, those people who are at the higher risk can better be alerted to early warning signs. Found early enough, most cancers today can be successfully controlled.

Tips Given On How To Save In Buying Family Food

COLLEGE STATION — a cost-saving plan for grocery shopping? Impossible, you say?

It can be done, says Mrs. Mary Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"For economy, plan meals around the less expensive foods from each of our four food groups—the milk group, meat group, vegetable - fruit group and cereal - bakery products group," she advises. She suggested some general tips to find good buys and cut an expensive food budget to a cost-saving plan.

"Compare prices at the store. Unit pricing, now used by many stores, allows cost comparison of a food in containers of different sizes and of various brands and grades. "In unit pricing, the cost of a single unit such as an ounce, pound or quart of a food is shown, usually on the shelf just below the food. From the items that will meet your needs, choose the one with the lowest price per unit."

"To find the best buys among types and cuts of meat or among raw, frozen or canned vegetables, compare the cost of an amount needed for a family meal or the cost of the serving."

Another hint for the home-maker — watch for specials in the newspaper ads and at the store. Stock up on good buys for the family's likes if storage is available. But don't overbuy — waste "leaks" the budget away fast, she said.

"Cut cost when shopping for meat group foods by selecting the cuts, grades and types of meat, poultry and fish that provide the most cooked lean for the money spent. These give best return in nutrients for the food dollar. Consumers can get a top price limit for dinner meat or set an average amount as a goal, allowing for some higher and some lower cost items," she suggested.

Study the nutrition labeling on commercially prepared main dishes before replacing them with home-prepared dishes, this specialist advised.

Frequently, commercially prepared main dishes require less than a home recipe for the same dish.

"When reading labels, commercial foods labeled primarily meat with gravy, meatballs and sauce and pork and dressing, are required to be only one-half meat, for example. Meat pies must be at least one-fourth meat. Foods labeled spaghetti with meatballs and sauce and lasagne with meat sauce must be at least one-eighth meat. Usually these convenience foods are more expensive than home-prepared ones containing the same amount of meat. Even so, if time is a major concern, they may be best."

Usually ground beef, liver, chicken, turkey, many types of fish, dry beans, split peas and peanut butter are good meat group food buys, Mrs. Sweeten said.

When shopping for meat, look for USDA grades on beef you buy. USDA prime, choice and good are the grades most often found in retail markets. Compared to choice, similar cuts of good grade beef contain more lean and usually cost less per serving, but they are not quite as juicy and flavorful. Prime beef is generally considered to have the best flavor, but contains less lean and is more expensive than other grades, she explained.

"When shopping for vegetable - fruit group foods, compare the cost of the amount needed to serve the family. Certain fruits and vegetables, such as apples and carrots, are almost always economical whether fresh, frozen or canned. Others, such as avocados and strawberries are economical only in season or when supplies are bountiful. Look for good quality produce but limit purchases even at bargain prices to amounts that can be used while they are still good.

"Try lower-priced brands because you may like them as well as the more expensive ones. Often chain store and seldom-advertised brands may be similar in quality to widely-known products—but but cost less."

Add seasoning, such as sauces to vegetables, in additional home preparation. Frozen and canned vegetables with sauces or seasoning are more expensive. Also, large bags of frozen vegetables may be a good buy for both fat dry milk. It costs less than fresh whole milk and can be reconstituted, chilled and served as a beverage. Mixing equal amounts of fresh whole milk with reconstituted non-fat dry milk will enhance the flavor.

American, cheddar and Swiss cheese can be economical in place of milk in the diet. Yogurt, ice cream and ice milk can also replace some of the milk but do add cost. Check dates on the containers of milk and milk products. Ask the grocer how to use the dates on products as an indication of freshness.

Most of the cereal - bakery products group foods are well liked and many are inexpensive. Select whole grain and enriched products for money's worth in nutrients.

Buy uncooked cereals if there will be time to cook them and the family likes them. They're usually less expensive than ready-to-eat kind. Ready-to-eat cereals, especially sugar coated ones, in individual-size boxes are almost always more expensive.

Decide which baked goods can be made for less at home, depending on situation and time. Get the facts, by comparing the cost of the ingredients for a favorite recipe with the price of an equal amount of a similar ready-to-eat bakery product that the family likes.

Cakes, cookies, biscuits and muffins baked at home usually cost less than the commercial products. Also, using prepared mixes to save time frequently adds only slightly to the cost of home prepared products. Day old bread and baked products are fine for toast and bread crumbs for dressing — and they save money. Select rich desserts or foods which add fat with

SPORTS CORNER

By BILL COMBS
 Its a big weekend for area football fans with Memphis playing Stratford in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium in Canyon at 8:00 p.m. Friday, and Childress Bobcats playing Spearman in Pampa Friday night also. These are key games for these two schools. My collegiate team, the Texas Tech Red Raiders has a shot at the Cotton Bowl if they can get by Houston Saturday. I promised myself years ago I would go to the Cotton Bowl if Tech ever made it so this just might be the year.

I am really keyed up about the Cyclone team this year for these young men really have their hearts in their games. We'll be there pulling for the team all the way Friday as will the large crowd of other Memphis boosters and fans. We hope these young men feel the thrill of victory one more time Friday night.

As has been our policy in past years, it just makes good sense to take sporting seasons one game at a time. In post season play-offs, half the teams are eliminated each Friday. The team which finally arrives at the top is the one that plays winning football each week. That is difficult to achieve with all the things that can go wrong. Yet, the eventual goal is well worth the work and effort.

If the 1976 Cyclone has a real strong suit it is the team spirit and teamwork. I go by workout sessions quite regularly and I have noticed that the players are working hard trying to prepare for the next game. It is no accident that this team is in the play-offs. How far they will go is left up to fate for each and every team is a good one at this point.

The match-up between the Cyclone and the Elks is a good one. Both teams have talented offenses and well disciplined defenses. Both also have dangerous punters so the victory will go to the team which plays best Friday night at Canyon. We hope our fans will go to the pep rally Friday at 2:30 p.m. and take every opportunity to give encouragement and support to the players. Football is a sport which takes a lot of emotional spirit to be successful in winning the big ones.

There is nothing I enjoy more than watching a high school football game where I know the players as I do here each year. You just get caught up in the action and get carried away. Parents have told me it is even worse when you have a child playing. I'm afraid for me it will be even better in some way.

I've written all this to make one point. Just to say thanks to the Memphis team for the opportunity to go see them play again, for it's a real thrill and a pleasure. And if we win, we'll be looking forward to the next one with even more expectation.

Go team, get and Elk!

Memphis Clinches District Title With Claude Win

Memphis Cyclone captured the District 2A championship outright with a 47-13 victory over the Claude Mustangs Friday night in the cold Cyclone Stadium. One of the small crowds to see a Memphis Cyclone game.

Cyclone jumped to a first quarter lead, then the elusive Mustangs put across on the board in the second and third stanza of the Cyclone offense. QB Don Cofer and FB Kirk Fields led up the Cyclone offense in the final quarter and put 28 points on the scoreboard as snowflakes fell from the skies.

Mustangs, however, backed the Cyclone's defense for the first time in display, with elusive runs by Wayne Campbell and back Kirk Cline, and catches by End Geoff Guy for a 12-yard touchdown, Kirk Cline for a two-point conversion following the second down in the third period.

Claude team put together a 63-yard scoring drive in the second period, 19 to 0, on 13 plays. The scoring drive, beginning with a 12-yard pass to Forbes from 12 yards, was a fourth down punt on the Claude 42 yard line and five siting yards, one more than necessary for a first

12. Ricky Guy got off a 56 yard punt moving Claude back to the Claude 37.

The Mustangs drove in to score their first TD from this point, as QB Campbell climaxed the drive with a 12 yard aerial strike to Geoff Forbes. A pass for points was no good.

Memphis got great field position, after a Guy punt of 54 yards was fumbled and Tracy Galloway recovered on the Claude 22. But Claude's Gary Smith intercepted a pass on the goal line and returned it to the 8 yard line.

Claude tried to pass out of the hole but Kirk Fields intercepted giving Memphis the football on the Claude 35.

QB Cofer rushed for five yards, then hit End Johnson with a 14 yard strike, and a 15-yard penalty was added for a late hit on Johnson which moved to the Claude 7. With time running out, Memphis got off only two plays as time outs were used up by this point.

Claude opened the third period with a 65 yard drive in eight plays, with a five yard pass from Campbell to Forbes scoring the touchdown, and Kirk Cline adding the two-point conversion with a carry.

Memphis couldn't get a scoring drive untracked until late in the final stanza. Memphis had forced Claude deep into their end of the field with a 42-yard punt by Guy. Claude was held and punted to the mid-field stripe.

The Cyclone offense seemed to ignite at this point, as TB Salinas made one, then FB Fields added 8, and QB Cofer picked up a first on the 40 yard line.

Fields made eight yards on a carry on the next play, then was stopped for no gain, and a pass to WB Allard was just out of reach. Facing fourth and two, FB Fields got the handoff and made six yards to the 26.

The Claude defense was stiffen as Fields made three, and Woodrow Richardson added two more. But Fields broke loose on a sweep and went the distance for the touchdown. A pass from Cofer to Allard was no good and the score was 25 to 14.

The Mustangs got a drive going from deep in their end of the field after the kickoff, but faced a fourth and three on the 46. Memphis held, took over on the Claude 46, but couldn't get rolling, losing five yards on three plays, and Guy punted the shortest punt of the season, nine yards to the Claude 41.

The Mustangs made a first to the Memphis 49, then Memphis downed Campbell for a 7 yard loss. On the next play a fumble was recovered by Memphis linebacker Randy Orcutt on the Claude 45 setting up the Cyclone's next scoring drive.

The drive opened with a 11 yard gainer by Kirk Fields on the sweep. Then, Woodrow Richardson made one. QB Cofer, on second down, hit End Johnson on a 33-yard pass play for a touchdown. TD Richardson plowed over for the two-point conversion and the score was 33 to 14.

Claude fumbled the football to Memphis on their own 24, setting up the next score. FB Fields swept the end and went in to score from 24 yards out. Cofer kicked the point after to put 40 points on the scoreboard.

Memphis came into possession following a Claude punt on the Cyclone 39. It took two pass plays to score.

QB Cofer hit WB Allard for 13 yards. Then Cofer came back to End Johnson for a 48 yard scoring strike. Cofer's kick for the point was good making the final score 47-14.

You Can Bank on It!

Don Long President FIRST STATE BANK

Where do you keep your money? In a cookie jar? Between book pages? Stuffed inside mattresses? In the sugar bowl?

It sounds trite, but ask yourself how many times you've tucked money under the paper in a dresser drawer or put it "someplace thieves never would think of looking." That's usually where they DO look. And even if thieves don't get it, why trust your own memory? If you hide money in an obscure place, you can easily forget what you did with it.

It isn't unusual to read newspaper accounts of surviving family members finding their bachelor uncle or brother or sister had stashed thousands of dollars into cans in the basement or stuffed rolled bills into pillow cases in the attic.

Protect your savings - the money you've worked hard for - by putting it into a savings account that will earn YOU interest and not the interest of someone else. There aren't very many sugar bowls or dresser drawers with time locks on them.
