A little fellow was out walking his little yellow dog one day, when a big bully type came along with a big, mean looking bulldog. He began to sic the bulldog on the little guy's little yellow dog.

"You better not let your dog get close to mine," warned the little guy.

"Ha, what could a little yellow dog like that do to this big bulldog of mine?" was the reply. And with that the bulldog leaped on the little yellow dog. For a few seconds, things seemed to be going in favor of the bulldog, but then the little yellow dog opened his mouth, took one bite, and ate the bulldog up.

"Ye gods," yelled the big guy, "what do you call that kind of dog?"

"Well, before I cut off his tail and painted him yellow," was the reply, "I called him an alligator."

Do you sometimes get the feeling that you are just snake-bitten about one thing or another? We have that feeling about W. B. (Lefty) Gilbreath. Or at least about his name. A few weeks ago, we got our signals completely crossed, and identified the fire marshal of the Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department as Clarence Gilbert, which was news to him, since he didn't even belong to the Fire Department. We got that straightened out and mentioned Mr. Gilbreath again, in this column, but this time the type-setter and the proofreader couldn't read our handwriting (which is understandable, since it has been likened to the markings of a drunk chicken trying to write an Arabic quotation in Chinese, which is a generous description) and it came out "Wib" Gilbreath. Anyhow, they say that the third time is a charm, so we will try again. The name is W. B. Gilbreath. Proof-reader please note.

The local representative of the Social Security office, with headquarters in Abilene, stopped by the other day to thank us for running a story in the paper recently about increased benefits for recipients of Social Security. He said that his office received 11 inquiries as a result of the story, and each of these people said they had seen the information in The News. Of these 11 inquiries, four were entitled to receive more Social Security benefits than they are now getting. It is something like this, knowing that subscribers are reading and benefiting from the paper, that makes all the headaches involved in putting it out worthwhile.

We notice restoration work is continuing on the old building west of town, probably the oldest building in the Santa Anna area. We are fortunate that we have people like Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bruce who are more interested in preserving our early heritage than in tearing it down.

Fred Murray and family left last week to attend a hospital conference in San Francisco. On the way, they suddenly noticed that their luggage, which was in a carrier atop their car, was missing, had fallen off. They retraced their route, but to no avail.

We have just decided that if we have an operation, we don't want Administrator Murray anywhere around. No telling what might get left inside when they sew us up.

Anyone who believes in the term "dumb dog" ought to come by our beagle ranch. We came out the other day, a real scorcher, to find that one of our puppies had solved the problem quite well. The eight week old hound was sitting in the water bucket, immersed up to his neck, as cool and as happy as could be.

Pierre Rowe was once introduced to a sword swallower. Never having seen one in action, he asked for a demonstration. The sword swallower thereupon gulped down some needles and pins.

"But those aren't swords," protested Pierre, "they're just pins and needles."

"I know," replied the sword swallower, "I'm on a diet."

Lions Pancake Fiesta, Lots Of Other Doings, Scheduled For Saturday Here

The Santa Anna Lions Club will sponsor an Aunt Jemima Pancake Fiesta this Saturday, September 4, beginning at 10:00 a.m. and continuing until 1:30. Following a two hour break, the doors will open at 3:30 p.m. and hungry pancake eaters will be served all the flapjacks, bacon, coffee and milk they can hold until the last one is full.

Purpose of the Pancake Fiesta is to raise funds for the many worthy projects sponsored by the local Lions Club.

In connection with the Lions Pancake Fiesta, many other activities are being planned. For instance, a bingo game will be going on in the building immediately east of the Santa Anna Lions Club Building, beginning also about 10:00 a.m., and continuing until all prizes are won. It will cost just ten cents, one thin dime, to win fame and fortune at the bingo game. This activity is also sponsored by the Lions Club, and proceeds go into the Club's coffers.

A series of drawings for prizes will be going on all day, with tickets available at Santa Anna stores with purchases. The following schedule will be observed for the drawings: At Piggly Wiggly at 10:00 a.m.; G&E Hardware at 10:30 a.m.; Hosch Grocery at 11:00 a.m.; Brown's Grocery at 11:30 a.m.; Phillips Drug Store at 1:00 p.m.; Harvey Grocery at 1:30 p.m.; Moore Mercantile at 2:00 p.m.; Williams Grocery at 2:30 p.m.; Horner Premier Station at 3:00 p.m.; Burden Mobil Station at 3:30 p.m.; and Smith Humble Station at 4:00 p.m.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick To Retire After 29 Years Of Service

Mrs. Theo Kirkpatrick, who has served as cashier of the Santa Anna office of the Coleman Gas Company, will retire the latter part of this month following her annual vacation. Mrs. Kirkpatrick has served in this capacity for 29 years and has watched the system grow from 213 customers in 1936 to over 600 customers, including those acquired in 1950 from another gas company.

Mrs. Lera Guthrie of Santa Anna has been employed to handle the Santa Anna office of the gas company and has assumed her new duties September 1. She has previously been employed by Coleman County State Bank in Coleman.

W. H. (Bill) Cupps has also been retired after serving Coleman Gas Company for over 30 years. More recently he has been a service representative in the Santa Anna Distribution System. Prior to that he was Production Foreman in the Santa Anna Gas Field. He came to the Coleman Gas Company from the Gladys Belle Oil Company.

Santa Anna Voters Go To The Polls Tuesday To Ballot On Amendment

Coleman County voters will join citizens across the state of Texas in voting on an amendment to the state constitution on Tuesday, September 7.

The proposed amendment, title Senate Joint Resolution number 44, provides for the increase of the Texas State Senate from the present number of 31 members to a new total of 39. Purpose of the amendment, introduced by State Senator Louis Crump, of San Saba, former Coleman County Attorney, is to provide continued adequate representation for rural sections of the state in connection with the reapportionment changes that will have to be made in the organization of the state legislature under the recent United States Supreme Court ruling of "one man one vote."

Proponents of the measure, in addition to pointing out the importance of maintaining representation of rural and less populated areas in state government, also list as advantages of the proposed amendment the fact that the increased number of state senators will allow important committee assignments to be distributed among a larger number, thus cutting down on the individual workload of the senators brought about by the growing complexity of government, and thus allowing the state senators to do a better job. Also listed as an advantage is the fact that the larger number of state senators will make it more difficult for powerful lobbies and interest groups to gain control of a majority of the senate.

Principle argument advanced by opponents to the measure is that it will increase the cost of state government by the amount of the salaries of the eight new state senators.

Santa Anna voters will cast their ballots at the polling place set up in the old Stevenson Building, former location of the Hardy Blue Hardware Store, located between the offices of The Santa Anna News and the Santa Anna Lions Club Building.

Local Schools Open Monday This Week

The 1965-1966 school year got underway Monday, August 30, in the Santa Anna Independent School District.

Final enrollment figures are not yet available, according to Superintendent Cullen Perry, but the enrollment in Santa Anna High School shows a total of approximately 131, while there are about 276 students enrolled in elementary school here.

This compares with a total of 129 enrolling at the start of the year at Santa Anna High School last season, with 254 in the elementary grades at the beginning of the 1964-1965 year.

Santa Anna schools began their 73rd year of operation Monday. The first graduating class from Santa Anna High School was in 1892. The present school district was organized in 1904, comprising an initial area of 25 square miles.

The present high school building was finished in 1927, with first classes being held there in 1928.

Booklet On Medicare Now Available Here

R. R. Tuley, Jr., District Manager of Social Security in Abilene, has advised that a new booklet OASI-1965-1, entitled "Health Insurance for the Aged"—a brief explanation of "Medicare" is now available at his office. He has suggested that all persons over 65 years of age should write for a copy of this booklet. The request should be addressed to the Social Security Administration, Box 3258, Abilene, Texas 79604.

Sites For New Housing Units Here Are Selected

Sites have been selected for the next units to be constructed by the Santa Anna Housing Authority, according to a report received this week.

The three sites, two for elderly residents and one for families, were selected by Jerra Wilcox, chief of the regional land office of the United States Public Housing Administration, during a visit in Santa Anna on Tuesday, August 24.

The 18 new units will be divided into 12 units for elderly residents and six for family occupancy. One six dwelling unit for elderly will be located on the half block between Wallis Avenue and Santa Fe Avenue, facing Santa Fe. The second unit for elderly residents will be located on South First Street, north of Hosch Funeral Home. The six unit family section will be located on South Third Street.

Architectural work is underway, and construction is expected to begin before too long.

Increases In Social Security Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series prepared for our readers by R. R. Tuley, Jr., District Manager for the Social Security Administration at Abilene, Texas.

The most important effect that will be felt in 1965 from the recently adopted Amendments to the Social Security Act will be that on certain students aged 18 to 22, and on all current beneficiaries of the old age, disability, and survivors insurance portions of the law.

An unmarried student, whose parent is entitled to retirement or disability benefits, or whose parent is deceased and was insured under Social Security, can now be paid (effective with January, 1965) monthly benefits while he is a full time student—in high school, college, or university, vocational or trade school. Any such student, or his parent, should immediately write the Social Security district office for free leaflet number OASI-1965-4. If he feels that he is eligible, then prompt contact should be made with the Social Security office, or with a representative of that office when he is in or near the student's location.

All current beneficiaries under Social Security will receive a 7 percent increase in their benefit rates. This, too, is effective as of January 1965. With some 20 million such amounts to be refigured, the following timetable will be employed. The checks due to arrive about September 3 (for August) will be in the same old amount. Then in mid or late September an extra check to cover the raise for the months of January-August will be mailed out. Checks mailed for delivery about October 3 (for September) will be in the new rates. For example, a person who has been receiving a $60 check will get a $60 check about September 3, a $33.60 check about September 20th, and a $64.20 check about October 3. No action needs be taken by such beneficiaries as this will be done automatically.

General Simpson said that in a single week the Division has shown a net increase of 92 men—more than double the rate of gain over the past five years.

He said the highest areas in the state for recruiting are the Waco and Brownwood regions. He noted that the Third Battalion of the 143rd Infantry, headquartered in Waco, had a recent net gain of 18 men in a single week.

Gains by battalions in Waco and Brownwood (First Battalion of the 142nd Infantry) have brought those outfits almost to the high strength level already maintained by the 141st Infantry's First Battalion in San Antonio and Second Battalion in Corpus Christi.

The Medicare provisions under Social Security for persons past age 65 will not begin until July 1, 1966.

Santa Anna Co-op Gin Sets Annual Meet

The Santa Anna Cooperative Gin will hold a meeting for its members on Saturday, September 4, beginning at 7:30 p.m. with a free barbecue supper, followed by a business meeting and the election of directors.

All customers and visitors are welcome. Stockholders are urged to attend, according to Pierre Rowe, manager.

Two directors will be elected this year, with the selection to be among Emzy Brown, R. A. Milligan, Garland Powell, and W. C. (Bill) Price. Brown and Milligan are incumbents.

Miss Doris Belle Turner, of El Paso, has been visiting in the home of her parents the past two weeks. Miss Turner, a member of the American Institute of Architects, will do graduate study in Architecture at Berkeley University in California this fall.

Junior Rodeo Set For Next Monday

The second annual Library Board Junior Rodeo will get underway at 1:30 p.m. on Labor Day, Monday, September 6, at the Buddy Neff Arena, four miles north of Santa Anna.

Approximately 100 junior rodeo contestants participated in last year's event, and a larger entry is expected this year.

Seventeen events are on the final list, and there will be no entry fee for contestants. Ribbons will be awarded to all winners.

Local Guard Unit Leads State In Men

Enlistments in Texas' 36th Infantry Division since late June have taken their biggest upswing in five years, according to division commander Major General Selden Simpson.

In the past eight weeks, the division has shown a net gain equal to nearly four percent of its authorized manpower, General Simpson said this week in a statement from his Camp Mabury headquarters.

General Simpson, an Amarillo attorney, said it is "only a matter of time until getting into the Texas Army National Guard will be a waiting-in-line proposition."

The rise in recruiting, he said, apparently is due to increased draft quotas, new Guard enlistment regulations, and a final Congressional decision on Guard-Army Reserve merger talk.

"A net gain of 360 men in the division in the last eight weeks the state and with the present rate of enlistment the division has put the 36th at its highest strength since 1963," General Simpson said. "Percentage-wise, the increase is the steepest since 1957."

"We have units that are now over their authorized strength," he said. "This will level out over will be full."

"Already, entry into our Guard units is getting to be a competitive thing, and we'll see more of that in days to come."

General Simpson said that in a single week the Division has shown a net increase of 92 men—more than double the rate of gain over the past five years.

He said the highest areas in the state for recruiting are the Waco and Brownwood regions. He noted that the Third Battalion of the 143rd Infantry, headquartered in Waco, had a recent net gain of 18 men in a single week.

Gains by battalions in Waco and Brownwood (First Battalion of the 142nd Infantry) have brought those outfits almost to the high strength level already maintained by the 141st Infantry's First Battalion in San Antonio and Second Battalion in Corpus Christi.

The Medicare provisions under Social Security for persons past age 65 will not begin until July 1, 1966.

Contest Starting In Paper This Week Gives Chance To Test Skill, Win Prizes

A new contest for Santa Anna football fans appears in this issue of The Santa Anna News. Sponsored by The News and three progressive merchants, Phillips Drug Store, The Steak House, and Richard Horner Premier Station, the contest will run each week during the football season.

By selecting the teams they think will win the games each week involving the five District 9A schools, local contestants can match their football knowledge against everyone else in town, and can win prizes each week. First place in the competition each week will be worth a five dollar gift certificate from one of the sponsoring businesses. Second place will be worth two free reserved seat tickets to the next Mountaineer home game, and the thirdplace winner will receive a one year subscription to The Santa Anna News. If the thirdplace is already a subscriber to The News, the prize subscription can either be added to the present subscription, or used as a gift subscription for someone else.

In case of ties in the number of winners selected, a blank is provided in the entry form for prediction of the score of the Santa Anna game. The contestant coming closest to the actual score will be declared winner in case of ties. If two contestants tie on both number of winners and score, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Turn over to page seven, read

Deadline for entries is Saturday, September 4. Rodeo office is at the Santa Anna Insurance Agency, 615 Wallis Avenue, in Santa Anna, where information can be obtained and entries made. Telephone number is FIreside 8-3881.

Admission to the big event will be 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for children. All proceeds from the Junior Rodeo go to the Santa Anna Library Fund for improving the City Library.

Concessions will be available at the grounds, under chairmanship of Charlotte Mosely.

Mrs. Elgean Harris is president of the Santa Anna Library Board, and is in charge of general arrangements for the rodeo.

Events on the program include the grand entry; calf riding for eight year olds and under; steer riding for ages nine to 12; girls barrel races for age eight and under, for ages nine through 12, and for ages 12 through 19; cow milking, a team event with two boys and one girl per team; girls goat tying; cow riding for ages 13 through 16; pole bending competition for ages 12 and under, and for ages 13 through 19; rescue races for age 12 and under, and for ages 13 through 19; boot scrambles for the 12 year olds and under, and for the 13 through 19 age bracket; calf roping; and bull riding, for age 17 and over, this last event carrying a five dollar jackpot prize.

Legislation Without Representation

Every person living in our part of Texas has a lot at stake this coming Tuesday, September 7.

This is the day when Texas voters go to the polls to vote on Senate Joint Resolution number 44, a proposed amendment to the Texas constitution.

Why is this so important? Because this amendment is designed to counteract the effects of the recent Supreme Court decision that held that the system of government described in the United States Constitution—one house based on population, the other of geographical area—is unconstitutional. This decision, if applied to our present State Senate, would almost eliminate fair representation for the large rural areas of our state. The proposed amendment to the state constitution to be voted on Tuesday, by enlarging the State Senate from the present 31 members to 39 members, will meet the requirements laid down by the Supreme Court, and at the same time preserve adequate representation for the more sparsely populated areas of Texas—such as our part of the state.

The two largest industries in Texas are two industries that are located primarily in rural areas. The oil industry adds three billion dollars a year to the Texas economy, and agriculture is a close second with 2.4 billion dollars. More people are employed in farm-related fields than in the steel, automobile, transportation, and public utilities industries combined. A full 40 percent of the employed persons in Texas work in agriculturally related fields. And yet, if the proposed amendment fails to pass, these two rural industries, representing huge amounts of income and great numbers of workers, will be without effective representation.

And you, and each citizen in our part of the state, will be without effective representation.

This is the main reason why a vote for the proposed amendment is in the best interest of each citizen of Coleman County and surrounding area. In an interview with The Santa Anna News recently, Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith said: "If voters in the less populated portions of the state fail to vote in favor of the amendment, it will only be because they fail to understand it."

Increasing the number of members in one of our representative houses to give improved representation has strong precedent. When the state constitution was originally written, it allowed for 90 members of the state House of Representatives. In subsequent enlargements, that number has been raised to 150, to provide adequate representation.

If the proposed amendment fails to carry, it will mean that there will be districts in Texas larger than the states of Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, or Virginia with only one State Senator. The amendment, if passed, will provide equitable representation for the large cities, but not at the expense of rural Texas.

This is the main consideration in urging passage of this amendment, but there are other points in its favor. For instance, the increased number of State Senators will allow the important and time consuming committee assignments to be more widely distributed, making for faster and more efficient operation by the State Senate, and saving time and taxpayers' money. Also, the larger the membership, the more difficult it will be for a lobby or pressure group to control a majority.

As the Lieutenant Governor said, if the proposed amendment fails, it will only be because the people, and particularly those not living in the big cities, fail to understand the importance of it. The big danger lies in a very small turnout of voters, in which case those groups who have a selfish interest in denying adequate representation to rural Texans might muster enough votes to defeat the measure.

The amendment will be the only question on the ballot. A light turnout is expected, so every vote will be even more important than usual. Go to the polls Tuesday and vote for the proposed amendment, vote for fair representation for yourself and your region in the affairs of state government.

To paraphrase the rallying cry of the American Revolution, "Legislation without representation is tyranny." Let's guarantee that we will continue to have adequate representation.

LETTERS

Editor:

Having been a weekly newspaper publisher in Kerens, Texas, for ten years and still a member of the Texas Press Association, and having served 10 years in the State House of Representatives and State Senate from Navarro County and the Sixth District, and as a citizen of Texas, I am most concerned about the upcoming vote on SJR 44 authorizing a 39 member Texas Senate.

This amendment must pass if districts like the one I represented and many others in other parts of Texas are to have a voice in state affairs in the future.

Without State Senators from the so-called "rural districts" there would have been no farm-to-market road program, no Gilmer-Aiken school program, no state sponsored community industrial development program, and much other vital legislation now on the books.

It was State Senators from these districts who were sponsors and driving force behind such measures.

... AND NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

The famous phrase has a round rolling rhythm: "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." But does the witness, having uttered the words, obey their command?

It is an old, old problem. Almost 2400 years ago Euripides said:

"The tongue hath sworn, but the mind is unsworn."

How can we persuade a man's mind to deliver what his tongue has promised? In an earlier day the law relied mainly on the witness' dread of immediate divine retribution. But few people nowadays are kept honest by the fear of a heavenly thunderbolt.

Accordingly, the law now seeks to harness the power of the witness' own conscience. To that end, the form of the oath may vary somewhat to fit the particular creed of the individual.

Thus a Christian may swear on the New Testament, a Jew on the Old Testament, and a Mohammedan on the Koran. And a Quaker to whom swearing is abhorrent may merely "affirm" that he will tell the truth. On occasion, courts have even allowed such exotic procedures as blowing out a candle ("If I do not tell the truth, may I be snuffed out as was the candle.")

The modern oath has a further use, beyond engaging the conscience of the witness. It also serves to convert a lie into a crime. Lying under oath is the crime of perjury.

It is not often that a witness is convicted of perjury. The requirements for such a conviction are strict. For the law fears that, if the club of perjury is wielded too freely, it could frighten even an honest witness into silence.

Thus, it is not perjury to give false testimony without realizing its falsity—even if there is a degree of negligence on the part of the witness.

But if there is sufficient evidence of a deliberate lie, told with evil purpose, the courts take a serious view indeed of the matter.

For the witness who commits perjury not only offends his own conscience. And he not only breaks his own oath. He also, in the words of a federal court, "pollutes the stream of justice at its source."

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

The Texas Forest Service administers four small state forests located near Maydelle, Comroe, Warren and Kirbyville. They are maintained to demonstrate cultural practices for continuous timber production, water conservation and as a habitat for wildlife. Self-guiding nature trails are available on each forest.

State Capital NEWS

More than a dozen new state boards, agencies and licensing organizations go into effect this week.

Heading the list of important new agencies are the Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and Universities, to direct the state's higher education system (replacing the Commission on Higher Education) and the new State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. The latter supplants the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Tuberculosis control functions of the old hospital board go to the State Health Department assisted by a new Tuberculosis Advisory Committee to the State Board of Health.

Among other groups which began functioning September 1 under broad reorganization plans ordered by the 59th Legislature are the Texas Water Rights Commission and the Water Development Board.

Legislature also set up an Air Control Board (for air pollution regulation); an Indian Affairs Commission, a Fine Arts Commission, and special licensing organizations for pesticide applicators, sanitarians, and polygraph examiners.

All have legislative directed missions in the rapidly changing scene of a growing state government. Broadest changes in state history are expected of new programs for the hospital and higher education systems under revamped administrative organizations.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor John Connally has buckled down to work on the mass of appointments to the many, generally unpaid, state boards and commissions which run these state agencies.

Many of his choices are re-appointments, either of his own earlier appointees or those of former Governor Price Daniel.

New State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will contain six from the old Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools. They are Ward Burke, Lufkin attorney; Dr. Horace Cromer, Austin physician; Mrs. H. E. Butt, Corpus Christi psychiatrist; and former State Representative Jesse Osborn, Muleshoe businessman.

New members of this major state board are the Rev. Robert S. Tate, Jr., Connally's pastor at the First Methodist Church, of Austin; Elbert E. Hall, Abilene businessman; and Peter de Wetter, El Paso truck line operator.

Other appointments made by the Governor were:

Joe G. Moore, Jr., formerly of Clarksville, as chief administrative officer of the new Texas Water Development Board and Howard B. Boswell as head of the board's bond program.

Felix McKnight, of the Dallas Times Herald; Robert M. Jackson, of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times; and James Byrom, of W.B.A.P., Fort Worth, to the committee to study news media reporting on legal proceedings, as the news media representatives; and Talbot Rain, Dallas; and Joe Frazier Brown, San Antonio; as the State Bar representatives who will serve with three State Senators and three State Representatives on this study.

Don McKinley, of Pearsall; Joe David Kirkland, of Hereford; Cecil F. Gill, of El Paso; W. D. Jones, of Dumas; Vern E. West, of Athens; and O. F. Jensen, Jr., of Houston; to new Water Well Drillers Board.

W. Kendall Baker, of Houston, to State Board of Public Welfare. R. G. Hollingsworth, of Coleman; W. T. Stewardson, of Santa Anna; and Clyde Thate, of Burket; to Central Colorado River Authority Board of Directors.

R. G. Muckleroy, of Naacodoches, to Municipal Retirement System Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Eunice M. King, of Amarillo; and Miss Lucy Harris, of Fort Worth; to State Board of Nurse Examiners.

AIRPORT AID

Texas Aeronautics Commission has the difficult task of deciding which of the under 50,000 population towns who have applied for aid will get portions of the $200,000 authorized under the Texas Airport Aid Program.

Considering these six applicants in most "urgent" need, Commission offered Comanche, $12,000; Gatesville, $12,000; Hallettsville, $10,000; Lampassas, $8,000; Pineland, $15,000; and Caldwell, $10,000.

Thursday, September 3, the Commission is scheduled to hear applications by Cameron, Clarksburg, Post, El Campo, Floydada, Kountze, Hearne, Jacksboro and Port Mansfield.

"MEDICARE" SWINDLERS CIRCULATE

Senator Walter Richter, of Gonzalez, chairman of the Governor's Committee on Aging, warns elderly Texans to beware of offers being made in the wake of Medicare passage.

Said Richter: "None of the Medicare programs go into effect before July, 1966, and anyone trying to collect money at this time for any purpose whatsoever in connection with Medicare is bound to be a fraud."

Warning followed reports in Dallas that two persons claiming to be Social Security workers tried to "enroll" people in Medicare, then demanded money for the "service." They were denounced by the Social Security Administration.

SHORT SNOTS

Under terms of a Senate resolution, Agriculture Commissioner John White called a meeting of Texas livestock men Tuesday to study the economic effect of imported meat on Texas cattle, sheep, goat, and swine industries.

Texas Education Agency reports that only 33 of the state's 1,370 school districts drew warnings of failure to submit acceptable desegregation plans as required by new civil rights act.

Draft quota for October will total about 1,504, a slight increase over September, according to Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state selective service director.

House Speaker Ben Barnes is seeking a Texas Legislative Council study concerning restoration and operation of old Texas forts and missions for possible development of a tourist attraction "Texas Mission Trail" similar to that developed in California.

Texas vehicle inspection stickers for 1966, available September 1, will include replica of Lone Star Flag.

Dam B State Park near Jasper has been renamed Martin Dies, Jr. State Park in honor of the State Senator from Lufkin.

Two attorney general's opinions held: Operator of a passenger car used for commercial purposes who holds a valid operator's license is exempt from securing commercial license; and improvements are considered part of land on which they are located in determining value of town lots or rural property for taxation.

Read Psalm 84

Blessed is the man whose strength is in Thee; in whose heart are the ways of them. (Psalm 84:5)

Once I visited a sick man whom the doctors had told that his days on earth were soon to end. I thought it would be difficult to comfort and encourage him under those circumstances. But my experience in the hospital room turned out to be quite different.

Without any trace of sentimentality or self pity, the man said: "I have not long to live, but I am content and trustful. I have laid everything in God's hands. He will guide me home." He had no fear of death, just a radiant expression on his face. I left the room with a stronger faith and with evidence of the truth spoken by the psalmist, "Blessed is the man whose strength is in Thee."

Soon after we attended his funeral, but to me it was like a triumphant journey into eternity.

Blessed are those who know the fullness of life with Christ. Their lives are meaningful and happy. Their evenings are filled with light, and their entrance into eternity is a journey of triumph. They go from strength to strength, from joy to joy.

PRAYER

Our heavenly Father, we bring You thanks for peace of heart and inward assurance that we are children of Yours. We are grateful for the joy of life in Your Son. Lead us into a deeper fellowship with Him. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

I am joyful in my fellowship with Christ.

The Santa Anna Mountaineers meet their first test of the new season Friday, when they travel to Baird to go against the District 10A Bears.

Picks of the Week

The dust has been blown off the crystal ball, and the Pick of the Week department is ready for another football season. Still glowing from the .744 percentage racked up in District 9A predictions last year, the Old Prophet is back to try his hand again. But this year three assistant prophets have been added. In order to give a well-rounded picture of predictions, we have obtained the services of three experts (?) who will give their views each week. Monte Guthrie, Roy Horne, and Ken Minyard will try to top the Old Prophet with their District 9A picks each week.

Here is the way we see the in-tial week of activity in District 9A:

Burnet at Llano: Burnet is probably the second best team in the District, but they are going up against tough competition in class AA Llano. We pick Llano by about eight points.

Cross Plains at Early: Early will uphold District 9A honor over the Cross Plains crew, who are still about a year away on their rebuilding program.

Goldthwaite at San Saba: Goldthwaite was probably the best class A team in the state last year, lost in the playoffs on a fluke. They will probably go all the way this season, should have no trouble with class AA San Saba.

Marble Falls at Rockdale: Marble Falls, in a tough one to pick.

Santa Anna at Baird: The prophet sticks his neck out on this one. Spirit, one more year of seasoning, and an excellent coaching staff make the Mountaineers a slight favorite in our book. Santa Anna by one touch-down. Defense will be the decisive factor in this game.

Here are the predictions of the assistant prophets:

Monte Guthrie: Llano over Burnet, Cross Plains over Early, San Saba over Goldthwaite, Marble Falls over Rockdale, Santa Anna over Baird.

Roy Horne: Llano over Burnet, Early over Cross Plains, Goldthwaite over San Saba, Rockdale over Marble Falls, Santa Anna over Baird.

Ken Minyard: Burnet over Llano, Cross Plains over Early, Goldthwaite over San Saba, Rockdale over Marble Falls, Santa Anna over Baird.

Consensus: Burnet at Llano—Llano is the pick, three votes to one; Cross Plains at Early—a split, two votes for each team;

Goldthwaite at San Saba—three votes for Goldthwaite, one for San Saba; Marble Falls at Rockdale—another two-two split; Santa Anna at Baird—the only unanimous choice, four votes for Santa Anna.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

THIS IS A WEEKLY FOOTBALL CONTEST SPONSORED BY THE MERCHANTS LISTED BELOW. PICK THE WINNERS IN EACH WEEK'S DISTRICT 9A GAMES, AND WIN VALUABLE PRIZES.

Each contestant must select the winner in each game listed on the entry form in this advertisement. Indicate the team you think will win each game by circling or underlining the winning. DO NOT MARK OUT THE LOSING TEAM—UNDERLINE OR CIRCLE THE WINNING TEAM.

All entry forms must be placed in the collection boxes provided for this purpose in the four businesses listed below. No mail entries can be accepted. Each entry must be on an entry form from this newspaper.

In addition to selecting the winning teams, contestants must predict the score of the Santa Anna game in the space provided. This will be used to decide ties in case two or more contestants select the same number of winners. In such case, the contestant coming closest to actual score of the Santa Anna game will be declared winner.

First prize in each week's competition will be a $5.00 gift certificate from one of the sponsoring merchants. Second prize will be two reserved seat tickets to the next Santa Anna Mountaineer home game. Third prize is a one year subscription to The Santa Anna News.

No employees of the sponsoring merchants or of The Santa Anna News, or of their immediate families, will be eligible to compete.

Entry forms will be collected from the collection boxes at 5:00 p.m. on the Friday of the games, and no entries can be accepted after that time. Only one entry per person.
