One of our local Highway Patrolmen was telling the other day about a request he once had to speak to a grade school class. The teacher wanted the children in her class to realize that a policeman was someone who protected people, not just a man who put people in jail—the image many of them had of law officers. The Patrolman was happy to have this opportunity to get in a little public relations. He gave a detailed and sincere talk, outlining all the ways in which the officer was a friend rather than someone to be feared. Feeling he had done a good job, he decided to really emphasize the point by asking questions.

"Now," he asked, "What does a policeman do? A hand went up and the little girl promptly replied, 'He puts people in jail.'"

The Patrolman was dismayed that he hadn't gotten across any better, but he tried to salvage something. "Now, that's not right," he said.

"Then how come you always put my daddy in jail when he gets drunk?" the little girl asked, with complete logic.

Some days it doesn't pay to get up, even for Highway Patrolmen.

Pierre Rowe says that Rev. Bobby Weathers was preaching in an out-of-town church recently. Came time to announce his sermon topic, and our Methodist Weathers-man told the congregation: "Tonight I am going to preach on the subject of liars. So that I know you are familiar with the text for tonight, all of you who have read the thirty fifth chapter of Mathew, raise your hand."

Most of the hands in the congregation went up. Said Rev. Bobby, with relish, "Well, I can see I'm in the right place for this sermon, since there are only 28 chapters in Mathew!"

Latest toy in the window of White's Variety Store is a toy lie detector. Actually, it is a toy in name only—it really works. Next thing the toymakers will come out with, we suppose, will be a nice "make your own atomic bomb set" for the kiddies. We can foresee problems as a result of this new toy. Imagine poor old dad coming in late with the excuse that he was sitting up with a sick friend, and mom gets out the kids' lie detector, gives the old man the third degree, and discovers he has been out playing poker with the boys. Poor old dad doesn't have a chance anymore, with both science and Santa Claus against him.

There are many worthy and interesting activities and programs going on or set for the near future that merit the consideration of everyone in our neck of the woods (and where in the dickens is the neck of a forest located?)

For instance, the Precinct 2 Community Chest drive is underway, and if you haven't donated yet, you should be ashamed of yourself. Just remember how it was, and how much it cost you, when every good cause was hitting you up for a couple of bucks. Now you can give once, do a better job with your gift, and save some on it too.

Another popular activity in Santa Anna nowadays is the daily breathing contest, when the afternoon breeze blows the smog from the cotton gin.

The Junior Class at Santa Anna High School is promoting a Halloween Carnival to raise $$$$. We think we will retire from the newspaper racket and go into the junior class business. They have all the cash in Santa Anna tied up right now, and every time you turn around, they are selling something else.

The Lions Club must be made up of overgrown junior classmen, because if they are not selling mops they are cramming pancakes down you. Their latest attempt to corner the money market is a light bulb sale, which you must admit is a bright idea. Why the Lions Club needs money, when they have Bobby Weathers imposing fines on the members for all sorts of imagined misdeeds, makes us wonder. With all the emphasis the Supreme Court is putting on "due process of law" perhaps we can file suit to recover some of the dimes Bobby has fined us.

Of course, it goes without saying that all these are good causes and deserve your support.

NUMBER 43

Santa Anna Voters Go Tuesday To Vote On Ten Amendments

Santa Anna voters will go to the polls on Tuesday, November 2 to ballot on one of the largest number of proposed amendments to the state constitution since that document was written in 1876. Ten propositions will face the voter Tuesday.

Election in Santa Anna will be held in the empty building, located between the Santa Anna News office and the Santa Anna Lions Club building, known as the old Stevenson building.

Leroy Stockard will be election judge, with Mrs. Rosa Bass as assistant. Other assistants will be appointed later, according to Stockard.

Polls in Santa Anna will open at 8:00 a.m., and remain open until 7:00 p.m.

To vote, a person must hold a valid poll tax or exemption.

The 10 proposed amendments on the November 2 ballot range from the veterans land program to the term in office of the governor and other state officials.

In brief, the amendments are concerned with the following subjects:

Proposition 1 would increase the state ad valorem tax, applying the money to college and university construction. Proposition 2 would extend the veterans land program. Proposition 3 would allow the state to take such steps as would be necessary to participate in Federal welfare programs. Proposition 4 would extend the term in office of the governor and certain other state officials from the present two years to four years. Proposition 5 is concerned with the administration of the state teacher retirement program. Proposition 6 would provide a loan fund for college and university students needing financial assistance. Proposition 7 is a very specialized amendment dealing with the charity situation at one hospital. Proposition 8 would provide for automatic retirement of judges and removal of misbehaving judges. Proposition 9 is concerned with salaries and expense payments of legislators. Proposition 10 would increase the term in office of state representatives to four years from the present two years.

For a complete analysis of the proposed amendments, the reader is directed to the editorial on this page.

EDITORIAL

Coleman County voters will join with citizens throughout Texas in balloting on 10 proposed new amendments to the state constitution. Several of these proposed amendments are quite involved and complicated, and all could have very important bearing on the future of government in Texas. Following is a breakdown of each of the proposed amendments, with a brief explanation of each proposal. After considerable study, research, and inquiry, The News recommends that voters enact eight of the proposed amendments and reject two. The 10 proposals follow:

Proposition 1: This amendment, if enacted, would double the amount of money available to a number of state colleges for buildings and other permanent improvements, by increasing the state ad valorem (property) tax from five cents to 10 cents per $100 valuation. With the tremendous and growing demands on our institutions of higher learning, it is imperative that funds be provided for constructing adequate facilities to handle all the young people seeking a college education in Texas. Among the institutions that will benefit directly from these funds are five that serve our part of the state, including Texas Tech, West Texas State University, Midwestern University, Sul Ross State College, and Angelo State College. The only drawback to the proposed amendment is the fact that there has been a movement to get the state out of the ad valorem tax field, leaving this source of revenue to local taxing bodies, and the passage of this proposal will tend to reverse that trend—but on the whole, higher education is one of the most pressing problems facing Texas, and for this reason, in the balance, The News recommends that voters enact this amendment.

Proposition 2: This amendment, if enacted, will authorize the issuance of $200,000,000 to finance an extension of the state veterans' land fund program. The new proposal, similar to that which was defeated in 1963, has a provision that allows veterans who come within its requirements the first choice of the land available, but then gives any citizen the same opportunity to purchase any land not selected by a qualified veteran. The News urges passage of this amendment, but thinks that the time limits used in defining eligible veterans should be updated to include Cold War veterans, and certainly those who are now fighting in Viet Nam.

Proposition 3: This amendment would allow the state legislature to appropriate funds needed for the state to participate in Federal cost sharing welfare programs. Among changes in the present welfare program that are included is the lowering of the age limit for assistance to needy blind persons from 21 to 18 years of age, and the raising of the age limit for needy children from 16 to 21. This amendment would also allow Texas to have a medical care program based on the Kerr-Mills concept rather than being dependent on Medicare. The News thinks that this is worthy legislation, and urges its passage.

Proposition 4: This is the controversial measure that would increase the terms of office for the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller of public accounts, state treasurer, and commissioner of the general land office from the present two years to four years. The News opposes this measure for several reasons. We have, in Texas, a one party state, lacking the natural checks and balances found in states with two strong parties, and we have no limitation on the number of terms a governor may serve, as do many states, and thus we invite a situation in which a political machine may be set up, with all the corruption and political evils that invariably accompany such a machine. By requiring the governor, and other state officers to submit their programs to the approval of the voters every two years, we protect ourselves against this danger to some extent. Governor Connally originally campaigned on a platform that included retaining the two year term of office for governor.

Proposition 5: This amendment would give state agency status to the state teacher retirement fund program, and allow the trustees of that fund more latitude in administering the fund. The News votes yes.

Proposition 6: This amendment could be the most important one on the ballot. It provides for an $85,000,000 fund to provide loans to students to allow them to attend or continue in college. This would be a funded debt, meaning that the bonds issued to finance it would be paid off from revenue from repaid loans, costing the taxpayer nothing. Every Texan with any interest at all in making this a better state should for this one.

Proposition 7: This is a specialized amendment, affecting only one institution at this time, but it could establish an important precedent. It allows hospitals that do a large amount of charity work to be excused from paying local ad valorem taxes on property owned by the nonprofit hospital other than the hospital property itself (which is already tax immune). The News feels that such legislation encourages the solving of local welfare problems on a local level, and encourages its passage.

Proposition 8: This amendment would set up a system for the automatic retirement of state judges at a prescribed age, and establishing machinery for the removal of judges proven incompetent or otherwise unable or unqualified to hold office. This fills a longfelt need in Texas, and should be passed.

Proposition 9: This allows the state legislature to set salaries of the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house, and it increases the per diem (daily) expense allowance of legislators, while the legislature is in session, from $12 to $20 per day. The only way we are going to get good men into government is to provide adequate reimbursement for them. The News urges passage of this measure.

Proposition 10: This proposed amendment would increase the term in office for state representatives from the present two years to four years. The News feels that this proposal should definitely be rejected. Even the Federal government allows members of the lower house to serve two year terms. The whole point of having two houses in state government is that the senate, with long, staggered terms, would be strong on experience and not so susceptible to pressures, while the house would tend to reflect the will of the people more closely. Only four of the 50 states have four year terms for members of their house of representatives. Texas should not become the fifth.

Study the proposed amendments, make your decision, and go to the polls on Tuesday, November 2 and vote. Exercise your right as a citizen of a free nation.

Halloween Carnival Set For Saturday

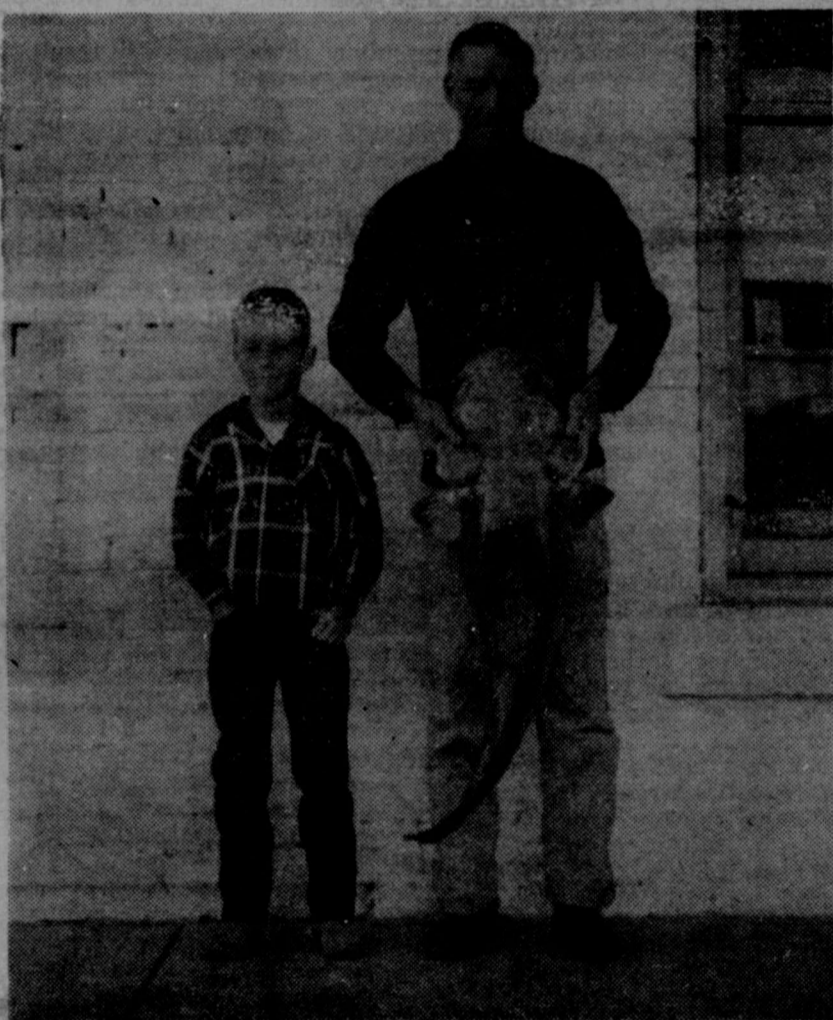

The Junior Class at Santa Anna High School will hold its annual Halloween Carnival, from 5:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., Saturday, October 30.

There will be fun and games for the whole family, with funds going to whatever purpose the Junior Class uses funds for.

A Halloween Queen, which may or may not be an honor, will be chosen. Nominees include Emily Wells, representing the freshmen; Sherry Thompson, sophomores; Leanna Pollock, juniors; and Virginia Voss, seniors.

Representing the other classes will be Gay Harvey and Guy Allen, first grade; Sandra Harris and Larry Benton, second grade; Sharon McCreary and Hank Wise, third grade; Betsy McDaniel and David Huggins, fourth grade; Janice Martin and Rocky Dean, fifth grade; Joyce Weathers and Neil Fitzpatrick, sixth grade; Gaye Rutherford and Joe Ford, seventh grade; and Barbara Jones and Don Fitzpatrick, eighth grade.

Others representing various organizations are Beth Irick, Carlton Watson, Jean Robinett, Billy Don Cupps, Norma Jo Eubank, Jack Walker, Anita Ellis, John Hensley, Lynda Brannon, Roy Joe Harvey, Yvonne Rushing, James Gilbreath, Melba Keeney, Ronnie McCarrell, Dorthea Carpenter, and James Eubank.

TOPPED AGAIN—Last Thursday evening, October 21, Bill Day brought in the huge catfish he proudly displays in the photo above. The monster weighed in at 32 pounds five ounces, and Bill, who held the lead in the catfish division of the Santa Anna Junior Chamber of Commerce Fishing Rodeo twice before only to see someone bump him out of top spot, thought he had first place all wrapped up—at least for a little while. But he reckoned without C. C. Stanley, shown below with his 35 pound four ounce entry, which he brought in the very next morning. Day and Stanley have now traded the lead in the catfish four times. Day fishes in Brownwood Lake, while Stankey has been dragging his out of Home Creek.

Our Share Of Thirty Billion Dollars

An article in an upcoming issue of The News, the first of a four part series, tells of some of the preliminary work done by the Texas Tourist Development Agency, aimed at bringing to the Lone Star State a larger share of the 30 billion dollars spent by vacationing Americans each year. A conference to help local leaders learn how to coordinate their tourist attracting efforts with those of the state agency was held recently in Austin. All in all, there is a strong movement underway to put Texas on the vacation map in a big way. The economic benefits of such a program hold tremendous potential for the state.

In this light, isn't it time that the Santa Anna area look around to see what it has to offer tourists. One advantage is that a major east-west highway, one which leads from large population centers, such as Dallas and Fort Worth, to important tourist areas, such as the El Paso area, Big Bend National Park, the proposed Guadalupe Mountain National Park, and the Hill Country with its connotations of LBJ. So Santa Anna can benefit from increased tourist trade in any of these areas. But this benefit will be in proportion to the effort we expend to make our city an attractive waystation for tourists. If we offer a clean, pleasant, friendly city, with adequate facilities for handling hungry and tired travelers, the potential boost to our local economy will be huge. Then if we couple this by developing some attractions of our own, to induce the traveler to stop here a little longer, the benefits will be even greater.

Santa Anna has a unique scenic situation, with our own mountain (how many other cities can make that claim?) Our city is also rich in history. It seems that with some thought and effort on the part of interested citizens, we could come up with tourist attractions that would rank on a par with those of any city of equal size in the state.

The Texas Tourist Development Agency will spend several thousand dollars this year in advertising and promotion, extolling the advantages of Texas as a vacation site to residents of other parts of the country. Santa Anna, because of its geographical location, stands to benefit from this investment, if we are willing to put the time and thought required into capitalizing on it.

Seems like it is worth thinking about, doesn't it?

The Local Christmas Program

Once again, Santa Anna businessmen are sponsoring a special Christmas program, complete with a parade, Santa Claus, and all the other trimmings. And once again, they are holding the drawings, awarding prizes to their customers. This is their way of saying "Thank you" to the customers who have patronized their establishments during the preceding year, and of encouraging local shoppers to discover that almost anything the buyer may be seeking can be found here in Santa Anna, with the added value of knowing you are trading with hometown folks, who will stand behind the product or service they sell. The annual Christmas program is conducted each year at considerable expenditure of time and money by Santa Anna businesses to make Christmas shopping a little more pleasant. Express your gratitude by trading with these businesses.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

What should the school do about the health of its pupils? Today's Health Guide, the American Medical Association's new manual of health information and guidance, says the school has a threefold responsibility for child health.

Educate for safe and healthful living. Create and maintain a safe and healthful environment. Offer an adequate health service program including emergency care in case of accident or sudden illness.

With the approach of another fall school year throughout the United States, it's time for educators and parents alike to take stock of the health programs in the schools.

Major topics which would be included in a health education program are elementary first aid, home safety and safety in school and on the way there. At the proper age, every child should be taught bicycle safety and driver training. Parents have the major responsibility in many of these activities, but the role of the school also is important.

The basic facts of consumer health should be presented to the student. He should learn how to choose a physician, how to call one in an emergency and how to obtain hospitalization. He should learn the dangers of self-diagnosis and self-medication. He should have an opportunity to learn how to tell fact from fancy in advertising of health services and related products.

The child should learn the basic facts of communicable disease control and how to protect himself and others as much as possible. He should learn to keep his own records of his immunizations and medical and dental appointments.

Home nursing and the use and abuse of stimulants and depressants are usually emphasized in school.

Dynamic health teaching will carry over into the home, resulting in the improvement of family and home hygiene, together with a better understanding and fuller use of community health

Insistence on periodic medical and dental examinations for each school child points up to parents the importance of this procedure.

LIVESTOCK FOR HOPE

The Texas CROP Livestock Advisory Committee met this week in Austin to launch a "BEEF FOR HOPE" project as an effort to assist hungry people abroad, through the churches, with canned beef from the United States.

As an advisory group of the Texas CHOP-CWS Board, the committee gives guidance to the livestock appeals of the state program. The committee consists of church, ranch and CROP leaders of the Central Texas area.

Hugo O. Schulze, of Mason, a CROP worker since the program's origin in 1947, led the meeting in the absence of the committee's chairman, Dolph Briscoe, Jr., of Uvalde.

Three million pounds of canned meat have been requested by the overseas programs of the churches through Church World Service for 1965, reported Texas CROP Director Norman A. Sundwall, of Austin. The requests have come, the Director said, from the areas of the world where two thirds of the world's population suffer from hunger and malnutrition. The meat is needed for disaster relief in areas like East Pakistan, where seven million people recently lost their homes through their most devastating cyclone in history; and for selfhelp programs in other areas where CROP food is provided as wages for those working in local development projects.

COTTON REPORT

A backlog of cotton samples kept classes at the United States Department of Agriculture Cotton Classing Office, in Abilene, busy until Thursday. Total classed for the week ending Friday, October 22, was 14,341 samples. All but 1,000 bales of this cotton was harvested before the rain.

The percent of samples classed in the White, Light Spotted, and Spotted color groups was 18, 79 and three, respectively, compared to 21, 73, and six percent for the previous week. A year ago this is how it looked: White 13 percent; Light Spotted, 63 percent; Spotted, 23 percent; with one percent below grade.

District 2—Coleman, Runnels, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Kent, Stonewall, and Dickens Counties—accounted for 8,400 of the samples classed this week. The predominant grades of these samples were: Middling White, 14 percent; Middling Light Spotted, 58 percent; and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 16 percent. Staple lengths were: One percent, 7/8 inch; 29 percent, 29/32; 53 percent, 15/16; eight percent, 13/32; two percent, one inch; and one percent, one and 1/32 inches or longer.

Microaire readings were good, with 94 percent above 3.5.

Gross prices received by producers compared to the Commodity Credit Corporation loan rates were: Even loan to 50 cents per bale above loan on Middling White cotton; $1.25 to $3.00 per bale above loan on Middling Light Spotted cotton; and $3.75 to $5.00 per bale above loan on Strict Low Middling Light Spotted cotton.

State Capitol NEWS

State attorneys are set to make a hardnosed defense of the Texas poll tax law, now under Federal court attack.

Pretrial conferences in the suit were held quietly here and in San Antonio last week (October 21). Trial date has been postponed from mid-November to December, in order to allow both sides more time for preparation.

Assistant State Attorney General Hawthorne Phillips scheduled a flight to Washington this week to take a deposition from US Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach in effort to show that Katzenbach once testified before Senate Judiciary Committee that Texas' poll tax is not discriminatory against Negroes.

In view of late trial date and certain appeals to US Supreme Court regardless of initial ruling here, the three judge trial court issued a statement in effect advising Texans who want to be sure they qualify to vote in several state and local elections next year to pay their poll taxes. Leaders of massive poll tax drives just now getting underway already had concluded there was no other safe course.

Outlook now is that if repeal is ordered, first major state and national elections affected will be those of 1968.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION RATE CHANGE

State Insurance Board staff has recommended revised workmen's compensation insurance premium rates that will result in average reduction of 2.9 percent for Texas employers.

Rates of some categories will advance, others will be substantially slashed. Overall effect is a decrease. Same rating formula produced a 2.3 percent increase last year. Board Chairman William Hunter McLean concluded that the industrial safety record of Texas businesses had improved.

Board held public hearing on Thursday, October 21 on the recommended slash, which would reduce Texas premiums about $4,500,000 next year.

RAIL CAR SHORTAGE

A critical shortage of rail cars confronts the West Texas grain harvest area, reports Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White.

White said top officials of three railroads assure that priority consideration is being given to sending new hopper cars to the loading areas.

West Texas problem is part of nationwide shortage of rail cars for moving harvest from temporary storage to major shipping points. Shortage, White said, leads to increased handling costs and sometimes exposure of vulnerable crops awaiting shipment.

ROBERT LEE DAM ACTION SETTLED

Fifty third District Court, in Austin, approved settlement of suit brought by a West Texas group to halt construction of $20,000,000 Robert Lee Dam, in Coke County.

The out of court settlement guaranteed Colorado City water service equal to that of the cities in the Colorado River Municipal Water District. City had filed suit to cancel the permit for the dam granted by the Texas Water Commission on September 1.

BEAUTIFICATION ACT STUDY

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith, concerned with the security of Federal highway funds for Texas, asked the Legislative Council to make a study of the new Federal Highway Beautification Act.

Act would control outdoor advertising and junkyards along highways, and provide for landscaping and scenic enhancement. States falling to comply by January 1, 1968, would be penalized in Federal aid allotments.

About 17,500 miles of interstate and Federal aid primary highways in Texas are affected by the law. Smith asked the Council to determine effect on city zoning ordinances, and type of new state legislation needed to comply.

COLLEGE BOARD MEETS

During its second meeting, the new Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, unanimously endorsed proposed state constitutional amendments to create $85,000,000 student loan fund, and to boost state property tax five cents for building purposes at 17 institutions.

Board also heard report that public junior colleges face potential financial crises due to a 35 percent jump in enrollments and a fixed level of appropriate

Members certified adequate financing is in sight for new higher education programs approved by the Board's predecessor agency, and gave clearance to a million dollar repair program for 1966.

Board will meet again on November 15.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Connally announced approval of two Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in Jim Hogg County, and one each in Del Rio, Manor, and Laredo.

Securities Commissioner William M. King reports 55 companies were issued permits to sell $24,131,325 in securities during September.

George W. Busby, inspection and planning chief for Texas Department of Public Safety, has been named to governing board of American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators. New Governor's Committee on Aging held its first meeting here, studied ways of implementing the Older Americans Act, and removal of seniles from state hospitals.

Hearing is set for December 29 on application for state authorization of Fayette County Savings and Loan Association, La Grange.

Attorney General Waggoner Carr announced recovery of $35,200 in judgements from a Shreveport defendant for allegedly drilling and operating slanted oil wells in Rusk County.

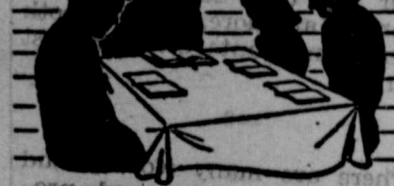

Death rates on Texas highways fell from 842 for the first nine months of 1964 to 744 for the same period in 1965, which the Texas Highway Department credits to safer multilane divided highways with a decreased number of grade crossings.

Eighteen city, county, and water district officials from Houston, San Antonio, and Galveston areas were subpoenaed to testify here before Legislative Committee on Pollution—Multiple Use Study, Texas Waters, on Monday and Tuesday, October 25 and 26.

Texas Highway Department reveals that license fees collected during the 1964-1965 fiscal year totaled $129,776,276.92, of which $99,923,268.81 went to the state and the remainder distributed to the counties which registered the vehicles.

Today's MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Matthew 26:36-39

For the moment all discipline seems painful rather than pleasant; later it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it. (Hebrews 12:11, RSV)

The first thought that comes to the visitor to the Garden of Gethsemane is that it was here Jesus prayed, in great heaviness of spirit, "Father...not my will, but thine, be done."

This is a prayer which the Christian needs to pray every day. We must remember, however, that it is not to be limited to the times when we face some unusual trial or bitter experience.

The will of God, we must never forget, embraces the whole of our life—its times of triumph and joy, its hours of darkness and defeat.

The afflictions of life are not a part of God's ultimate will. We can be sure that whatever Jesus strove to expel from our world—sickness, doubt, fear, unbrotherliness—these are all contrary to God's will and cannot endure forever. When we seek to displace these things from our lives and from our world, we are working with Christ and in harmony with God's will.

PRAYER

Father, help us to pray not with our lips only but with our lives, that this day Your perfect will may be done to Your name's honor and glory and for the Master's sake, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Prayer is the heart's sincere desire.

Mountaineers Lose To Marble Falls Friday By 14-6 In Well Played Game

The preseason polls picked the Marble Falls Mustangs as the number three team in District 9A, and relegated Santa Anna to the cellar. You could never have told that last Friday night, as the Mountaineers pushed the Mustangs all over their own field, losing on the scoreboard, the result of a couple of defensive lapses, but piling up a big edge in the battle of the statistics. "We were lucky to win," was the thought expressed most often by Marble Falls partisans in the press box.

Santa Anna took the opening kickoff, but could move only to their own 25 yard line. A short, 11 yard punt gave the Mustangs possession on the Santa Anna 36. Moving on the running of Donald Thompson and Ray Jackson, the home team picked three first downs on the way to the first score of the evening, with Jackson going over from the one yard line. A try at the two point conversion, via a run, failed.

Receiving the Marble Falls kickoff, the Mountaineers repaid the touchdown scored against them by moving 60 yards in a dozen plays, including four first downs, with Roger Beard doing the honors from the four yard line. A try at the placement was low, and the score stood at six apiece.

Marble Falls had time to run only one play following the kickoff before time ran out in the first quarter of play.

The second period saw a defensive battle, with the Santa Annans staving off a serious Mustang threat. After one of the two passes completed by Marble Falls during the game gave the Mustangs a first and goal situation on the Santa Anna nine yard line, the sterling Mountaineer defense rose up and threw the invaders back to the 35 in four plays. The first half ended with the score still tied, 6-6.

A costly fumble halfway through the third period gave the Mustangs possession on the Marble Falls 25, just when it seemed that the Mountaineers might have a drive going. Instead, three plays later, big Roy Myers broke away and went 67 yards down his left sideline for the TD. Jackson ran the conversion, and the score stood at 14-6, with Marble Falls on the long end.

The third quarter ended as the Mountaineers moved from their own 36 all the way down to the Marble Falls five yard line, only to lose the ball on downs. This was the last serious scoring threat by either team, and the game ended with the Mustangs running out the last few seconds on the scoreboard clock.

Santa Anna pilled up 18 first downs to 10 for their opponents. Santa Anna gained 245 yards on the ground, while the Mustangs were picking up 169; but Marble Falls gained 60 yards through the air on two completions out of five tries, while the Mountaineers failed to connect on a single aerial out of the three they threw. Neither team lost the ball via the interception route, but each team lost the ball once on fumbles. The Mountaineers punted twice for an average of 24 yards, while the Mustangs were kicking one time for 27 yards. Santa Anna was assessed three penalties for a total of 22 yards, and Marble Falls was penalized six times for 60 yards.

The game left the Mountaineers sporting a 1-7 record (0-2 in district play), and the Mustangs with a 2-5-1 season record (1-0 in district competition).

The Mountaineers meet the high flying and undefeated Goldthwaite Eagles this week on the home field. Goldthwaite is a top contender for the state class A championship.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

THIS IS A WEEKLY FOOTBALL CONTEST SPONSORED BY THE MERCHANTS LISTED BELOW. PICK THE WINNERS IN EACH WEEK'S DISTRICT 9A GAMES, AND WIN VALUABLE PRIZES.

Each contestant must select the winner in each game listed on the entry form in this advertisement. Indicate the team you think will win each game by circling or underlining the winning. DO NOT MARK OUT THE LOSING TEAM—UNDERLINE OR CIRCLE THE WINNING TEAM.

All entry forms must be placed in the collection boxes provided for this purpose in the four businesses listed below. No mail entries can be accepted. Each entry must be on an entry form from this newspaper.

In addition to selecting the winning teams, contestants must predict the score of the Santa Anna game in the space provided. This will be used to decide ties in case two or more contestants select the same number of winners. In such case, the contestant coming closest to actual score of the Santa Anna game will be declared winner.

First prize in each week's competition will be a $5.00 gift certificate from one of the sponsoring merchants. Second prize will be two reserved seat tickets to the next Santa Anna Mountaineer home game. Third prize is a one year subscription to The Santa Anna News.

No employees of the sponsoring merchants or of The Santa Anna News, or of their immediate families, will be eligible to compete.

Entry forms will be collected from the collection boxes at 5:00 p.m. on the Friday of the games, and no entries can be accepted after that time. Only one entry per person.

Former Local Resident, Now Missionary In Lebanon, Picked For Honor Volume

A former resident of Santa Anna, Miss Nancie Wingo, has been selected to appear in the 1966 edition of the book, "Outstanding Young Women of America."

Miss Wingo, who was born in Santa Anna, the daughter of Rev. Hal Wingo, who was minister of First Baptist Church at that time. The Wingos moved from Santa Anna when Nancie was four years old. Rev. Wingo, who is retired, now lives in San Antonio.

Miss Wingo is the niece of Mrs. Lola Stephens, and the cousin of Mrs. Norman Hosch, both of Santa Anna.

Miss Wingo is presently teaching English in the Beirut Baptist Mission school, Beirut, Lebanon.

The former Santa Annan was an elementary teacher in the for seven years, but decided she wanted to work in the mission field. She obtained her masters degree from Southwest-ern Baptist Seminary, in Fort Worth, and then spent one year studying the Arabic language at Georgetown University, before going to Lebanon.

The school in which she teaches was founded 10 years ago by the Southern Baptist Convention, and offers schooling through the twelfth grade to Arab students. She has been teaching there for the past year.

Selection for "Outstanding Young Women of America" is based on unselfish service to others, charitable activities, community service, professional excellence, business advancement, and civic and professional recognition.

NANCIE JANE WINGO
"Outstanding Young Woman"

Miss Wingo says that she plans to stay in Beirut "forever," finds the hectic Lebanese automobile traffic the only real drawback.
