SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1964

NUMBER 33

Point Rows

Last week, the paper came out on Thursday morning with the picture and notice about The News being appointed the official rain gauger for Santa Anna, and Thursday evening we had three-tenths of an inch of rain. Never underestimate the power of the press.

An effort is being made to obtain a dentist for Santa Anna. A young dentist who has just finished his military service is very interested, and a final decision rests mainly on whether the city can provide rent-free offices for the dentist for the first six months, while he is building up his practice. This would be a very important step forward for Santa Anna, and it is to be hoped that mutually acceptable arrangements can be made.

We told a Methodist preacher friend of ours about an incident which occurred some time ago, in which three or four of our beagles managed to escape from their pen and made their way to the First Baptist Church, which is catty-cornered across the block from our house, walking in and surprising some of the church workers. "That just proves," our friend replied, "that your dogs aren't beagles, they're water spaniels!"

The recent rumble in the Middle East points up an inequality about which something should be done. A number of American seamen and aviators risked their life for their country in this hassle, just as numbers of Army and Marine Corps personnel are risking theirs every day in Viet Nam, yet none of these members of the Armed Forces can receive the benefits of the GI Bill for education and so forth. This is also an inequality in the case of draftees, young men snatched from their civilian occupations to serve two years in the Army, then shoved back into civilian life to shift for themselves — a two year period during which they would otherwise have been learning their trade, laying the groundwork for the entire occupational lifetime.

Man your battle stations! The Beatles (Beatles, not beagles) will be appearing in their first movie, "A Hard Day's Night", at the Cole-Anna Drive-In Theatre, August 27 through August 29. First the drought and then this! We've survived droughts before, but this may be the end.

The Eldorado Success, a weekly newspaper, is carrying on a nonpartisan political advertising campaign that we think is highly commendable. In a one-column box on the front page is this message: "Mail or hand your Democratic dollars to Tom Ratliff, Schleicher County Democratic chairman." Another box, of equal size and also on the front page, says: "Mail or hand your Republican dollars to Ford Oglesby, Jr., Schleicher County Republican chairman."

Too often we forget that if our political parties are to truly represent the people, they must be supported by the people.

Women fishermen are a touchy topic with many a veteran line-dunker (male variety), but here is proof that the ladies are no slouches in the piscatorial sport (that means fishing). According to an item in the Port Aransas weekly paper, an Abilene lady, Mrs. Richard (Melba) Hall, of Abilene, won top spot in the annual Deep Sea Round-Up last week.

Mrs. Hall caught three sailfish which measured seven feet, two and one-half inches; seven feet, four and one-half inches; and seven feet, seven inches. That is some fish in anybody's tank. Mrs. Hall used 20-pound test line, and scored 3,728. The best the men could do was the runnerup 3,486 points collected by Bill Schulla, of San Antonio.

SUMMER BAND PRACTICE BEGINS

Summer band practice will begin on Monday, August 17, at 9:00 a. m. All persons who plan to be in the Santa Anna High School Band are urged to attend this meeting in the band hall.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION, this will be a small watershed structure on the property of Mrs. Kate McIlvain, near Rockwood. The structure will assist in flood control, will conserve water by preventing wasteful runoff, and will provide recreational potential. This is one of 22 such structures on the Home Creek Watershed.

Threeway Benefits Derived From Active Small Watershed Program

An ambitious program of small watershed structures has been, is being, and will be built in various parts of Coleman County.

On the Home Creek Watershed alone, 22 small watershed structures have been planned. Six of these have been completed, and five more are presently under construction. Major delay in beginning the other 11 is in the obtaining of easements, a time-consuming procedure.

Under the sponsorship of the Central Colorado Soil Conservation District and the Coleman County Commissioners Court, the projects are financed under provisions of Public Law 566, with planning and supervision of construction the responsibility of the Soil Conservation Service, a Federal Agency of the Department of Agriculture, which has the job of assisting conservation organization with technical help.

Purpose of the dams and retaining structures in Coleman County (more than 100 such structures are in the works for the entire soil conservation district, which has about the same boundaries as the county) is threefold: Prevention of damage from flooding, conservation of water by impounding rainfall rather than allowing it to run off, and providing future recreation sites.

The flood-retarding aspect of the program is the most spectacular benefit derived from the construction of the dams. Losses of livestock, fencing, and soil will be eliminated by these structures, which impound the floodwaters and allow them to be dispersed at a uniform rate.

In a low rainfall situation, such as this part of the country is now experiencing, the structures store up what rain has fallen, making it available over a long period of time rather than being wasted in useless runoff. Many such structures in Coleman County are still providing landowners good supplies of water at the present time.

The recreational aspect of these structures is the least-recognized advantage they provide. Stocked with game fish, the ponds so constructed can be important assets to the landowner.

Five From Coleman County Attend State Electric Meeting In Austin This Week

"Helping Build Texas" will be the central concern of nearly 1,000 persons when they meet August 12-14 in Austin for the annual convention of rural electric leaders from all over the state.

The majority of those attending are members of the boards of directors of the 79 rural electric systems which in the last 25 years have helped build Texas by transforming the rural areas of the state. When the first rural electric cooperative was organized, only 2.3 percent of the farms in Texas had electricity. Today more than 97 percent have power and the dozens of labor-saving machines and appliances which electricity makes possible.

Attending the annual state meeting from the Coleman County Electric Cooperative Inc. will be C. L. Newton, manager, and directors E. E. Evans, Talpa; Arnold Fuchs, Olfen; and Tom Kingsbery, Santa Anna. Also attending with the Coleman County delegation will be Jimmy Raffel, Coleman, one of three state winners in the Texas Historical Essay Contest, sponsored by the Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc. First, second and third placings in the competition will be announced at the meeting today, Thursday, August 13.

The meeting will be the 24th annual convention of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., state-wide association of the rural electric systems. Members in this session will be concerned with ways of helping their rural areas grow despite the drastic decline in the numbers of persons in farming and ranching.

But they will take time out for one evening of entertainment which will include a contest to select the 1965 Miss Texas Rural Electrification. This program will be Thursday, August 13, and the winner will vie for the national title next January in Miami.

J. R. Cobb, general manager of Texas Electric Cooperatives, will keynote the convention's theme with a talk on "Let's Build Texas — Together."

And Frank Hildebrand, executive director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, will stress another phase of building Texas in his talk.

Other main speakers include two Congressmen, Senator Ralph Yarborough and Representative Jim Wright; Norman Clap, head of the Rural Electrification Administration; and Douglas G. Wright of Tulsa, head of Southwestern Power Administration.

Meeting sessions will be in the Stephen F. Austin and Commodore Perry hotels.

The meeting will include separate sessions for attorneys, member service advisors, and ladies. There will also be a supervised program for children

C of C Committees Named To Study Christmas Events

Members of the Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce met on Thursday afternoon, August 6, to discuss plans for the annual Christmas program in Santa Anna.

With fewer than half of the businesses which are members of the Chamber of Commerce represented, it was decided that little could be done at the meeting other than the appointing of committees to study various proposals and possibilities for the 1964 Christmas program and report back to the membership.

With Chamber of Commerce president L. A. Welch in charge, the meeting opened in un-Christmaslike heat. Approximately 18 Santa Anna businesses were represented out of the total Chamber of Commerce membership of about 40.

Acting on recommendations made by several present, Chamber of Commerce president Welch appointed three committees, each made up of three members, to study the various possibilities during the coming weeks. These committees will then meet with the president and a consensus recommendation will be developed for presentation to the membership of the Chamber of Commerce as a whole. A meeting of the membership is scheduled to be called during the first two weeks of September for this purpose.

Those comprising the three committees are: Mrs. Mable Eubank, Mrs. Blanche Grantham, and Mrs. Lucille Wylie; Roy Horne, W. H. Thate, and Norman Hosh; and Joe Harvey, Freddie Dodson and Richard Horner.

The major portion of the discussion during the meeting was taken up with the pros and cons of various types of Christmas programs tried in Santa Anna in past years.

Auto-Train Wreck Kills Bangs Girl Saturday Morning

One member of a Bangs family died as a result of a car-train accident Saturday, August 8, and another has been hospitalized with head injuries and fractures of both feet.

Killed in the accident, which took place late Saturday morning on a crossing about one-half mile west of Bangs, was Victoria Ann (Vickie) Findley, 18, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Findley. Findley is a teacher in the Bangs school. Injured was the driver of the car, Ray Findley, also 18, brother of the dead girl. He is in satisfactory condition at a Brownwood hospital.

The train was traveling about 50 miles per hour at the time of impact, according to the engineer, R. M. Emfinger, Brownwood. The westbound train struck the northbound auto on the right side. Miss Findley was thrown from the car, which was carried about 200 feet down the track. Despite emergency first aid rendered by members of the Bangs Volunteer Fire Department, Miss Findley died in a Brownwood hospital late Saturday afternoon.

According to Highway Patrolman Bobby Rivers, who investigated the accident, the car driven by young Findley was completely cut in half by the force of the collision.

Funeral services for Miss Findley, who was a 1964 graduate of Bangs High School, were held Monday, August 10, at Bangs Methodist Church, with Rev. Jack Riley officiating. Burial was in Bangs Cemetery.

Survivors include the parents; three sisters, Mrs. C. H. Sinclair, Graham; Mrs. Garner McClatchy and Mrs. Tommy Jacobs, both of Bangs; and two brothers, Ray, of Bangs; and Donnie, of Odessa.

Three Local Churches Plan Combined Bible School This Month

Three Santa Anna churches, First Christian Church, United Presbyterian Church and First Methodist Church, will conduct a joint Vacation Bible School beginning Monday, August 17, through Friday, August 21, at First Methodist Church.

The sessions will begin at 9:00 a. m. each day and conclude at 11:00 a. m. Classes for kindergarten, primary and junior age children will be offered. A nursery will be provided only for workers children.

All young people in the area are invited, according to sponsors of the Bible School.

Alertness and quick action by two Santa Anna officers Friday night, August 7, prevented what could have been, in the words of Sheriff John Smith, "a very serious thing."

Late Friday night, Santa Anna city night watchman Jim Lovelady noticed a back door at Harvey's Grocery, corner of First Street and Walls Avenue, standing open a short time after he checked the store. His approach frightened off the would-be burglars, and after spotting their car some distance down the alley behind the store, he notified Deputy Sheriff Nick Buse, who in turn contacted Sheriff Smith.

Lovelady and Buse staked out the suspected automobile, and a short time later apprehended Larry Lee Jones, of Coleman, owner of the car, as he attempted to recover it. Jones was taken to Coleman County jail by Sheriff Smith, where he implicated J. D. Templin and Tommy Jackson, both of Coleman. Templin and Jackson were arrested later in Coleman, after having walked back to that city from Santa Anna by way of the Santa Fe Railroad tracks.

Charges were filed against Jones, Templin and Jackson in the court of Justice of the Peace Gus Winston, in Coleman. Bond was set at $1,500 apiece on charges of attempted burglary.

At press time, Jones had made bond, with the other two remaining in county jail.

The alertness and competent action of Lovelady and Buse prevented what could have been a serious crime. "If they (the alleged burglars) had gotten into the store, there is no telling what they would have done," said Sheriff Smith, "I want to express my appreciation of the good job being done in Santa Anna by Jim Lovelady and Nick Buse."

According to Sheriff Smith, attempts to link the three arrested men with other burglaries in Santa Anna have not been successful so far. Sheriff Smith hopes to persuade at least one of the three to submit to lie detector tests in regard to the other burglaries.

The three accused would-be burglars have records of misdemeanor convictions.

Season Football Ducats Now on Sale

Reserved season tickets for the 1964 Santa Anna Mountaineer home football schedule are now on sale, it was announced Tuesday by Cullen Perry, superintendent. The season ticket books, containing reserve tickets to all five Mountaineer home games, are being sold at the office of The Santa Anna News.

Perry also announced that persons holding season tickets last year will have the option of purchasing the same reserved seats for this season. Those purchasing season reserve tickets last year must contact the office of The Santa Anna News, or Perry's office, prior to Monday, August 23, to reserve their tickets. Following that date, all unsold reserve seat tickets will be sold on a first-come-first-served basis.

Price for the book of reserve tickets this year is $6.00 for adults and $1.25 for students. Single game reserve seat admission will be $1.20 this year. This is an increase of 20 cents per game and $1.00 per season ticket book over last year's prices.

More reserve seats will be available this season, due to improvements in Mountaineer Stadium seating arrangements. There will be 240 seats in the reserved section this year, as compared with 216 last year.

When the days are hot you probably use more electricity

Certainly you do, that's because your air conditioning system is working harder, your refrigerator is working harder and all of your other electric appliances are performing tasks which, without them, you would have to do. Let's face it---there's no substitute for all the comfort and convenience that electricity can give. Besides, the average WTU residential customer is paying an average of 17% less per KWH than in 1953---isn't that a happy thought?

Electricity costs so little you can use lots of it.

Let's 'Beef' About Beef

When both Texas Senators, John Tower and Ralph Yarborough, agree on something, then it must be important to the people of Texas. These two Senators, along with 70 others, recently voted to approve a Bill to limit foreign imports of beef and other meats. Only 15 Senators voted against this Bill.

The meat import Bill, which still allows foreign imports, but limits them to a level that will not damage the US beef industry, passed by this overwhelming margin despite tremendous Administration pressure to defeat it.

In this part of the country, we know how important the cattle industry can be. We also know the difficulties in which the cattle industry finds itself today, difficulties due in great measure to the almost unrestricted import of beef from Australia, New Zealand, and other beef-producing countries.

The American cattle industry has been marked by its reluctance to accept government assistance. It has rejected government control and marketing programs repeatedly. It seems now as if the present attitude of the Department of Agriculture is one of "getting even" with the industry. If such is the case, even to a small degree, it speaks poorly for the leadership in Washington.

The US cattle industry has controlled itself remarkably well through the supply-demand process, but the new import allowances are throwing this arrangement — which is beneficial for the buyer, for the producer, and for the taxpayer since he does not have to help pay government subsidies to support the market — completely out of whack. "The domestic beef producer can look to the future with little hope knowing that each time he tries to solve his own beef problems his action will result in foreign beef taking over a larger share of the US beef market." So says Fred Wulff, of Brady, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

It certainly seems foolish to ignore the plight of the American cattleman in order to assist those in other countries. The Preamble to the Constitution states that the purposes of the document include the need to "promote the general welfare." We have always assumed that this referred to the welfare of the people of this country, but apparently the Administration, in this case, is putting the welfare of Australians, New Zealanders, and Argentinians, ahead of that of their American counterparts.

Authoritative reports from Washington say that planners in the Administration, and specifically in the Department of Agriculture, are confident that they can control the House of Representatives so as to kill the Bill that passed the Senate so resoundingly. However, the public reaction to this Bill has been surprising to many Congressmen. People all over the country are contacting their Representatives, urging passage of the Bill. In view of the fact that this is an election year, and failure to pass this legislation could alienate a large segment of the public, the House is going to be very sensitive to public opinion on this matter, as is the White House. Some opponents of the measure have said that President Johnson will veto the Bill if it passes the House. Texas is considered on the borderline right now in the upcoming Presidential election, and such a veto could very well push it into the Goldwater column, something President Johnson is too astute a politician to allow to happen.

We all know how important a healthy cattle industry is to the economy of our part of the state. This is a matter in which each of us, no matter if we are directly connected with the beef industry or not, has an important stake. Congressmen are going to be particularly concerned about public reaction to this Bill. We therefore urge all our readers to write, or otherwise contact, their Representative, urging that he not only vote for this measure, but that he actively support its passage.

It could mean a big economic difference to our part of the state, so let's let our voices be heard.

Yesterday's News

FIVE YEARS AGO
 An ad in The News for August 14, 1959 notifies area cotton farmers that a new Moss-Gradin Lint Cleaner has been installed in the Santa Anna Co-op Gin, an improvement that increases the market value of each bale ginned by $15 to $40, according to the ad.

TEN YEARS AGO
 A news story on the front page of the paper for August 13, 1954 tells of plans to organize the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Santa Anna. Mrs. Charles Henner is superintendent of the Sabbath School, and Lyndon DeWitt is minister of the new church, which will have an initial membership of about 35. Another frontpage story reports that O. L. Cheaney has been appointed to the Coleman County FHA committee.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
 Sgt. Bill Darr, wife and baby, of Hattiesburg, Mississippi, are here spending the sergeant's furlough with Mrs. Darr's father, Joe Mathews, and other relatives. Cpl. Tom Robin, radio-man-waist gunner on a B-26, left Tuesday for Shreveport, Louisiana, for more training. He had been visiting his father, Jim Robin, and other relatives.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO
 The News for August 18, 1939 tells of Dr. E. D. McDonald rejoining the staff of the hospital here. Dr. McDonald had been in Fort Worth since leaving Santa Anna, where he had been active in the Lions Club and had served as mayor of the city.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
 Santa Anna shipped 102 carloads of oats, according to The News of August 17, 1934. A headline on a backpage story says: "Pioneers Could Not Visualize Texas of Today 93 Years Ago." We wonder how well the Texans of 1934 could visualize our world of television, supersonic jet transports, hydrogen bombs, Viet Nam, penicillin, Beatles, 300 horsepower family cars, topless bathing suits, and a Texan President?

FORTY YEARS AGO
 This from an ad on the front page of The News for August 15, 1924: "Public Speaking, Judge J. F. Cunningham (A Life-Long Prohibitionist) will speak Saturday the 16th day of August at Santa Anna at 2 o'clock in behalf of Mrs. M. A. Ferguson, and against the Ku Klux Klan. Every Democrat, including ladies, in Coleman County is expected to be on hand to hear this forcible speaker. (Signed) True and Pure Democratic Club of Coleman County, Texas." Not too many of those True and Pure Democrats around anymore, we're afraid.

How Long Do We Support Him?

Help For Mentally Retarded

A national magazine devoted much of its July issue to a searching report on mental illness, titled "Disturbed Americans."

A similar report could be written today on "Troubled Texans," ranging from emotionally disturbed children to criminally insane adults. Their troubles come to the surface in many forms and at various ages, but they have one thing in common — they need help. Sometimes that help is hard to find.

State and local agencies, public and private clinics and hospitals are helping in various ways, but too often a family with an emotionally disturbed or mentally ill member does not know where to seek advice or treatment.

Right now the State Department of Health and the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools are helping to plan for better mental health services for Texas.

Dr. James E. Peavy, State Commissioner of Health and chairman of the executive committee for the planning, describes the new concept of mental health services as a "home-grown program to provide a wide range of mental health services, including prevention, early detection and early treatment, either in the person's own home or in out-patient clinics."

Communities with populations of 150,000 to 250,000 should be able to provide this full range of mental health services, Dr. Peavy believes.

"We want to prevent mental illness. If prevention is not possible in some cases, then we want to limit its effect. We want to get the citizens of Texas — everyone from the medical profession to the man on the street — interested in modern, comprehensive mental health services."

Dr. Cyril J. Rullmann, director of mental health and hospitals for the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools, is co-chairman of the executive committee for the statewide planning.

Dr. Rullmann feels that Texas mental hospitals and psychiatric clinics, both public and private, will continue to provide the keystone for mental health services. He says: "Community mental health centers can be established to treat the less serious cases of emotional disturbance and mental illness, which might require one to several weeks of care."

"Backing up these community facilities we must have highly specialized institutions to treat the more difficult cases which require hospitalization for six months or longer."

"There must be no artificial barriers between community facilities and these specialized hospitals and clinics, nor between in-patient and out-patient facilities. They must all fit together into an interlocking, cooperative system."

A 112-member committee is attempting to write into the comprehensive statewide and community mental health services plan the answers to such questions as:

How can community mental health services supplement the care now provided by existing State institutions and private facilities?

How can these services be financed?

Should Texas have a Community Mental Health Services Law similar to those in some other states?

The Federal government has provided funds for comprehensive mental health planning in all 50 states, including $182,000 for Texas. The state plan will be presented to the governor and the 1965 legislature. From this study, the planners hope, may come new state laws on the care of emotionally disturbed and mentally ill citizens of Texas.

Litter Costs

Litter thrown on streets and highways by pedestrians and motorists is more than paper, trash, cans and bottles. It is taxpayer's money, says Reagan Brown, sociologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Where does the taxpayer come in? He has to foot the bill for the clean up job, explains Brown.

In addition, when trash is allowed to collect along streets and highways, gutters and sewers may be clogged and during heavy rains flooding may occur. The damage resulting from the overflow often means further expense to the city, county and state governments and it can also be expensive to property owners, says Brown.

Texas is being judged every day in competition with other states for industrial location sites and the record can be improved, says the specialist. In some states, the state government is being asked to pass laws to prevent the marketing of any product in disposable containers or cartons and to increase the fines for "litterbugs."

Don't cuss the climate. It probably doesn't like you any better than you like it.

—Don Marquis

State Capital NEWS

Texas' progress in the field of race relations was commended by visiting Federal officials here to discuss aspects of the new Civil Rights Law.

Governor John Connally met briefly with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges; former Florida Governor LeRoy Collins, director of the new Community Relations Service; and former Governor Buford Ellington of Tennessee.

Session was one of a series to be conducted with governors in all states at the request of President Johnson to discuss the Community Relations Service operation. Agency will provide conciliation service at the state and local level to resolve discrimination disputes.

Governor Connally predicted Texas will continue to move forward without outside help.

Meanwhile, Texas School Boards Association warned that action on the part of segregated schools between now and Labor Day may determine their continued eligibility for Federal funds.

According to Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials on the Civil Rights Law, all the answers won't be known until new regulations are drawn late this month.

But the law has been interpreted as banning Federal aid to segregated facilities.

Texas schools now get about $30,000,000 a year in Federal money for such programs as the National Defense Education Act, vocational education, school lunch and milk program and aid to districts where Federal installations bring in a large number of pupils.

HEW personnel indicate "tentative procedures for enforcement of Title VI (of the Civil Rights Law) will require assurance from local school boards of compliance or intention to comply before federal funds will be awarded."

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Governor Connally selected Pat Taggart, of Waco, president of Newspapers, Inc., as a member of Texas State Historical Survey Committee to succeed Sam Privitt, of Childress, for an unexpired term extending until January 1.

New members of the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners are Miss Hedwig Pustejovsky, of Houston, Mrs. Jimmy L. Morrison, of Hico, and Mrs. Naomi Younger, of Levelland. Their terms extend until September 7, 1969.

Dr. J. A. Barrington, of Wichita Falls, and Dr. Claude Willey of El Paso, were named to six-year terms on the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. They succeed Dr. John McCoy, of Paris, and Dr. Edward Dwell, of Alice.

Kirby Hillin, of Dallas, and Virgil A. Walston, of Houston, succeed W. J. Burkhart, of Dallas, and Kenneth Nelson, of Diboll, to six-year terms on the State Board of Registration for Public Surveyors.

Allen Searight, community coordinator for Texas Industrial Commission, has accepted a job as executive director of Texas Historical Foundation. Larry Milner, San Angelo, will take over Searight's duties with the Industrial Commission on August 15.

LOBBYISTS

Texas legislative leaders, who have been the target of many lobbyists, have turned lobbyists themselves.

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith, Speaker Byron Tunnell and Senator George Moffett, chairman of the Legislative Council's redistricting committee, have been lobbying in Washington for passage of Federal laws to clarify the congressional and legislative redistricting situation.

Moffett wants Congress to say that a state may have as much as 15 percent variation from the average population in its Congressional districts. He and Smith also spoke in favor of the proposed amendment to the US Constitution which would allow the states to set up one house of their Legislatures on a basis other than population.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS

Attorney General Waggoner Carr has ruled that:

A county commissioners court may decide whether or not it shall appoint county hospital managers with overlapping terms;

A county attorney has the duty of filing suits for foreclosure of the state's lien for delinquent inheritance taxes;

District courts in that county have jurisdiction of these suits even in those instances in which property formerly belonging to a decedent is not within the county, so long as it is within the jurisdiction of this state.

Oil industry representatives urged the Texas Water Pollution Control Board not to outlaw the use of open, unlined earthen pits for the disposal of oil field salt water in Dallam, Lipscomb, Hemphill, Potter and Oldham Counties.

Board held the third in a series of hearings to explore the problem in a 48-county area which overlies the Ogallala water formation.

Oil engineers testified disposal of oil field brine into unlined pits in the five Panhandle counties named is "very minor." By January 1, testified one, 87 percent of the salts will be injected underground, with only 257 barrels a day going into unlined surface pits.

HUNTING-FISHING LICENSES GOING OUT

New hunting and fishing licenses are scheduled to be sent to some 2,800 dealers by August 14, State Parks and Wildlife Commission announces.

Old licenses expire on August 31. More than 2,300,000 are expected to be paid during the coming year — at the rate of $2.15 for fishing license and $3.15 for a hunting license.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas Highway Commission authorized urban transportation studies to determine future highway needs of Abilene, Midland, Odessa and Arkarkana.

University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research reveals that its seasonally-adjusted index of business activity in Texas for June hopped 16 percent above the June, 1963, level, marking the 41st month in an upward swing that rivals the 45-month expansion record set between October, 1949, and July, 1953.

Today's MEDITATION

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Ephesians 4:7-16.

Hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps. (I Peter 2:21)

One day I painted with water colors an ocean scene of seagulls whirling above dark blue water.

The seagulls I painted were not so lovely as God made them. Somehow I did not capture the sparkle and churning of real water. But I tried.

Christians are trying to live as Christ lived. Sometimes the paint brushes of our lives are not so accurate as they should be — our hands are not so kind as His, our words are not so wise, our voices are not so gentle. But we try.

When one looks at my attempts at painting the seascape, he sees blotches, mistakes, and misplaced dabs of paint. As God looks at the life I am living for Christ, He sees blotches, mistakes, misplaced dabs of judgment. But I know He looks beyond my actions to my motives, beyond my weakness and limitations to my heart and attitudes.

PRAYER:

Lord, help us today to paint our pictures right — the pictures we are painting on the canvas of life. Guide our hands, feet, hearts and minds, O Lord, so that the Christ-directed colors will be bright and the pictures true and clear when it is finished. We ask in our Savior's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Will the picture I paint by my life today witness to my faith in Christ?

The Commission made very few changes in the fishing regulations over the State.

In the Southeast District the waters of the Neches River in Tyler and Jasper Counties from the Jasper-Angelina County line to the Tyler, Jasper-Hardin County line and from the waters of the Angelina River in Jasper County below the Sam Rayburn Dam were closed to all nets. The Commission approved a recommendation of the US Fish and Wildlife Service that the waters of the Hagerman National Wildlife Refuge (Lake Texoma) will be closed to fishing from October 1 through March 31 to avoid disturbing thousands of wintering waterfowl.

At the present time the Parks and Wildlife Department is preparing a map which will enable hunters throughout the state to understand and interpret the regulations for taking the various species of game during the coming hunting season. As soon as this map is available, it will be sent to the Department's regional offices and to the license deputies where hunters and fishermen can pick them up at no charge. Other publications for distribution to the public are now being prepared by the Information and Education section of the Parks and Wildlife Department showing in detail the special archery seasons permitted during the month of October.

If you need more details about the bag limits, seasons and regulations in your area, the best man to see is your local game warden.

Breeders Of Game Birds Set Texas Meeting Site

A southern state has been chosen for the first time for the annual convention of the American Pheasant and Waterfowl Society. The organization meets in San Antonio, August 21 through 23 with breeders from the United States, Mexico and Canada attending.

The society has been a factor in promoting the rearing of upland game birds and waterfowl on a private basis and this, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials, has provided hunting sport on shooting resorts for thousands of hunters.

Bob Grant, convention host, said game bird breeders from the southwest are particularly urged to attend the convention since, he said, "It may be years before they again have an opportunity to contact some of the most famous breeders in America."

Santa Anna Teams Play This Week

Monday and Tuesday night witnessed a couple of pitchers battles at the Santa Anna ball-yard.

Monday night the Old Timers took on their Bangs counterparts for the umpteenth time this season, emerging with a hard-fought and suspense-filled 17-1 victory over the Bangers.

The lone Bangs tally came on a home run, which is as good a way as any to get one run.

The series between the two cities now stands at three wins for Santa Anna to one victory for Bangs.

The following evening, the Young Old Women and the Old Young Women played to a 14-7 decision with the younger group taking the win. Among the gems of softball skill that spectators have come to expect from these highly-played contests, was the new pitching style developed by Billie Guthrie, who wound up and fell on her face.

Both teams are open to future bookings.
