COYOTE OPRY

The 1990 Coyote Opry and County Fair will be held Saturday, September 29, at the County Show Barn.

This annual event serves as a major fund raiser to assist with the improvements of our County Show Barn facilities and as an opportunity to enjoy some good music and food, lots of visiting and a chance to participate in Borden County's first County Fair.

The day will begin at 11:00 a.m. Saturday morning, when fair participants are asked to bring their exhibits to the county barn for preparation of judging. Categories to be judged include home canned vegetables, preserves and jellies, quilts, embroidery, crochet, textile painting, fresh vegetables, irrigated and dryland cotton, and an art show for grades kindergarten through 12. Team ropers will begin roping at the county arena at 1:00 p.m. with the fair exhibits to be judged at 2:00 p.m. Fish and fries will be served from 4:00-6:30 p.m. The Coyote Opry will begin at 6:30 featuring

Coyotes Fall To Wellman 24-8

Borden Coyotes scored only one touchdown Friday night in a losing effort with the Wellman Wildcats.

The Wildcats scored on a 30 yard pass and a 6 yard run in the first quarter to make the score 12-0.

The second quarter proved scoreless for both teams. It looked like the Wildcats would put 6 more points on the board just before half, but at the Borden County 1 yard line, John Paul Harris recovered a Wellman fumble and the Coyotes took over just before the half ended.

In the third quarter, Wellman fumbled the opening kick off and Brandon Adcock hit John Paul Harris with a pass from the Wellman 32 yard line for 6 points. Shannon Smithie added the extra point and the score was 12-8. Wellman then got a break from a Borden County shanked punt and drove the ball into the end zone in just a few plays. The Coyotes blocked the extra point attempt which made the score 18-8.

The only score in the fourth quarter developed when quarterback Shane Kemper hit a surprised Wellman Wildcat defender with a pass and he pranced 43 yards for a touchdown.

The Borden defense deserves great praise for the hard work they did. All night it seemed that they had their back to their own end zone but they would either hold the line on the Wildcats or force a fumble. The Coyotes only had 179 yards total offense and the Wildcats had 342 yards.

Shane Kemper completed 6 of 14 passes for 52 yards. Rushing leaders were Klint Kemper with 13 carries for 49 yards. Rod Jeter carried 7 times for 30 yards and John Paul Harris carried 10 times for 34 yards. The receiving leaders were J.J. Kincheloe with 2 catches for 20 yards and John Paul Harris with two interceptions for 47 yards and one touchdown. Cole Vestal and Rod Jeter each caught a pass. Cole Vestal led the Coyotes in tackles with 20. He also recovered three fumbles which could have resulted in touchdowns

Coyotes JV Blank the Wildcats

The Borden County JV teams held the Wellman Wildcat JV scoreless Thursday night. The game was called right after half because of the 45 point rule. The score was Coyotes 45-Wildcats 0.

Scoring for Borden County was Clint Wills with three touchdowns and Joe Acosta, Armando Carrizales and Kirk Jones with one touchdown each.

Will Shafer scored 2 extra point conversions and Guy Zant scored 1 extra point. Joe Acosta also had 2 interceptions and 2 fumble recoveries.

Cardinals Defeats Pups

The Hermleigh Cardinals defeated the Borden County Coyotes Thursday night in a Junior High football game. The Coyotes scored first on their first possession, when Bucky Williams received the ball and ran for a touchdown. A.J. Romero carried for the point-after which made the score 7-0.

The heavy rain and soaked field seemed to take its toll on the young Coyotes throughout the first half. They failed to hold the Hermleigh spread. The Cardinals scored four first-half touchdowns. When time was called for the half the score was 26-7.

The Coyotes produced one more score in the second half when Bucky Williams ran for his second touchdown. The point after attempt was unsuccessful and the game ended with the score 33-13.

Receives Certification

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, which services Gail, today received the certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program.

Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer.

The program is voluntary and is designed to insure that women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years.

The accreditation program was instituted because of the concerns of radiologists, other national medical organizations and the public that qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms and that dedicated mammographic equipment be used. The American College of Radiology (ACR) received an American Cancer Society Control Grant which was used to pilot test the Accreditation Program.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent the disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival.

The ACS recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule:

A baseline mammogram (for reference) between age 35-39.

A mammogram every one or two years between age 40-49.

An annual mammogram from age 50.

The breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Gail, on Thursday, October 11. Call 856-4386 for an appointment.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00 ± $4.50 S&H.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Hardy New Grass Needs Less Water and Less Mowing

Prairie buffalo grass, a newly adapted minimum-care turf grass especially suited to Texas sun and drought conditions, will become available for Texas landscapes next spring.

The grass performs well in hot, sunny conditions, requiring minimal irrigation, mowing and fertilizer. This new variety of turf grass was developed at Texas A&M's research center in Dalls.

This makes it ideal for roadside and airport right-of-way and industrial park applications, and for many residential lawns. The state of Texas spent $38 million in 1988 to mow highway right-of-way, and the new turf grass could reduce those costs.

Prairie buffalo grass in urban landscapes could save 50 to 70 percent of the water use for irrigation of lawns.

A typical homeowner with a Prairie buffalo grass lawn would need to mow and water only two or three times in a growing season. Left uncut, the grass grows to a maximum height of about four inches, but it may be mowed shorter and more frequently and still maintain its dense appearance. It is not suited to shade.

Introduced at a turf grass field day at A&M's research facility in Dallas, Prairie buffalo grass spreads faster, has fewer weeds, and a denser appearance than other commercially available buffalo grass cultivars.

Because it is a female plant of the species, Prairie produces neither seedheads nor pollen. It is grown from sod, sprigs or plugs.

Prairie buffalo grass can be grown successfully from the South Texas Plains north into Nebraska. The grass performs best on heavier soils and on neutral to alkaline soils. In addition to being able to withstand Texas summers, it also tolerates cold weather and maintains a gold color in winter.

The new buffalo grass has been tested in Texas at Corpus Christi, San Antonio and Dallas, as well as Fort Collins, Colo., and Lincoln, Neb.

Certified producers will offer "Prairie" for sale through nurseries to the public next spring.

SPC Course

A three-day law enforcement course focusing on cults, gangs and criminal activities is scheduled Oct. 24-26 at South Plains College.

The course is open to all law enforcement personnel and will meet 8 a.m.-5 p.m. daily in the SPC Law Enforcement/Petroleum Technology Building, Room 115. Cost is $24 a person.

Registration deadline is Oct. 19.

"This course, which is being offered in response to the increased criminal activity by gangs and cults, will aid in the recognition of perpetrators, the crime scene and other criminal activities related to gangs and or cults," explained George Lawless, associate professor and coordinator of SPC's law enforcement technology program.

Officers successfully completing the course will receive Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education (TCLEOSE) credit for 24 hours of training.

Enrollment is limited to 20 persons.

For more information, contact the SPC Division of Continuing Education at 894-9611, ext. 341.

Child's Allowance Means More Than Money

Children will learn a lot in school this fall, but one thing they won't learn much about is managing money.

Teaching children how to handle money helps children learn management skills in ways that are less painful than when they become adults.

That responsibility falls on the parents. It's better for children to begin learning how to manage small amounts of money now.

According to a study, children in the United States receive $9 billion a year from adults. Most of this money is given as allowances and the rest is payment for chores or gifts.

Allowances should be given, but not as payment for chores. All children should have chores, but the allowance should be viewed as the children's part of the money because they're members of the family.

Parents usually use two approaches in providing money to children and teenagers--the "allowance system" and the "handout system."

The "handout system" is used by those who feel they cannot afford to give their children a regular allowance and is considered to be the least expensive. But very often the amount of money that is given "as needed" exceeds that of a reasonable allowance.

Handing out money this way eliminates the opportunity for a child to learn to plan expenses, allocate funds and set aside money for use on another day. An allowance system is preferable. A child with a weekly allowance can learn how to handle money and make it last until it's needed.

Experts say that when children are old enough to tell the difference between coins and start asking for money, that it's time to begin a regular allowance.

But until children reach a certain cognitive level, they're not going to be able to handle an allowance. Most 6-year-olds don't fully understand money because it's still abstract to them.

Studies of children indicate that at some point between the ages of 6 and 8 they develop the cognitive skills for understanding money.

Preschoolers make decisions based on what looks like more. To them, a nickel would be considered more than a dime because it's bigger.

When young children see siblings getting a weekly allowance, they're usually satisfied as long they get something too, which can be a quarter.

A good way to decide on an allowance is to hold a family conference. Keep in mind factors such as the child's age, family size and income, location of residence, likes and dislikes and family routines.

Nationwide estimates of allowances given range from $1 a week for 4-year-olds to $20 a week for older teens, with most parents giving allowances of less than $10 a week to pre-teens.

A general rule of thumb is to make an allowance large enough to cover a child's basic needs plus some "extra" to permit an opportunity to save or spend, yet small enough to force some choices. This will help the child develop decision-making skills.

The only way children can learn to manage

EMS NEWS

Two paramedics from the Borden County EMS recently successfully completed an intense two day, sixteen hour course at St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock on Advanced Cardiac Life Support (ACLS). Kent Holmes, EMT-P and Judy Pylant, EMT-P attended this course on the 15-16 of September. This is a course developed by the American Heart Association to provide training for physicians, nurses and paramedics in emergency cardiac care. The mornings consisted of lectures and the afternoons were devoted to practicing of skills and testing. A cognitive exam requiring 85% proficiency to successfully complete the course was given Sunday morning and skills testing on mega-code, defibrillation, strip (EKG) recognition and airway management was given Sunday afternoon.

The "highlight" of ability to utilize the skills and knowledge that he/she has attained. Each participant in the course is expected to act as the "team leader" as part of skills testing.

Borden County EMS is continually striving to better itself to serve the citizens of Borden County. One way this is done is through continuing education in such courses as Advanced Cardiac Life Support (ACLS).
