

THE AMERICAN WAY

GOOD GRIEF, WILL
IT NEVER END?

By Harry Browne
Editor, American Progress
Magazine

No stranger from a faraway planet, no citizen from a bygone era, and — we can hope — no man of the future would ever believe that the American people would let their rulers steal $100 billion from them to be thrown to the four corners of the world in the madness known as "foreign aid."

There is no conceivable standard by which the "foreign aid" program can be made to look sensible.

It does not stop the Communists — it encourages them to pick off the countries we have ripened with our aid (Cuba, Laos, etc.).

It does not help the people in the countries we "aid" — it merely tightens the control of leftwing dictators over those people.

Must Borrow

We even have to borrow the money to supply the "aid" — and our debt now exceeds the combined debts of every other nation in the world.

No innocent observer from a far-off generation or galaxy would ever be gullible enough to believe that such self-destruction could be practiced by the strongest nation in the world.

And yet it is.

No matter how you look at it, "foreign aid" is nothing but madness. It serves only to bankrupt our nation, destroy private enterprise at home and abroad, aid our enemy and deplete our gold supply. One can only wonder how many rational, patriotic Congressmen could vote for it.

Congress Approve

And yet, "foreign aid" is approved — by a majority of the Congressmen, year after year. Despite the absence of any Constitutional authority, the American family continues to be robbed of approximately $100 a year for the benefit of foreign dictators. This is undoubtedly the most frustrating situation ever known to a taxpayer.

Eugene Castle put it this way: "The American taxpayers, who have never known military defeat, have been compelled by their own ruling politicians to pay more treasure into the coffers of foreign powers than all of the vanquished people in history have been required to pay their conquerors."

Is there no way to end this insanity? Are we doomed forever? Fortunately, we can end it. Keep telling your Congressman you want it stopped completely. But, meanwhile, do something positive about it: Work for approval of the Liberty Amendment by your own state legislature.

Control Congress

The Liberty Amendment will outlaw all federal government economic activities not specified in the Constitution. This, of course, will do away with foreign aid once and for all — regardless of the attitude of any particular Congress.

Don't be frustrated by irresponsible rulers. Follow Jefferson's advice and "bind them down from mischief with the chains of the Constitution."

The Liberty Amendment will do that. It will solve the problem of "foreign aid" — not just try to make it bearable. Promote it in every way you can.

Then, who knows, maybe someday citizens of the "land of the free" may no longer be required to pay tribute to foreign dictators.

Excellent Rains Fall in Area

Santa Anna and all this area was blessed with excellent general rains this week. The official measurement here in town was 1.25 inches Monday and at noon Wednesday we had received 1.75 inches, making a total of three inches for the two days. Some of the area received rains Sunday night also, but very little was received here in town.

All the county received good rains. Many report catching lots of stock water, which has been a serious situation throughout this area for the past several months.

Sunday night some areas received heavy hail and high winds. Some damage was done to new crops and the wheat that is now in the harvest stage.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin — Many Texas drivers who carry insurance will need to notify their agents to increase their public liability insurance after August 24.

By the narrowest of margins — a single vote — the House adopted a bill by Rep. Bob Fairchild of Center to raise the bodily injury insurance or security requirements under the driver financial responsibility law from $5,000 for one person and $10,000 for two or more to double these amounts.

Estimates are that it will cost the average driver about $5 a year for the extra coverage. This will enable him to keep his driver's license and car license should he be involved in a collision in which someone is hurt.

It was a hard fought issue in the House. But Fairchild won, 63-67, with the vote of Speaker Byron Tunnell breaking the tie. In the Senate, passage was by voice vote, with 12 Senators recording themselves as voting no.

Argument for the bill is that it would bring requirements up to a more modern figure. Court judgments in personal injury cases, resulting from auto collisions, often exceed $5,000.

Argument against it, voiced by Rep. Eligio de la Garza of McAllen, was that 35 percent of the drivers cannot afford to carry liability insurance at present rates. So there will be even more uninsured motorists on the highways after the Fairchild law takes effect.

WIND UP

Regular session of the 58th Legislature ends Friday. That's three days earlier than the constitutional requirement.

Hundreds of the 1,500 proposed new laws submitted by the 181 legislators were left to die in committees and on the crowded calendars of both houses.

Other hundreds will become law when Gov. John Connally signs them. Rush of business at the session's end is pouring them into his office by the score.

All legislative proposals are important to someone. In a few cases, it is a single person.

One proposal would allow a newspaper editor to practice law. It was killed on the floor.

Another would permit the practice of architecture, by a qualified person who failed to apply for a license before the deadline arrived. It died in committee.

But the major issues of the session appear to be fairly well settled.

COURTS

An exception is judicial re-districting. Rep. Henry Stollenwerck, a Republican from Dallas, vainly tried to move some rural district courts to the cities. This to follow the people who have moved into the population centers.

Stollenwerck presented statistics showing that some courts are handling only 150 cases a year, while others in major cities have towering caseloads even after disposing of five times that many cases a year. Bill was killed in committee.

Rep. Bob Johnson of Dallas persuaded the House to pass a bill under which a judicial re-districting board, made up of the Lieutenant Governor, House Speaker and Attorney General, would reapportion district courts if the Legislature did not. Bill died in the Senate.

HOUSE MINORITY LEADER

In the waning days of the session, House Republicans ceremoniously announced their 8-member delegation leader, Rep. Horace B. Houston of Dallas.

Houston has some sort of seniority since he previously served a term when he ran as a Democrat.

Speaker Tunnell quipped, "From now on, when you folks have complaints about your bill, you can take your troubles to the House minority leader."

Houston then cast his first vote as G. O. P. leader in favor of extending the Veterans Land Program, while his followers cast votes against it.

MORE JUNIOR COLLEGES

State Board of Education named a committee to study Snyder's request for a junior college. Appointees were Penrose E. Metcalfe of San Angelo, Herbert O. Wilborn of Amarillo, and Paul Mathews of Greenville. Committee will meet on May 31, in San Angelo.

Recently, the board authorized junior college election for Travis County voters. Claim is that even though the University of Texas is in Travis County, entrance requirements are too stiff for many local youngsters to enroll.

POLICEMEN'S PENSIONS

On its way to becoming law is S. B. 444 by Sen. William Moore of Bryan. It would make policemen in 150 towns of less than 250,000 population eligible for Social Security benefits. If their councils agreed.

Rep. Ben Barnes of De Leon, House sponsor, said, "This is the first policemen's bill that policemen's associations and the Texas Municipal League have agreed on."

A statewide bill by Rep. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio, to increase longevity pay for policemen and firemen in all towns, was killed.

BILLS SIGNED

In recent days Gov. Connally has signed into law bills that make San Angelo and Pan American colleges state-supported, senior colleges; authorized commissions courts to appropriate monies for historical markers and monuments; provide for annexation by municipalities; authorize a 70-mile speed limit; and allow weekly newspapers to miss two issues a year and still retain their legality.

Also, change the name of A & M College to Texas A & M University; authorize counties to issue bonds to establish homes for the needy; and provide for emergency succession to state offices in the event of an attack or a disaster.

ROAD RACE

Texas and Oklahoma are running a friendly race to close the gap between Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City.

Texas highway builders are aiming for an early-June, 1964, completion date on the Red River Valley Expressway between Wichita Falls and the Red River.

Oklahoma has set the same target for completion of a Southwestern Turnpike project between Oklahoma City and the terminal point of the Texas expressway.

TEXAS LEADS

This state has led all others in road-building progress since 1956.

Highway engineers from other states and 19 Latin American countries who want to know how it has been done heard State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer speak on the subject in Washington, D. C.

A pay-as-you-go plan has been one secret of success, Greer says, in building a highway network of 65,000 miles. Some other states run into road delays because of bond elections and sales.

Greer said his department's motto is "Total road service to all the people."

"The highway administrator must not be guilty of favoritism for one region over another," he stated.

BACK IN THE GAME

Former sports writer Wilbur Evans, one-time information director of the Southwest Conference, is going back into athletics after six months of quarterbacking for Gov. Connally.

Evans served as press liaison man for the governor's office. He will return to his old field on June 1 as press agent for the Dallas Cowboys.

BUS DRIVER OF THE YEAR

Winner of the Texas Education Agency's "School Bus Driver of the Year" contest will be named on June 7.

Regional winners are: Elmer J. Ashley of Henderson, James U. Skinner of Corrigan, Billy Ray Richardson of Calallen, William F. Moore of Rankin,

AN EDITORIAL

Think This Over

The most important single development in Texas has been its industrial growth which has been five times the national average. Changes in two of Texas' major job producing enterprises — petroleum and farming — have placed an added significance to the contributions made by industry to the community and the state.

According to statistics supplied by the United States Chamber of Commerce, if a new industry adds 100 workers to the local labor force, the community gains:

- 359 more people,
- 65 more employed in non-manufacturing,
- 91 more school children,
- $710,000 more personal income per year
- 100 more households,
- $331,000 more retail sales per year,
- 97 more passenger cars registered,
- $229,000 more bank deposit,
- three more retail establishments.

To these economic factors are added state and local taxes paid by the new plant and new workers and by the business establishments favorably affected by new employment.

Industry, with its job opportunities, is the soundest and quickest way for causing an economic advance; and if Texas expects to continue to grow in population and develop its economic base, it must be done through industrial expansion.

A good business climate is not something that just happens — it is a combination of circumstances, conditions and attitudes which are prevalent in the community. It often requires a long period of time to achieve a good business climate and can be maintained only by great effort.

A good business climate is dependent upon stable government on the state and local level, sound labor management relations, equitable taxes, and by a friendly community attitude.

Texas is fortunate in having the resources, the manpower, the capital, the transportation, the water, the fuel and the power that industry requires when looking for new industrial locations.

Other states also have these resources and are actively competing against Texas for new industry. The state and the community which offers the best business climate will be the area favored for industrial growth and new job opportunities.

Herbert Hines of Rule and Roy Arthur Brooks of Alto.

LCRA APPOINTMENT

Gov. Connally appointed John W. Hancock of El Campo to the Board of Directors of the Lower Colorado River Authority for a six year term. He succeeds R. D. Wright of Whorton.

Hancock is the nephew of Curtis Hancock of Dallas, who was a member of Texas' first Highway Commission.

The Challenge Of The Future

By Donald A. Williams
Administrator
U. S. Soil Conservation Service

"We Turn Our Eyes to the Future" is a fitting theme for the observance of Soil Stewardship Week, May 19 through 26, for we face major decisions as to the management of our soil and water in a swiftly changing pattern of land use. What we decide today will have far-reaching effects tomorrow.

Soil Stewardship Week is a time to reflect on the pleasures and benefits we derive from God's life-giving gifts of soil and water. It is a time to remember that these gifts were given to us for continuing use—not just for today. That they were bestowed on all of us—not just a few. That we all are utterly dependent on them for our very existence, to say nothing of our standard of living.

These are material things. We should never cease to be grateful also for the richness that land and water add to our lives. What greater source of inner pleasure and serenity has our Creator given us than a beautiful landscape or a rippling stream? We have been blessed with much, and much is expected of us as stewards of these blessings.

Today we are placing more demands on our land and water resources than ever before. New housing spreads out from cities into once-agricultural lands. New industries look for locations where water is plentiful. Non-farm folks look for open, green places for recreation and relaxation. Air conditioning systems and other modern improvements call for increasing amounts of water. These plus demands not yet envisioned provide the challenges and opportunities.

It is up to us, as good stewards, to develop the potential richness of our soil and water resources. Conserve them we must, but conserving them means using them to fulfill our needs. Future generations will thus be grateful for the blessings that have been ours and are theirs.

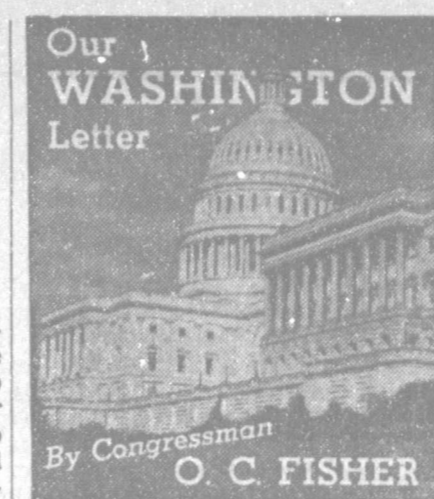

Land owners and operators in the more than 2,900 soil and water conservation districts across the nation are looking to the future. They have broadened their concepts to include resource conservation planning for community-wide benefits. Urban people, too, are coming to recognize their direct role in resource development and are joining the team.

We have been endowed with a great trust. All of us—not just a few of us—have the responsibility for stewardship and to plan for our needs for today and the future.

Mrs. C. W. Stephenson returned home Saturday, after having surgery in Dallas and convalescing in the home of a daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pruitt.

Tyler, Texas, raises more than two-thirds of the commercial rose bushes grown in the United States.

For the 7th time in 3 years, the House has just approved another increase in the debt ceiling. During the preceding 8 years the limit was raised 5 times—from $275 billion to $285 billion. In view of the frequency of increases, the ceiling is becoming rather meaningless.

Last year the limit was $308 billion to continue until March 31, this year; $305 billion from April 1 to June 24; and $300 billion for the remainder of the year.

Last week's action raises the ceiling to $307 billion through June 30, and to $309 billion for July and August.

Debt ceilings were first enacted in 1917, and have been gradually increased since then. In 1941 the limit was set at $65 billion.

A debt ceiling would serve a useful purpose during peace time if it would be observed. If it were employed as an actual brake and the cloth then cut to fit the pattern, a ceiling could be a useful tool in maintaining fiscal stability. In other words, if when the budget people decide each year how much money they plan to spend, they would hold the line at the debt ceiling, that limit would then carry some significance.

Such a practice has become unfashionable. The planners no longer seem to pay any attention to the debt ceiling. They go ahead with spending plans—with approval of Congress—and then figure the ceiling will be raised to take care of the deficit.

I voted against the raise last week. If the Congress would block this spending trend by refusing to raise the ceiling, then we would see some real retrenchment in federal non-defense spending.

Senator Barry Goldwater did not lose any friends in the House last week when, in a press conference, he took a poke at the Senate and had something nice to say about the House! The Senate, he said, has become "irresponsible—you can get anything through the Senate". He went on to say that the House of Representatives has become "the responsible organ".

Glen Gilbreath, Dan Tindol to Attend U. of T. Atomic Energy Symposium

Santa Anna High School has been selected by the University of Texas as one of 12 schools in the area served by West Texas Utilities Company to send a student and a teacher to the 3rd Annual Atomic Energy Symposium, to be held in June at the University of Texas in Austin. The manner of determining the name of the science student and his or her instructor was left to the discretion of local school officials. Roy B. Mathews, High School Principal, announced today that Glen Gilbreath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gilbreath, and Daniel Tindol, science instructor, have been chosen to attend the Symposium.

The 3rd Annual Atomic Energy Symposium For High School Students will be conducted under the joint sponsorship of the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation is a non-profit organization composed of ten investor-owned electric utility companies operating in Texas. West Texas Utilities Company is a contributing member of the Foundation. The Foundation was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest major research program in the field of nuclear energy. Currently, the Foundation and General Dynamics Corporation are jointly sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power. Fusion is the energy process of the sun and the stars.

The purposes for which the Foundation was formed, however, are broader than the fusion research program alone. It is the desire of the Foundation and WTU to assist in advancing the knowledge of nuclear science in Texas schools and to bring students and teachers a realization of the privileges, responsibilities and opportunities which scientific discoveries in the field of nuclear energy present.

In line with these objectives, the Foundation and WTU will again sponsor the three-day nuclear science symposium at the University of Texas. The lecturers will be chosen from among top men in their field. They will come from various universities and colleges and General Dynamic's John Jay Hopkins Laboratory in San Diego, Calif.

This Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas is designed to broaden the mind, encourage the study of nuclear science for peaceful purposes, and give qualified students their first taste of university life.

Senior Class Enjoys Trip to Texas Coast

On Friday, May 10, thirty-two members of the Senior Class accompanied by four sponsors, Mr. Dan Tindol, Mr. A. D. Pettit, Mrs. Doyle Evans and Mrs. Leroy Curry, left Santa Anna on a chartered bus bound for San Antonio. We arrived in San Antonio about 7:15 p. m. and immediately checked into the Gunner Hotel. After hanging our Senior Flag in the lobby, we all went to eat. Later some of us went to the movies, others went to Playland Park, and others just walked around and window shopped.

Saturday morning right after breakfast we checked out of the hotel and headed for the Alamo. After a short tour there we went to the San Jose Mission. Here we saw the old mill, the chapel, and the living quarters. Our next stop was Brackenridge Park, where we saw the gardens and zoo. At lunch we had a picnic there.

At 1:30 p. m. we left for Galveston. About 7:00 p. m. we checked into the Jack Tar Hotel, near the beach at Galveston. There was a party in the cafeteria that night which some of us attended.

Sunday morning we all attended church. Some of us went to the Broadway Baptist Church and others attended the Church of Christ.

After lunch some of us went on the ferry ride. The rest of the afternoon was free. About 6:30 we went to the beach for a picnic, and later rode the ferry between Galveston Island and the mainland. This is a Texas Highway, and the state of Texas maintains a free ferry to connect the island with the mainland.

Monday was a free day in Galveston. Most of us divided our time between the hotel pool and the beach. There was also an amusement park and a miniature golf course on the beach. Monday night we had a picnic on the beach, and later some of us attended the movie "Gidget" shown in the Marlin Room of the hotel.

Tuesday we left Galveston at 7:00 a. m. We stopped in Houston at the San Jacinto Monument and the Battleship Texas. We had about one hour and a half free time in Houston while the bus was being serviced.

We ate lunch in Hempstead, outside of Houston, then climbed on the bus for the remainder of the long journey home. At supper we stopped at a park outside Lampasas and had a picnic.

We arrived home about 7:00 p. m. Tuesday night.

Everyone had a marvelous time and our only regret is that we couldn't have stayed about a month.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held Saturday Night

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet was held in the cafeteria of the Elementary School Saturday night, May 18. The Juniors used a Hawaiian Cruise theme to honor the Seniors with. Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the king and queen, Larry Fowler and Linda Evans.

The entrance was decorated with cane stalks. As each entered the entertaining room, they were greeted with the word "Aloha." Other decorations included the ceiling being covered with blue and silver stars. The stage resembled a Hawaiian beach, complete with grass tufts, palm trees, sand, and water—just right for skiing and swimming. Over the stage were the words, "Hawaiian Cruise".

The tables were arranged in a "U" shape. The head table had a centerpiece of blue flowers with silver guitars. On the other tables, Hawaiian Islands complete with palm trees and huts, were used. Palm tree candle holders also were used on the tables. Sand, directly from the beach of Hawaii, completed the decorations, which was covered with silver and blue shells. Silver Shells were used for name tags and nut cups.

The menu consisted of Haleshiki Inu (Pineapple juice); Pew Teriyaki (Baked Ham); Mauna Ahi (Apple Rings); Nui Poi (Yellow Corn); Iopaa Huhu (Sweet Potatoes); Lualau (Salad); Pivusu (Relish Plate); Ahi Kaulau and Lanai (Hot rolls and Butter); Meaono and Wikiwiki (Cake and Ice Cream); Hoolaula Inu or Ahi Inu (Iced Tea or Coffee); Macadamia (Mints and Nuts).

The program spelled out "Hawaii." Hawaiian Koma Mai by Glen Gilbreath, President of the Junior Class. Aloha, But Not Good-by, Pete Simmons, President of the Senior Class. Wind and Hurricane by Wade Rehm, who presented the Key of the Future to the Seniors. Alahoe by Larry Wardlow, who read the Class Will. Ideals of the Isle by Larry Fowler, who read the Class Prophecy. Isle of Golden Dreams, by the Nevelly Bathers, Clem and Clyde, of Howard Payne College.

West Texas C of C Meet To Be In Wichita Falls

Abilene — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce's interest in higher education and agriculture will be advanced May 24-25 as the two-day annual meeting of the WHCC is held in Wichita Falls.

The 45th annual meeting is scheduled for the Kemp Hotel, opening formally at noon on May 24 and running through a Saturday luncheon on May 25.

Dr. L. V. Berkner, president of the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest in Dallas, an exponent of study and research, will speak at the opening luncheon on "Advanced Education and Educational Growth of the Southwest."

At the first afternoon session, John C. Lynn of Washington, D. C., legislative director of the American Farm Bureau, will speak on "Business' Stake in a Healthy Agriculture."

Eastern Star Has Memorial Program

Mrs. Billie Guthrie, Worthy Matron, presided in the East at a stated meeting of the Santa Anna Chapter No. 247, Order of Eastern Star, Monday, May 20. Montie Guthrie, Worthy Patron, assisted in the East.

The meeting was opened in regular form with 14 officers filling their stations. The Worthy Patron led the group in repeating the Pledge of Allegiance. Minutes were read and approved.

During the business meeting, the chapter voted to hold a Bake Sale on Saturday, June 8. Mrs. Willie Bostick, Mrs. Alice L. Walker and Daniel Tindol Jr., were appointed as the auditing committee.

The Coleman Chapter extended an invitation to the Past Matrons of Santa Anna to attend their meeting June 10th.

Mrs. Joyce Mobley, Worthy Matron-elect, will have an Open Installation of her 1963-64 officers June 15 at 7:30 p. m. The following will be installed:

Mrs. Joyce Mobley, Worthy Matron; H. W. Gray, Worthy Patron; Mrs. Carmen Donham, Associate Matron; Daniel Tindol Jr., Associate Patron; Mrs. Lillian Herndon, Secretary; Mrs. Blanche Grantham, Treasurer; Mrs. Faye Mobley, Conductress; Mrs. Lois Avants, Associate Conductress; Mrs. Rosa Bass, Chaplain; Montie Guthrie, Marshall; Mrs. Zuda Henderson, Organist; Mrs. Billie Guthrie, Adah; Mrs. Jane Smith, Ruth; Mrs. Lora Rollins, Esther; Mrs. Edna E. Tindol, Martha; Mrs. Myrtle Taylor, Electa; Jack Mobley, Warder; Mrs. Viona West, Sentinel.

After the chapter closed, the memorial program was presented by Mmes. Guthrie, Bass, Rollins, Jane Smith, Donham, Bostick and Avants.

After the program the group met in the Fellowship Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie and Mrs. Myrtle Taylor served strawberry short cake with whipped cream and punch. The centerpiece was a replica of a throne, having gold stairs topped with gold crown, signifying the advancing of Mrs. Joyce Mobley to Worthy Matron.

Arrangements of sultana were used on either side. Arrangements of ivy candles and Star Point Colors were used.

Eighteen members and one guest, Mrs. Wyone Jameson of the Coleman Chapter, were present.

Gray Francolins Released In McCulloch County

Over the years many exotic birds have been released in Texas in an effort to provide more game for the sportsman. Some of these releases show some promise of being successful.

Some of the more promising experiments of exotics currently in progress by the Game and Fish Commission quail hatchery at Tyler include the French red-legged partridge and gray francolins. Recent releases from Tyler quail hatchery were 192 gray francolins in McCulloch County.

Mr. Wayne Bohl of the Fish and Wildlife Service and Mr. Rod Marburger of the Game and Fish Commission selected the release site in northern McCulloch County which is predominantly large ranch country with very little cultivated land. This corresponds favorably to the native habitat of the gray francolin in India. Also, of major importance the few people living in this area have shown considerable interest in the success of this project.

The 192 gray francolins were divided into flocks and released at four separate sites in the project area. Many of the landowners were present for the release. This gave them an opportunity to see the birds and to hear their call. This is expected to prevent someone shooting these birds just to see what they are.

Mr. Marburger and Swede Johnson, Conservation Officer, are very optimistic about this release of gray francolins. The project area is apparently acceptable to the birds. Mr. Johnson reported the birds were scattered over like the spokes of a windmill wheel after two or three days of liberty. This scattering and occupying of the range is desirable, especially at this time of the year.

Periodic checks of the progress of this release of gray francolins will be made by wildlife biologists and game wardens. It is hoped that another game bird will be added to the list in Texas.

Screwworm Cases Down From Last Year

There was good news this week from the officials of the screwworm eradication program and also a word of warning. They reported that the number of screwworm cases in Texas in April totaled 357 compared with 2,633 during April 1962, a very sizable drop. Also, that only 574 cases were reported during the first four months of 1963 as compared with 3,085 cases for the same period last year.

Authorities credited the combined factors of a severe insect-killing winter, heavy release of sterile flies and good cooperation from farmers and ranchers who are detecting and treating infestations for the decrease in screwworm incidence.

They warned, however, that livestockmen cannot afford to relax their vigilance because eradication has not yet been achieved. The native fly population must be kept down by preventing the development of screwworm flies, they said.

Livestockmen are urged to inspect their animals at least twice a week, treat wounds and infestations, collect samples from infested wounds and report cases to eradication headquarters at Mission or to the county agent or vocational agriculture teacher. Periodic spraying of livestock with Corlan or Korlan is also recommended.

Producers have been noting fast action when a sample is confirmed as screwworms. In most instances, sterile flies have been dropped in the area where the infestation was found the following day after the sample was identified in Mission. Livestock in and near the infested area are sprayed at program expense by inspectors.

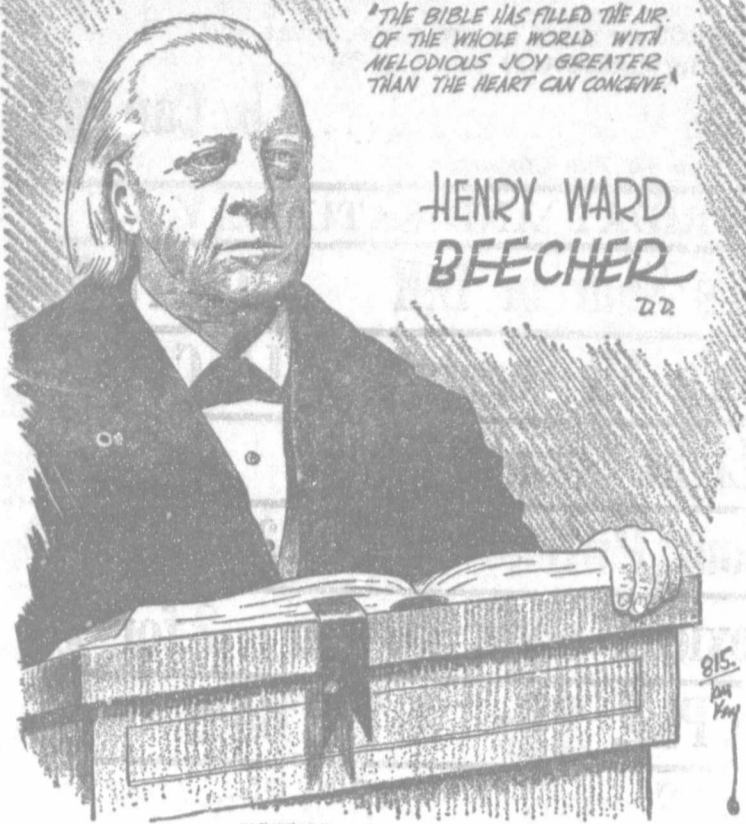

Eradication workers hope to continue to treat each case promptly and thoroughly and feel this can be done as long as producers do their part in preventing any large increase in cases.

Rabbit-Pointing Bird Dogs

Bird dogs frequently develop the annoying habit of pointing rabbits.

Don't try to break this habit harshly, or you may confuse the pup. Rather, just keep walking and ignore him, and he will soon catch on. Usually you can tell a rabbit point since the stance is much less tense than when the dog is pointing birds.

Abilene Cotton Office Marks 50th Year Of USDA Marketing Services

May marks 50 years of organized marketing services to farmers, industry and consumers by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This anniversary is of special interest to cotton farmers because they represent one of the largest groups to use these marketing services, points out B. B. Manly Jr., Chairman of the local Cotton Office.

Cotton farmers sell nearly all of their cotton on the basis of the USDA classification - the green card - and they use USDA cotton market news to guide them in getting the best price for their cotton. Both of these cotton marketing services were started soon after the first organized marketing office was established in USDA in 1913.

"One of the most important developments during this first 50 years came in 1937 when the Smith-Doxey Act authorized USDA to class cotton without cost for groups of farmers organized to promote cotton improvement," Mr. Manly said.

"Another important development - the Micronaire Testing Service - will be offered this year to all farmers in Smith-Doxey groups," he announced. A fee of 8 cents a sample will be charged for "mike" service.

In addition to grade and staple, the "mike" test gives the farmer another measure of the quality of each bale of his cotton. This can be used to advantage in selling cotton for the best going price, according to Mr. Manly.

Applications for USDA "mike" testing services are due by July 1. Farmers wanting this service should ask their ginners to apply for it, since all or none of the cotton from a gin will be miked.

self if it thinks it can, on its own, whip the unemployment problem permanently — and keep this a free country. If we were willing to have the Russian type of closed society, with bayonets in our backs, it could. Anytime we wish to set up the government as complete manager of the economy, we can provide Berlin-walls, stockades, and Siberian work camps and get 100 percent employment. But, under freedom, there are things the government can do — to help or to hinder.

We doubt whether increasing federal spending levels by 22 percent, as the New Frontier has proposed, will only bring victory over government. Big peacetime deficits will only aggravate the problem. Even with taxes cut and money plentiful, unemployment is not likely to vanish. The stark truth is that wage costs have tended to price themselves out of the market. The government has not encouraged policies that would bring stable wages. Costly strikes are even subsidized with relief payments. It turns out that everybody (in addition to the worker) is victimized by strike coercion.

Inadequate Profits
If wages are kept stable, industry is able to focus upon achieving greater efficiency and output. This can lead to an adequate level of profits, if we would let it. In the wake of profits will come incentives which lead us to expend, invest, and hire more workers. Instead of this, industry has experienced rising employment costs that have put the squeeze on profits and kept down growth. Overall corporate profits in 1947 were 9.2 percent of the national income, but they were down last year to 5.7 percent. Gains in productivity have been gobbled up by rising costs, mostly wages. These gains have not been shared sufficiently with the owners of the tools. Government has taken its share and labor has received its generous portions from year to year. It is reported that rising wages in West Europe are tightening business into a profit squeeze and tending to slow down the boom that they have been enjoying.

Economists Comment
It is this pricing out of the market that has lately received new attention from informed economists. Per Jacobsson, director of the International Monetary Fund, undertook to chide followers Lord Keynes (many of whom ride the New Frontier) by pointing to their hero's advocacy of the less politically palatable policy of "stable money wages." Other economists are saying the government and labor unions create unemployment by running up excessive employment costs. One prominent economist insists that unemployment will persist under such influences, regardless of the amount of spending and investing.

Although the latest reports show unemployment down slightly from 6.1 percent to 5.6 percent, present conditions point to continued widespread unemployment. In the Pittsburgh steel area, almost 100,000 persons have been living on relief while waiting to be called back to work. Riots and demonstrations in Britain and France, where unemployment is said to be less critical than in America, have forced their governments to search for wage policies that will avoid inflation while making jobs available.

Right Policies Needed
Instead of establishing realistic wage policies, our leadership reacts to chronic unemployment by calling upon Congress to resurrect the old alphabet agencies of the Thirties. We ought to cast off the old government-relief theories that produced only futile results, but they crop up continually in spending requests and "stand-by" bills from the Kennedy planners. These methods are hardly the proper remedy for the sort of job deflation we are having, on the heels of inflated wages and profit squeezes on business.

We are not getting what is most needed. The greatest need is for realistic policies that will allow private industry to create the jobs. We have largely taken away the prerogative of industry to manage (including hiring workers) and have made government the giant in charge of the whole assemblage. This a free economy cannot tolerate without suffocation. While the "free market" still prevails in theory, yet the fiscal socialism with unbridled labor power, and the repressions, frustration, and uncertainties foisted upon industry are gradually bringing disorder and ruin.

Read I John 3:1-11. There is...one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all. (Ephesians 4:4,6.)

When I was a small child, I liked to sit on my father's knee. A cousin about my age came to visit us, and my father took her up on one knee with me on the other. I felt that my special right had been invaded and lost no time in voicing my childish objection. Patiently, my father explained there was plenty of room for us both, and that I should be kind to our little visitor.

The Fatherhood of God is big enough for all mankind. It is a rich blessing open to all. None of us has exclusive right to it. Moreover, we cannot claim for ourselves the Fatherhood of God and deny the brotherhood of man.

Our Father's concern for each of us is not lessened by the fact that He is deeply concerned for

Interesting Future Predicted For Senior Class

By Larry Fowler

Well, first of all folks, I would like to say that this is all a lie. It will be purely coincidental if any of this actually occurs, but it could. Now, to get on with my story.

Last Wednesday night after I had been tucked in bed, I had the strangest dream, if you could call it that. I saw my former schoolmates wandering through life or rather stumbling. Some of this might be rather funny and if it appears so, by all means laugh.

The first person I dreamed about was none other than the luscious Peggy Hawkins. She was working as a knee-to-knee secretary in a Coleman Produce Company, and she and James were also raising a few chicks of their own.

Next came Danny Wylie, as a shook-up and broken-down electrician who was forever grabbing the wrong wire. But then, Danny always did get a great shock out of life.

Then, came Donna Walker, who was a renown tennis coach and the head bartender at the famed "Tom Collins Inn" at Rockwood.

I saw Terry Moore as a run-down artist in the Bronx, New York. Terry had a very curvaceous model he dubbed as K. M. on her saloon portraits.

Then, Carole Campbell came into the picture as a horse owner whose stable colors were always orange. She was also a proprietor of a Japanese bath on the side.

Sherman Stearns was a tenor singer in the Metropolitan Opera House by night and a chemical engineer for a famous chemical company by day.

Mary Broadway was a well known designer, who specialized in designing clothes for larger women, in the forty to fifty inch waist.

Randy Brown was a well known rancher who raised negro cattle or Angus, in other words. He also was well known in the community for his Stanley parties.

Ruth Ann Starnes was a partner in the up-and-coming candy business in Santa Anna. The names of their candy were "Sugar Dilly," "Sweet Dilly," "Ruthie Baby," and the most famous of all "The Dilly Doozy Bar!" The motto of this business was "Pick-a-Dilly." By the way, the President and other partner of this company was John Dilly-Dilly-Dillingham.

Arlene Welch, during her long years of training and of study to be a fluent-speaking French teacher, also became a well-known actress in the French Theatre.

Bob Boyet was a bartender in down-town Las Vegas at the Golden Nugget Saloon, who specialized in a famous drink, he himself invented, called half and half.

Virginia Pinson was a general in the Women's Army Corps with the appropriate nickname of "Vivacious Virginia." She had changed a lot since her high school days.

Donnie Henderson was a professional boxer, who was the only champ to ever win without hitting his opponent once. He just used hot air. That's the way to go "Clatch."

Linda Stanley was foreman of the R.L.B. Dude Ranch, which was famous for the previously stated Stanley parties. The motto of the Dude Ranch was L.S.-M.F.T., which means "Let's Stand My Fanny's Tired."

Delbert McQueen was the head grease-monkey at the C. R. Owens Service Station and garage. He specialized in taking cars apart and forgetting what nut went where and what bolt went where. That is what is wrong with Delbert's Corvair; he put the wrong nut behind the wheel.

Margaret Mobley was in her later life the actual personality that she portrayed in the Senior Play. Her personal nickname was Abbie Snoop instead of Abbie Snapp.

Mickey Dodson was a professional taster and spitter for the Beech-nut Co. and we don't mean the ones that make Baby food and chewing gum. At night he is an esteemed model for the "Chest-High Pants Co. Inc."

Ruby Buse was the wife of the Commanding General at Fort Nightshirt. This was a new Fort just built in Sleepy Hollow, Texas. This Fort was established because there were too many hoods.

Clayton Jackson was the advertising manager for Gillette Safety Razor Co. The former famous company went out of business because they were unable to shave Clayton. The Co. went to the dogs and Clayton went to Cuba.

Sue Buse was one of Ann Landers best customers because she had many problems and also many questions that she needed answered.

Pete Simmons was the inventor of an electric robot who was able to wash a car in thirty seconds. He invented this robot because he got tired of washing them himself.

Linda Evans was a performer in the "Big Snout and Elephant Ears Circus." In other words the Wardlow and Fowler circus. She was very famous for the dance that she did. It was called the "Fat Lady Twist."

Tinker Dockery, during his work as a mechanic, accidentally dropped a transmission on his head. Now Tinker is warden in the asylum at Austin, or he thinks he's warden.

Della Trinidad was clothes designer for Monkey Ward. She had a few monkey-shines of her own. She created clothes for the modern teenage girl—straight-jackets.

Barton Goodwin was an IBM operator who specialized in mixing the machine up by putting in the answers and trying to get the question. Barton ruined the machine, which was worth five hundred thousand dollars. He knew the only person that could help him was the former, multi-millionaire, who had gone bankrupt because of his fourteen wives. This was the playboy Larry Wardlow.

Struggling to get Barton out of jail and back on his feet was Jo Ann Wallace, who was his devoted wife. His twenty-two kids were helping too.

Lynn Rice was the star guitarist of the Dean Beard Band. One of his hit records was his version of "Vera Cunya Here I Come."

Margie Fleming and Clara Wright Gibson were two town gossips. I mean Fort gossips at Fort Longhandle. This Fort was located in Alaska and this is where it got its name because everybody wore long-handles.

Tommy Stewardson was a vet. in the Bow Wow and Meow Animal Hospital. On the side he was the part owner of the "Tom Collins" Inn at Rockwood.

Carolyn Carpenter was an actor for the T.V. Commercial Corporation. Her best known advertisement was the one of post-nasal drip for Dristan.

As I was beginning to dream about my favorite person, which is me, Larry Fowler; I was awakened by the jailer, and the minister, who were bringing my last meal and my first and last rites because I had always done wrong. The way I figure the situation at this moment; It doesn't look too good for me. Oh well! It's just another incident in my calm and dull life. Yuk! Yuk!

na. Terry's sister, Pat, was already seven years old and in the second grade in school.

Before and after Terry started to school and up until about the fifth grade, Terry was quite a cowboy around his home.

There were many exciting events in grade school and when he graduated from there, he became a loathy freshman in the Santa Anna High School. Almost everything bad that could happen to a freshman happened to him that year. During his sophomore year, he went to everything and participated in almost everything except girls. Even though he didn't have much to do with girls, he did his best to watch and look at them without them knowing it. You see he was very shy from the time he started to school until about his junior year, and that was only because he got tired of being that way.

Terry's junior year was one of confusion and chaos. He also had many happy moments. From working in the concession stands to going to everything and doing everything, he had a pretty good junior year.

Terry's a senior now and has played basketball, baseball, tennis and just about everything else except football. He has had his share of fun. He enjoyed enormously going to the football games with a group of his friends, especially when the games were far off. He also enjoyed enormously the basketball trips.

Even though he didn't have any acting part in the senior play, he helped in the scenery design and building.

Terry's plans for the future are, as now, undecided. He knows what he would like to do, but he doesn't know whether or not he could do it and besides, his plans would probably be changed.

CARELESS SMOKERS, APPLIANCE USERS, CAUSE A LOT OF FIRES

If there are smokers in your house, be sure all cigarettes are extinguished before you go to bed, says the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Keep plenty of ashtrays in every room. Be sure, too, that electrical appliances, such as irons, are turned off. Nearly one-fourth of all fires are caused by matches and smoking, and another 20.4 percent are the result of misuse of electrical equipment.

THE AMERICAN WAY

THE KEY TO SUCCESS

By Tom Anderson
Publisher, Farm and Ranch Magazine

Doctor Harry Emerson Fosdick tells of a Midwestern university which unveiled a memorial tablet to one of its alumni — an undistinguished man. As an undergraduate, he had taken part in many activities, but he was never president of anything. For four years he went out for football, but he had never played on the first team. His scholastic average was in the B's. During World War I, he served in a minor capacity in a medical unit and one day met his death trying to help a wounded man under fire. The French government posthumously honored him, and then his Alma Mater unveiled a tablet in his honor, which read: "He played four years on the scrubs — he never quit."

IMPORTANCE OF TRYING

You don't have to win to make a contribution. Most successful people have had and will have many failures. It's not how many times you fail that counts; it's how many times you succeed. It's not how many times you're knocked down, but how many times you get up. The only disgrace is not to fail, but not to try.

If the world is better because of you, you are a success; if it's worse because of you, you are a failure.

Every normal person wants to be popular. Ranking next to the desire to live and the sex urge, is the desire to be appreciated. But appreciated for what? For lacking the morality to buck the crowd when the crowd is headed toward the precipice? For lacking the courage to stand for what is right, against the mob? Pontius Pilate, to be popular, let the mob kill their best friend. Columbus defied his crew and refused to turn back, but he discovered a new world.

CONVICTIONS

Robert E. Lee refused command of the Union Army to do his duty as he saw it to Virginia and his people, although he knew from the beginning it was a lost cause. Moses took the hard road and died in the wilderness, but God gave him a mountaintop to die on. He will remain there forever.

Henry Clay said he'd rather be right than President. What can be wrong with being right? Those of us who're called "Rightists" can be proud we're not "Wrongists" as are the collectivists.

Truth outranks togetherness. The majority is not always right. One with God is a majority.

Recognize and respect the rights of others. Only free and sovereign individuals can maintain self respect. If you do not have self-respect, then you must have self contempt. Most of us have more trouble with ourselves than with any other person we ever meet.

Senior Class Has Long History

By Donna Walker

Once upon a time one bright September morning, 43 scared youngsters entered into Mrs. Turner's and Mrs. Thompson's room. Some of us had been looking forward to this event, but most of us weren't so sure that we wanted to start school. Finally we were persuaded and the first day of school ran smoothly although it was a great change to be jerked up out of our sandpiles, scrubbed till our faces shone and then dressed in frilly pink dresses or jeans and T-shirts. When we settled down to business for once in our lives, we had to pay attention to what was being said.

Those of the 43 bewildered children who remained together through the years are: John Dillingham, Larry Fowler, Sherman Stearns, Tommy Stewardson, Larry Wardlow, Mickey Dodson, Clayton Jackson, Terry Moore, Lynn Rice, Ruby Buse, Clara Wright, Linda Evans, Margaret Mobley, and Glenda Vineyard. Others who started with us are: Ronald Chesser, S. D. Fellers, Jimmy Johnson, Emmitt Simmons, Sammy Rameriz, James Medlin, Travis White, Richard Hoyt, Billy McCreary, Ray Rameriz, James Leonard, William Sharp, Carolyn Fletcher, Wanda Pierce, Rebecca Mullins, Orabeth Henderson, Mary Frances Evans, Carol Browning, and Mary Eubank.

In the Second Grade when we returned and only half of us cried, we found that Ronald Chesser, Jimmy Johnson, Sammy Rameriz, Ray Rameriz, Travis White, James Leonard, William Sharp, Mary Frances Evans, Carol Browning and Mary Eubank were missing from our crowd. That year with the help of our teacher, Mrs. Harris, we picked up our belongings and moved to the new school building. During that year we were joined by Don Gilbert, Frank Caldwell, Richard Hodges, Everett Hayes, Margie Fleming, and Nelda Wallace. We lost Don Gilbert, Richard Hodges, Everett Hayes, Linda Henderson, Sue Pritchard, and Gail Stovall.

In the Third Grade, Mrs. Lancaster taught us the first semester, then resigned her position and Miss Lea Mitchell took her place. That year we gained the Crossroads and Buffalo School students plus others as well. Those wonderful smiling faces that we gained were: Donna Walker, Billie Clevenger, Baudelia Trinidad, Randy Brown, Billy Henderson, Donnie Henderson, Pete Simmons, Danny Wylie, Joe Trineda, Mike Trinidad, Stephen Fisher and William Polk. We lost: Joe Trineda, Mike Trinidad, Billie Clevenger, Rita Horner, Rebecca Mullins, Nelda Wallace, and William Polk.

In the Fourth Grade we added nine wonderful imps to our roll. These were: Sue Pritchard, Lynn Dockery, Jerry Wells, Otis Preston Wilburn, Paul Vasquez, Richard Yancy, Gale Stovall, Linda Williams, and Glenda Barrington. We looked about sad, crest-fallen faces as we missed S. D. Fellers, Frank Caldwell, Otis Preston Wilburn, Richard Yancy, Wanda Pierce, and Gale Stovall. Mrs. Parker and Miss Odum dismissed the class gladly in May.

The next Fall, the class was again divided between Mrs. Harris and Miss Odum. In the Fifth Grade we were happy to see Arthur Boivin, Richard Hodges, Ernest Conaster, Kay Beasley, Charles Frierson, James Leonard, Calvin Shields, Rena Stovall, Barton Goodwin, William Sharp, Beverly Pierce, Virginia Pinson, Karol Pittard, and Mickey Steward join us. Our happiness didn't last long, however, for we lost Stephen Fisher, Charles Frierson, James Leonard, Calvin Shields, Billy McCreary, Linda Williams, Jerry Wells, Arthus Boivin, Ernest Conaster, and Beverly Pierce.

In the Sixth Grade we gained Mary Broadway, Carolyn Fletcher, Carolyn Makuta, and Dennis Lation. We lost Kay Beasley, Rena Stovall, Carolyn Fletcher, Elaine McClure, Beverly Pierce, Emmitt Simmons, Richard Hodges, and Dennis Lation.

In the Seventh Grade we entered into many activities. We added to our roll, Travis Allen, Ernest Conaster, Wallace Cornett, Lynn Luster, Sharon Brown, Sarah Goodenough, Stanley Williams, and Bobby Chunn, and Sue Pritchard.

In the Eighth Grade we entered even more actively into Sports. Our boys won the Conference Championship in Football for the second year straight. We were active in other school activities. This year we gained Bobby Squyres, Bobby Boyet, James Ellis, Robert Bullock, and Jerrell Elliott.

We had passed one milestone in our education, and soon we will go on to higher goals.

We entered our freshman year like all other freshmen. We did all the dirty work for the seniors, besides learning the do's and don't's of high school, and doing our studies. It was all new to us, so we had to take it as it came. Tommy Stewardson, Pete Simmons, Tinker Dockery, John Dillingham, and Randy Brown were the five freshmen boys to letter in football. Linda Evans and Jerrell Elliott were Student Council representatives. The class officers were: John Dillingham, Tommy Stewardson, Arlene Welch, Pete Simmons, Clayton Jackson, Sherman Stearns, and Larry Wardlow. Arlene Welch was elected cheerleader. Donna Walker and John Dillingham were Hall of Fame representatives. We had many of the freshmen students taking part in the different school clubs, sports, band, F.H.A., F.F.A., and the many other school activities during the school year. Tommy Stewardson and Donna Walker were Mr. and Miss Freshman Class. We lost Jerrell Elliott and Robert Bullock.

We then entered our sophomore year in Santa Anna High. We were joined by: Ruth Ann Starnes, Betty Teimann, Delbert McQueen, John Roberts, and Richard Hoyt. With the many activities ahead of us, we were set for another hard year. Our officers were: Pete Simmons, Tommy Stewardson, John Dillingham, Arlene Welch, Jo Ann Wallace, and Donna Walker. Linda Evans and Pete Simmons were Sophomore Favorites. Carole Campbell, Linda Evans, Ruth Ann Starnes, Arlene Welch, Terry Moore, Tommy Stewardson, Tinker Dockery, John Dillingham were waiters and waitresses at the Junior-Senior Banquet. Linda Evans and Larry Wardlow were representatives on the Student Council. Pete Simmons and Donna Walker were Halloween representatives. We were busy with the many activities in band, F.H.A., F.F.A., club work and sports. Peggy Hawkins was a twirler in the band, and Donna Walker was a cheerleader. We were proud of the many lettermen in football, basketball, track and tennis. We lost Sandra Desha, Betty Teimann, Stanley Williams, Gary James, Howard James, Jimmy Hendrix, John Dockery, John Roberts, and Richard Hoyt.

We then entered our junior year. This was a year to which many of us had been looking forward. It was the busiest year, but it was the one in which we would work the hardest and always remember. With the same class we were joined by: Lonnie Clark, Tony Tucker, Stanley Williams, and Linda Stanley. Our class officers were: Pete Simmons, Arlene Welch, Sherman Stearns, John Dillingham, Clayton Jackson, and Donna Walker. Ruth Ann Starnes and John Dillingham were King and Queen of the Halloween Coronation. Donna Walker and Tinker Dockery were Mr. and Miss Junior Class. Terry Moore was runner-up for Most Handsome. Sherman Stearns, Pete Simmons, Larry Fowler, Arlene Welch, Terry Moore, and Tommy Stewardson were on the Mountaineer Staff. Larry Wardlow and Linda Evans were officers of the Student Council; Ruth Ann Starnes and Tommy Stewardson were representatives on the Student Council. We had junior boys and girls holding offices in F.H.A. and F.F.A. Many of the kids were active in band. Glenda Vineyard and Peggy Hawkins were twirlers, and Peggy was the Feature Twirler. Carolyn Carpenter, Margaret Mobley and Margie Fleming were officers of the Librarian's Club, while many of the girls were members. Donna Walker was a cheerleader. We had junior boys who were part of the track team that won the District Meet. We had many junior boys and girls to letter in football, basketball, track, and tennis. We were proud of the tennis girls' doubles who won the district meet and the boys and girls who attended the regional meet in track and tennis. This year really kept the class busy with the many activities. We lost Carolyn Makuta, Lonnie Clark, Tony Tucker, Stanley Williams, and Wallace Cornett. Everyone was glad when May rolled around. It meant we could have a rest, and prepare for the final year in Santa Anna High. Everyone worked hard during football and basketball season in the concession stand, at the Halloween Coronation, and on other fund raising projects to make enough money for the Junior-Senior Banquet and the senior trip in '63. It had been rough, but it had been a very interesting and exciting year. We had to begin to make our big and final plans for our senior year.

It was here! Our senior year and our second milestone in our education was near the top of the ladder. We entered the senior class with 35. They were: Bob Boyet, Randy Brown, John Dillingham, Tinker Dockery, Mickey Dodson, Larry Fowler, Barton Goodwin, Donnie Henderson, Clayton Jackson, Terry Moore, Lynn Rice, Pete Simmons, Bobby Squyres, Sherman Stearns, Tommy Stewardson, Larry Wardlow, Danny Wylie, Mary Broadway, Ruby Buse, Carole Campbell, Carolyn Carpenter, Linda Evans, Margie Fleming, Peggy Hawkins, Margaret Mobley, Virginia Pinson, Karol Pittard, Linda Stanley, Ruth Ann Starnes, Della Trinidad, Glenda Vineyard, Donna Walk-

PLAN AHEAD FOR SAFETY

Excessive Speed Is Major Cause Of Most Accidents

Austin — "Texas drivers have nothing to brag about," J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, declared today.

"They run off roadways, collide head-on with each other and just 'plain' drive into fixed objects," he said.

Texas drivers also violate our state's traffic laws.

"They drive too fast for existing conditions, drive while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and drive on the wrong side of the road," he added.

The safety director based his statements about Texas drivers on accident reports in traffic statistics for 1962.

"Accident reports for last year show that more than one-fourth of the fatal traffic accidents on our state's highways involved a driver running his vehicle off the roadway," Musick explained.

"About 20 percent of the fatal accidents involved head-on collisions and about 15 percent involved a collision with a fixed object."

Musick said the major law violation in all accidents, fatal and non-fatal, last year was excessive speed.

"Over 50 percent of the fatal accidents on highways involved speed too fast for existing conditions. Twenty-seven percent of the non-fatal accidents involved speed too fast for existing conditions," he reported.

Drinking drivers also are involved in a large percentage of highway accidents. In thirty-seven percent of the fatal accidents, drivers were under the influence of intoxicating beverages. Twenty percent of the non-fatal accidents involved drinking drivers. In seventeen percent of the fatal accidents, drivers were on the wrong side of the road.

Musick warned that if Texas drivers are ever going to have anything to brag about, they had better start improving now.

"During the first three and one-half months of this year, traffic fatalities increased 17 percent over the same period last year. Traffic accidents increased 12 percent," he said.

Santa Anna Co-op Gin

"Hessie of the Hills" Presented By Senior Class

The Senior Class of Santa Anna High School gave its play on Friday, April 26.

The players: Parson Bumble, John Dillingham; Pa Crackett, Melton (Pete) Simmons; Ma Crackett, Arlene Welch; Hessie, Carole Campbell; Arkansas, Linda Evans; Berthy, Mary Broadway; Aunt Suzy, Ruth Ann Starnes; Abbie Snapp, Margaret Mobley; Grandpappy, Bobby Squyres; Elmer Apple-rust, Larry Wardlow; and Daniel P. Duckworth, Tommy Stewardson.

THE STORY

Pa Crackett, a lazy and scheming mountaineer, was hoping that his daughter, Hessie, would marry Elmer, a mountain boy, who was in love with her. He felt that Elmer would make a good helper to bring in the hay. Hessie had just about decided to marry him, when Daniel, a young agricultural experimentalist, dropped in and boarded with the Cracketts. Hessie was over-come by Daniel's intelligence and decided to run away and go to a city school. She left a note asking the family not to try to find her, that she would return some day and make them all glad.

After a year had passed, Arkansas had finally persuaded Elmer that her sister never did love him, or she wouldn't have run away — that she (Arkansas) was the one meant for him. The two were being married by hilarious Parson Bumble when Hessie returned home dressed stylishly, making fancy talk, and Daniel was with her. The family had assumed all the time that the fancy stranger had taken Hessie with him when he left, and their return almost broke up the wedding when they all got their shootin' irons out. However, Daniel and Hessie managed to convince the family that they had not even seen each other in the city, until Hessie had happened to meet Daniel who was coming back to make more soil tests, and she decided to come back with him. While Parson hurried the "ciry-mony" so as to collect his pay, Daniel proposed to Hessie, promising to build a home in the hills, where he can teach the people about new soil and crop developments, and where "Hessie of the Hills" can be near the ones she loves. Arkansas gets her man, Hessie finds love, and Aunt Suzy dances right into the Parson's empty arms.

The people really liked our play and we had a lot of fun putting it on. Our characters did real well and we were proud of them. We even "invented" lines, that is, Margaret Mobley, Pete Simmons and Larry Wardlow did. Our hound was borrowed from Virginia Pinson. It seems that our dog did not like to show himself, even if he was handsome. Personally, we think our play was the funniest, best and most lovable play we have ever heard or seen.

have provided them with a blood meal.

Many cases of relapsing fever undoubtedly occur in Texas without ever coming to official attention. Ticks pick up the germ while feeding on infected wild rodents, become infected themselves and then pass it on to humans during the feeding process.

Soft-shelled ticks are close relatives of the hard-shelled ticks which spread spotted fever, typhus, and a type of encephalitis and other miseries.

Public health workers handle ticks with great caution to avoid being bitten and exposed to the fever they might be carrying. Specimens are kept in a specially constructed tick-torium where, if one escapes, it will fall into an oil bath and be killed.

State Health Department laboratory technicians over the years have added many refinements to diagnostic techniques relating to relapsing fever. The strange disease occurs all over the world, despite the fact that it is sometimes called a tropical disease.

The onset of relapsing fever is characterized by chills and fever lasting from 24 to 36 hours. Recurring attacks of fever might persist for weeks, each one leaving the victim weak and wrung out.

Once successfully diagnosed, relapsing fever readily responds to modern treatment by a private physician. The disease is rarely fatal.

Soft-shelled ticks usually inhabit caves and old buildings, while their hard-shelled counterparts sticks to woods and fields. Both types are actually occupational hazards for ranchers and foresters and people in similar lines of work.

Soft-shelled ticks can survive a year or more without food, so long vacancy of a vacation cottage does not mean there are no ticks in residence.

So go ahead — have fun outdoors this spring. But be sure to use plenty of insect repellent on exposed skin and on clothing if you are in infested areas.

Baled Hay For Duck Blinds
Good material for making duck blinds isn't always available on the spot.

You can build a good blind that will last all season if you use baled Johnson grass as blind material. This grass is tough and will not blow away or disintegrate.

Just peel off slabs from the bale and wire to the frame in the usual way.

Austin — A pesky little bit of life, capable of going for months without food, is a sour note in the otherwise symphony of a Texas spring.

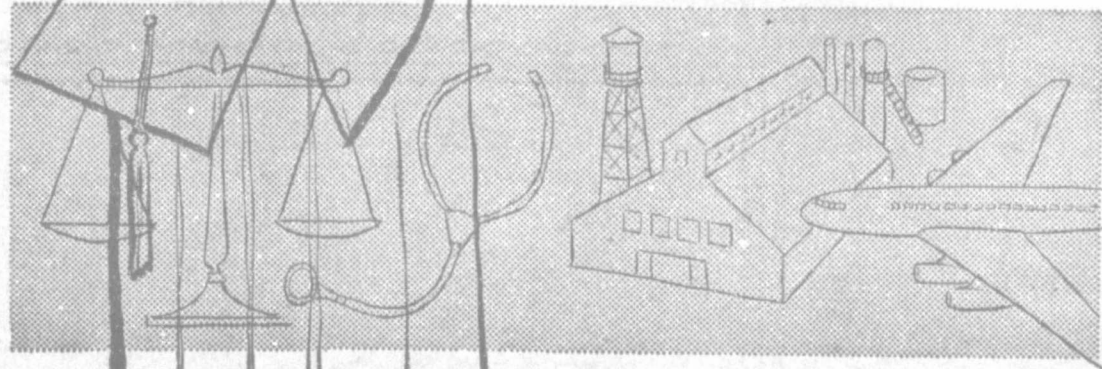

It's a soft-shelled tick, known scientifically as Ornithodoros turicata, transmitter of relapsing fever. This time of year they'll be out in force over most of Texas — at the very season when the natural human inclination is toward picnics and exploratory sojourns into the Great Outdoors.

State Health Department entomologists say the pernicious, fever-laden parasites can bite, feed, release their hold and drop to the ground without their human victims ever knowing they

The discarded nail was hidden in tall grass. The mower blade hit it and suddenly it was buried an inch deep alongside the shinbone of the 23-year-old Williamson County secretary.

Accidents of this type will be on the increase now — this is lawn-mowing time, you know — until fall weather brings a welcome respite from the weekly chore.

The State Department of Health does not keep statistics on non-fatal accidents, so the extent of injuries from carelessly handled power mowers is unknown. But one Central Texas city reports, conservatively, that 15 to 25 serious accidents are reported each year.

Like the man who stopped his car at the curb, intending to say hello to his perspiring neighbor busily mowing the grass. Neighbor wheels up with mower to return the greeting. Man in car, elbow resting on window, finds his forearm pinned to sleep with a five-inch piece of wire flung at him by the whirling blade.

Power equipment is a tremendous boon to the man who likes to keep his yard neat with a minimum of effort. But it takes constant concentration to do the job safely. Even experience is no substitute for concentration.

A garden club member in a major Texas city used to pride himself on his safe and sane use of power tools that helped him maintain the sharpest yard in the block.

But no more. One afternoon recently, while trimming his driveway with a power trimmer, he reached down to lift a bloom-laden branch of a rose bush out of the way.

When he withdrew his hand two fingers were missing. "I wasn't alert," he wryly explained.

One of the most frequent mower accidents has this sequence:

A stick or wire or rock jams between cutting bar and blade. The operator attempts to clear the jam without going to the trouble of killing the motor. Results: Badly cut or severed fingers when the surge of power spins the freed blade.

Most power mowers come equipped with safety guards. Trouble is that guards are removed by owners for one reason or another and never replaced.

But use one carelessly and you're liable to become a candidate for a quick trip to the emergency ward of a hospital.

Alaska's easternmost point is 600 miles west of San Francisco.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

Artificial Respiration

There are many physical conditions that can cause breathing to come to an abrupt halt, but the most common of these is drowning. The real tragedy of the many deaths from drowning each summer is that many could have been saved if someone nearby had known how to apply artificial respiration.

The cardinal rules of artificial respiration are simple—

* Start immediately. Don't wait for anything. Send someone for help, but don't wait for the ambulance. It will probably be too late.

* Keep it up. There are cases on record of breathing starting again after a lapse of many minutes, when the rescuer kept steadily at work forcing air in and out of the lungs.

Special courses in lifesaving, including artificial respiration, are offered by the American Red Cross and other groups each spring. The trained rescuer is better equipped to save a life. But an untrained amateur may save a life.

Most first aid experts today favor the mouth-to-mouth method of artificial respiration.

First clear the air passages by drawing the tongue forward with your fingers. Place the victim half way between a face-up and side position, tilt the head well back to insure a clear air passageway. Take a deep breath, place your mouth over the victim's mouth, and breathe into his lungs until you see his chest rise and feel the lungs expand. In mouth-to-mouth breathing, pinch the victim's nostrils shut while breathing into his lungs. Remove your mouth and let the victim exhale, apply slight hand pressure between the ribs and navel to expel all air. Repeat the cycle 15 times a minute. You may cover the victim's mouth with a single layer of a clear handkerchief.

Remember: Start immediately. Check the mouth for obstructions. Loosen clothing and keep the victim warm, but don't delay artificial respiration to do this. After the victim revives, be ready to resume respiration if breathing halts again. Don't give up unless you're positive the victim is dead.

If you're called on to help in a rescue, keep calm and move rapidly, to try to get the victim breathing again as soon as possible.

Select Small Motors With Care

College Station — It's easy to make mistakes in selecting small electric motors, since many types and sizes are available, says Henry O'Neal, extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M College.

If properly selected for the job to be done, an electric motor will give years of trouble-free service, he says. Errors in selecting motors for specific jobs can result in large repair bills.

In selecting a motor one should know the horsepower requirements and electric service available (whether it is single-phase or three-phase) and operating voltage, (whether it is 110 or 220 volts).

A 1/2 horsepower or larger motor should be connected to a 220 volt circuit, says O'Neal. Sizes smaller than 1/2 horsepower can be operated on 110 volts. Some motors are called "dual voltage" motors. This means they can be connected to either 110 or 220 volts by changing some wiring.

The machine to be driven should be considered next because different types of equipment require different amounts of power for starting. A small fan, an emery wheel, or a bench saw is easy to start, while an air compressor or a deep well piston pump requires more power. Such equipment uses two to four times as much power for starting as is needed for running the load.

To meet these varying conditions, manufacturers make different types of motors, O'Neal explains. They are designed for easy starting loads, medium starting loads, and hard starting loads. Motors for easy starting loads cost less than others, he says, and if you select a motor by price alone, you may not get the one needed for a particular job.

Spring Is Cleanup Time

College Station — "And spring cannot be far behind." Mother Nature has started her green-up and a rough winter will soon be history. Why not, asks the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, set aside whatever time is needed for the spring cleanup job?

Farm people everywhere can make their farms and homes safer and more pleasant by cleaning up and disposing of the winter's collection of trash and debris, points out the Council, and the time to do it is before the spring rush of farm work begins.

Spring Cleanup Week is a nationally promoted safety effort. Its purpose, according to the Council, is to encourage community action for the removal of hazards which endanger life, property and health. Farm families lose about 800 lives and $163 million worth of property annually through fires. About 11,300 farm residents are killed in accidents and another 950,000 injured. A general cleanup of homes and farms will remove many fire and accident hazards, emphasizes the safety group.

More than 22 percent of all farm accidents occur in the home; 19.5 percent in barns and other buildings; 19.2 percent in traffic and 18 percent in fields, and even though the farm population is declining, the rate of fatal accidents per 100,000 persons is increasing, points out the Council. They are strong in their belief that accidents can be prevented and that good housekeeping around the farmstead and in the home and the practicing of good safety habits at work and in traffic can reduce the number of deaths and crippling injuries.

An Open Letter From Joe

(Editor's note: This article is taken from the Printing Industry of Pittsburgh. It pretty well defines a situation we are faced with today.)

My name is Joe. I'm an all-around handyman, and I'd like for you to feel free to use my services for any and all chores, errands, duties, which you may be too busy to perform. Anytime there's something that needs doing and you'd rather not, just let old Joe do it. I'll write to your congressman for you; I'll write your newspaper editor; I'll serve on the school board in your place; I'll do anything you're too tired or too pre-occupied to do. With me around, you can be as lazy as you like. Or you can just have fun. The more the merrier, I always say. My services are available to consuming things which you'd rather duck doing.

You haven't time to vote, let Joe do it. You haven't time for jury duty, I have.

There is certainly no need for you to concern yourself with attending meetings. You don't want to accept committee assignments and extra responsibilities, anyway. You let old Joe tend to those things.

Now, you ask, why should you leave important jobs to someone you've never met?

Well, that's a reasonable question, so let me put your mind at ease.

I'm no beginner.

Maybe I'm not famous as Khrushchev, but if it hadn't been for me — you'd never heard of him.

And that goes for Mussolini

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

Tuberculosis

Tuberculosis has in recent years been cut down to a small fraction of its once widespread proportions through the use of modern drugs and treatment. The death rate is at an all time low. But, still, tuberculosis remains one of America's greatest killers among contagious diseases.

The real tragedy of tuberculosis is that it is now possible to stamp it out completely. This could happen if every family assumed the responsibility of regular physical examinations and sought prompt treatment when symptoms are found.

There is a simple skin test for tuberculosis. Many states now routinely use this test on school children, but others do not. The test is simple, quick and almost painless. It is inexpensive and highly reliable. A positive test does not necessarily mean active TB because those who have inactive or healed TB usually react positively. But a positive test is a quick signal of the need for further examination. A negative test is a very good indication that all is well.

Simple skin tests at regular intervals and early treatment can prevent many deaths and also can stop the spread of the disease to others.

In many communities the mobile chest X-ray units of the tuberculosis societies make regular visits to each neighborhood. A quick visit to the X-ray unit, or an X-ray arranged through your physician, also is a good means of checking for tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is particularly dangerous to babies and young children. Often they are infected by a parent or grandparent, who has the disease and doesn't know it. In fact, it is quite common to have tuberculosis and not know it until too late for treatment to be fully effective.

Treatment today is not the long, expensive and confining process that it once was. The new drugs are relatively inexpensive, easy to take, and work quickly. Facilities still are available for those with advanced TB who require more extensive therapy. Light cases often can be treated at home without going to a hospital at all.

Avoid needless tuberculosis by making certain that you and your family have regular examinations.

Tires Big Part Of Farm Tractor Upkeep

College Station — The repairs and replacement of tires accounts for about 30 percent of the repair costs on farm tractors, according to Henry O'Neal, extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M College.

A few simple practices will reduce these repair costs and extend the life of tractor tires, O'Neal says.

Keeping tires properly inflated is the most important part of tire care. They should be checked every two weeks, according to the engineer. Under-inflated tires may not appear low but the sidewalls will buckle when the tractor pulls a load and will eventually break. Continued operation at low pressure will reduce tire life by one-fourth, says O'Neal.

Tire slippage causes excess wear and wastes fuel and time. Weights can be used on the wheels or they can be filled with calcium chloride treated water to give additional traction and prevent this slippage, he says.

Careful driving and stopping will prevent much injury and wear on tires. The careful tractor driver stops smoothly, drives slowly and is careful to avoid stumps and stones that might cause punctures and bruises.

Sunshine and grease are very harmful to rubber, according to O'Neal. Never allow tires to stand on an oily floor or to sit in the sunshine while not in use. He also recommends that implements not in use be jacked up so that the tires are not supporting their weight.

O'Neal advises the prompt repair of cuts and bruises to prevent costly tire replacement.

Cleaning up nails and glass can also reduce tire repairs around the farm, he says.

We can order a rubber stamp for you at the News Office.

Untangling "Birdnests"

Monofilament that stubbornly resists finger picking when you get a "birdsnest" in the line usually yields to a toothpick.

Use the round kind with tapered ends.

Carry a few of these toothpicks with you when you go spin fishing.

Seldom do you get such a bad line tangle that you can't free it with this useful little stick of wood.

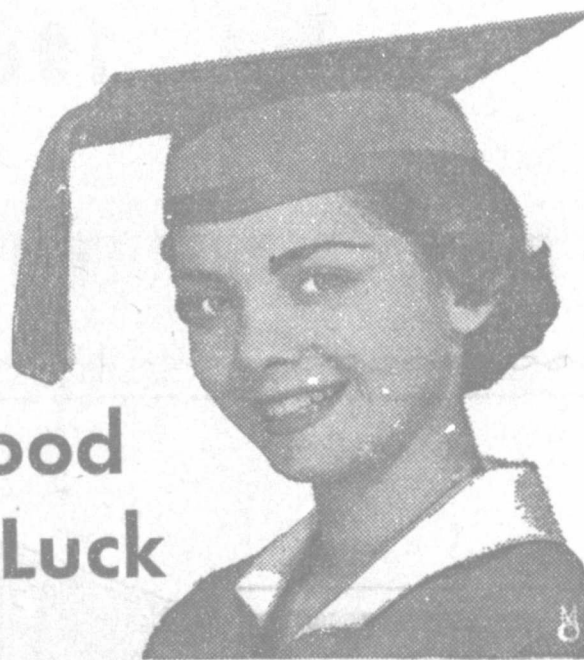

Use Reel As Rod-Winder

Rods need attention once in a while. Especially the windings.

You probably won't do too much rod-winding, but when you do, be it either as an emergency job, or just in the general order of repairs, your spinning reel will make a mighty good rod-winder.

Add to the line on your spinning reel enough thread to do the job at hand. Clamp reel to your bench and slip the thread behind the bail. Set the anti-reverse. Then set the tension to whatever you like.

Watch For Grit On Guides
Most fishermen are particular about cleaning their lines to see that they are kept free of grit.

However, a surprising number of these same anglers overlook the dressing and dirt which accumulates at the foot of the guides on their fly rods.

This is abrasive and should be removed regularly by using a small brush.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

Seat Belts

Seat belts in your automobile can save lives and prevent or lessen injuries.

This is a well-established fact, and many autos today are equipped with seat belts. But many more are not. An immense amount of scientific research, including actual collisions under controlled conditions, proves that the seat belt is the single most effective item of protective equipment now available to reduce the toll of traffic injuries and deaths.

Thousands of lives are lost each year because people are thrown against windshields or out of car doors in crashes. The seat belt will help keep you in your seat and in your car. Most accidents occur close to home and at moderate speeds. Thus seat belts are important even for short trips to school or the neighborhood grocery. Your seat belt can protect you in town as well as on the highway. If you're worried about being held down by a seat belt in the event of fire, or if your auto should plunge into water, you should know that the belt buckle can be unfastened in an instant with one hand, so you can get clear of a burning or submerged car.

Many motorists who have installed seat belts in the past year or two have them only in the front seat. People in the back seat also are entitled to protection. The seat belts should be in both front and rear.

Others who have installed seat belts have become careless in their use. The belt won't protect you if it isn't buckled in place.

The driver has some protection in minor crashes by being able to hang onto the steering wheel. Seat belts for the driver, however, give added safety in that he will be better able to keep control of the car if held in a driving position by a belt.

Safe-driving habits by all can reduce accidents. Seat belts help provide greater safety for driver and passengers.
