THE AMERICAN WAY

A Card-Carrying American

By Raymond C. Baker
American Way
Features Correspondent

A tragic phenomenon of our times is that it takes great courage to be a true American today — and this in a land inspired by God, conceived in liberty and dedicated to justice. Literally millions of words have been pouring out of Washington recently about the "hate" groups which infest America. In addition to the liberals, leftists, conservatives and rightists, the double domes have created another whipping boy label which anyone, no matter his leanings, can pummel at will. They call it the "rag area group," but fail to define it.

Quiet Americans

The proper definition for people in this group might well be heretofore quiet Americans who believe as Grover Cleveland did that "though the people support the government, the government should not support the people." If this is an accurate description of the grey area, then it is an equally accurate description of the true Americans — men and women who prefer to lead their own lives, minding their own business, but who now find it necessary to speak out against big government, against doles and handouts, against communism, against even "a little bit of socialism."

One such American — a man who has the courage to speak out — is Frank Ketcham of Santa Barbara, Calif., who believes, with his dedicated wife Eleanor, that "freedom is everybody's business." Moreover since the Ketchams retired to their West Coast ranch home from Chicago some 14 years ago, they have been doing something about it.

Frank Ketcham was reared in one of Chicago's poorer areas. But he soon discovered that this is truly a land of opportunity for those who seek it out. He did and he prospered.

He and Eleanor had not been in retirement long when they realized that the opportunity he had grasped was fast disappearing from American life. Now away from the day-to-day press of business affairs, the growing trend toward big government in America was much more easily recognizable. They had found a new avocation — educating Americans to the real meaning of Americanism before it was too late.

Freedom Work

Shunning personal glorification like a plague, Mr. and Mrs. Ketcham founded AMERICANS FOR FREEDOM, 124 Sheffield Drive, Santa Barbara, for their educational program. Starting with a mimeograph machine, the program caught on with a vigor far beyond the expectations of even the optimistic 70-year-old Frank Ketcham. Soon he and Eleanor were working around the clock to furnish materials to study groups that began to mushroom over the country. All of this was done — and still is — at his own expense, with the assistance of a comparative handful of loyal friends and neighbors.

How are they accomplishing their goal? Last year alone they mailed more than 1.5 million pieces of printed material, provided tape recordings to literally hundreds of study groups over the nation, gave American flags for automobile antennas, "I Am A Card-Carrying American" stickers for windshields and many other materials — all free. Many radio and television stations use their material and programs regularly. The headquarters has filled as many as 200 requests in one day.

Debt Repaid

"This county has been good to Eleanor and me," he emphasizes. "Starting from nothing, we have prospered under the American system. Eleanor and I feel that the least we can do is to pour back into the free enterprise system some of the largess which it has given us and millions of other Americans."

Frank and Eleanor Ketcham are truly "card-carrying Americans." There can be millions more like them. To begin, you can be on their mailing list to receive material to help you work in the cause of freedom. All it takes to start is a letter to AMERICANS FOR FREEDOM.

Proposed New Headquarters of the Coleman County Telephone Cooperative, Inc.

Contract Awarded For New Home For Coleman County Telephone Co-op

The Coleman County Telephone Cooperative, Inc., of Santa Anna awarded a contract for the construction of their new headquarters building Friday of last week. Eight sealed bids were received from general contractors in the Central Texas area, with the low bid of $47,180 being submitted by the Gabbart Construction Company of Abilene.

The building was designed by the firm of Richard Buzard, AIA, Architect, Abilene. The firm also produced drawings and specifications and will supervise the construction of the project.

The building will be located at the corner of Avenue B and North Second Street. It will connect with the dial telephone building constructed in 1961.

A feature of the new building will be a drive-in window, which will enable customers to pay their telephone bills without having to leave their automobiles.

The one-story fireproof structure will have 12-inch exterior walls of face brick and concrete tile. The flat poured gypsum roof will be supported by structural steel framing on concrete grade beams and a concrete floor. Interior walls will be of frame construction with plywood and gypsum board finish.

In addition to the business office, the building will include a warehouse, plant test room, administrative and plant offices, fireproof record vault, director's meeting room and a coffee bar. A paved parking area and storage yard is included on the east side of the building. Construction is expected to begin within a month and is due to be completed during the summer.

Structural engineering for the project was done by Jerry Rosser Structural Engineers. The mechanical engineering was done by William E. Fox and Associates, all of Abilene.

Alyn W. Gill is manager of the Cooperative. Officers and directors are: Tom Kingsbury, president; Grady McIver, vice president; Frank Gillespie, secretary-treasurer; Glen Copeland, Gordon Monsey, W. T. Nixon and C. H. Wise.

Department of Public Safety Reminds Vehicles Must Be Inspected Soon

Austin — The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., today reminded Texas vehicle owners that the 1964 vehicle inspection deadline will soon be upon them.

He reported that some 60 percent of the allotted inspection period has elapsed and only 20 percent of the vehicles have been inspected.

"If this trend continues, vehicle owners can expect to have to wait in line in order to get their vehicles inspected by the April 15 deadline," he said. Garrison pointed out that

State Capitol NEWS

Austin, Tex. — With less formality than he would display in warning his wife he was inviting guests to dinner at the Mansion, Gov. John Connally "announced" he is running for a second term.

Actually the announcement was no great surprise, although rumors continued that he was going to go to Washington, retire, or run for the Senate. But the informality of it did leave some reporters wondering if they heard him right.

"When are you going to announce?" a newsman asked at the start of Connally's first press conference since he was wounded by the same assassin who killed President Kennedy.

"What's wrong with right now?" the Governor shot back. "Well, are you announcing now?" stammered another reporter.

"Good a time as any," shrugged the Governor nonchalantly. "I have no prepared statement, but I'll announce right now for re-election as Governor."

And that's the way it happened!

Before the conference was over, a half-hour later, Connally also:

Predicted the Democratic national ticket, which he expects will be headed by his old friend President Lyndon Johnson, will beat the Republicans in Texas by a 60-40 margin.

Said he still sees no need for a special legislative session on congressional redistricting unless the Supreme Court unexpectedly acts early to uphold a lower court decision on "at-large" (statewide elections for congressmen. Declined to be drawn into U. S. Senate race controversy and efforts to find an opponent for Sen Ralph Yarborough, but indicated waves of harmony engulfing President Johnson and Yarborough do not necessarily include him. Said Connally: "My thoughts are my own."

He is recovering his strength, has regained lost weight, has given up smoking, and has a collection of tailored slings for his shattered right arm — including a grey herringbone sling, a blue serge, a red velvet for sport, and a black formal with a silk "lapel" and covered buckle in the back, all from a lady in Kentucky.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Sherman Birdwell Jr., Austin funeral home operator, was Governor Connally's choice as employer representative on the Texas Employment Commission. Birdwell succeeds Jake Pickle who was elected to Congress from the 10th District last month.

Birdwell topped a long list of new appointments.

Connally renamed Paul Fulks of Wolfe City and A. G. Thompson of Hamilton to the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Fulks is a past president of the Texas Press Association and owner of the Texas City Sun. Thompson is a businessman-rancher.

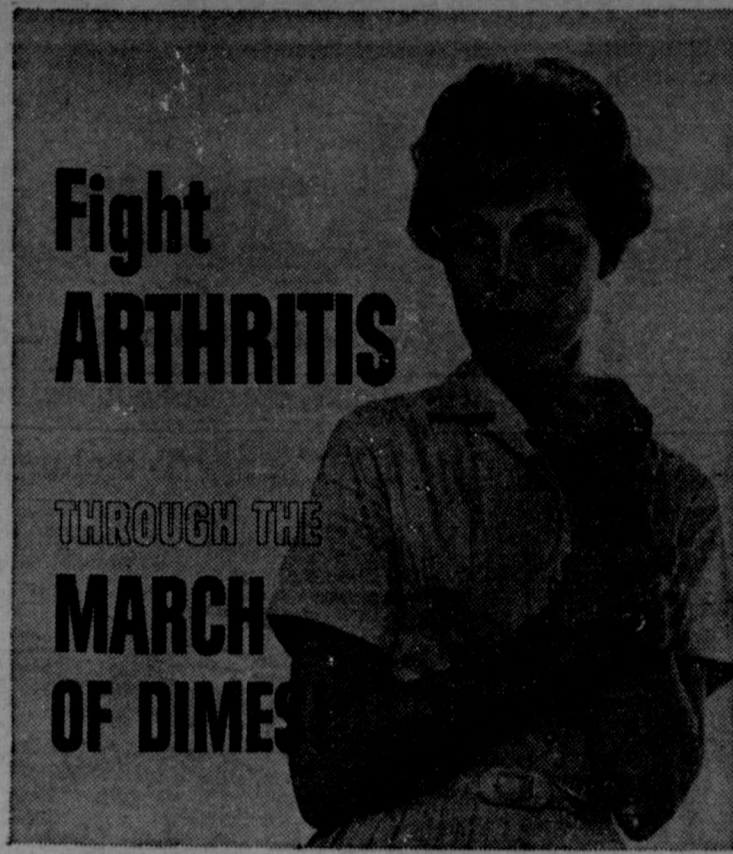

To the Nueces River Conservation and Reclamation District he named: Ramiro R. Ramirez, Alice banker; Ben M. Silva, Carrizo Springs rancher; J. Bernard Wine, Dilley businessman; Ferd Meyer, Devine farmer; Melvin Rowland, Uvalde businessman; Harry Schulz, Three Rivers attorney; and LeRoy Smith, San Antonio insurance man.

Appointed to the Historical Survey Committee were Will Davis, Austin attorney; Mrs. Dan Lester, Jefferson civic leader; and Charles R. Woodburn, Amarillo businessman.

Connally appointed Judge Wendell Odum to the Harris County Criminal District Court

THE COURT SPEAK

The Supreme Court has held that Judge J. H. Starley is fully eligible to preside over trial of an eight-year-old suit to determine Rio Grand Water rights over a vast area in Starr, Hidalgo, Cameron and Willacy counties.

Property ownership in the area by Mrs. Starley's uncle and aunt do not disqualify the judge, the high court concluded in directing that the trial proceed.

A suit to halt shell dredging near live oyster reefs in Galveston to Trinity Bays has been transferred from Houston to Austin and is slated to be heard in 126th District Court here January 28.

Attorneys for small-tract oilmen urged the Supreme Court to alter its 1961 Normanna decision bearing on oilfield allocation formulas. The landmark decision of a couple of years ago threw out favorable oil and gas production formulas for the small producers. Small tract men claim the decision will overturn formulas in 300 Texas gas fields and 2,000 oil fields — and definitely will hurt their interests.

CURB TEENAGE SMOKING
The State Health Department has a word of advice to teenage smokers: "Be smart — Don't start."

Dr. J. E. Peavy, Texas health commissioner who recently gave up cigarettes himself, says the department will put up anti-smoking exhibits at junior and senior high schools in the 10 largest cities of the State.

The plan preceded release of a national fact-finding committee report on dangers of smoking.

COOPERATIVE COLLEGES URGED

The Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School may recommend a plan of coordinating college facilities in big cities.

Under the proposal, both private and state colleges in such areas as Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth, and San Antonio-Austin would develop closely-coordinated "megapolitan" educational programs to make it possible for strength of each institution to be best used in giving students a finished education. Such an education, said sub-committee spokesman John Gray of Beaumont, would be too costly for a single institution to produce.

JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDY AIRED

Texas Research League told Texas Education Agency its junior colleges and vocational rehabilitation program are doing fine. But more legislation is needed to help both.

The agency gave its approval to a pilot program in six local areas to determine how to prevent school dropouts.

A Research League representative said the vocational rehab program last year got 3,566 disabled Texans to work at a cost of 3,500,000. He recommended more money for the program and better public acceptance.

League Research Director James W. McGrew said State support should be equal for junior colleges regardless of their size. He recommended also that State aid be available for technical and vocational courses, that dormitories be banned at junior colleges without State Board of Education consent, and that the colleges be allowed more freedom in setting tuition rates.

GAS RATE APPEAL HEARING SET

The Railroad Commission has set a hearing January 21 to hear the appeal of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company over refusal of several Northeast Texas towns to grant it a rate raise. Towns include: Atlanta, Bloomberg, Gilmer, Naples, New Boston, Omaha, Ore City and Queen City.

JUNIOR COLLEGES

Many people interested in state government and education are saying we need more junior colleges in Texas.

The National Education Association has said the country should add the first two college years to the present system of free public education.

Texas Research League has advised the State Board of Education that there are at least 17 counties in Texas which could qualify for new junior colleges: Angelina, Brazos, Dallas, Denton, El Paso, Hale, Hrisalgo (when Pan American becomes a four-year State college), Jefferson, Jim Wells, Lubbock, McFerron, Jim Wells, Lubbock, McLennan, Tarrant, Taylor, Wichita, Tom Green (when San Angelo College joins the State system), Orange and Midland.

In Travis, Grayson, Liberty and other counties, junior colleges already have been authorized but local taxpayers haven't yet supplied the financing.

Other counties might join together and qualify for a junior college, if suggestions of the Research League are passed into law.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE

Lt. Governor Preston Smith, speaking to the State Association of Young Farmers in Austin, said that agriculture in Texas will continue to progress despite population shifts and changes in land use.

Smith said there are 224,000 farms in Texas today, with total value exceeding $14,500,000,000; that $2,500,000,000 worth of farm products were marketed in Texas last year; and that another $2,000,000,000 in farm machinery, seed, fertilizer, and other farming necessities were sold in Texas.

SCREWWORM COUNT ZERO

Texas stockmen did not report a single case of screw-worms from Dec. 20 through the first week in January, according to Dr. R. G. Garrett of the Texas Animal Health Commission. Dr. Garrett said the 17-day stretch without a case reported was a record breaker, and recalled that 157 cases were reported in Texas last January.

At the same time, he urged stockmen to inspect their animals carefully to make sure the screwworm doesn't get a new start.

SHORT SNORTS

State's general revenue fund showed a $23,800,000 deficit at the end of December. Total cash in all State funds was $235,300,000.

House Speaker Byron Tunnell of Tyler announced for re-election to his House seat.

George W. Busby, chief of the inspection and planning division of the Department of Public Safety, is the State's Vehicle Equipment Safety Commissioner, under a new law designed to exercise control over vehicle safety equipment and expedite approval.

Agriculture commissioner John C. White, who has held office since 1951, has announced for a seventh term.

Republic State Executive Committee will meet in Houston on January 18 to approve budget plans, survey its 1964 candidates and beef up its poll tax drive.

The largest hall-stones ever measured in the USA weighed 1½ pounds, was 17 inches in circumference and almost 5½ inches in diameter.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

Carbon Monoxide

Do you drive around in your auto on cold winter days with all windows and vents tightly closed?

Do you sometimes warm up the car engine in your garage without first opening the garage door?

Do you neglect a checkup of exhaust and manifold on your car unless something starts rattling or falls off?

If your answer to any of these questions is "Yes" — you are flirting with carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide is an odorless, colorless, tasteless gas that comes from your auto exhaust. In the open air it usually is dissipated without harm to anyone. But in an enclosed space it can be deadly.

Each winter brings reports of deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning. The gas can seep up through the floor boards from a leaky exhaust. The victim becomes drowsy and then "falls asleep." It takes only a short time for an engine running in a closed garage to fill the building with deadly gas.

No one knows how many auto accidents are caused by motorists whose reaction time is somewhat slowed by a small seepage of carbon monoxide into a closed auto. If your exhaust and manifold are in good shape and fitted tight, you likely are safe. But it's even safer to leave a rear window open a crack.

While the car is moving you probably can escape danger even with a leaky exhaust. The most dangerous time comes sitting in a parked car with the motor running and the windows closed. This is a frequent occurrence in cold weather when the auto heater is turned on. Always open a window when you're parked with the motor running.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is a serious health hazard. Remind yourself and your family to be on the alert to the danger.

Past Decade of Texas Population Changes Studied

Texas on April 1, 1960 numbered just over 9.5 million. By 1970, the total is expected to reach 11.7 million, according to Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, Texas A&M University.

Dr. Skrabanek has recently made available an analysis of significant changes in Texas' population during the past decade, and he points out that in one way or another, these changes are important to every Texan.

A rapidly growing population — the Texas increase was 24 percent from 1950-60 compared with 18 percent for the nation — means more customers for all types of goods and service. Also increased needs for education, health and recreational facilities, religious and welfare services and highway and communications facilities.

All sections of Texas from 1950-60 did experience the gain in population. The analysis shows that 143 counties lost population while 111 accounted for the increase. In general, urban areas grew rapidly while most rural areas showed population declines. Areas with the declining populations are faced with adjustments just as those registering increases, Dr. Skrabanek found.

His study points out that for the first time in history, females outnumbered males; that the percentage of people in the under 15 and over 65 years of age groups are increasing faster than those in the more productive ages of life; that whites were increasing faster than non-whites and that the educational and income levels rose substantially between 1950-60.

Organizations, agencies, groups and individuals whose work involves population adjustment should find Dr. Skrabanek's analysis very valuable. Single copies of B-1000, "A Decade of Population Change in Texas" are available from the Department of Agricultural Information, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

County Judges and Commissioners To Meet At Texas A&M

The sixth annual Conference for County Judges and Commissioners will be held on the campus of Texas A&M University, Feb. 16-18, 1964.

In announcing the dates for the conference, Director John E. Hutchison, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said it was again being sponsored by the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas and the Extension Service.

The conference program, the director added, will be based on information requests from the county officials. It will be designed to help them with the many problems they face in carrying out their responsibilities.

Panel discussions have been a popular means of answering the questions raised and will be used again for presentations covering such items as machinery maintenance and operation, probate, juvenile courts, tax policies, and other items of concern to commissioners' courts. Director Hutchison said that Assistant State Attorney General J. C. Davis will again be a featured contributor to the program.

Other program details and speakers will be announced in advance of the conference, the director said. He encourages early registration in order that facilities may be readied for the conference and adds that county Extension agents can supply information on registration and housing.

Lard Good In Many Ways

Lard, one of the oldest shortening agents, is also one of the best, says Frank A. Orts, meats specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Lard has the greatest shortening power of any plastic fat, he says. In addition it is workable over a wide range of temperatures, and the tenderest and flakiest pastry can be made using lard, according to Orts.

The specialist points out that lard adds flavor and richness to foods, whether used for shortening or for frying. He also says that it is 97 percent digestible.

Economical to use, lard is also rich in food factors necessary for growth and health and rich in energy-producing food.

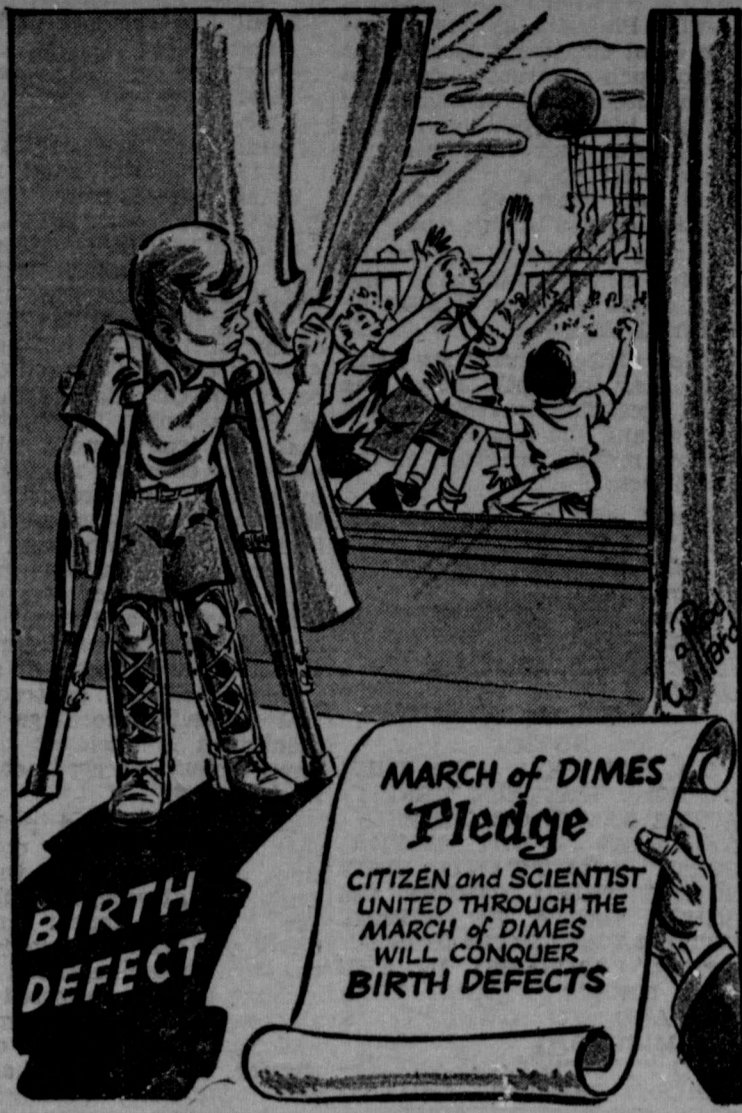

Orts says that the National Livestock and Meat Board has recently published a pamphlet containing numerous pastry and other type recipes and it can be obtained by writing the organization at 36 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Fort Worth Getting Ready For Annual Show and Rodeo

Fort Worth — With the January 24 opening of the Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo getting near, activity in Fort Worth is increasing every hour.

Tickets are selling briskly for the 1964 edition of the "World's Original Indoor Rodeo", which will see top professional cowboys competing for big money against rodeo livestock selected from the combined strings of Tommy Steiner - Hoss Inman and Associates. Guest stars are James Drury, TV's "The Virginian", and the Sons of the Pioneers, reputed to be America's most famous Western music group.

Livestock and Horse Show officials are working long hours assigning stalls to an overflow number of entries of cattle, horses, sheep and swine.

Workmen are putting on finishing touches and installing modern kitchen equipment in the new Round-Up Inn, where cafeteria facilities will be provided for Stock Show boosters.

Parade officials are receiving confirmation from numerous bands and riding groups that will be participating in the annual Western Day parade, starting at 2:00 P. M. January 24. Many towns are selecting dates for Special Days during the Stock Show. Some will bring bands, riding groups and Cowgirl Sweethearts to receive special recognition at the exposition.

WORTH REPEATING — "SEAT BELTS SAVE LIVES"

SEAT BELTS in automobiles are no longer news. Like the weather, they are easy to talk about, but for many people it seems hard to do anything about them.

Approximately 40,000 to 42,000 people die every year in traffic accidents in the United States. About one-third of them could be saved, and innumerable injuries could be avoided, if all people in automobiles would use seat belts always. While this ideal situation will never be reached, we who know about the usefulness of a health measure should keep urging the public to adopt it.

The Division on Safe Transportation of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin began to strive for a law which made the installation of seat belts compulsory in Wisconsin years ago. Finally the Wisconsin legislature passed such a law, the first in the nation. One can legislate installation of belts but not their use; thus one must persuade. Our Wisconsin colleagues have urged the news media of that state (newspapers, radio stations, television stations) to state each time they report a traffic accident whether the car was equipped with seat belts, whether the victims used the seat belts, and whether the belts prevented serious injury or possibly death. The news reporters in Wisconsin now regularly ask police officers for this information. Our colleagues there feel this has helped to educate the public.

tation Safety of the Texas Medical Association decided at its last meeting to initiate a similar procedure in Texas. Col. Homer Garrison of the Texas Department of Public Safety approved such a campaign in principle, but with some reservations: "We only wish to refrain from mentioning the belts under circumstances that imply we were chiding an owner for negligence." The Council on Public Relations and Public Service of Texas Medical Association recently approved the plan. Colonel Garrison has acquainted his six regional commanders and his public information officer with this project, and is sure of the their cooperation.

To stress sins of omission in matters of public health is not new. Without urging by physicians, news media regularly report new cases of polio with a statement such as, "This child has had neither Salk nor Sabin polio vaccines." If such statements persuade even only a few to protect themselves and their families, they are worthwhile.

Beef Import Curbs Initiated

Washington, D. C. — Expressing his desire to restrain beef imports, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman stated recently that trade negotiations are now underway between major exporting countries and the U. S. This announcement came at a meeting with members of the American National Cattlemen's Association, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, other state cattlemen's organizations, the Farm Bureau and Farmer's Union.

The Secretary added that he will appoint a Beef Advisory Committee to assist in working out the negotiations concerning beef imports from other countries. He expressed his interest in immediate action with regard to restraining beef and beef products imports into the U. S.

The meeting was attended by Leo J. Welder of Victoria, Texas, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, and Joe S. Fletcher, secretary-general manager, of Fort Worth, Texas.

Our WASHINGTON Letter
By Congressman O. C. FISHER

The 2nd session of the 87th Congress began with the President's State of the Union message. Featuring a welcome stress on economy, the message also bristled with a call for many new welfare programs which could rub out much of the savings promised on defense, personnel and other areas. It is recalled that the late President Kennedy in his message to Congress last January, promised a balanced budget, then ended up with a deficit of nearly $9 billion, according to estimates.

President Johnson, however, was firm in his estimates, and promised a frugal administration which may influence the Congress to go slow on some of the expensive welfare proposals which he envisioned.

While it appears that the President's motivations are lofty, it is feared that the proposed expansion of welfare relief for the Nation's needy will tend to further invade the role traditionally played by Red Cross, Community Chest, and other locally financed agencies which ordinarily carry the ball in ministering to America's unfortunate.

Experience has shown that when the Federal government invades the welfare field all sorts of headaches develop. There are a lot of free-riders and chiselers who are content to live on relief, and make a business of it. Rackets and scandals have recently been uncovered in the present multi-billion dollar federally-financed welfare programs that are already in effect. Only last year it was revealed that 60% of welfare for dependent children here in the District of Columbia was paid to ineligible, and similar practices have been reported in many states.

We already have five categories of federal aid of this kind, and the rackets extend to most of them. The welfare state should be advanced with care and caution, with emphasis on local responsibility in this field. This method tends to discourage graft and racketeering.

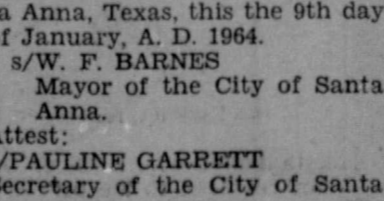

Abe Lincoln hit the nail on the head when he said: "You cannot permanently help a man by doing for him that which he can and should do for himself."

New Methods of Treating Animals To Be Discussed
San Antonio - New methods of diagnosis and treatment of ailments among cattle, horses and small animals will be discussed by national authorities in their fields here Jan. 26-28.

Occasion will be the 51st annual convention of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association whose sessions will coincide with meetings of the American Animal Hospital Association and the American Association of Equine Practitioners.

The role of the veterinarian in the rapidly growing beef cattle artificial insemination industry will be discussed by Dr. James A. Scott of Fort Collins, Colo., and the care of the foaling mare and new-born foals are topics of addresses by Dr. William R. McGee of Lexington, Kentucky. Many other topics will also be discussed.

'Hellish'
LACING BOOTIES for son Jeffrey is one "hellish ordeal," says Mrs. Hilda Coyle, North Chili, N.Y. (above), a victim of severe rheumatoid arthritis (note knotted hands), now undergoing treatment at the March of Dimes Arthritis Center, University of Rochester, N.Y., School of Medicine. Savage pains throughout her body began 10 years ago and make any home task a test of courage. Arthritic disease afflicts 11 million Americans.

GAME HARVEST ESTIMATES

Austin - Hunters in Texas killed 220,649 deer and 13,680 wild turkeys during the 1963 hunting season according to an early post-hunt estimate.

These kill figures were compiled by the Parks and Wildlife Department from estimates sent in from the Department's law enforcement personnel stationed throughout the State.

From the 205 counties reporting deer kills, indications are that 106 increased their deer harvest last year; 61 showed no change; and only 38 reported kill figures lower than the 1962 season's tally. Reports from 49 counties show no deer killed in 1963.

Of the 100 counties reporting turkey kills, the harvest was up in 37; showed no change in 33; and fell below the 1962 total in 30. No 1963 turkey kills were reported from 154 counties.

A more accurate harvest total will be made available when shooting preserve record books are examined and results totaled. More than 10,000 shooting preserve licenses were issued last season and holders of these licenses are required to provide the Department with a full report of the game harvested on their shooting preserves. The deadline for filing this report is May 1, 1964.

Prepare Cotton Picker For Winter

Right now, before it is forgotten, is the time to prepare cotton pickers for winter, reminds B. G. Reeves, cotton ginning and mechanization specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Not only does the machine need preparation for the winter, it probably also needs some repairs to make it ready for next year's crop, says the specialist. Such things as thoroughly cleaning the machine, making all necessary repairs and properly lubricating it will pay dividends by minimizing time losses during the next year's harvest season.

Special attention should be given to the chains, V-belts, tires, battery, radiator, air cleaner, fuel system, water tank, the hydraulic system and the engine, says Reeves. Winter damage resulting from corrosion, freezing, and general deterioration can be extremely expensive, he adds, and every possible precaution should be taken to avoid this type damage.

For more information on the care of cotton harvesting machines, contact your local county agricultural agent, advises Reeves.

Retail Food Volume Increases For 24th Year

Waco - Texas Retail Grocers Association estimates total retail food volume for 1963 at an all-time high of $2,751,638,242 - marking the 24th straight year the food industry within the state has registered gains over the previous year.

Estimated total 1963 volume represents a 5.1 percent increase over 1962 volume of $2,620,607,850. The 1962 increase was five percent.

Robert E. Crozier, executive vice president of TRGA, said "These figures emphasize that the food industry is second to none in growth, efficiency, innovations and service."

Per capita expenditures for groceries increased only $15 last year. Of this gain, $3 is traceable to increased prices while $12 is accounted for by the consumer "trading up" to better foods, more convenience foods, new items and increased buying of non-food items.

"To those critics of our industry who complain of high prices, we can point out that there has been a 5.3 percent reduction in overall food costs - including restaurant expenditures - since 1950," Crozier said.

Jimmie Crews has returned to McMurry College in Abilene, after spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crews, here. Other visitors in the Crews home during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Driskill, Pam, Christy and Susan of Dublin, Mr. and Mrs. James K. McDonald, Mike and Kelly of Houston and Mrs. Mae McDonald of Coleman.

Howard Payne Landmark To Be Torn Down

Brownwood - Howard Payne Hall is coming down. Built in 1912, the beautiful old colonial structure, which served for years as the home away from home for hundreds of college girls, and lately for college boys, will be razed in the near future.

College officials will take bids for the sale of the building until noon January 16. Only the building is to be sold, and the purchaser will have 120 days to remove the building and level the ground and fill the hole left by the old basement.

And with the going of the old building, an era will be ushered out at Howard Payne.

Time was when Howard Payne Hall was the college's finest in the way of living accommodations. In its earlier days it housed women students on the top three floors. The basement contained the kitchen and dining room for all boarding students. Men, at the time, were housed in the old "barn" and old Todd Hall, both of which have given way to more modern buildings.

With the building of Veda Hodge Hall in 1955 as a new residence hall for women, Howard Payne Hall was converted into a men's dormitory on the top two floors, with offices on the first floor, and a student center and book store in the basement.

A couple of years ago college officials were told by two engineering firms that the old building was unsafe, and that other facilities should be built to replace it.

Jennings Hall, the replacement, was dedicated at Homecoming in November, and the move of men students, bookstore and student center has been completed.

With the passing of Howard Payne Hall, only modern fireproof dormitories will be left on the campus, the oldest one - Thomas H. Taylor Hall - built in 1947.

Dependents Urged To Report Income To VA Immediately

Approximately 29,000 disabled veterans and dependents of some 20,000 deceased veterans in Waco regional area who received monthly pension payments were reminded today to report their annual income promptly to the Veterans Administration to avoid having their payments stopped.

Glyndon M. Hague, manager of the VA regional office at Waco, Texas, said that the VA has mailed to all pension recipients a punched card upon which the income report must be made. Pensions cease under the law if the income of a pension recipient rises above an established amount.

Dependent parents who receive dependency and indemnity compensation also receive income questionnaires and their payments are similarly regulated by the amount of their income, Mr. Hague added.

GI Insurance Dividend Payment Completed

In response to a hurry-up order by President Johnson, the VA has completed payment of $12,013,800 in 1964 GI insurance dividends to 241,595 veterans in Texas in record time.

This was reported today by Glyndon M. Hague, Manager of the Waco VA Regional Office, who said that distribution of dividend checks by the VA began on January 2 and the last of the checks were placed in the mail on January 9.

President Johnson last month ordered John S. Gleason, Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs, to make payment of the dividends as early as possible in January as a stimulant to the national economy across the nation. Some five million veterans share in the nearly 240 million dollar 1964 dividend.

FILING REQUIREMENTS

A Federal income tax return must be filed by every citizen or resident of the United States, including minor children, who had gross income of $600 or more in 1963. Ellis Campbell, Jr., Director of Internal Revenue for the Dallas District, reminded today.

A taxpayer who is 65 or over is not required to file unless his gross income in 1963 was at least $1,200. Mr. Campbell said.

Document No. 5107 which furnishes more detailed information on this subject is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

American agricultural abundance is a powerful force for world peace. Our food and other farm products are helping to promote economic growth in the newly developing countries of the world.

TEXAS HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT EXPANDS ANTI-LITTER CAMPAIGN

The Texas Highway Department has added two new methods to its continuing anti-litter campaign: a cartoon character printed on its Official Highway Travel Map and revised highway signs reminding drivers they can be fined from $10 to $200 for littering. The cartoon character, "The Litter Longhorn," pleads with the public to "Help Stop Out Litter." The sign emphasizes that it is against the state law to litter. In 1962 the Highway Department had to spend $1.4 million to pick up litter, an increase of about a hundred thousand dollars over 1961.

Today's MEDITATION

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

Read John 10:1-10
I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. (John 14:6.)

Many of us have written to one of the major oil refining companies and requested a map to direct us on our vacation trip. In reply, we have received a map marked with suggested routes to our destination. We could endure the traffic congestion of large cities, or enjoy the scenery of the countryside, the mountains, or along the seashore. Whichever route we chose, we eventually arrived at our intended destination.

However, Jesus plainly said that one has no such choice in the realm of the spirit. If our aim is to enter the kingdom which God has established, there is but one possible course — through Jesus Christ.

Obedience to the law, generosity toward the church, participation in good causes — none of these can serve as a substitute. Faith in Christ grants us eternal fellowship with the Father.

Not all who started to follow Jesus remained faithful. One day He asked His disciples, "Will ye also go away?" Is Peter's answer our answer? He said "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words to eternal life."

PRAYER:
Our Father, forbid that we should be led into paths of unrighteousness. Steer our hearts toward the one way to abundant, eternal life — Christ Himself. For His sake. Amen.

The sooner you file the better, but it had better be before April 15.

Farmers Filing Requirements

Farmers earning at least two-thirds of their 1963 gross income from agriculture should file their estimated 1963 Federal income tax returns, Forms 1040-ES, on or before Wednesday, January 15, 1964, according to Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue in Dallas. However, such estimate need not be filed if the farmer files his final return on Form 1040 and pays in full any tax due February 17, 1964.

"Farmer's Tax Guide," which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

Alien Information Confidential In Annual Report

Information furnished by an alien in making his annual address report to the Government is confidential.

According to Mr. J. W. Holland, District Director of the San Antonio District Immigration and Naturalization Service office, the information furnished by aliens in reporting their addresses has been declared confidential by statute.

These reports must be submitted during January each year by all aliens in the United States, with few exceptions. Forms on which to submit the reports are available at any

Post Office or office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Persons who are unable to pick up a form because of illness, or other reasons, may have a relative or friend obtain a card for them.

The card should be returned to one of these offices.

Parents or guardians of aliens under fourteen years of age should submit reports for such children.

Know How Your Meat is Handled

With the recent interest in buying large quantities of meat for home freezers, consumers are advised by Frank Orts, meat specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, to seek more information on meat quality and proper processing methods.

Beef, lamb or pork which is to be stored in the home freezer should be frozen at a low temperature in order to retain the juiciness and flavor of the fresh product, he says. Rapid freezing also is an aid to tenderness, and meat should be frozen at a temperature of -20 to -30 degrees Fahrenheit.

The type of wrapping paper used is also an important factor to be considered when purchasing a side or quarter of beef, says Orts. Meat should be wrapped in a high quality 4 ply wax coated paper, polyethylene coated paper or aluminum foil to insure its keeping quality. Meat which is wrapped in a poor quality paper is subject to excessive dehydration or freezer burn, and double wrapping will not compensate for low quality paper, he emphasizes.

The method of wrapping is also an important factor to consider when purchasing meat for the freezer. A "drug store" wrap is most efficient in excluding air from the package, according to Orts, and the flaps should be closed tightly with a good quality tape. Since torn places in a package will allow free entry of air, which will dehydrate the meat, these packages should be rewrapped.

Confidence in the processor or locker plant operator and the type of meat he handles will substitute for personal inspection and judgment in obtaining the desired quality of beef, lamb or pork for your home freezer, explains the specialist. But be sure to give the processor exact cutting and packaging instructions, or ask his advice if you are not familiar with cuts and cutting methods, advises Orts.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

Austin — Attention, youngsters who got new bikes or guns for Christmas. This story is for you.

They're beauties, aren't they — the bike, the gun? But do you understand the new responsibility they impose? They imply that you're well on the way to growing up.

When your parents gave you the bike, it was an expression of their respect for your understanding of traffic rules and signals.

They're betting your judgment is mature enough that you will ride only on the right side of the street with the flow of traffic, and that you will always walk your bike through heavy traffic.

Your parents — by their gift to you — demonstrated their belief that you have enough discretion to light up the bike when night-riding, not to ride double, and never hitch a ride behind a car.

They're counting on you to give proper hand signals and to ride single file when out with your bike-owning buddies.

If you got a gun for Christmas, your parents are — in effect — saying the same thing: "at their trust your judgment and common sense."

They know a gun is the weapon of a man, or a bright lad well along toward manhood.

If your parents are right, you will treat every gun as though it were loaded. You'll unload yours when it isn't in use, and you'll be constantly alert to muzzle direction when handling it.

A man who knows guns is always sure of his target before he shoots, and he never points at anything he doesn't intend to kill. Such a man has better judgment than to climb a tree or a fence with a loaded weapon.

A skilled gun handler like you want to become never shoots without checking the barrel for obstructions, and never shoots at flat hard surfaces or at water because of the possibility of ricochet. He stores his ammunition and his gun separately to avoid accidents.

It takes intelligence and good judgment to follow the rules of bicycle and gun safety, to live up to the responsibilities ownership imposes.

Your parents are convinced you have the necessary qualifications.

Have you?

Review Income Tax Rules New

College Station — It soon will be time to start to work on your income tax report, says Mrs. Wanda B. Meyer, home management specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

You may want to review some of the rules which may help you save — if they apply in your case. Here's a checklist:

A portion of a dividend payment on stock that is designated as return of investment is not subject to tax, although it reduces the cost basis on which you figure your profit when you later sell the stock.

A mutual-fund dividend, the portion that is designated as capital gain, is taxable, in effect, at only one-half of your ordinary rate.

Capital gains allotted to you on mutual-fund shares, but not paid, have to be reported as capital gains on your return. But you can claim credit of 25 percent of the amount as taxes you have paid, as that's the sum paid by the company.

A child who finished college in June, 1963, can be claimed as an exemption, under the rule for full-time student of 19 years or over, provided you furnished more than one-half of his support for the entire year.

Scholarship payments received by a child in college aren't counted in calculating whether you furnished more than a half of his support.

Social security and other tax-exempt income received by a dependent doesn't count toward the income test that has to be met for an exemption. But any such income spent by the dependent for his own support has to be included in estimating whether you furnished more than half.

Other rules to consider are: A couple married at any time during the year, as late as December 31, can get the benefit of a lower rate for 1963 on a joint return; a dependent who died during the year, even the first week, can be claimed as an exemption if you were furnishing more than half of his support; people who reached age 65 on January 1, 1963, are entitled to an extra exemption and larger medical deduction.

Changes Noted In Screwworm Eradication Program

Mission — Highly successful eradication measures, cold weather and the need to conserve funds have prompted screwworm eradication officials to cut the production of sterile screwworm flies by 50 percent.

An average of 70 million flies per week will be reared in the weeks ahead; production had been hovering near the 140 million per week mark during the fall. Eradication workers are confident this number will be sufficient to adequately treat those areas of Texas where native screwworms can survive the cold temperature.

The sterile flies, which are released by airplane over screwworm-infested territory, mate with native, fertile female flies, but no offspring are produced. Nearly six billion sterile flies were reared and sexually-sterilized at the huge "fly factory" near Mission last year.

Eradication officials stated that the decrease in fly production, as well as a cut back in personnel of nearly 175 employees, was made possible by a significant reduction in the number of screwworm infestations in the past month. At the time that the decision to hold back production was made, several weeks had elapsed with no cases being reported in any of the five states in the eradication area. Authorities also said that

Does Arthritis Run in Families? March of Dimes Scientist Asks

By Ephraim Engleman, M.D.
Chief, Arthritis Clinical Study Center
University of California Medical Center, San Francisco

It is a common observation that "arthritis runs in families." Arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, and rheumatism, foremost crippling diseases today, affect almost 11,000,000 men, women and children in the United States alone. It appears that rheumatoid arthritis usually strikes people who have near-relatives suffering from the same disease.

Does this mean that rheumatoid arthritis is an inherited disease?

Or can it be that people sharing similar environments react to some damaging aspect of those environments by developing the condition called arthritis?

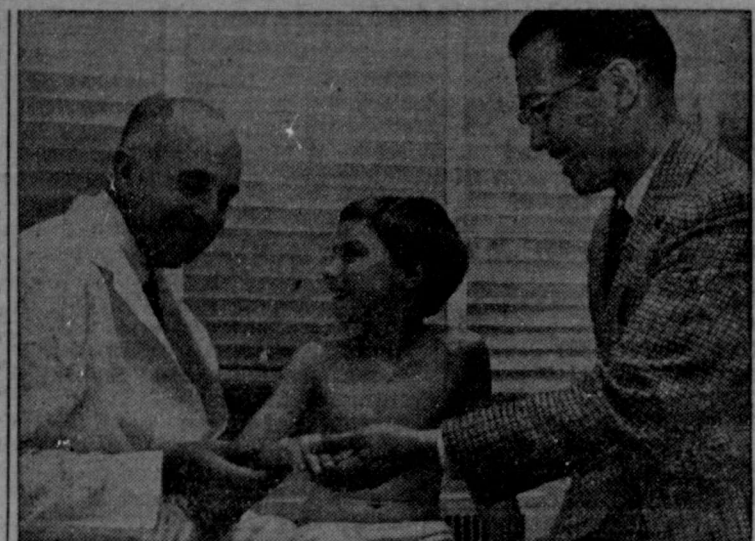

There is only one way to begin to find the answers to these questions, and that is to do scientific studies which will replace speculation with facts.

Seeks Clear Picture

One study, by itself, will not come up with definite answers to these two questions which have puzzled medical men since the beginning of time. But each study adds to the knowledge we already have, and in time, the bits of the puzzle may fall into place and present a clear picture.

Currently, our arthritis center has initiated a broad-scale, long-range study of arthritis patients and their families, including spouses (not related by blood), as well as children, grandchildren, parents, grandparents, brothers and sisters. We hope that ultimately this study will yield some light on whether rheumatoid arthritis is caused by heredity or environment—or, possibly, both.

This project is one of several in our center—which is searching for new techniques of patient care to relieve the suffering of arthritis victims, and also training doctors and other medical personnel to give better care.

Under a March of Dimes grant, we are studying 120 families residing in northern and southern California. In this project, some 420 patients and relatives are being examined and tested in the laboratory. Further information about them is being accumulated through periodic questionnaires. This is important, because we need to have information that can be accumulated only over a period of time.

Aiding in our survey are numerous March of Dimes volunteers from National Foundation chapters in California. These volunteers personally contact patients and their relatives who do not answer the questionnaires mailed to them at three-month intervals.

In our work, we see daily examples of volunteers who are dedicated to the principles of the National Foundation, because they have collected the funds which support our center, our entire study and other vital work throughout the nation. In addition, these volunteers now are giving freely of their time and effort to help with a part of the task in progress.

The questionnaires which the volunteers deliver in person seek information about a patient's symptoms since his last clinical check-up, and about certain events which are thought to serve as "precipitating factors" of rheumatoid arthritis.

"Precipitating factors" are in quotation marks because we do not know whether the events listed do trigger an attack of rheumatoid arthritis, or whether they do not. We are attempting to determine if these factors include worry, or strain brought about by such things as the death of an immediate member of the family, or the stresses that come with changes in occupation, salary, residence or marital status.

In addition to the family study, other research at our March of Dimes Arthritis Center includes investigations of how immune reactions contribute to arthritis, studies of more effective means of using gold as a treatment, and radiologic studies of systemic lupus erythematosus, which is another disease in the "connective tissue group," related to arthritis and rheumatism.

The TFB legislative staff, Director Charles Huff of Austin, and Assistant Director Ed McKay of Waco, will discuss effective use of Policy Execution (PX) Committees in carrying out Farm Bureau policies. They are also expected to explain Farm Bureau's plans for holding "Measure the Candidate" meetings over the state prior to the general elections this fall.

Families Upgrade Food Purchases

The average American family is upgrading its food purchases, although members now spend only 19 percent of family income after taxes for food. This compares with 25 percent spent immediately after World War II.

Most foods have increased in price during the past 10 years, but so have other consumer goods and services, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension Service consumer marketing specialist.

During the last decade, food marketing costs rose about 10 percent, and during the same period, housing costs rose 32 percent, medical care went up 57 percent, and take-home pay of the average American rose 59 percent.

Today's family is buying more meat and fruits and vegetables and fewer cereals and other lower priced foods.

With increased income, the average family chooses to buy more convenience-type foods, including prepared mixes, frozen foods and heat-and-serve meals. New and better packaging and marketing methods now provide fresh produce all year. Through research, processors are continually providing new products that American consumers are requesting.

Local Methodists Take Lead In Attendance Race

The Santa Anna Methodist took a 6-2 win over the Bangs Methodists Sunday, to move ahead by a 2-point count in the attendance contest between the two churches. The first Sunday of the contest Bangs took a 5-3 lead over the local Methodists. The contest will continue through January and February, with the losers to entertain the winners in a joint worship service and social the first Sunday evening in March.

A total of eight points is scored each Sunday, with the church having the largest attendance present in each of the four Sunday services receiving one point for each service. The church having the highest percentage present for each service also receives a point for each.

Rev. Bobby Weather, pastor, said, "It will take the interest and dedication of every member of our church to assure a victory for Santa Anna. A two-point lead can vanish very quickly, as it did for Bangs the past Sunday." Rev. Weathers urged every member of the church to make every effort possible to be present for each service.

Goals set for the local Methodist Church for January are: Church School 110, Morning Worship, 135; Methodist Youth Fellowship, 28; Evening Worship, 80. The pastor said these goals are not beyond the reach of the membership and he expected them to be reached during this month.

NEW MEMBERS
Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Jackson were received into the membership of the church Sunday. This brings to 25 the number of new members in the church since Rev. Weathers came here June 15th.

A new Church School Class was organized Sunday for the benefit of very young married couples and college age students. The class was named Aldersgate. Don Davis was elected teacher and Melvin Avants was chosen as Class Secretary and Treasurer. There are 14 charter members in the class. They extend an invitation to others in this age group to join them in the new class.

NEW EVENING TIMES
The church changed the time of their evening services, as follows: MYF will meet at 5:00 p. m. and the evening worship service will be at 6:00 p. m. The MYF and the Nitia Daniell Circle are sponsoring the evening worship services during the month of January.

YOUTH SUNDAY
Sunday, January 19, has been designated as Youth Sunday. Every Methodist youth and all interested friends are invited to participate in the service honoring the youth. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Avants were chosen as Youth Sponsors, joining Mrs. Nap Watson and the pastor in the service.

CONTEST ATTENDANCE
Comparative attendance for the Santa Anna and Bangs churches for the past Sunday is as follows:

	S. A. Bangs
Church School	97
Morning Worship	124
M. Y. F.	19
Evening Worship	70
