Austin — A complete overhaul of the election code is due. Senate already has passed a bill correcting scores of errors in the old law, which was overhauled in haste in 1951.

House members amended the bill to eliminate the "agent form" of paying poll taxes. Instead prospective voters would have to go to the court house or get a deputy tax collector to certify qualification to vote.

House also refused to require county tax assessors to name civic workers as deputies.

Progress is slow on the proposals to abolish the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting.

Senators passed a proposed constitutional amendment to let the people say whether they want to keep the poll tax. But after some delay, a House committee put it in subcommittee.

Meanwhile, the national constitutional amendment to outlaw the poll tax in election of President, Vice President, Senators and Congressmen has been ratified by 30 states. When eight more ratify it, use of the poll tax in Texas would be out the window.

Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo envisions the possibility that the 1964 election could be held with state officers elected by poll tax holders, federal officials by everybody.

SHORTEST SESSION?

A modern-day record for short legislative sessions may be set if Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Speaker Byron Tunnell can get legislators to wind up their business by May 7.

A May 7 adjournment has been filed. But the Constitution would allow them to work until May 27 if they can't finish by the 7th.

Both houses have been making fast progress on "local and uncontested bill" days.

BIG BILLS PENDING

Length of the legislative session hinges on the three biggest issues yet unsettled.

One is the House-passed tax bill to provide $32,000,000 to finance Gov. John B. Connally's higher education, tourist and industry-catching programs.

Then there's the appropriations bill, which is being worked out in conference committee headed by Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and Rep. Bill Healy of Paduach. It allocates the funds to each agency for spending during the next two years.

And there is the loan regulation bill, which Speaker Tunnell and Governor Connally consider a "must." It may be in trouble in the Senate bill, which mustered a bare majority, was changed considerably by a House subcommittee.

DROP-OUTS DEADLY

Some startling facts about the high school drop-out problem have been revealed by the Texas State Teachers Association. They stated that "Drop-outs face a dead end in a world where education and its skills in the employment field are becoming a necessity."

Victor Sumner of the Texas Education Agency predicted that in the next five years about a third of a million young Texans will leave high school between ninth grade and graduation.

He estimated this fatal step would cost these youngsters nearly $75,000,000,000 in lifetime income.

"People in the employment field tell me that the hard core of unemployment now is composed of drop-outs from 20 to 30 years ago," Sumner said.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT ACT

Rep. Joe Cannon of Mexia told the House State Affairs Committee that Texas' rural counties are in "tremendous trouble" and need help from the state.

Cannon appeared on behalf of his bill, co-sponsored by Rep. H. G. Wells of Tulla, which would apply to nine-tenths of the counties in Texas. Specifically those with less than 45,000 population.

Bill would require State Comptroller to compile a list of the low-population counties and set up a rural development fund. It would be built up through a refund of two percent of all taxes collected by these counties.

Rural development fund would provide about $2,000,000 annually that could be spent to lure industries to counties that lack money to advertise their attractions.

Reps. J. Collier Adams of Lubbock, Ben Jarvis of Tyler and Donald K. Shipley of Houston are on the subcommittee studying the bill.

CODE OF ETHICS

Tighter rules over the private business activities of state officials has been the talk of the Capitol since William J. Murray Jr. resigned from the Railroad Commission. Murray said he made more than $1,000,000 in oil deals while regulating that industry.

Reps. Bob Eckhardt of Houston, James Nugent of Kerrville and Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi introduced a bill to outlaw investments by state officials in the fields which they regulate. Old Code of Ethics law—passed in 1957—merely called on them to disclose any such interests.

Rep. John Allen of Longview, chairman of the House State Affairs Committee, named a subcommittee to go over the bill...to tighten up the tightening up. He indicated that he will try to bring the bill out for House action quickly.

Bill would prohibit legislators from appearing for pay before state boards and commissions while they are considering appropriations which are the lifeblood of state agencies.

SECURITIES

REGISTRATION UP

State Securities Board granted investment permits in Texas totaling $25,000,000 last month. February total ran only $17,000,000.

Thirteen of the 42 companies granted the right to sell stocks in Texas were Texas firms.

HOUSE BILLS

Beetles better beware if Conroe Rep. David Crews' bill to cause forest landowners to pay for their extermination becomes law.

Victoria Rep. Dick Corey's bill authorizing district judges to provide jurors' meals in the jury room, rather than dismiss them, is ready for Governor Connally's signature.

House endorsed a bill to require school boards to advertise for competitive bids on purchases totaling $1,000 or more.

Kerrville Rep. Jim Nugent gained approval of his bill to set up strict supervision by the Secretary of State for charity fund-raising organizations which solicit $10,000 or more a year.

Women's righters gained a small victory when the House passed bills, authored by Rep. George Cowden of Waco, to allow a woman to make contracts concerning her own property.

A bill by Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth to increase longevity pay for firemen and policemen across the state was given a second chance when Senate Counties Committee chairman Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin "fired" a subcommittee that couldn't reach a decision on the bill and set up a new committee.

MURRAY SUCCESSOR SPECULATION

Big guessing game these days is "Who will Connally appoint to fill Murray's place on the Railroad Commission?"

Eugene Locke, Wally Scott Jr. and Claude Brown — all three members of the State Democratic Executive Committee — have been mentioned. Also discussed have been U. S. Rep. Joe Kilgore and Secretary of State Crawford Martin. Scott has withdrawn his name. Others who have oil or gas interests which would have to be divested before they could accept an appointment are expected to do the same.

Murray's empty chair — which also is perched on top of the slant-hole oil well investigations — is a hot seat.

THE RIGHT OF RANCHMEN
to protect their livestock against the depredations of the Golden Eagle will be determined by the Secretary of Interior between now and next Fall when the Eagles will be returning to the southwest for another winter season. He will decide whether airplanes may be used in defense against this menace.

It will be recalled that the Secretary in January announced he would not allow the use of planes. Several public hearings were held, and the evidence was overwhelming to the effect that eagles are a deadly menace and that they can be coped with only by use of airplanes.

Now, for some reason, we are informed that the Secretary has another task force conducting another study of the same thing. In addition, it is reported that the Audubon Society has its own investigation going on, ostensibly to try to counteract or contradict the record that has been made. The Audubon people refused to send an observer out to attend the hearings conducted by the first task force.

The bird lovers and bleeding hearts still insist that a golden eagle could not possibly harm a nice little lamb! They know it's that way because they read it in a book one time.

Incidentally, here's a chance for some enterprising amateur photographer, with enough patience, to make a hundred dollars: Margaret Louise Hill, with Texas Ornithological Society, 4-200 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, wrote me recently and said "For six years the Texas Ornithological Society has offered a reward of $100 for photographic proof of these birds in the act of killing domestic livestock and game animals."

In my answer I told Miss Hill she would probably also be safe in offering a reward for a picture of a rattlesnake striking a child! But that would not prove rattlers do not bite children.

I would not be surprised to see someone come up with a picture of the eagle at work. Attacks by the birds on lambs, kids and small game have been observed by literally hundreds of people. In fact that forms their chief source of livelihood in southwest Texas during the winter months.

Program For Clubs Available

Here's news for the harassed woman's club or PTA program chairman and her never-ending search for the answer to the ever-present question: "What on earth can we do for the next meeting?"

A complete panel-type program on planning for a vacation trip by automobile is available from the American Oil Company.

The package comes as a complete program ready for presentation, and is built around four separate presentations (to be given by four individual club members) on the various phases of automobile travel.

One deals with planning the trip, another with getting the car ready, a third tells how to stretch travel dollars, and a fourth is devoted to highway safety.

The package also contains suggested introductory and closing remarks by the chairman as well as visuals and other illustrated materials.

The complete package can be obtained free of charge by writing Travel Consultant, Public Relations Department, American Oil Company, 910 South Michigan Ave., Chicago 80, Illinois.
