Mistakes

"He who never made a mistake never made a discovery."
- Samuel Smiles

Although no one wants to, we all make mistakes. It's virtually unavoidable. Mistakes have a stigma associated with them. To many people, mistakes are synonymous with failure, and no one wants to be labeled a failure.

When faced with two or more options, mistake avoidance plays a significant role in the decision making process. So rather than analyzing which choice offers the greatest rewards, you limit yourself by gravitating towards the alternative with the least risk.

Then, when you make a mistake, which is inevitable, you become filled with regret. Mistakes are typically followed by spending too much time lamenting what you would do differently if you could only do things over.

The only way to avoid making mistakes is to attempt nothing. But that is in itself a mistake. Therefore, mistakes are an inevitable part of life. This is an important fact to accept since wisdom is attained only through mistakes.

Yet, you don't have to repeat the same mistakes others have already been through. True progress is made, and knowledge is advanced, when the experiences of others are used as a foundation for further discoveries.

So here are your objectives. Don't take reckless chances. Learn from the mistakes of others. Armed with knowledge, move forward with the goal of success. Don't be afraid of mistakes. Instead, accept them as part of the learning process. When you do make a mistake, you will gain wisdom.

Surprisingly, there are those who don't learn from their mistakes. They keep repeating the same actions that produced the undesirable results the first time. Making the same mistake over and over is a sign you are not paying attention to cause and effect.

The concept is really simple. If you want different results you must change your behavior. When you make a mistake, you need to take responsibility for your actions. You can't blame someone or something else. If you refuse to take responsibility

Click It or Ticket!
This Year's Click It or Ticket Campaign is
May 19 to June 1

While 9 out of 10 Texans buckle up, too many drivers and passengers continue to risk injury or death by not using seat belts. According to TxDOT, in 2013, of all people killed in vehicles in Texas, nearly half were reported as not wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash. Pickup trucks are so popular in Texas, but almost half of our pickup truck drivers killed in crashes were not wearing a seat belt.

After so many years of having seat belts standard in vehicles, it would seem that buckling your seat belt before driving off would be second nature. Fortunately, most of us do buckle up, but some, especially pickup truck drivers and their passengers, depend on their bigger pickup truck to protect them in a crash. Yet, pickup trucks are twice as likely to rollover than passenger cars, and pickup truck crashes can be especially serious – even deadly – due to their tendency to roll over and for unbelted occupants to be thrown from the vehicle.

Unbuckled passengers can also be deadly to others in the vehicle. Most people are not aware of the dangers posed by unbuckled backseat passengers. In a crash, they can become projectiles that are tossed around inside the vehicle, injuring or killing those in the front seat. Riders in the back seat who use lap and shoulder belts are 44% more likely to survive in a crash than unrestrained occupants in passenger cars, and 73% more likely to survive in passenger vans and SUVs.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), young adults are dying at a disproportionate rate because they are not wearing their seat belts. Sixty-two percent of 18- to 34-year-old passenger vehicle occupants killed in crashes were not wearing their seat belts.

When the Click It or Ticket campaign began in 2002, just 76 percent of Texans used seat belts. Today, over 90 percent of Texans buckle up. Also, since the campaign began over a decade ago, NHTSA estimated in 2012 (the most recent data available) that the Click It or Ticket campaign in Texas has resulted in almost 3,700 fewer traffic deaths and prevented more than 50,000 serious injuries.

Here's another good reason to buckle up – it's the law! Unbelted drivers and adult passengers can face fines and court costs of up to $200. Children younger than 8 years old must be in a child safety seat or booster seat unless they are taller than 4 feet 9 inches. Fines issued to drivers for unrestrained children in their vehicle can be as high as $250 plus court costs.

Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service agent Julie Smith from Borden County reminds drivers that the campaign this year is scheduled for May 19-June 1, which includes Memorial Day weekend. During this time, extra law enforcement representatives will be on the roads enforcing the seat belt and child restraint laws in an effort to save lives. Those officers are not out to write tickets but instead want to help prevent the needless tragedy from motor vehicles accidents. Remember to buckle up and save your life – not just during Click It or Ticket, but every day of the year!

Dare to Live...

ity for your behavior, there is virtually no chance of obtaining different results. You are the only one in charge of the direction your life takes.

Is it possible to correct a mistake? Yes and no. No, you can't change the past. There are no do overs. Yes, you can make changes that prevent you from repeating the past. Suppose someone gets fired because they were constantly late. They can make sure they are always early or on time at their next job.

Perhaps a person has bad credit because their payments are often late. They can improve their financial situation by starting to make their payments on time. An individual who is gaining weight because of his eating habits and lifestyle isn't relegated to being overweight and out of shape. All it takes is a change in diet and exercise.

Everyone who achieves success has made many mistakes. After each mistake, they assess what went wrong and why. Then they pick themselves up, make the necessary adjustments, and keep going. They repeat this process as often as necessary until their goals are reached. With each cycle, their knowledge grows.

The journey to success is filled with falls, bumps, and bruises. Perfection, if it exists, is only achieved as a result of numerous mistakes. Anyone who claims never to have made a mistake has not realized any meaningful accomplishments.

Welcome mistakes as the opportunity for growth they are. Learn from each one. Don't become discouraged. Ignore any criticisms others may offer. Never, ever give up because something you attempted didn't have the desired results. A mistake is an opportunity to try again with more knowledge.

In July, Taylor will be going on a mission trip to Alaska with her BSM group. Taylor plans on receiving her second degree BSN starting in the Spring of 2015.

County Residents Help Bring Quannah Parker Arrow to Gail

The efforts of Pat J. Porter and Lisa Dennis Mahler to recognize Comanche Chief Quannah Parker's presence in Borden County will come to fruition at 2 p.m. this Saturday, May 24.

The Quannah Parker Trail giant arrow will be placed just southwest of the First Baptist Church in Gail on Hwy. 180.

The famed Native American has a rich historical heritage in this area. The Kwanhadi Comanche band, led by Parker, was known to have camped near Borden County's Muchaque Peak. It was in this area in 1875 that Fort Sill post interpreter J. J. Sturm found Parker and issued him Colonel Ranald Makenzie's ultimatum-of-surrender orders. At the time, Parker was camping near Bull Creek, according to Sturm's journal.

Mrs. Porter and Lisa Dennis Mahler have worked closely with Judge Ross Sharp and the Quannah Parker Trail Steering Committee to bring this arrow to Borden County. The recognition not only symbolizes an important era in Texas history but American history as well.

Thanks to Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Mahler, Judge Sharp, and the Borden County Commissioners for their work in bringing Quannah Parker's story back to Borden County. The dedication and blessing of the arrow by Parker family members will occur in early fall.

An arrow like this one in Crosbyton, Texas will be placed here in Gail on Saturday, May 24th. The arrow marks the Quannah Parker Trail
