POKA-LAMBRO TO PROVIDE EQUAL ACCESS

Poka-Lambro subscribers will soon be asked to choose the company which will provide the long distance service for the 1+ calls going outside their area. This is known as Equal Access.

Ballots containing the names and telephone numbers of the long distance companies participating in Poka-Lambro's Equal Access program will be mailed to Poka-Lambro subscribers September 27. In order to determine which company is right for their calling needs, Poka-Lambro suggests that subscribers call the companies listed to find out about their rates and services. Subscriber's telephone lines will be connected to the company they have chosen December 26, 1990. (Approximately March 1, 1991 for the Gail exchange.)

Poka-Lambro encourages all subscribers to make a choice. If a company isn't selected by the deadline shown on the ballot, Federal Communications Commission rules require that subscribers be randomly assigned to one of the companies listed. Poka-Lambro prefers that subscribers make their own choice.

Poka-Lambro is committed to affording their subscribers the same benefits enjoyed by urban Americans. If you have questions about Equal Access, please call the Poka-Lambro business at 806-924-7234.

TEAM PENNING TO BE HELD

West Texas Boys Ranch will bring the newest cowboy competition to San Angelo, September 29, in an Open Team Penning. Beginning at 10:00 a.m., at the Ranch's arena, the event is presented by West Texas Boys Ranch in cooperation with the Southwest Team Penning Association. Proceeds will benefit West Texas Boys Ranch.

Entry is $300 per team with a deadline of September 20.

Buckles will be awarded to the Open Champion Team with a saddle going to the high money winner. Payoff will include $200 to jackpot and payout to the first ten places in the first and second go and finals.

A special feature for the event will be a "Cowboys 'n a Kid" Team Penning. Each team will be composed of two penners and a boy from WTBR. Entry is $15 per member for the special penning. Buckles will be given to the Champion Cowboys 'n a Kid team with the jackpot awarded to the boy.

Team penning is derived from actual ranch work. A 3-cowboy team is given two minutes to separate three designated head of cattle out of the herd, drive them down the arena and corral them in a small pen that has been set up at the far end. To win, a team must do this faster than the other competitors.

West Texas Boys Ranch is located 17 miles west of San Angelo. The working ranch provides a home for boys in need ages 6-17, who are neglected, abused, from broken homes or about to get into trouble.

To enter or for more information, call West Texas Boys Ranch at 658-4011.

COYOTES FIRST VICTORY IS A BIG ONE

The Borden Coyotes clawed their way to victory Friday night beating the New Home Leopards 34-8.

Borden won the opening toss but quickly fumbled the ball to New Home. The Leopards then returned the favor. Paul Sturdivant recovered the New Home fumble at the Borden County 30 yard line. Jimmy Rios ran 41 yards before he was tackled at the New Home 10 yard line. On the next play, Rod Jeter carried the ball 10 yards for the first touchdown. Shannon Smithie's extra point try was unsuccessful.

On the Leopards'

next possession, they struck paydirt against the Coyotes and the extra point was good. New Home led 8-6.

The next Borden County possession, saw John Paul Harris make a 55 yard run for a T.D. The extra point kick by Shannon Smithie was good, making the score 14-8.

The Coyotes held the New Home drive at midfield, as they moved down to the Leopards 6 yard line where Jimmy Rios ran for the third touchdown. Smithie's kick was good making the score 22-8.

Again the Coyotes held the Leopards short and took possession. On the third and long play, Jimmy Rios connected with John Paul Harris for a 64 yard touchdown pass. The extra point failed which made the score now 28-8.

The half ended with Jimmy Rios intercepting a New Home pass.

Beginning third quarter play, Cole Vestal recovered a New Home fumble at their 5 yard line. Borden County then fumbled the ball back to New Home on the 13.

New Home had to punt the ball. Rod Jeter carried it to the Leopards 30 yard line for a first down. A few plays later, Jeter ran 23 yards for the touchdown. With a missed extra point kick, the score was 34-8.

The defense held both teams scoreless in the fourth quarter.

The Coyotes had a total of 297 yards offense and the Leopards had only 193 yards total.

Sands scored next with an 8 yard run. Their kick was good and the score was 6-14.

The Coyotes final score came from the special teams when the second half kickoff was fumbled by Sands into Brandon Adcock's arms where he bolted 27 yards to the end zone. The Coyotes point after failed and the score was 12-14.

Neither team scored in the 4th quarter. The game ended with the Coyotes desperately trying to get to the end zone.

Braces Aren't Just For Kids

Research has shown that adults who believe their teeth are unattractive may suffer from a lack of self-esteem and self-confidence. While many children with crooked teeth see an orthodontist, today many adults are learning that orthodontics can help people of any age.

Orthodontists report that healthy bone tissue will allow for tooth movement, whether a person is 6 or

60. Braces move teeth by producing gentle pressure on the teeth and supporting bone. Eventually this steady pressure dissolves causes microscopic changes in the bone, making space for the teeth to move. New bone grows into the empty space and helps stabilize the tooth in its new position.

Smiles are important, but health concerns are often the primary consideration for adults seeking treatment. Crooked teeth and bad

The good news about adult treatment options is beginning to spread: the number of adults seeking treatment has doubled in the past 10 years, according to the American Association of Orthodontists (AAO).

TAYLOR AND JOHNSON EXCHANGE VOWS

MRS. MICHAEL HADEN JOHNSON
nee: Stacy Leigh Taylor

Stacy Leigh Taylor and Michael Haden Johnson exchanged wedding vows August 25, 1990, at 6:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Post. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Joel Horne, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Post.

Stacy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor of Missouri City, Texas. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Johnson of Post.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected an elegant gown of ivory satin by the designers of Biljoy Bridals. The traditional style gown featured an open Vee neckline and full length modified Juliette sleeves. The princess bodice of the gown was richly encrusted with Schiffli lace, pearls, and white iridescent sequins. Motiffs of lace and pearls adorned the sleeves of the gown.

The fitted princess bodice and basque waistline of the gown allowed a full ballgown skirt to float gracefully to the floor and sweep into an exquisite full monarch length train.

The front of the gown, as well as the train, was elegantly adorned with lace motifs encrusted with pearls and white iridescent sequins. Scalloped Schiffli lace finished the hemline of the skirt and the train.

The brides veil was elegantly adorned with lace, pearls and white iridescent sequins.

The bride's bouquet was designed with silk bluebonnets & lillies. Among the bluebonnets and lillies was baby's breath, sequins and pearls.

Kristy Bowles of Austin was maid of honor. Tammy Johnson of Lubbock, Texas, sister of the groom, Monica George of Missouri City, Texas and Pam DuBose of Missouri City served as bridesmaids. They wore royal blue tea length dresses.

They wore royal blue tea length dresses.

The flower girl was La Shae Lynn Johnson of Post. She wore a royal blue dress made identical to the bridesmaids. She carried a wicker basket lined with white lace. She dropped blue, white and green silk petals as she walked down the isle.

Michael Bland of Post served as best man. Groomsmen were: Kevin Smith of Canyon, Rex Cox of Fluvanna, and Toby Wise of Levelland. Matthew Taylor of Missouri City, Texas brother of the bride, Kurt Hess of O'Donnell, and Justin Cox of Fluvanna served as ushers.

Candlelighters were Corey Cox of Fluvanna and Dillon Drake of Missouri City, Texas.

The groom was attired in a black tuxedo coat, black cummerbund, black bow tie, black wrangler and black boots. The groomsmen and ushers wore black tuxedo coats, royal blue cummerbund and bow tie and black wranglers and boots.

The candlelighters wore white tuxedo shirts, black wranglers and boots.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Winna Wilson of Childress, aunt of the groom. Vocal solos were "I Wish You Jesus" sung by Ann Morris, of Childress, cousin of the groom, as the parents of the couple, escorted by the groom, lighted the unity candle. Dan Wilson of Lubbock, cousin of the groom, sang "My Treasure" and "There Is Love". Dan also sang "Wedding Prayer" after the wedding party left the church to go to the fellowship hall for the reception.

The reception was held in the church fellowship hall and it was decorated in the chosen colors of royal blue and white.

The bride's table was covered by a royal blue cloth with a lace cloth over it. A three tiered cake covered in blue beads, roses and leaves was served. The center piece was the bridesmaids bouquets placed in glass vases.

The groom's table was covered with a royal blue cloth. A wicker basket arrangement with cotton bolls was the center piece. A German Chocolate cake with German chocolate icing was served.

Servers were Pam and MacKenzie Drake of Missouri City, Texas, Teresa Cox of Fluvanna, Shayne Hess of O'Donnell and Susan Smith of Canyon.

Guests were registered by Trasi Craft of Lubbock.

All of the beautiful bouquets, flower arrangements, pew bows and corsages were made by Pam Drake of Missouri City.

MacKenzie Drake handed out bell-shaped containers of bird seed to the guests at the reception.

After a wedding trip to Akumal, Mexico the couple will make their home in Levelland where the groom is employed by All-Tex Seed, Inc. The bride is a senior at Texas Tech University.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Johnson, in their home.

Coyotes: Habitat and Habits

IDENTIFICATION:

In body form and size, coyotes resemble a small collie dog, with erect pointed ears, slender muzzle and a bushy tail. Coyotes are predominantly gray in color with a light gray to cream colored belly. However, there is wide variation in their color from nearly black to red or nearly white in some individuals and local populations. Most have dark or black guard hairs over their back and tail. In western states, typical adult males weight about 25 to 35 pounds and females from 22 to 30 pounds. Smaller and much larger individuals also occur.

Coyote-dog and coyote-wolf hybrids exist in some areas and may vary greatly in size, color and appearance from typical coyotes.

HABITAT:

Many references indicate that coyotes originally were found in relatively open habitats, particularly the grasslands and sparsely wooded areas of the western United States. Whether or not this was true, coyotes have adapted to and now exist in virtually every type of habitat, arctic to tropic, in North America. Coyotes live in deserts, swamps, tundra, grasslands, brush, dense forests, from below sea level to high mountain ranges and all intermediate types.

FOOD HABITS:

While coyotes are primarily carnivores, they readily accept an immense variety of foods, including live animals and carrion, wild and domestic fruits and other plant foods. In urban areas, garbage and domestic pets are common food items. In addition, individual coyote diets are highly variable and are affected by seasonal food supplies.

GENERAL BIOLOGY AND BEHAVIOR:

Coyotes are most active at night and during early morning hours, especially where human activity occurs and during hot summer weather. With minimal human interference and during cool weather, they may be active throughout the day.

Coyotes bed in sheltered areas but do not utilize dens except when raising young. They may seek shelter underground during severe weather, or when closely pursued. Their physical abilities include good eyesight and hearing and an exceptionally keen sense of smell. Documented recoveries from severe injuries indicate their great physical endurance. Although not as fleet as greyhounds, coyotes have been measured at speeds up to 40 miles per hour and can sustain slower speeds for several miles.

Distemper, hepatitis and mange (caused by parasitic mites) are among the most common coyote diseases. Rabies and tularemia also occur and may be transmitted to other animals and humans. Numerous parasites of coyotes include mites, ticks, fleas, worms and flukes. Mortality is highest during the first year of life and few survive more than 10 to 12 years in the wild. Human activity appears to be the greatest single cause of coyote mortality in most areas.

Coyotes will hybridize with dogs and wolves. These hybrids are fertile, although their breeding season do not usually correspond to those of coyotes.

Coyotes commonly hunt as singles or pairs; extensive travel is common in their hunting forays. However, they will hunt the same area regularly if food is plentiful. They occasionally bury food remains for later use.

DAMAGE AND IDENTIFICATION:

Coyotes normally kill smaller mammals by biting the head or neck. Older lambs and adult sheep are killed usually by biting the throat just back of the jaw and ear. The major causes of death are usually suffocation and shock caused by damage to the trachea and/or nerves affecting respiration, blood pressure and heart rate, rather than loss of blood.

The coyote's victims frequently have clear puncture wounds in the head or throat.

Coyote tracks are typically narrower and more compact than dog tracks, whereas bobcat tracks are round and free of claw marks.

Coyotes also are noted for causing damage to melon and cantaloupe crops. Their teeth marks, tracks and droppings are the means of identifying such damage.

DAMAGE AND LOSSES:

Coyote predation on rodents and rabbits may not affect man's interests in wilderness areas but may be beneficial in agricultural areas. Coyotes adversely affect human interest by preying on domestic animals and crops and various wild animals species. Poultry, hogs, sheep, goats, and cattle are the most common domestic prey; in some areas coyote predation on exotic game animals causes significant losses.

Livestock losses to coyotes usually are most serious during spring and summer months because of extra food needed by coyotes for their young. Sheep and goats on open range and pasture usually suffer the heaviest losses. The male coyote generally kills more often than the female and may travel 10 miles or more from the den to kill. Removal of adults doing the killing usually solves the immediate problem.

Coyotes usually prey on smaller animals but are fully capable of killing adult deer and antelope. Coyotes often cooperate with one another in such cases. Whether coyote control is necessary and beneficial depends on the levels and values of losses, the costs of control and effectiveness of control efforts for each damage situation.

Penning of farm and domestic animals, as well as frequent presence of man, aid in control.

Senate Joint Resolution 2, Sixth Called Session, 71st Legislature, proposes a constitutional amendment to provide that if the Senate, at any special session, does not take final action to confirm or reject an appointee of the Governor made during a recess of the Senate, the appointee is entitled to continue in office until the Senate rejects the appointee at a subsequent session or until the Governor appoints another person to fill the vacancy, but such a nominee whom the Senate does not act to confirm or reject at a subsequent regular session is considered to be rejected when the session ends.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to clarify the authority of the senate to consider certain nominees to state and district offices and to provide for filling vacancies in those offices."

TAKING OVER-THE-COUNTER MEDICATIONS

Over-the-counter drugs need no medical prescription and may not even be considered drugs by older consumers, but they are powerful medications that can have potentially harmful side effects.

The Food & Drug Administration (FDA) has established labeling guidelines to help consumers. Older consumers should pay particular attention to the following:

°Indications for use--what conditions or symptoms the product should be used for.

°Directions for use--how much to take, how long between doses and the maximum doses; how to take - chew, with water or food.

°Warnings and cautions--who should not take the drug, when the drug should not be taken, possible adverse reactions, reactions needing professionals' help.

°Drug interaction precautions--an interaction can reduce the effect of the drug or cause a harmful reaction.

SAFE USE OF MEDICINES BY OLDER PEOPLE

Older adults are at increased risk of problems with medication because they may be taking several medications at the same time. Also, aged-related body changes may not have been taken into account when the medicine was prescribed.

To reduce such risks, older people should list all medications taken (prescribed and over the counter) and show them to their doctor. Any past reactions to medications should be noted as well as the length of time taken.

It is appropriate to ask the doctor if the dosage is recommended for someone of your age. Also, periodic review of the need for each medicine should be requested of your doctor.

qualifying charitable projects in accord with the donor's desires.

The Lubbock Area Foundation, created in 1981, is one of America's 325 community foundations that help meet current and future needs of the territories they serve. It does not compete with other charities, but strives to enhance their capabilities to serve their communities.

Every community has generous citizens who would like to give something back to their city. The Lubbock Area Foundation is equipped to receive and invest substantial gifts from such charitable-minded individuals. By pooling many such gifts under one administration, donors can realize benefits similar to those of having their own private foundation but with far fewer assets.

Briefly stated, here's how the Foundation works:

Donors contribute money (or other assets) which is held in trust and invested. Only the income is used for charitable grants. The funds themselves, unless otherwise designated by the donors, remain as a permanent reserve. The funds are administered by a staff and overseen by a board of directors that is a cross-section of community leadership. Annual audits are available to the public, assuring strict accountability.

The Lubbock Area Foundation is structured to relieve donors of expense and inconvenience in establishing a tax-deductible endowment. Thus, it serves as a focal point for large life-time, memorial, testamentary and philanthropic contributions that otherwise might be left to benefit organizations outside the Borden County area -- or maybe never be made at all.

Anyone desiring information concerning services available from the Lubbock Area Foundation may contact its office at 502 Texas Commerce Bank Building, Lubbock, Texas 79401, or by telephoning (806)762-8061.

NEWS FROM POKA-LAMBRO

Poka-Lambro has some good news and some bad news for Gail subscribers. will soon be installed in our Central Office telephone switching facility in Gail.

THE GOOD NEWS:

*Digital equipment will be provided to you,

*Equal Access will which means you will have your choice of long distance companies.

*Custom Calling Features such as Call waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling and Speed Calling will also be available to you.

*Your toll calls will soon be re-routed through Poka-Lambro's Wayside switch over fiber optic cable.

*The Gail Exchange will be re-associated with the Lubbock Lata.

*This will all be provided to you with NO increase in local rates!

THE BAD NEWS:

*Your telephone number will change. The area code will be 806 instead of 915 and the aprefix will change from 856 to 756. EXAMPLE: After the conversion, which will take place approximately March 1, 1991, the Borden county Appraisal District's telephone number will change from 915-856-4484 to 806-756-4484.

Poka Lambro wanted Gail to keep the same numbers, but changing the network caused problems for South-western Bell in routing the calls unless the area code and first digit of the prefix were changed.

We truly anticipate that the benefits gained from this conversion will by far outweigh any inconveniences that may be encountered.

We will provide additional information in the future. If there are any questions, please feel free to call, Mickey L. Sims, or Amy Preston collect at 806-924-7234.
