Santa Anna Unit Founded Following World War I; Has Outstanding History

BY Gale Collier Allen

This week marks the final chapter in the history of one of Santa Anna's finest organizations, the local National Guard unit. Formed in 1921, as Howitzer Company, 142nd Infantry, 36th Division, Texas National Guard, the local unit began under the captaincy of J. Glenn Williamson, with Lee R. Mobley as first lieutenant. Sam H. Collier was first sergeant of that first group, and became first lieutenant a short time later when Captain Williamson was forced to retire for health reasons. Lieutenant Mobley became company captain for about a year, and then retired temporarily, in 1922, returning to the unit later to serve as second lieutenant, with Captain Collier as company commander and Dewey L. Pierratt, who now resides in Beeville, as first lieutenant. Captain Collier held the position until December 31, 1940, with the rank of brevet colonel. The unit was mobilized about this time as an antitank company, and went overseas to fight in the European Theatre of Operations, writing one of the most valiant and glorious chapters in the history of the local unit. Many Santa Annans served with the old howitzer company and the antitank platoon, later designated as an antitank company. Three local men lost their lives in combat with the Santa Anna National Guard unit: Love Simpson, Jack Everett, and Woodrow Wilson Harris, whose father had helped organize the original company. These men added to the traditions of the Santa Anna unit as always being tops in discipline, performance, and appearance. Commanding the Santa Anna unit at the time of its deactivation was Captain Billy Joe Harvey, who was one of the 39 men to go overseas with the unit in World War II. Records are not complete, but among the others making the overseas tour were John Hensley, Eddie Paul Voss, Jack L. Price, Elgean Hensley, Thomas Wristen, Jr., Teddy James Wristen, Glen Copeland, Leland Thompson, Carson Horner, O. L. Oakes, L. White, Leroy Nichols, C. M. Hensley, D. G. Brewer, Raymond Jackson, P. B. Lightfoot, Frank McGonagill, Louis Parsons, James Ingraham, A. B. Davis, C. Miller, Virgil Fulton, Shag Garrett, Shorty Kemp, Mace Blanton, Alton Diserens, Wyndell Rowe, Raymond Holland, John David Harper, and Travis Smith.

Utilities have been disconnected at the Santa Anna Armory. No official decision has been made on disposal of the Armory. The Santa Anna Independent School District has expressed interest in acquiring the building and state officials have indicated that they would favor such a disposition of the facility. The school district has plans to use the Armory for a gymnasium. State education officials have informed the local schools that the present physical education facility is not considered adequate.

At the time of its deactivation, the Santa Anna unit was designated as Weapons Platoon, A Company, 1st Battalion, 142nd Infantry. The local Guardsmen have been drilling in Coleman for the past several months, so there will be little actual change in the program caused by the deactivation of the Santa Anna unit. All personnel of the Santa Anna unit have been transferred to the Coleman unit.

Contract Let On County Farm Road

A contract for 6.842 miles of road construction on Farm Road 503, near Valera, in Coleman County, was awarded to a Ballinger firm, it was announced in Austin this week by the State Highway Commission.

Low bid for the job was submitted by F. A. Seidel, of Ballinger. The bid of $201,113.00 covers grading, structures, base, and surfacing on the Farm Road from Farm to Market Road 453 south to US Highway 67, at Valera.

District Highway Engineer E. M. Pritchard, of Brownwood, estimates that the job will require 100 working days.

Erle C. Mayo, Resident Highway Engineer at Coleman, will be in active charge of the project.

Mrs. Mabel Byers, of Shepherville, visited Wednesday with Mrs. E. S. Jones, and Rev. David Wigger was a guest on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Odis Fowler and sons Steve and John, of Fort Worth, visited with the Bert Fowlers Saturday.

SANTA ANNA A LONG TIME AGO is the subject of the old photograph printed above. This is a picture of the community when it was located in the gap between the two halves of Santa Anna Mountain. The original photograph belongs to Elgean Shield, and he would like to identify as many of the buildings pictured as possible. If any reader of this paper can name any of the buildings in this photograph, they may write or call the newspaper office with the information. The photo may be examined at the news office.

Large Turnout Approves Six Amendments Here

Approximately twice as many Santa Anna voters turned out for the balloting on 10 proposed amendments to the state constitution as made it to the polls in the amendment voting in September, 1965 to be exact.

Local voters followed the statewide trends fairly closely, approving six of the 10 propositions, rejecting four.

The only amendment on which local voters differed from those across the state was proposition number two, which would extend the life of the veterans land program. This proposal was approved by Santa Anna voters by a margin of 106 to 55, but the big city vote caused it to trail by a slim margin statewide at prestime.

Santa Annans joined with their counterparts throughout Texas in voting down the proposals that would have allowed four year terms of office for state officials, that would have provided for increases in the per diem pay for legislators and allowed the legislature to set the salary of the speaker of the house and the lieutenant governor, and would have allowed property owned by a Houston hospital be exempt from local ad valorem taxes in the amount of charity work done at the hospital.

Results of voting on the 10 propositions:

Proposition 1—To increase state ad valorem taxes to provide funds for college improvements. Santa Anna voters approved this proposal by 103 to 56. The countywide total showed 608 for, 458 against. The proposal passed statewide.

Proposition 2—Extension of the veterans land program. Local voters approved the amendment by a vote of 106 to 55. In Coleman County, the count was 671 for, 406 against. Statewide, the measure is trailing by about 4,000 votes out of 430,000 tabulated.

Proposition 3—Allowing state to provide matching funds to obtain Federal welfare payments. Local voters approved this one by a vote of 118 to 44. This was the most popular item on the ballot in the County, being approved by a 827-278 vote. It also passed statewide by a large plurality.

Proposition 4—This was the controversial proposal to increase the terms of the governor and certain other top state officials from two to four years, energetically backed by Governor Connally. Santa Anna voters said no to this idea by a count of 76 for, to 91 against. The County as a whole went the other way, however, approving the proposition by a vote of 561 to 549. The measure was soundly defeated statewide.

Proposition 5—Giving agency status to the state teacher retirement program and allowing greater latitude in investments made for the retirement fund. Santa Annans approved the proposition by a vote of 119 to 44. Coleman County, as a whole, approved by a 717 to 368 vote. The proposal passed statewide.

Proposition 6—Establishing a state loan fund to help needy students pay for college educations. This was the most popular proposal in Santa Anna, with 120 voters approving it, and 43 voting against. In the County, the totals were 724 to 362 in favor. The proposal carried easily throughout the state.

Proposition 7—Allowing a nonprofit hospital in Houston to be exempt from local ad valorem taxes in proportion to the amount of charity work done. This proposal failed in Santa Anna by a four vote margin, 78 for to 82 against. The margin was much greater in the Countywide totals, with 510 for and 560 against. The proposal failed statewide, also, by a 22,000 vote margin.

Proposition 8—Providing for automatic retirement of judges, and for removal of incompetent or dishonest judges. Passed by Santa Anna voters by a margin of 104 to 53. Coleman County passed this offered amendment by a vote of 727 to 359. Statewide, this proposition handily.

Proposition 9—Increasing the per diem expense allowance of state legislators, and allowing the legislature to set the salaries of the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house. Santa Annans joined the rest of the state in rejecting this proposition, by a vote of 60 for and 100 against. The measure also down in County voting, with 437 Coleman County voters approving, an 646 disapproving.

Proposition 10—Providing for terms of four years for state representatives. This was the most unpopular proposition with Santa Anna voters, with 107 casting their ballots against the proposal, and 51 voting for it. It was also the most poorly received by Coleman County citizens, losing by a count of 385 for, 694 against. The proposal was also smothered statewide.

Local voters got needed practice in voting on amendments Tuesday—they have 16 more to vote on in 1966.

Neighborhood Youth Program Okayed For County

Coleman County has been selected for a neighborhood youth corps project, according to an announcement by the United States Department of Labor this week in Washington. The program, which is being handled through the County Commissioners Court, with Judge Frank Lewis coordinating the activities.

The total amount of the program will reach $54,750, of which the Federal government will furnish $46,420, and the County will arrange for $8,330.

When in operation, the program will accommodate 95 in-school youths.

Starting date for the program, and details as to operation, have not been established. The program will operate through all schools in the County.

Santa Anna Marine Promoted To Corporal

Lance Corporal (E3) Harold D. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Walker, of Santa Anna, has been promoted to the rate of Corporal (E4), at Adak, Alaska, where he is stationed on temporary duty while waiting orders for transfer to Viet Nam. Corporal Walker is presently assigned to perimeter security of the Naval Base on the island. A former student in Santa Anna High School, Corporal Walker has been at Adak since May of this year.

Local FFA Chapter Plans Wiener Roast

The Santa Anna chapter of Future Farmers of America has scheduled a wiener roast for Friday, November 5, beginning at 6:00 p.m. All members are urged to attend, according to chapter sponsor A. D. Petit.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Lowe, of Coleman, visited Friday with the Grady Williams. Saturday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowe, Ray, Paula, and Guy, of Coleman.

We hate to make one of our fellow newspapers unhappy, but we just have to point out that apparently The Santa Anna News has taken the title of the state's most influential newspaper away from the Dallas Morning News. If you don't believe it, just look at the facts: The Dallas paper came out editorially in favor of approval of the proposed amendment to the state constitution that would allow four year terms for the governor and certain other state officials. For what we felt were good reasons, The Santa Anna News came out in opposition to this proposal. And you know what happened. The proposal was voted down, statewide, which logically proves that The Santa Anna News is more influential than the Dallas name-sake.

In a switch on the old "man bites dog" formula, we have to report that lions are now hunting people. At least, that is what Gale Allen tells us. The lions being the Santa Anna Lions Club, and the people they are hunting being anyone with talent. The Lions are sponsoring a local talent show, scheduled for Saturday, November 20, and they are seeking talent for same. You will note an announcement to this effect among the paid ads in this issue of the paper, with all particulars. (And we bet we locate more talent for the Santa Anna Lions than the Dallas Morning News does, another proof of our superiority over the Big D paper.)

Since we seem to be on the subject of the power of the press, and all that jazz, we have another example. You will remember the item we had in this column a couple of weeks ago, about the dog that was deposited in our kennel pens one night. We were looking for a home for the mutt, and we found one—the original one. Mrs. Erin Day called to tell us that they had misplaced a dog about that time. They went by to take a look and discovered our founding was their stray, which they had named Zipper. In our ignorance, we had renamed the dog Beulah. So Zipper-Beulah is back home at last, and we are out of the dog pound business.

If our local postmaster seems to be walking a few inches above the ground lately, it is not because he has been licking too many airmail stamps. He and Mrs. Gregg are the proud grandparents of their first grandchild, a boy, born to Mr. and Mrs. Tony Pirello (they should get some of the credit), in Rochester, New York. Mrs. J. J. Gregg, of Santa Anna, is the great grandmother. The new Gregg grandson weighs in at nine pounds one and one half ounces, which should make him a good prospect for the University of Texas linebacker slot in about 1985. (No better than they have been doing recently, they might be able to use him right now.)

The Rising Star Record, the weekly newspaper in that town, which recently changed its name to the Rising Star (if you have a Kansas City Star, why not a Rising Star?) told of running a story some time ago concerning the sermon topic for a local minister next service. Title of the sermon was to have been "The Secret of Power," but there was a slight typographical error, and the paper announced that the minister would preach on "The Secret of Poker." The preacher reported one of the largest attendances since he had been at the church.

Another evidence of the power of the press.

Someone by the name of R. F. Watson, who is obviously an employee of the Irving Chamber of Commerce, sent us a clipping from the newspaper of that suburb of Waxahachie, depicting two local citizens holding a large catfish. He also enclosed, without comment, a photo clipped from a recent issue of The Santa Anna News, showing C. C. Stanley with one of the catfish he has entered in the contest now in progress. Mr. Stanley's fish weighed a little more than 20 pounds, and the Irving fish tipped the scales, according to the caption under the photo, at 97 pounds. Apparently Mr. Watson was making fun of Coleman County catfish, but we would like to remind him that the Trinity River, where the Irving fish was caught, is just a little bit larger than Home Creek, where Mr. Stanley caught his keeper. Not much larger, but a little.

A Powerful Tool

Santa Anna is fortunate to have a number of organizations that are dedicated to improving our community. Many of these groups are established for specific purposes, to fill specific needs. For instance, the Band Booster Club at Santa Anna High School, an organization of parents and others interested in helping the school band. There are a number of groups of this type. Then there are several organizations of a more general nature, such as the Santa Anna Lions Club and the Santa Anna Junior Chamber of Commerce. On the distaff side, the city is fortunate to have groups such as the Epsilon Sigma Alpha chapter and the Self Culture Club. Additionally, there are numerous church groups, organizations for youth, and other organizations.

These organizations provide channels through which any local citizen may work to carry out almost any goal. This helps focus the efforts of many individuals, and brings those efforts to bear on the problems facing the city. These organizations are thus one of the most valuable and powerful tools for helping build a better Santa Anna. As such, they are to be commended, and they deserve the support of every person in this area.

'They Knew The World Was Flat'

The Supreme Court decision holding that all state legislatures—the upper as well as the lower houses—must be apportioned solely on the basis of population hit the states like a bombshell. And it is going to keep on exploding for a long time to come.

For all of our history, it has been common for the states to apportion their houses of representatives on a population basis, and their senates on a geographical basis, such as by counties. In this, they have simply followed the Federal system, as laid down in the Constitution, in which each member of the lower house represents about the same number of constituents, while every state is allowed two Senators without regard to population.

Unless this court decision is negated—and a Constitutional amendment, apparently, is the only way to do that—the big centers of population will almost completely dominate state government, at the expense of the rural areas and rural people. Their problems and needs, which are different from those of the cities, will be submerged and their voices largely stifled. A braking power on the excesses of numerical majorities will be lost.

The argument for this revolutionary reapportionment is that the majority should rule. Washington columnist Patrick Fox had something impressive to say about that: "If a simple majority were always right, there would be no problem in letting it vote its way immediately on everything. But a majority once knew the world was flat. A majority opposed the American revolution."

MAN OVER BEAST

The Bible tells us that mankind was given dominion over the animals of the land and the fish of the sea. But, as any sportsman knows, it isn't always easy for one particular man to gain dominion over one particular animal or one particular fish.

In the eyes of the law, when do you become the owner of a wild creature?

To start with, the state "owns" all the wild animals and fish that dwell permanently within its borders.

But the state owns them only in a very general sense, holding title in trust for the benefit of the people. Any person—subject to the fish and game laws and private property rights—may acquire ownership of any animal or fish by reducing it to his possession.

But what is possession? Consider this case:

A hunter was in hot pursuit of a deer when another hunter, appearing suddenly from a different direction, felled the animal with a fatal shot.

In short order the two men went to court to settle ownership of the deer. The judge duly ruled in favor of the second hunter, holding that pursuit alone, no matter how close to success, was not enough to give title to the pursuer.

But in another case, a hunter who inflicted disabling wounds on a wolf won over a second hunter who stepped up close and administered the coup de grace. The court said the first hunter had acquired possession, hence ownership, by making the wolf's escape just about impossible.

Even as you may gain ownership by gaining possession, so you may also lose ownership by losing possession. Clearly you have no rights in a fish which, although briefly hooked, squirms free and regains the safety of the water.

In one usual case, the owner of a sea lion that escaped into the ocean was held to have no claim against a man who caught the same sea lion two weeks later.

On the other hand, if an escaped animal is trained to come home again, then the owner retains title. The habit of return, like an invisible leash, ties the animal to its owner.

A woman's pet canary, having escaped from its cage, was caught and kept by a neighbor. But in a court test, the first woman was held to be the owner still. The court pointed out that the bird answered to her call, had not gone far, and had previously come home voluntarily after an outing.

"Such a bird could not be considered fair game for capture, said the court, because it had not truly gone "back to nature."

COTTON REPORT

After a week of little activity, the cotton harvest resumed at a fast pace as several thousand acres of desiccated cotton became ready for machine stripping. The area from Jones County south to Schleicher County was the main source of cotton samples for the Abilene Cotton Classing Office, according to B. B. Manly, Jr. Harvesting in the remainder of the classing area is expected to be slow for a few weeks and probably until after a killing frost, says Manly.

Last Week, 17,698 samples were classed at the United States Department of Agriculture Office, and the season total rose to 59,518. About 11,000 unclassified samples are on hand. Two additional classers will be added on November 1, which will keep classing more current with sample receipts.

Sample receipts from District 2—Coleman, Runnels, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Kent, Stonewall, and Dickens Counties, totaled 11,880 last week. Grades for this 11 county area dropped, with eight percent White cotton, 86 percent Light Spotted, and six percent Spotted. Eighteen percent of the samples classed the previous week were White. Predominant grades were: Seven percent Middling White, 62 percent Middling Light Spotted, and 19 percent Strict Low Middling Spotted.

The average staple length was 29.68/32, compared to 29.78/32 for the previous week. Percentages looked like this: One percent, 13/16; four percent, 7/8; 30 percent, 29/32; 59 percent, 15/16; five percent, 31/32; and one percent, one inch or longer.

The US Department of Agriculture announced last week that micronaire readings will be a quality factor for 1965 upland cotton placed in the Commodity Credit Corporation loan after October 31, 1965. Last week in District 2, one percent of the samples miked 3.0 or lower, four percent was in the 3.3 to 3.5 range, 92 percent went 3.6 to 4.8, and three percent miked 4.9 or higher. As an example, the average premium per bale for this high micronaire cotton, based on premium and discounts for the CCC loan, would be 12 points, or about 61 cents per bale.

Pressley readings on all the cotton classed last week were average to very strong.

Demand for Middling Light Spotted cotton and cotton in the shorter staple lengths declined. Prices received by producers were steady at about even loan to 15 points over loan value on Middling White cotton. Light Spotted prices ranged from even loan on Strict Middling to 100 points over loan on Low Middling.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Skelton were in New Mexico last week, visited with his brother, Bill, at Eunice, and with a nephew, Dale Skelton, at Hobbs, enroute home visited her son, Varrell and family, at Lubbock, and with the Kenneth McClain family, in San Angelo.

State Capital NEWS

Texas law enforcement officers are urging Governor John Connally to call a special session of the Legislature to repeal the controversial new Code of Criminal Procedure before it becomes effective January 1.

Texas Police Association has petitions circulating among lawmen in 80 police departments, calling on Connally to do something about the Code.

Many lawmen fear forthcoming changes in the statutes will hinder them in combatting crime in Texas. They feel new procedures tend to mollycoddle criminals.

Meanwhile, State Attorney Waggoner Carr is continuing a series of seminars over the state to explain provisions of the new Code. A conference at the University of Texas, on November 11-13, will explore it in depth.

State Bar Association, which assumed leadership in putting the changes after years of study, received praise for its efforts from the American Civil Liberties Union.

Commented Austin Police Chief Bob Miles, past president of the Texas Police Association: "To be perfectly frank, the more we read of the new Code... the less encouraged we feel."

SECOND INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

The second annual conference of the Central Texas Industrial Development Council will be held Friday, November 12 at Baylor University, in Waco, the Texas Industrial Commission announced here.

Council is comprised of Central Texas community leaders actively engaged in industrial development programs. It is charged with attracting industry to the area, and encouraging the expansion of existing industry.

POLLUTION STUDIES

Strong moves to abate present pollution of Texas streams, and to prevent further contamination are being made by state agencies.

Texas Railroad Commission continued its series of moves to pinpoint oilfield salt water pollution and outlaw it. Latest was an order giving oil and gas operators in Lipscomb County until May 1, 1966 to quit using surface pits for disposal of salt water.

Texas Water Pollution Board had a show-cause hearing on sewer plant operators in the Clear Lake Basin of Harris and Galveston Counties. Plants failed to come up to standards ordered by the Board to protect the NASA center area watercourses from pollution. They were given until February 1, 1966 to comply.

A legislator-citizen committee on pollution, headed by State Senator Culp Krueger, of El Campo, also held two days of hearings. Committee called in 18 operators of sewer plants in Galveston, Harris, and Bexar Counties to see what their problems are and what new laws might help improve things.

All of this activity has as its background the new Federal law, giving the states until June 30, 1967, to adopt and make plans to enforce purity standards on all their streams. Otherwise, the Federal government will set up its own antipollution measures.

BUSINESS INDEX DOWN

Texas business activity index dropped six percent during September, from an August high, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Index still was 7.9 percent above September of 1964.

Biggest monthly drop was in Dallas (14 percent). Fort Worth and Houston had small declines, and San Antonio a six percent increase.

Business for the first three quarters averaged 12 percent above the same period for 1964.

INSURANCE RATE CUT

State Board of Insurance approved an average decrease of 2.9 percent in Texas workmen's compensation rates, effective December 1, 1965.

Annual savings on premiums are estimated at $4,500,000.

There are about 600 categories of the compensation coverage. Some will be increased, some decreased sharply, but the overall average cut will be the 2.9 percent.

TOP OFFICIALS QUIT

Two top state appointive officials have resigned.

Insurance Commissioner J. N. Nutt said he was leaving his post, effective November 1, 1965, to return to private business.

Dr. Cyril J. Rullman asked to be relieved as Acting Commissioner of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, before January 1, 1966. He said he would "pursue a longstanding interest in medical education and private practice."

Dr. Shervert H. Frazier, director of the Houston State Psychiatric Institute for Research and Training, was named to replace D. Rullman.

MARRIED MEN FACE DRAFT

State draft boards will be authorized to draft any childless married man, beginning in December, regardless of when he married, to fill Texas' largest draft call in 12 years—1,714 men.

New policy pertains to men 19 through 25 years old, according to Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director.

SHORT SNORTS

Agricultural Commission John C. White proposes strict enforcement of egg laws aimed at off quality eggs from out of state.

Attorney General Carr filed suit for injunction and $3,900 in penalties against O. J. McCullough, of Houston, for building a dam across the San Jacinto River, near Conroe.

Biggest library construction program in Texas under matching funds provision of the Library Services and Construction Act ($175,000) got underway at Brownwood, November 4.

Read Psalm 96

O sing unto the Lord a new song: sing unto the Lord all the earth. (Psalm 96:1)

I shall never forget standing near the shore at Plymouth, Massachusetts, and looking out into the bay. It was in the spring, and one of those cold late April rains was falling. Down below lay Plymouth Rock where, it is said, the Pilgrims landed in 1620. I could not but think of the changes that have taken place since that day.

We are told that the first thing they did was to kneel upon the frozen ground and lift their voices in thanksgiving to Almighty God for bringing them to this new world, barren and desolate though it looked on that December day. Their first thought was of God.

Should not our first thought today be of God? When we first open our eyes on a new day, even before we get out of our beds, we should breathe a prayer of thankfulness to God. Ought we not to pledge our service to Him for this day? It seems to me that every day would be much better if we began it with thanksgiving to God.

PRAYER

We lift our voices to You this day, our Father, in a great song of thanksgiving for the days that have passed and for the days that lie before us. Take us today and use us to Your honor and glory. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Thanksgiving to God creates in us a spirit for better service to Him.

Mountaineers Outscore All Goldthwaite Opponents Together, But Lose 56-14

It was no upset. The high-flying Eagles from Goldthwaite, ranked either number one or two in the state, depending on which poll you read (Three Rivers is the other top-rated class A team), came to Santa Anna Friday night, and easily swamped the Mountaineers. But the local footballers did accomplish something. No other team this year has scored more than one touchdown against the Eagles, and the Mountaineers scored twice. In fact, Santa Anna scored more points against the mighty, top-rated Eagles than had been tallied against them by all of their previous opponents together.

It was a surprisingly well played game, despite the lopsided score, with Goldthwaite exhibiting its usual good sportsmanship. There were only eight penalties in the entire game, and five of these were of the technical, five yard variety.

The Eagles wasted little time, taking the initial Santa Anna kickoff and driving 60 yards for the score, using seven plays in the process. Halfback James Cook carried the last five yards for the score, and Emmett Miller added the placement conversion. Goldthwaite 7, Santa Anna 0.

The Mountaineers could gain only one yard in three downs following the kickoff, punted to the Eagle 37. One play later, the Eagles had another tally on the scoreboard, as halfback Charles Blackburn scampered 63 yards for the TD. Miller again added the one point. Goldthwaite 14, Santa Anna 0.

The old Mountaineer bugaboo, the fumble, rose up to haunt the Santa Annans, as they lost the ball on their own 30 yard line following the next kickoff. Three plays later, Eagle Tommy Hunson blasted over from the four yard line, and Miller again did the honors, conversionwise. Goldthwaite 21, Santa Anna 0.

The Mountaineers, apparently wondering if lightning would strike the same way twice, decided to find out, so they fumbled again on the first play from scrimmage, and it did, with Hudson going in from the two this time. Miller had apparently worn himself out kicking conversions, and he missed this one. Goldthwaite 27, Santa Anna 0.

Following another attempt at making headway against the tough Eagle defense, the Mountaineers punted to the Goldthwaite 25. A five yard penalty moved the ball back to the Eagle 20, but a first down run, worth 80 yards, moved it back up to the Santa Anna endzone, with Blackburn carrying the mail. The conversion attempt, via Miller's toe, went awry, and the score stood at 33 for Goldthwaite, 0 for Santa Anna, at the end of the first quarter.

Following a quick Eagle tally early in the period, on a 39 yard run by halfback Bobby Roundtree, and a two point conversion try by pass that failed, things settled down for a spell. Despite valiant efforts, the Mountaineers were never able to penetrate deeper into enemy territory than their own 37 yard line. With 29 seconds left to play in the first half, the Eagles tried something unusual in schoolboy football—a field goal. Miller booted it through the uprights from the 10 yard line, and the half ended with the score standing at Goldthwaite 42, Santa Anna 0.

Starting the second half, the Mountaineers put on their first sustained drive of the game, moving to the Goldthwaite 20 yard line before losing the ball on downs. The third quarter also saw the first instance in which the Eagles were held for downs and forced to punt. The only tally of the period came on a 40 yard pass play from quarterback Tommy Hudson to Blackburn. Jerry Roundtree added the two point conversion on a run. Goldthwaite 50, Santa Anna 0.

Late in the third period, the Mountaineers began a drive on their own 38, moved to the enemy 39 in four plays, and the first play of the fourth quarter saw halfback Eddie Jones take it from there for the first Santa Anna touchdown. The run at the two points fell short. Goldthwaite 50, Santa Anna 6.

The Eagles were held for downs and forced to punt on the next series of plays. But the Mountaineers, again in a generous mood, giving the ball back to the Eagles, by means of a fumble, on the Santa Anna 20. One play and a five yard penalty later, Bobby Roundtree took it across from the 23. The kick try went wide. Goldthwaite 56, Santa Anna 6.

The Mountaineers decided that this must be the way to get touchdowns, and a short time later, they recovered a Goldthwaite miscue, on the Eagles' 43 yard line, following a punt. It took seven plays to reach the double stripe, with Jones going the last 19 yards. A pass from quarterback Roy Joe Harvey to halfback Gary Rider put two more points on the scoreboard. Goldthwaite 56, Santa Anna 14.

In the statistics, the picture is as one-sided as on the scoreboard. The first downs were surprisingly close, seven for the Eagles to five for Santa Anna, explained by the fact that the visitors used few downs in getting their scores, making most of them on long runs. The Mountaineers got only one first down in the first half, but came back to pick up four in the second semester. The Mountaineers gained a healthy total of 186 yards rushing, but this figure pales somewhat beside the 403 yards gained on the ground by Goldthwaite, 314 of those yards coming in the first half. Santa Anna gained 19 yards in the air, on two completions out of seven thrown. The Eagles went to the air four times, completing one pass for 40 yards (and a touchdown). Santa Anna snared one Goldthwaite aerial, lost no passes to interception themselves. They made up for this by losing the ball three times via the fumble route, picking up one Goldthwaite miscue. The Mountaineers punted five times, averaging 30 yards per kick. The Eagles punted four times for a 22 yard average. Santa Anna lost only 15 yards during the evening due to penalties, of which there were three assessed. Goldthwaite was penalized 55 yards on five penalties.

The Mountaineers take this week off, then play Early next week, on the Brownwood school's field. This looks like the battle for the cellar, with the winner escaping the last place spot in the district.
