SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, JULY 22, 1965

NUMBER 29

When we think of industry and of sources of employment in smaller cities such as ours, we usually picture a factory turning some product like egg crates or eye glasses.

However, there are many small industries going on in Santa Anna, industries that we sometimes fail to realize are here, from the standpoint of their value as a source of employment and as an addition to the economic strength of the community.

We were talking to a Santa Anna citizen recently who brought this point home to us quite strongly. He has been employing a number of local workers, doing home repairs, carpentry, roofing, and a number of other related services. During the recent rash of reroofing necessitated here in Santa Anna, this one man, with his small "industry" paid out more than $9,000 per month in wages.

Financial experts agree that any given amount of money spent in a community will change hands on an average of six times before leaving the city. This means that this one operation, this one "industry" increased the buying power of Santa Annans by some $54,000.

While we aim at getting new industries for our city, we need to remember, and to appreciate, those that we have now, operations that are providing many jobs that would otherwise not be available, and adding immeasurably to the economy of Santa Anna.

We are fortunate to have a base of industry here, both the smaller informal type described above, and the regular industry usually considered when the term is used, such as the tile company, the hospital, the nursing home, the burlap bag company, and some others. And all of these parts of the local economic picture, working together, along with new and increased industry we can bring in, will continue to add to the employment opportunities to be found here, to the prosperity of our retail stores and businesses, and to the purchasing power and economic wellbeing of all the people of our town.

Apparently, someone isn't satisfied with the quality of the jokes that appear in this column from time to time, since we received a clipping from a magazine in the mail the other day, anonymously, said clipping being the joke column from the magazine.

We don't know who sent this clipping, but since it appears to be scissored from a magazine about cotton ginning, we have our suspicions.

We also don't think much of the sense of humor of editors of cotton ginning magazines, after reading this offering.

We find two jokes in this list of levity that might be applied to us. One outlines the points of comparison between a newspaper and a woman, namely:

1. They both have forms.
2. Back numbers are not in demand.
3. They're well worth looking over.
4. They have a good deal of influence.
5. There's some demand for the boldface type.
6. They always have the last word.
7. Every man should have his own and not go borrowing his neighbor's.

The funniest part of that whole mess, we think, is the part about influence.

The other story we thought might be referring to us is about the young lady that asked her friend, "Do you have papers for your new puppy?" "We sure do," was the answer, "All over the floor."

Or maybe this was the story that reminded the sender of this material: "You've got to help my husband, Doctor," says the woman to the psychiatrist. "He has delusions and thinks he's an elevator."

"That's serious," was the reply, "You send him to me, and I'll try to straighten him out." "Oh, I can't do that," the woman answered, "he's an express, and he doesn't stop at your floor."

Which reminds us of one of our favorite stories, about the parents, that took their daughter to the psychiatrist. When asked about the daughter's problem, the parents explained that she thought she was a hen.

The doctor asked how long the daughter had suffered from this strange delusion. "About two years," was the answer.

"Two years," the doctor exclaimed, "Why are you just now getting around to bringing her here for help?"

"Well, you see Doc," explained the father, "Things haven't been going too well for us, and we needed the eggs."

County Soldier Gets Promotion Recently

Thomas W. Starkey, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Starkey, Route 2, Box 12-A, Bangs, was promoted to specialist five, June 25, at Fort Hood.

Specialist Starkey, a clerk in Company A, 2nd Battalion of the Division's 46th Infantry, entered the Army in August 1963 and completed basic training at Fort Polk, Louisiana.

He was graduated from Bangs High School in 1963.

ever to be given by the Army. The awards are being made to outstanding ROTC students who will be entering their junior year of college this fall. Each scholarship will pay for tuition, textbooks, and fees and will provide the recipient with an allowance of $50 a month for the duration of his award.

Stearns is enrolled at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, where he has completed two years of ROTC training. He was nominated for the scholarship by his professor of military science and college officials on the basis of his academic and extracurricular record, performance during his first two years of ROTC, the scores he received on the ROTC qualification test, his physical qualifications, and interviews by Army officers and faculty members to determine that he is highly motivated toward a career as an Army officer.

The scholarships are the first to be awarded to students in the Army ROTC program, which provides approximately 85 percent of the new officers entering the Army each year. This is approximately twenty times the number of officers commissioned at West Point annually.

This year about 11,800 ROTC graduates from 247 colleges and universities are being commissioned as second lieutenants in the Regular Army or the Army Reserve.

In approximately two weeks, the Secretary of the Army will announce the names of 400 high school graduates who will receive four year ROTC scholarships, with the same benefits as the two year awards.

The scholarships were authorized by the ROTC Vitalization Act, which President Lyndon B. Johnson signed last October 13. It authorized Army scholarships to be awarded each year until a maximum of 5,500 are in effect by the 1970-1971 school year.

The new teachers will be hired to fill spots vacated by Wanna Lou Lloyd, Virginia Sykes, and Fred Gilbert, respectively.

One new teacher has been hired so far for the upcoming school year, Cam Shields, who will serve as assistant high school coach, and will teach English. Shields is presently teaching the makeup class in English now in progress.

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith today announced the appointment of Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman, of San Angelo, to the Senate General Investigating Committee, of the 59th Legislature.

The powerful, five member committee, considered one of the most important interim groups in the State Senate, has sweeping powers to inquire into law violations, administration of state laws, matters affecting state government revenues and expenditures, and the affairs and activities of governmental departments and institutions which in any way affect the financial or other welfare of Texas government or Texas citizens.

Specialist Barrington was graduated in 1961 from Santa Anna High School.

Before entering the Army, Barrington was employed by Dunham & Young, in Fort Worth.

New System Of Marking Slowmoving Vehicles To Increase Safety On Roads

A comprehensive safety program being inaugurated in Texas and other states could sharply reduce losses of life and property caused by rear end collisions with slow moving vehicles on public roadways.

Farmers, contractors, and others who operate vehicles at speeds under 25 miles per hour can use a simple, inexpensive warning device to alert motorists in time to slow down. Developed through extensive research at the University of Ohio, the brilliant two colored triangular symbol is endorsed by the National Safety Council, American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Automotive Safety Foundation, and other groups.

An educational program aimed at developing widespread use by farmers and other operators of slow vehicles and acquainting the general public with its meaning is being coordinated by the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department.

Joe Smetana, TFB safety director, said the SMV emblem is intended to supplement and not replace other warning safely devices such as red lights, red flags, and so forth. Use at the present time is on a voluntary basis only, but some states either have passed laws or have legislation pending making it mandatory on certain types of vehicles.

'No Riders' Asks Volunteer Firemen

The Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department has asked that persons who are not members of the Fire Department not ride on firetrucks on the way to answer calls.

A spokesman for the Volunteers met with the City Council recently to request that an ordinance be passed prohibiting unauthorized persons from riding on the trucks on the way to fires. They were informed that such a law is already on the books.

The spokesman pointed out that only persons authorized to ride on, or drive, the firetrucks should be aboard while the vehicles are making runs. If a person who is not a member of the Department should be injured while riding on the truck under such circumstances, it is doubtful if his injuries would be covered by insurance, a city official said.

The emblem and optional mounting assemblies can be purchased at a very nominal cost through county Farm Bureaus, Smetana said. Non Farm Bureau members can purchase them at the same low price members pay, and plans are being made to have them sold through implement dealers and other similar businesses in most counties, according to the TFB safety director.

Smetana said the research at Ohio State University revealed that two out of three accidents involving slow moving vehicles are rear end collisions. These rear end collisions account for two thirds of the fatalities and injuries and 70 percent of the property damage in accidents involving slow and fast moving vehicles. A majority of the injuries and fatalities occur to the operator of the slow moving vehicle. Nine out of every ten of the accidents occur in daylight hours on dry highways, according to the studies.

The emblem, made of lightweight aluminum material, has a solid center triangle of fluorescent orange with a one and three-quarter inch outer border of red reflective material. The orange material has been proven to be highly visible to approaching motorists at distances exceeding one fifth mile. At night, the reflective border glows brilliantly in the path of oncoming headlights—producing a hollow, red triangle which immediately identifies a slow moving vehicle. The overall dimensions are 16 inches wide and 14 inches high. It should be mounted at the rear of the vehicle, three to five feet from the ground.

BALANCE

It is said of a certain friend of ours that he went off the deep end. Strange expression, that! It can mean that a person had a mental breakdown, or that he became a sort of fanatic; or it can mean simply that he got too interested in one thing to the exclusion of other important matters.

And the very fact that our generation has coined such an idiom is indicative of the fact that we see such tragedy every day.

One of the vital contributions of religion to life is its gift of balance. The knowledge of God helps a man see all else in its proper perspective.

In a day when millions are caught in turbulent crosscurrents, faith points to the true center of existence... worship steadies the mind and heart!

On days when the heat is unbearable, people go to the lakes or beaches to be cool and comfortable. The cool breeze of the lake or sea shore is air in motion that has been cooled by the process of water evaporation. This same process is created by a Paramount Evaporative Cooler. The large squirrel cage blower continuously pulls outside air through wet redwood filters thereby lowering the temperature through evaporation of water in the filters. This cool, fresh, filtered air is then directed into the area to be cooled.

Some of the advantages of a Paramount Cooler are:

- Low cost of equipment, operation and maintenance
- Quick and easy installation
- Maximum comfort at all times
- 100% fresh, cooled, filtered air
- Fresh air ventilation, without cooling, for spring and fall—just turn off the water

See the Paramount DeVille evaporative cooler at your WTU Showroom.

Eastern Star Chapter Holds Patriotic Meet

The patriotic program "The Spirit of America" was presented during the stated meeting of Santa Anna chapter 247, Order of Eastern Star, Monday night, July 19. Those taking part on the program include, Mrs. Richard Bass, Mrs. Carmen Donham, Mrs. Roy West, Richard Bass, Mrs. Cliff Herndon, H. W. Gray, Jack Bostick, Mrs. Montie Guthrie, Mrs. Murray Cooper, Mrs. Jack Bostick, and Mrs. Nora Goen.

In the business session the group voted to meet each fourth Monday night for study classes, the first to be held Monday, July 26. It was also voted to have a called meeting on Friday, August 13, at 8 p.m. for initiation ceremony.

During the social hour the group assembled in Fellowship hall, where Mrs. D. H. Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mobley, served refreshments of cake, ice cream, nuts and punch. The hall was decorated throughout with arrangements of a large Bible, a small American Flag and Zinnias. An open hand white ceramic vase, holding flag and Zinnias, was on the Altar. The serving table held a large white bowl, centered with figurine, representing the spirit of America, with three small flags at the back and Marigolds around her feet.

Fruit Among Best Buys This Week

Supplies of new crop peaches and plums are beginning to arrive at the supermarkets. Prices are expected to decrease on these products during the next few weeks.

The peach crop was approximately two weeks late in maturing in many growing areas, but supplies are now on the increase, reports Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Santa Rosa plums now on the market have a good flavor and are of excellent quality. The present supply is coming from California. This plum variety is dark red in color, with a purplish cast when mature and thoroughly ripe. Consumers can be assured of good quality by selecting fruit that is plump, clean, of fresh appearance, full colored for variety, and soft enough to yield to slight pressure. If plums are not fully ripe when bought, allow them to ripen at room temperature for three to four days.

Cantaloupes and watermelons continue as good choices at the fruit counters.

Fresh vegetable now available in ample supply are tomatoes, blackeye peas, purple hull peas, red potatoes, eggplant, carrots, bell peppers, hot peppers, radishes, and green onions. Head lettuce prices are somewhat lower and the quality is good.

Fryer prices declined slightly during the past week, and there are good buys on the whole birds and fryer parts. Although the broiler output is about six percent ahead of that for the corresponding period a year ago, higher beef and pork prices now are stimulating demand for poultry and providing less meat counter competition.

Retail beef prices are steady with prices for the past couple of weeks. Look for best beef values on round steaks and roasts, ground beef, chuck roasts and steaks. Some stores are featuring beef "specials" at quite a saving.

Black Bass Or Blue Marlin?

Most fishermen read about the great international fishing tournaments, held in the Caribbean or off the coast of South America, with teams of the greatest fishing experts representing their countries in the competition, and the weekend angler dreams a little maybe of catching a giant blue marlin or a recordbreaking sailfish, and taking home the trophy from the international fishing tournament.

Well, we have a fishing tournament going on in Santa Anna now. The fishing will be done in the Colorado rather than in the Caribbean, and in Lake Brownwood rather than in Latin America; and the fish that win will be black bass instead of blue marlin, and catfish rather than tuna or tarpon; but the idea is the same, and for those of us who probably will never fish in international competition in the South Seas, it is a chance to pit our piscatorial skill against our fellow fishermen. And its a lot more fun to catch a five pound bass than to dream of catching a 500 pound marlin.

The Santa Anna Jaycee Fishing Rodeo is beginning to draw its first entries. Instead of silver cups for the winners, the Jaycees are awarding much more practical prizes—fishing gear.

It only costs a dollar to enter this competition, which lasts all the rest of 1965, and which entitles you to enter as many fish as you like. This is quite a bargain, somewhat cheaper than flying to Jamaica for swordfish. And the dollar you pay for your entry fee will help finance the programs of the Santa Anna Junior Chamber of Commerce, a group of young men dedicated to making our city a better place in which to live (and fish).

So enter the Jaycee Fishing Rodeo this week. Even if you don't wet a hook for the rest of the year, it's still all in a good cause.

Let's Make Santa Anna Safe

Santa Annans have been involved in at least three traffic accidents on city streets within the past weeks, and one of which could have resulted in serious injury or death, and all of which resulted in property damage.

The City Council has asked for the cooperation of Santa Anna motorists in keeping the highway in front of the Post Office clear during the rush hours in the morning and the evening. This request is made for the good of the individual driver, to protect him from throughbound drivers who often fall to slow down as much as they should when passing through town, and to protect the city, since a rash of downtown auto accidents could cause the highway authorities to reroute the highway north of the Mountain or south of town, which would be a death warrant for Santa Anna.

Everyone who drives an automobile is presumably adult and mature enough to accept the responsibilities involved. Let's cooperate with the city officials to remove the danger of serious auto accidents from our streets.

What Happened To The Rain?

We suggest that the board of directors of the Coleman Rodeo Association fire the vice president in charge of rain. The rainfall during the recently completed edition of the annual rodeo was very little, did hardly any good at all, and was certainly not worth all the trouble involved in putting on the rodeo. Since the main purpose for producing the rodeo is to obtain rain for area crops, lawns, and pastures, we will have to call the 1965 version a failure, and urge that the officers of the sponsoring organization see to it that they do better next year.

TAILS HE'S GUILTY

The hour was late and the jurors were weary of trying to decide whether the defendant had really committed the crime. Finally one exasperated juror proposed that they toss a coin.

"Tails he's guilty, heads he's innocent!"

Everyone agreed to abide by the toss. And, in obedience to the tails that turned up, they brought in a verdict of guilty. But when the facts came to the attention of the court, the verdict was set aside.

For the law does not recognize coin-tossing as a legitimate method of doing the job of a jury. Nor does it recognize cutting cards or drawing lots, which jurors have also been known to try. As one court put it:

"Nothing short of a free and deliberate finding, made upon a conscientious conviction of the judgments of all the jurors, will satisfy the law."

Another shortcut, sometimes resorted to by a jury in fixing the amount of damages, is known as the "quotient verdict". In this method, each juror writes down how many dollars he recommends. Then the figures are added up and divided by 12 to get the final amount.

It is true that the quotient verdict is not as haphazard as the coin verdict. It is also true that such calculations could be a helpful step in the process of deliberating.

Nevertheless, courts generally frown on quotient verdicts. The main objectionable feature is the agreement, in advance, to be bound by a mathematical result—no matter how high or how low. The juror who does that abdicates his responsibility, disdains his oath, and cheats the opposing party of the "day in court" they are entitled to have. Quite properly, jurors are reluctant to wind up deadlocked. (One jury, rather than admit defeat, brought in a verdict of "almost guilty.")

And quite properly, jurors want to speed the wheels of justice.

But speed is not all-important. Of what value is a quick verdict that makes a mockery of trial by jury? Better slow justice than no justice.

Fabric Term Are Key To Intelligent Clothing Purchase

Consumers are often confused over technical terms in the clothing field, says Lynn Parks, Texas A&M University Extension consumer education specialist.

Here are some helpful definitions of often misunderstood terms:

"Delayed cure" is a new textile finishing process which gives wash and wear clothing an exceptional ability to retain its shape during wear after laundering. It also permits the setting of durable creases and pleats to last the life of the garment.

The mercerizing process is a chemical treatment for improving the appearance and performance of cotton. When immersed in a solution of caustic soda, cotton becomes "fulled" or shrunken. This treatment gives cotton greater strength, a smoother surface, improved affinity for dyes, more absorbency, and reduces shrinkage to a minimum. When yarns are treated under tension, they take on greater luster. The purpose is now widely used on yarns for quality knit goods, on cotton for sewing threads, for Schiffl lace and embroidery, and as a finishing technique for fine shirtings, dress materials, upholstery, drapery, and other fabrics.

"Doubleknit fabric" is made by knitting on machines equipped with two sets of needles. A doubleknit fabric is heavier than singleknits and its two sides have different appearances. Doubleknits are often nonclinging, durable and free from excessive stretching. They are washable and many can be safely machine washed with moderate agitation, using warm soap or detergent suds and rinse water.

If you use weed control chemicals on your lawn, be sure the drift does not carry into flower beds and landscape plantings, reminds Wendell Horne, Extension plant pathologist at Texas A&M University.

State Capital NEWS

Rising insurance rates continue to stir up most of the excitement in the state capital.

A Dallas attorney, Bert Bader, filed suit in the 98th District Court here challenging legality of the State Insurance Board's order boosting insurance premiums an average of 13.4 percent.

In asking the Court to set aside the recent order, which hiked some key liability and collision rates more than 20 percent, Bader maintained that the state law under which premiums are set is unconstitutional. He also criticized the Board's allowance of 37 percent of premium income for company expenses and its failure to consider the investment income of insurance firms in fixing rates.

Bader pointed out that Texas' laws virtually make it mandatory that Texans buy auto insurance. Therefore, the arbitrary increase in rates violates due process of law.

Another factor cited by Bader is that the Board failed to take into consideration the actual operating expenses of the insurance companies affected.

He also said that the accident rate is decreasing.

For these and other reasons he contends that the new rate, to become effective on August 1, is grossly excessive.

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT

State Railroad Commission set August oil production allowable at 2,905,312 barrels a day, a slight reduction from the July allowable of 2,911,115.

Figure is based on a formula of 28 percent of potential, compared with 23.1 percent for July.

August, 1964, allowable was 2,794,312 under a 26.5 percent factor.

SCHOOL PER CAPITA SET

State Board of Education set per capita fund apportionment to local school districts for 1965-1966 at $80.65 per pupil.

Well over $100,000,000 will be distributed on the basis of 2,559,208 scholastics. This represents an increase of 15 cents each.

Meeting for the last time as the junior college supervisory board, the officials approved new junior college districts for Bee and McLennan Counties and denied one sought by Maverick County.

They referred to the newly named Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities applications for new institutions in Jefferson and Scurry Counties and joint petitions from Van Zandt, Kaufman and Rains Counties.

New Coordinating Board takes over junior college jurisdiction on September 1.

A variety of new school policies was laid down by the Board of Education, including rules for new vocational school districts, special education programs and "merit pay" raises for teachers. Chandler School District was accredited for one year probationary period.

Board advised River Road Independent School District (near Amarillo) of possible violation of accreditation standards in its unauthorized start of a ninth grade. Consideration of formal application for the additional grade will be delayed.

POVERTY PROGRAMS APPROVED

Governor Connally has approved application of Community Council of Austin and Travis County for a $529,706 community action grant under the Economic Opportunity Act. Project is aimed at combating causes of poverty in the capital.

Connally also announced approval of Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in New Braunfels, San Antonio, Pharr, Abilene, Danglerfield, Pasadena, Galveston, and Carthage.

He said that new teaching methods at the Gary Job Corps Training Center near San Marcos (model installation in nation's war on poverty program) may well result in "a complete revamping of vocation and technical education in Texas."

Base soon will be offering 36 of the most modern vocational courses. A group of top industrialists, working in an organization known as Opportunities Incorporated, helped set up the curriculum and obtain up to date equipment.

BIG BISON

Research by the Texas Archeological Salvage Program—under contract with the National Park Service—reveals that the kind of buffalo which roamed Texas some 8,000 years ago were at least twice the size of present day buffalo.

Those facts, covered over and obliterated by centuries of deposited earth, are coming to light in an ever broadening program of archeological field and laboratory work concentrated mainly in areas to be covered by reservoirs.

Contracts for such programs have been negotiated with archeologists at the University of Texas, Texas Tech, and Texas Western. Southern Methodist University will start a program this fall.

Beginning September 1, a $12,000 a year salary will be available for an archeologist to be a member of the staff of the reconstituted Building Commission.

VANISHING BOARD

Texas Commission on Higher Education held its last meetings prior to being replaced on September 1 by the yet-to-be-named Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities.

Commission approved 23 program and reorganization proposals of state colleges and universities. In summarizing results of its nine years Commission concluded it had done a good job but wished even greater success to the new Coordinating Board.

Texas Highway Department has received an award of merit from National Safety Council for its 1964 safety record among employees.

A Texas Highway Department survey shows that a total of 11,700,000 tourists came to Texas by auto last year for an all time record. They added $524,700,000 to Texas' economy.

Read II Corinthians 4:6-11

Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer... be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life. (Revelation 2:10.)

On a dark night following a tropical storm, I stepped out onto the porch. Unrelieved gloom shrouded everything. No star shone in the sky, and no lights were showing from the doorways of village houses across the valley. Then I was surprised to see above my head a bit of yellow light flashing on and off. Though small, it was vivid and cheering.

On investigation, I found it to be a glowworm on the ceiling of the porch—alone and out of its natural environment, but continuing to shine. Either the storm had driven the little glowworm there, or for some other reason it had completely lost its way. Nevertheless, its bright glow was undimmed.

The Christian slaves of Caesar's household, as have countless Christians ever since, bravely let their lights shine through times of danger, disaster, and suffering. The dark nights of discouragement need never be without their guiding gleam if we are faithful in our witness.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy faithfulness to us and for all those whose courage and trust in Thee have enabled them to endure. Do Thou so sustain us, O Lord, as we try to bear witness to Thy saving and keeping power. This we pray in the name of Jesus, our Savior and Master. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

I will do today what I can where I am and leave the rest in God's hands.
