

A Marine from Coleman County was killed recently while serving in Viet Nam. His parents have been quoted as saying that they felt that it was useless for him to be there, that Viet Nam is an unimportant conflict, and that their son's death had no meaning.

We would like respectfully to differ with them. Two conflicts immortalized in the first lines of the Marine Corps Hymn, "From The Halls of Montezuma, to the Shores of Tripoli," were both minor actions, parts of relatively unimportant wars, but they have gone down in history as guideposts to man's struggle for dignity and freedom. And the reason is because Marines were there to oppose injustice and tyranny. The threats to freedom are not always found in the big impressive wars. Oftentimes, the greatest dangers to liberty lie in the little, seemingly unimportant conflicts. Had there been a force in Europe comparable to the US Marines prior to the Second World War, a force that would have stepped in and stopped Hitler's first little aggressions, there would have been no world war.

One of the hallmarks of the Marine Corps, from the time of its organization in 1775 (the oldest of our military services) down to the present has been the fact that they have done the dirty work, the nasty little jobs that no one really wants to do but that have to be done.

The history of the Marine Corps is studied with outstanding deeds of heroism performed during little actions like Viet Nam, actions that in themselves were relatively unimportant, but that taken in the sum total showed the determination of this nation to resist totalitarianism anywhere in the world. For instance, the only enlisted man in the history of the US military to receive two Congressional Medals of Honor, Marine Master Sergeant Dan Dailey, won both as the result of action in these small, undeclared wars. One was received in China during the Boxer Rebellion, when a handful of Marines fought off hordes of fanatic Chinese to protect the foreigners in the diplomatic compound at Peking; the second came as the result of action in Haiti during one of the "Banana Wars" that wracked Central America during the first half of this century, wars in which Marines played a vital role in protecting lives and property and restoring order.

"As long as one man is a slave, no man is free," said Voltaire, and this is as true today as when it was uttered more than 200 years ago. The Marines in Viet Nam are protecting men against slavery, and in so doing they are increasing the freedom of each of us.

On many battlefields, some remembered, some nameless, Marines have written their names across the pages of history as the guardians of freedom, not only in the large, impressive struggles, but also in the small, unrecognized, but nonetheless essential conflicts.

Those who fought and died at places like Samar and Chapultepec and Tripoli are just as deserving of honor, and did just as important a job, as those who fought in the famous battles, like Belleau Wood (now officially named "The Forest of the Marine Brigade" by a grateful French government) and Tarawa and Iwo Jima, Guadalcanal and Okinawa and the frozen Chosin Reservoir, where the Marines, surrounded by an overpowering Chinese army, fought their way to the sea in one of the most dramatic military actions in history. "Retreat? Hell, we're just advancing in another direction," said the Marine general.

This tradition of doing the job, no matter how unimportant it may seem, is part of the proud tradition of the United States Marine Corps. The men who died on Samar are just as great heroes as those who died at Guadalcanal. And those who die today in Viet Nam are heroes, just as those who gave their lives on Iwo Jima are heroes. And more so, because it is harder to go into combat situation, to put your life on the line, knowing that your countrymen think what you are doing is unimportant or unnecessary. It is very hard to die wondering if anyone cares.

That is why we say that the Hospital And Clinic Financing Okayed Here This Week; To Cost $350,000

The Santa Anna Medical Center received final approval this week on the financing for the new Santa Anna Clinic and Hospital, Dr. Charles Henner told The News.

The new clinic, housing four medical doctors and a dentist, and the 40 bed modern hospital, will cost a total of $350,000.

Construction of the second portion of the Ranger Park Inn nursing home will begin within a few days. Following completion of the foundations for the new nursing home section, the foundations for the clinic and hospital building will be poured.

It is anticipated that a large number of local persons will be employed in the construction of the clinic and hospital, and a number of workers will be moved to Santa Anna to implement the local work force.

First unit of Ranger Park Inn, now in use, was inspected by Mrs. Haynes, State Rater for the Welfare Department, who gave the local nursing home a top rating following her check of the facilities Wednesday morning.

New Upholstery Store Opens Here

Rev. Raymond Gary, minister of the Northside Baptist Church has opened an upholstery and furniture refinishing shop in Santa Anna this week.

The shop, to be known as Gary's Upholstering Shop, is located in the rear portions of the former Parker Farm Store, on the corner of Wallis Avenue and Third Street. This building has been remodeled since the fire that caused severe damage some weeks ago.

Rev. Gary said that he will feature a wide range of reupholstering fabrics, and will also do furniture refinishing and repairing, and custom furniture construction. Cleaning of upholstered furniture will be another service offered by the new Santa Anna business.

Reta Jane Ing a 1960 graduate of Santa Anna High School, is now working for the Peace Corps in Costa Rica. Rita now resides in Dallas.

World's first movie theater opened December 23, 1895, in Paris France, with 33 customers.

Local Beagles Have Mixed Luck

Entries from Santa Anna met with mixed success during the weekend, in American Kennel Club all-breed dog shows in Galveston and Houston.

At the Galveston show, Saturday, March 20, two entries from the local Rio POCO Kennels were picked as the best male beagles entered in the two size varieties (beagles compete in two size varieties in AKC competition — 13 inch and 15 inch). Rio POCO Tigre, a 16 month old puppy, was picked as Winner Dog in the 13 inch competition, adding two championship points. This beagle now has six of the 15 points required for the title of Champion.

In 15 inch competition, Williamson's Sullmo Rocky, also owned by the Santa Anna kennels, won the Winners Dog spot, receiving one championship point (number of points awarded is based on the number of entries competing against the winning dog).

Rio POCO Morenito, the only other local dog entered, took first place in the Bred by Exhibitor class, then lost to his kennelmate, Rio POCO Tigre, in the Winners class competition. Both Rio POCO Tigre and Williamson's Sullmo Rocky got to the Winners class by taking first place in their respective Open classes.

In Houston the next day, the local entries did not fare so well, with Rio POCO Tigre and Williamson's Sullmo Rocky both receiving the Reserve Winners (runnerup) ribbons. Rio POCO Morenito again took first place in the 13 inch Bred by Exhibitor class.

This coming weekend, the Santa Anna dogs journey to Fort Worth on Saturday, and Dallas on Sunday, to compete in the largest dog shows held in Texas each year.

Bids Specifications Released For Small Watershed Structures Here

Invitations for bids to construct Sites 18 and 19 Home Creek were issued by the State Office of the Soil Conservation Service on Thursday, March 18, to be opened at a bid opening Friday, April 16, at 2:00 p.m.

The two floodwater retarding structures are located approximately 12 and 16 miles south of Santa Anna, Coleman County, life and death of this Marine from Coleman County was not a waste. He gave, in Lincoln's words, "the last full measure of devotion," so that we all could be a little more secure, so that possibly we would not be called upon to face the horror of another total war.

This is what it means to be a Marine. To know that you will be called upon to do the dirty little jobs that have to be done. To do them as best you can, because you are an American and because you are a Marine. This is the creed of the Marine, the professional fighting man who doesn't ask why, but just goes where his country tells him he is needed, and does the job that must be done when he gets there.

The Marine from Novice is a hero, and every Marine standing a picket line or manning a listening post in Viet Nam is a hero.

We hope the parents of the local Marine who died serving his country remember this. And if someone asks, "For what purpose did your son die?" They need only answer, "He was a Marine." That will be answer enough.

Texas, on the Dr. Roy G. Hallum, B.D., and Macon Richmond, John Ashmore, J. B. Turner, Jr., and Robert Stewardson places. Principal bid items include approximately 315,320 cubic yards of compacted earthfill material in the embankments, approximately 4,225 pounds of steel bar reinforcement in 100 cubic yards of concrete with 420 feet of 24 inch spun concrete pipe and two 12 inch slide gate valves for the principal spillway installations. Approximately 21,000 cubic yards of topsoil will be salvaged and placed on the embankments and emergency spillways for growing grass that will be used for keeping maintenance of the two structures at an absolute minimum. Fencing in the amount of 10,215 linear feet will be installed to protect the dams and spillways from excessive grazing by livestock.

Easements for building these floodwater retarding structures have been granted to the Central Colorado Soil Conservation District, who will assume responsibility for operation following completion of construction of these structures.

Arrangements have been made between the Central Colorado Soil Conservation District and the Coleman County Commissioners Court for maintenance activities, according to Thomas G. Rokenbaugh, Work Unit Conservationist at Coleman.

John Curtis, Project Construction Engineer at Coleman, will show the sites to prospective bidders and will supervise construction after bids are awarded.

Leland Thompson Withdraws From Mayor's Race; Ford Writein Pushed

New developments in the races for the post of mayor and alderman kept popping up almost every day during the past week in Santa Anna.

On Friday, March 19, Leland Thompson, who had announced for the mayor's seat, opposing incumbent Ford Barnes, withdrew from the race in a letter to the City Secretary. This move left Mayor Barnes unopposed on the ballot.

In his letter resigning from the race, Thompson cited "job and personal reasons" for the withdrawal.

With the resignation last week of Jerry Clark from the race for the two alderman jobs on the City Council, Thompson's action leaves five names on the ballot, four seeking the Council seats, and one as candidate for mayor.

Following Thompson's withdrawal from the race, some of his backers began promoting a campaign urging the election of James Ford as a writein candidate.

Ford, who lives at 409 Avenue

A, is minister of the Assembly of God Church in Santa Anna. He is employed in Brownwood as a welder.

Alderman candidates appearing on the ballot will be incumbent Lewis Miles Guthrie, H. A. (Sy) Burden, Earl Irick, Jr., and Alton Benge.

The election will be held on Tuesday, April 6. Polling place will be the Santa Anna City Hall.

In a statement appearing as an advertisement in this week's issue of The News, former mayoralty candidate Thompson says:

"I, Leland Thompson, hereby withdraw my candidacy for mayor of Santa Anna, in the election to be held on April 6, 1965.

"I am withdrawing for job and personal reasons only.

"I urge every person that is eligible, to go to the polls and vote for James Ford for mayor; Alton Benge and Earl Irick, Jr., for aldermen. These three men are all young, intelligent and conscientious citizens and want the best for the city of Santa Anna. I give each one my full support.

"Many thanks to the people that would have supported me in the coming election. Even though I am not in the mayor's race, I shall continue to uphold what is right for all the people of Santa Anna."

In his withdrawal statement last week, Clark urged support of Guthrie and Burden in the alderman races.

Water And Sewer Bond Program Gets Underway In Action By City Council

In a special called meeting on Monday, March 8, the Santa Anna City Council met to pass ordinances required for the implementation of the water and sewer program okayed by the voters of Santa Anna in the recent bond election.

The councilmen approved the issuance of $100,000 in bonds in place of the bonds issued in 1950. The recall of these bonds was a necessary requirement for the issuance of the $264,000 in new bonds for the financing of the water and sewer improvements.

The issuance of the $100,000 in bonds was a refinancing measure and does not add to the indebtedness of the city in any way, explained Curtis Adrian, fiscal agent for the city.

In other action, the City Council approved and adopted the official application to the Federal government for the financing of the $264,000 bond issue. The government, as part of the Federal Home and Finance Administration program, will loan funds to cities such as Santa Anna for approved public improvements, at rates below those at which the money could be obtained through other means. This will save the city approximately $50,000 in interest payments over the life of the bonds.

Survey work on the sewer and water improvements has been underway for several days, and final engineering work is expected to be completed shortly.

Screwworm Funds Depleted; $7,000 Asked For Here

A campaign to obtain funds to finish the battle of wiping out screwworms in Texas is now underway. The funds are used to provide sterile male flies which breed with wild females (these flies only breed once before death), and for the distribution of these flies. A screwworm-free area separating Texas and Mexico is being established to prevent reinfestation from south of the border.

The state can obtain Federal matching funds to assist in the program, but initial funds must be obtained from those benefiting from the program. It is requested that stockmen donate ten cents for each head of cattle owned, and for each horse of breeding age, and two cents for each head of sheep, goats, or hogs.

Coleman County's quota in the drive is $7,000. Donations may be left at the Santa Anna National Bank, according to Tom Kingsberry, local drive coordinator.

National Guard Holds Long Drill

Company "A" 1st Battalion 142nd Infantry, local Army National Guard unit, held a two day weekend drill this past weekend. Members of the unit spent Saturday afternoon in classroom work, and in preparation for a nighttime training exercise. Training night patrolling began at the Hords Creek area west of Coleman immediately after the night meal was served. Actual night time patrols were run by unit members, with the training lasting until almost midnight. Sunday morning also was spent at the Hords Creek area, with "Infantry Unit In Attack" as the training. Most of Sunday afternoon was spent back at the Armory, preparing the unit's equipment for a "Command Maintenance Inspection," that is scheduled for later this month.

The unit was visited, and informally inspected, by two officers from 2nd Brigade, 36th Infantry Division Headquarters, in Amarillo, during the Sunday portion of the drill. One of these visiting officers was Major Thomas R. Seely, who served as an officer in "Tank Company," in Santa Anna, and later as commander of the Coleman unit. Major Seely, at that time, was vocational agriculture teacher in the Coleman High School, and will be remembered by many.

R. D. Kirkpatrick of Zephyr and Miss Jettie Kirkpatrick were in Stamford Friday to attend the funeral of a cousin, Mrs. Mattie Whittington.

The public is invited to attend this exhibit of locally-manufactured products. Door prizes will be awarded as part of the program.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce of Santa Anna and Coleman to spotlight the industrial potentials of this area. It will be a part of the local participation in Texas Industrial Week, set by Governor John Connally for April 1-7.

By MRS. TOM RUTHERFORD

The Annual Whon Picnic and Homecoming will be held again this year on Saturday, April 3, 1965. Barbecue will be furnished with a basket lunch. We will be looking forward to seeing you at the picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rutherford left Wednesday and spent the night with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith and children in Odessa, then on to Los Vagos, Nevada where they were joined by Air Force friends from California over the weekend. They will be sight seeing and then return here this week.

Mrs. Floyd Morris received word that her brother, Mr. Cecil Perkins was very painfully injured when a truck tire blew out. He received a broken arm and a leg injury which resulted in surgery. Mr. Perkins was changing tires on his truck when the accident occurred. At last report, he was doing fine, but he will be confined to bed for a while.

Mrs. Bert Turney spent Sunday and Sunday night in Santa Anna with her son Mr. and Mrs. Rex Turney and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris were shopping in Brownwood Saturday and visited their son, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Floyd Morris, and also with Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie James and boys before returning home Saturday night.

Oil History Books Given School Here

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, through Weldon Boldt, has presented to the Santa Anna High School library two volumes covering the American petroleum industry from 1859 to 1959, a one hundred year period.

These two volumes cover more than 1,700 pages of history, from the origin of oil and its discovery in the USA to through exploration, development, conservation of American reserves, and the other developments through 1959. Needless to say, the petroleum industry in Texas is prominent in the latter parts of the history.

Students in Santa Anna High School will find that these volumes will be valuable in research dealing with phases of the American economic system. The publications are the product of Northwestern University Press, Evanston, Illinois.

Income Tax On Sick Pay Outlined

Some payments received by a taxpayer on account of illness or personal injury are not taxable income for Federal tax purposes, Virgil W. Newman, Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue for the Brownwood office said today.

The law allows (subject to certain limitations) a taxpayer to exclude from income amounts received under a wage continuation plan financed by his employer, when he is absent from his job due to injury or sickness. In this case the taxpayer must attach a statement to his return showing computation of the amount excluded, the dates of absence, and whether or not he was hospitalized.

Other types of payments that are not taxable are those made:

1. For damages under a suit or in settlement of a claim under Workman's Compensation Acts, and under an accident or health insurance policy on which the taxpayer pays the premiums.

2. On account of a taxpayer's contribution to an accident or health plan jointly financed by him and his employer.

3. Under an employer-financed plan covering sickness or injury to the taxpayer or his dependents, if received as reimbursement for medical care, or as compensation for the permanent loss or loss of use of a member or function of the body, or for permanent disfigurement.

4. As pension, annuities, or similar allowance to an individual for injury or sickness resulting from active service in the armed forces of any country, or in the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, or in the US Public Health Service, or to his beneficiaries by reason of his death.

Document 5016, which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

Mrs. C. D. Bruce Selected For Honor By Federated Woman's Club District

Mrs. C. D. Bruce, for 32 years a member of the Self Culture Club of Santa Anna, was chosen Federation Mother of the Year and received an engraved plaque, at the evening meeting of the Heart 'O Texas District at Sonora Monday night.

A former president of the Club and of the District, which contains seventeen counties, Mrs. Bruce received the honor in recognition of her civic and educational activities. She has served as president of the Santa Anna P-TA, the Coleman County Breeder-Feeder Auxiliary, the Santa Anna Library Board, the Santa Anna Park Board, and other civic organizations. She was acting Postmaster at Santa Anna for three and one-half years, and has also served as Coleman County Republican Chairman and as cochairman of the 25th Congressional District. Presently she is frequently a judge in youth talent and school activities, superintendent of the Beginners' Department of the First Baptist Church, honorary member of the Coleman Delta Kappa Gamma, and she lectures to various groups on the archaeological sites in central and southern Mexico, which she visits each year.

Of her three daughters, Margaret Robin is a teacher of Spanish in a Houston school, Evelyn Kingsbery teaches Texas history in Crystal City Junior High School, and Barbara Kingsbery has a daily radio program on the Coleman radio station. All three are Sunday school officers, belong to federated clubs and are active in community and civic affairs. Barbara Kingsbery is presently president of the Self Culture Club and Evelyn Kingsbery has recently completed the presidency of the "24" Club of Crystal City.

Mrs. Henry Newman and Mrs. Barbara Kingsbery, were also in Sonora for the District meeting. Mrs. Newman, chairman of the Public Affairs Department, directed the report of her department during the Tuesday afternoon session of the convention.

Mrs. Kingsbery, delegate from the club, reported on the years activities, and received for the club two second place awards, in American citizenship and for a program on Texas cattle brands.

The Self Culture club, the only federated club in Coleman County, was organized in 1903 and federated in 1907.

Mary Haynes Picked As District Officer

Mary Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Haynes of Santa Anna, was installed as area 4 treasurer of FHA Saturday, at the area meeting in Stephenville. She will attend the state FHA meeting in Dallas, on April 22 through 24. Mary and the other area 4 officers will attend a workshop at Stephenville in June; she also has a chance of attending the National FHA convention in Philadelphia this summer.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

As Ponce de Leon sought the fountain of youth, so we today seek the quick, easy route to good health.

Unfortunately, neither of these exists.

But there are ways to keep your mind and body physically fit.

Take a look at the seven paths to fitness.

One essential is proper medical care. This means preventive services—periodic medical examinations and an immunization schedule. Give your physician your confidence, follow his advice and obtain prompt care when you are ill.

Nutrition is an important part of fitness. Gorging yourself one day and going without food the next is not the way to become fit. Your daily food needs include meat or meat substitutes, milk and milk products, bread and cereals, (enriched or whole grain), fruits and vegetables, plus other foods to complete meals.

Proper dental care is important not only for good appearance and better health, but to permit proper chewing of food and to prevent distress and pain. Visit your dentist every six months or oftener as he advises. Brush your teeth properly, as soon after meals as possible—or if you can't brush, rinse your mouth with water. And go easy on the snacks, particularly those high in sugar, between meals. Regular visits to your dentist can help prevent dental distress, forestall needless pain and expense, and help to prevent the premature loss of teeth.

A person also needs to have a satisfying work, healthy play and recreation, and adequate rest and relaxation.

Include these seven paths to fitness in your life. You won't have a fountain of youth, but you'll sure feel better.

West Texas Economic Prospects Are Subject Of Three Meetings This Week

Hundreds of top businessmen are expected to converge on Midland, Plainview, and Fort Worth March 24-25 to take a close look at the problems and opportunities of West Texas' economy.

Experts in agriculture, economic development, and business-government relations will appear as speakers and panelists in Infocade '65, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Infocade '65 involves one day meetings in each of the cities on successive days with the team of authorities traveling from one to the next to discuss with West Texas' leading businessmen some of their problems. The meetings are scheduled in Midland March 24; Plainview,

March 25, and Fort Worth March 26.

Speakers will be Chester Polson, of Fort Worth, first vice president of Texas Grain and Feed Association, and a director of the Fort Worth Grain Exchange, who will speak on agriculture; Charles F. Heidrick, of Dallas, general attorney for Southwest Production Division of Sun Oil Company, whose topic is economic development; and Joe M. Kilgore, Austin attorney and former Texas Congressman, who will speak on business-government relations.

Panelists will be Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, dean of the School of Agriculture at Texas Technological College, and D. C. Prince, immediate past president of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, in the field of agriculture; G. A. Mabry, regional manager of public relations for Humble Oil and Refining Company of Houston, and Jim Gaines of San Antonio, president of Southland Industries, both in economic development; and Dr. Joe Nelson, of Weatherford, a physician who is chairman of the National Affairs Committee of the West Texas Chamber, and Tom Sealy of Midland, an attorney who is chairman of the Texas Research League and chairman of the State Affairs Committee of the WTCC, both in business-government relations.

Berman Fisher, of Fort Worth, president of the West Texas Chamber and president of Texas Electric Service Company, will be keynote speaker in each city.

John Ben Sheppard, of Odessa, former Attorney General of Texas and longtime civic and business leader in West Texas, is general chairman of Infocade '65 for the West Texas Chamber.

Each day's program will be identical, beginning at 9:30 a.m. and adjourning at 2:30 p.m. and including a luncheon. Moderator for the sessions will be E. H. Danner, of San Angelo, president of General Telephone Company of the Southwest. Following each of the three principal speakers questions will be submitted to panelists and discussions will ensue.

The West Texas Chamber is setting up Infocade '65 in an attempt to inform businessmen and women about all phases of the area's economic life. It feels that each segment of the business picture needs to know more about the other segments' problems in order to build mutual support and seek possible solutions to all of the problems. Infocade '65 is also designed to encourage greater participation by West Texans in public affairs.

The only charge is $3 for the luncheon. Reservations may be made with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1581, Abilene, 79604.

The meetings will be in Midland's Theatre Centre Auditorium, in the Plainview High School Auditorium, and in Fort Worth's Hotel Texas.

Local Student At Tarleton State Participating In Practice Teaching

Tarleton State College launched a newly established program recently as 21 TSC seniors and graduates began student teaching in area junior and senior high schools.

The student teachers will be the first in the history of Tarleton State to meet the Texas Education Agency requirement for teacher certification in secondary education.

Previous to the certification, however, Tarleton graduates have been in demand as teachers in secondary schools throughout the state, according to Mrs. Virginia Yearwood, supervisor of secondary student teaching and assistant professor of education and psychology at the college.

Under guidance of secondary school teachers, the 21 Tarleton students started practice teaching Monday of last week in Stephenville, Dublin, Granbury, Rising Star and Gordon.

Seventeen of the 21 student teachers are assigned to the Stephenville public school system.

Student teachers in the science department at Stephenville High include La Quinn Cooper, Santa Anna, biology major, teaching general science.

"Student teaching is now recognized as joint responsibility and undertaking of both the colleges and public schools," Mrs. Yearwood said. She added that Tarleton has expressed its appreciation to cooperating schools for assuming this additional responsibility in the advancement of education.

Mrs. Yearwood is supervisor of student teaching at Stephenville, while Dr. Stuart Chilton, dean of student personnel services, is supervisor of student teaching at Dublin, Granbury, Rising Star, and Gordon.

I, Leland Thompson, hereby withdraw my candidacy for mayor of Santa Anna, in the election to be held on April 6, 1965.

I am withdrawing for job and personal reasons only. I urge every person that is eligible, to go to the polls and vote for James Ford for mayor; Alton Bengue and Earl Irick, Jr., for aldermen. West Texas Economic Prospects Are Subject Of Three Meetings This Week

Hundreds of top businessmen are expected to converge on Midland, Plainview and Fort Worth March 21-26 to take a close look at the problems and opportunities of West Texas' economy.

Experts in agriculture, economic development, and business-government relations will appear as speakers and panelists in Intecade '83, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Intecade '83 involves one day meetings in each of the cities on successive days with the chief or authorities traveling from one to the next to discuss with West Texas' leading businessmen some of their problems. The meetings are scheduled in Midland, March 24; Plainview,

March 25; and Fort Worth, March 26.

Speakers will be Chester Folsom, of Fort Worth, first vice president of Texas Grain and Feed Association, and a director of the Fort Worth Grain Exchange, who will speak on agriculture; Charles P. Heidrick, of Dallas, general attorney for Southwest Production Division of Sun Oil Company, whose topic is economic development; and Joe M. Klugere, Austin attorney and former Texas Congressman, who will speak on business-government relations.

Panelists will be Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, dean of the school of Agriculture at Texas Technological College, and D. C. Prince, immediate past president of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, in the field of agriculture; G. A. Mabry, regional manager of public relations for Humble Oil and Refining Company at Houston, and Jim Calmes of San Antonio, president of Southland Industries, both in economic development; and Dr. Joe Nelson, of Weatherford, a physician who is chairman of the National Affairs Committee of the West Texas Chamber, and Tom Bealy of Midland, an attorney who is chairman of the Texas Research League and chairman of the State Affairs Committee for the WTTC, both in business-government relations.

Beehan Fisher, of Fort Worth, president of the West Texas Chamber and president of Texas Electric Service Company, will be keynote speaker in each city.

John Ben Sheppard, of Odessa, former Attorney General of Texas and longtime civic and business leader in West Texas, is general chairman of Intecade '83 for the West Texas Chamber.

Each day's program will be identical, beginning at 9:30 a.m. and adjourning at 2:30 p.m. and including a luncheon. Moderator for the sessions will be E. H. Danner, of San Angelo, president of General Telephone Company of the Southwest. Following each of the three principal speakers questions will be submitted to panelists and discussions will ensue.

The West Texas Chamber is setting up Intecade '83 in an attempt to inform businessmen and women about all phases of the area's economic life. It feels that each segment of the business picture needs to know more about the other segments' problems in order to build mutual support and seek possible solutions to all of the problems. Intecade '83 is also designed to encourage greater participation by West Texans in public affairs.

The only charge is $3 for the luncheon. Reservations may be made with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1861, Abilene, 79604.

The meetings will be in Midland's Theatre Centre Auditorium, in the Plainview High School Auditorium, and in Fort Worth's Hotel Texas.

Local Student At Tarleton State Participating In Practice Teaching

Tarleton State College launched a newly established program recently as 21 TSC seniors and graduates began student teaching in area junior and senior high schools.

The student teachers will be the first in the history of Tarleton State to meet the Texas Education Agency requirement for teacher certification in secondary education.

Precious to the certification, however, Tarleton graduates have been in demand as teachers in secondary schools throughout the state, according to Mrs. Virginia Yearwood, supervisor of secondary student teaching and assistant professor of education and psychology at the college.

Under guidance of secondary school teachers, the 21 Tarleton students started practice teaching Monday of last week in Stephenville, Dublin, Granbury, Rising Star and Gordon.

Seventeen of the 21 student teachers are assigned to the Stephenville public school system.

Student teachers in the science department at Stephenville High include La Quim Cooper, Santa Anna, biology major, teaching general science.

"Student teaching is now recognized as joint responsibility and undertaking of both the colleges and public schools," Mrs. Yearwood said. She added that Tarleton has expressed its appreciation to cooperating schools for assuming this additional responsibility in the advancement of education.

Mrs. Yearwood is supervisor of student teaching at Stephenville, while Dr. Stuart Chilton, dean of student personnel services, is supervisor of student teaching at Dublin, Granbury, Rising Star, and Gordon.

Landscape Plans For Homeowners In Mail Course

Designing and developing home landscape plans depend on your family's needs and the property site. Needs vary, and so do properties, but there are certain principles you can follow in designing your home grounds.

Making the home grounds livable and attractive are the aims of landscape planning. However, family, budgets, community regulations and house architecture may limit your creative ambitions, according to a correspondence course in home landscaping, offered by The Pennsylvania State University.

Ideally, a building site has these characteristics: gently sloping land, a good view, large trees, oriented in favor of the sun but away from prevailing winds, easily accessible to schools, churches and shopping centers, and utilities available at property lines.

To teach home landscape design and planning, The Pennsylvania State University offers by correspondence course "Landscape Planning For Small Properties." Anyone may enroll by sending their name and address with $3.75 which is the only charge to Landscape Planning, Box 5000, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802. The entire course will be sent by return mail.
