SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, APRIL 28, 1966

THE TEXAS BREED: We know a family that moved to a West Texas city a few months ago. Their eight year old son made friends with a neighbor boy of the same age, whose family is Jewish. The son of our friends has been interested in learning about some of the customs of the family of his new friend, with which he was not familiar.

Recently, he learned that his friend's family was preparing to celebrate Passover. Our young friend came home and asked his mother what Passover means.

Seeking to discover how much of the background her son remembered, she asked him if he knew the story of Moses.

"Sure," replied her son, "When he was a baby, his mother made a boat and put him in it, and she made the boat out of grass and sagebrush..."

Come to think of it, Egypt is a pretty dry country. Sagebrush boats might be more logical than one made of reeds.

This same family moved to their new West Texas home last fall. The man of the family is one of the pbeagle men in the state. However, when he moved to West Texas as director of the city's Boys Club, he pared his number of dogs down to one prized hound.

The family arrived in their new home on a Friday evening, at about the same time that a norther got to town, and they discovered that, due to a foulup, their electricity had been turned on, but the gas had not. The family suffered through a chilly weekend, moving in, and heating water on the electric stove in the kitchen for lukewarm baths.

Came Monday, and the man of the house went off to the office, the gas man came to turn on the gas, and the lady of the family spent the day in cleaning house.

When the husband and father arrived home, he announced that he planned to bring Wink, the beagle, in from his domicile in the backyard, and give him a bath.

His wife was a little unhappy about this announcement. "Why didn't you give him a bath during the weekend, before I got the house all cleaned up?" she wanted to know, logically. (this is one of the irritating habits that wives have—the use logic).

Her husband was shocked at the idea that she could suggest that he bathe his prized hound in the unheated house. "What," he demanded, "and take a chance on Wink catching pneumonia?"

In a letter telling us about the foregoing incident, the lady wrote that she was sure that we would get the full import of the incident, since, as she said, this was the sort of thing that only another hound dog man could appreciate.

Last week, we published a photo of a nutria (or coypu, if you want to get technical), and noted that this strange animal was a stranger in this part of the state. A few days later, Buddy Neff brought in a big one that he had just killed in one of his tanks.

Head for the hills, folks, the nutria are taking over!

The nutria is about the size of a beaver, with big, protruding front teeth like that animal, except that the nutria's teeth are bright orange in color (and are used to make jewelry). He has webbed feet, a hairless tail like that of a possum, and in general, looks like a huge rat. In an effort to get people to hunt the nutria, wildlife experts on the Texas Gulf Coast, where the animal is taking over and causing extensive crop damage, have tried to convince people that the nutria is good to eat. However, his looks make it doubtful that the nutria will ever be a popular main course.

The Mountain City Garden Club held its annual flower show here last week. Know who was the big winner? Mrs. Melvin Flowers, naturally.

It was Shakespeare who asked "What's in a name? A rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

Neighborhood Organization Holds Second Santa Anna Meeting Thursday

Santa Anna's "Neighborhood Improvement" group met in the Lion's Club Building on Thursday evening, April 21, with 42 persons attending.

The Chairman, Thomas Wristen, Jr., presided. Rev. Raymond Jones gave the Invocation, then Wristen introduced a girls trio singing group from Junior 4H Clubs and they rendered two numbers with Mrs. Tom Kingsbery at the piano. Then a quartet of Intermediates were introduced and they sang several numbers with Leanna Pollock at the piano. The members of the trio were Carol Kingsbery, Anne Martin, and Janna Kay Eubank. In the quartet were Darlene Jones, Jim Eubank, Beth Irick, and Eddie Jones.

Wristen then introduced R. T. Caperton, of Coleman, who gave a talk about "Being a Good Neighbor", and he mentioned the many problems of towns and neighborhoods saying they can become small problems with cooperation of city officials and citizens working together.

Civic clubs of the town were asked to tell something of their plans and accomplishments. Mrs. Harrel Cupps reported for the Quarterback Club. Jim Daniel and Mrs. W. B. Griffin for the Cemetery Association, also telling some of the work of the Garden Club had been doing at the Cemetery. The Jaycees came in a group from their meeting, where the president, Jerry Clark, and Dayton Jackson, Jimmy Roden, Ben Garrett, Kenneth Minyard, Dale Croft, and Max Eubank had been in session and discussing a number of projects they have in mind for the benefit of Santa Anna.

After these had told their plans, Rev. Jones announced there would be a revival meeting with several churches going in together as they did last summer. Dates not set for this meeting yet.

This meeting was informal, as they are all planned to be, so there was quite a little discussion of various questions from these present.

The Neighborhood Improvement Club will meet on the second Thursday night of each month. Next meeting will be Thursday, May 12.

Community leaders from a 15 county area in West Central Texas are being invited to Abilene on May 7 to join the battle against mental illness as one of Texas' foremost experts on mental health speaks at a Mental Health Week dinner.

Local Peace Corps Test Announced

Santa Anna area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9:00 a.m., on Saturday, May 14, at the Post Office Building, in Brownwood.

The Peace Corps uses the placement tests to determine how an applicant can be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (If test scores indicate a limited language learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English speaking country.) The placement test requires no preparation and is noncompetitive—an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local Post Offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, DC.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

Local Postmaster Warns Postal Savers To Withdraw Funds; System Closing

Santa Anna Postmaster John C. Gregg has urged depositors with Postal Savings Certificates to withdraw their accounts from Post Office as soon as possible, or as soon as the anniversary dates on their Certificates are reached.

The Postal Savings System was abolished on March 27, 1966 with the signing of Public Law 89-377.

Postmaster Gregg pointed out that as of April 28, 1966, no deposits can be accepted and no new accounts can be opened. He said that interest payments will end on the anniversary date of each Certificate now in force.

The local Postmaster said that as a matter of convenience, all certificates now held may be cashed at the same time, and interest will be paid for each full month they have been outstanding beyond three months from the interest date.

The United States Postal Savings System was established on January 1, 1911, to get money out of hiding and to attract savings of a large number of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at Post Offices in their former countries. It also served as a safe depository for people who had lost confidence in private banks. Today, however, with the growth of banking facilities paying much higher interest rates than the two percent per annum paid Postal Savings, the System has outlived its usefulness for the American people, Gregg said.

The Santa Anna Postmaster noted that as of June 30, 1965, there were 997,029 depositors holding certificates at 3,130 Post Offices throughout the nation. The number of depositors has been declining, he said, at a rate of about 6,500 per month.

The local Postmaster said that unpaid deposits remaining in the Post Office beyond June 30, 1967 would be transferred to the Treasury Department in a trust fund, and would be available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims are received.

Deposits in the Santa Anna National Bank went over the two million dollar mark during the three months since the last bank call, according to information released this week.

As of December 31, 1965, deposits in the local bank totalled $1,984,300.15. Figures filed as a result of the bank call of April 5, 1966 show deposits of $2,073,046.19.

The increase in deposits was due to the addition of time and savings deposits in the Santa Anna bank for the first time. These deposits, in the form of certificates of deposit, a new service being offered by the local bank, total $192,503.65 at the time of the April 5 report. The previous report, in December of last year, listed only demand deposits (checking accounts).

Demand deposits are down in the April, 1966 report from the total in December of 1965, totalling $1,890,542.54 at the time of the latest bank call.

Bank calls are requests for periodical reports on the condition of all banks in the country, made by the United States Comptroller of the Currency. The required reports show the financial status of the bank at the time of the call.

Loans and discounts by the Santa Anna National Bank are also up in the most recent report, moving from $921,367.44 in December of last year, to $972,234.65 as of April 5, 1966.

In the category of cash on hand and funds due from other banks, the current report shows an increase, from $637,241.22 in December, 1965, to $681,118.51 at the time of the April, 1966 call.

One year ago, in the bank call of April 26, 1965, the Santa Anna National Bank showed deposits of $1,767,589.67. Total assets one year ago were $2,041,033.98, compared with $2,366,292.74 in the April 5, 1966 report.

Beyond the Blossoms

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When the buds burst into fragile flower, and their breath is everywhere, and a warming breeze caresses the cold, damp earth... this is more than Spring. This is the time of Promise.

For these same festive branches shall lift a precious burden of fruit when the red-gold mantle of harvest falls across the land.

When human souls awaken to the reveille of faith, and hymns and prayers fill the arches of heaven, and the warmth of an ageless hope reaches from heart to heart... this is more than Lent.

For the faith which blossoms today will bear its own precious fruit. Love! Joy! Peace! The harvest of souls like yours and mine is beginning anew to grow.

You Lose Again

You, and all citizens of the nonmetropolitan areas of our nation lost again last week, when the Senate of the United States said that you do not have enough sense to know the type of government you prefer in your state government, and that you do not have the right to organize your state government on the same basis as the Federal government—that is, one house based on population and another based on political subdivisions (the Federal House of Representatives is set up on a population basis, and the Senate is based on political subdivisions).

The Senate did this by failing to pass the proposed Dirksen amendment to the Constitution, which would have given to the people of each state the right to determine how they wished for their state government to be organized, which is not an unreasonable privilege in a democracy. The Dirksen amendment would not dictate the type of government a state would have—just that the people of the state—and not a small group of men in Washington—would be the ones to decide on their own form of government.

The proposed amendment received 55 votes in its favor, and 38 votes against it. Since it requires a two thirds vote of the Senate to submit a Constitutional amendment to the states, the minority opposing the proposed amendment were able to take the freedom of determining your form of government away from you.

This means that the concept of the one man one vote ruling handed down by the United States Supreme Court will remain in effect—meaning that unless you live in a large city, you can no longer count on having effective representation in your state government. And this situation will continue to be in effect until the people of this country become tired of having their liberty arbitrarily taken from them by a small group in Washington, and demand that their Senators support measures aimed at restoring the government to the people—as the Dirksen amendment would have done.

An interesting sidelight to the action of the Senate in failing to provide enough votes to let you decide the question is the fact that a majority of those opposing it classify themselves as Liberals. Originally, those who called themselves by this label were concerned with the rights of individuals. Now those who profess to be Liberals seem to be on the side of big government, with little regard for the rights of individuals. Perhaps it is time that these traditional labels were reexamined as to their real meaning.

Two Steps In The Right Direction

Within the next few weeks, work will start on two projects in Santa Anna—the new units for the Santa Anna Housing Authority, and the water and sewer system improvements. In 1964, Santa Anna led all cities in Texas in per capita value of construction. In 1965, the rate dropped off sharply. With the new projects getting underway soon, perhaps other construction will follow suit, and Santa Anna can regain its image as a growing community.

GUIDING PLAN

LETTERS

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third in a series of letters to the editor from Mrs Bob Pearce, of Santa Anna

Editor:

Thomas Jefferson is supposed to have said that it would take one thousand years to settle the West Now, less than 200 years later, we have conquered the West, built huge cities, enlarged the farms, striped the land with highways and train tracks, and the skies with vapor trails. When it was learned that one man could now produce on the farm what it used to take several families to do, many people left the farms to be nearer better paying jobs, higher educational institutions, cultural centers, and special medical facilities. Now with rapid transportation and more leisure time, the people are once again on the move. This time they are going back to the country, to the suburbs, to lakeside homes, vacation cabins and even to permanent homes in the rural areas. Long distance commuting jobs is no longer a problem, but people will still want to be near educational, recreational, cultural and medical institutions.

Santa Anna is ideally suited to become one of these meccas for families wanting to leave congested cities. Brownwood, 22 miles away, Abilene, 62 miles away, and San Angelo, 78 miles away, all supply the big city facilities a small town cannot afford. Several colleges, a university, business, nursing, barber and beauty schools, short courses for the general public, and lectures of all kinds are within half an hour, or one or two hours drive from Santa Anna. Specialists for all parts of the body are just as close. Abilene has a rehabilitation center for the crippled and brain damaged. Various musical concerts, art exhibits, touring theatrical companies, style, horse, cattle, and dog shows are near for local residents of varied interests. Recreation at lakes, rodeos, fairs, zoos, parks, races, dances and supper clubs supply entertainment for every age.

Santa Anna has her own hospital with doctors for both in patients and outpatients and a large nursing home for the elderly. Pharmacies for medicines, grocery, drug, hardware, furniture, clothing, lumber and variety stores, garages and filling stations, a bank, a tailor shop, laundries, real estate and insurance offices, florist, antique, beauty, barber and repair shops, cafes, a newspaper, a funeral establishment, and the school supplies the daily needs of the people. The library, a pool hall, local ball games and concerts, various clubs and lodges and the annual rodeo supply recreation. Several religious denominations have churches in Santa Anna. Other denominations have churches in nearby Coleman, and still others are represented just a few more miles away so that the spiritual needs of most people can be met here or nearby. There is still plenty of room within the present boundaries of the town proper to accommodate many new families. People, tired of being lost in a big city, would do well to look to Santa Anna, a small town that has refused to die.

Mrs. Bob Pearce
 Santa Anna

Editor:

Although I seldom agree with you on many things you say and do, but I must say I do agree with you on the editorial of March 17, 1966, "We Can Do It Here."

Especially where you used the scripture, where Peter asked How often shall he forgive me who had sinned against him? Peter thought seven times would be a generous number. But the answer came back until 70 times seven.

I live in a rest home where there is an average of 40 or more patients, besides 20 or more nurses. Among us there are five or six denominations represented. We have preaching every Sunday afternoon, different denominations to preach. Those of us who are able go. Everybody is friendly, sweet fellowship.

We are so thankful that we have this privilege. Of course, we have our way of looking at things. I am a Nazarene, I don't tell others they are wrong, neither do they tell me I am wrong.

Do you know since I have been here, (three years and a half) I pray the Lord's Prayer every day, and I find if I live up to it I can say—"Yes Lord, I forgive others as I ask you to forgive me." God's word says, "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." John 13:35.

Maay God bless all the dear people of Santa Anna. Many are my best of friends.

Candidates for statewide offices are getting set for the final week of their campaign.

Democrats will vote at their May 7 primary for seven statewide offices.

Spotlight has been on the race for state attorney general. Candidates are Galloway Calhoun, of Tyler; Crawford Martin, of Hillsboro; and Franklin Spears, of San Antonio.

Spears pledges efforts to improve law enforcement. Martin is emphasizing his 27 years of experience as a lawyer and his long service as state senator and secretary of state. Calhoun identifies himself as the "only real conservative" in the race.

All three candidates are eying the large number of voters who apparently still undecided despite their long campaigns.

Governor John Connally, seeking a third term, virtually has ignored attacks on his administration by Stanley Woods, of Houston. The third candidate for governor, Johnnie Mae Hackworth, of Brenham, has not actively campaigned.

Bill Hollowell, of Grand Saline, running as Woods' ticket-mate against incumbent Railroad Commissioner Byron Tunnell, of Tyler.

State Attorney General Waggoner Carr is opposed by political newcomer John R. (Jack) Willoughby, of Houston, for the United States Senate nomination.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has opposition from Fred Williams, of Del Rio.

Only contested statewide judicial race is between incumbent Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan, and District Judge John F. Onion, of San Antonio.

Light interest is expected to be reflected in a predicted 50 percent voter turnout.

POPULATION

Texas is growing at the rate of 1.5 percent a year, the University of Texas Population Research Center reports.

An estimate of population shows that there were 10,336,141 Texans on April 1, 1965. This is a gain of 756,464 over the 1960 census.

Irrigated farming areas in the High Plains produced the two fastest growing counties—Randall and Deaf Smith. Respective growth rates are 7.7 and 7.1 percent a year. Hartley County, in the top of the Panhandle, has gained seven percent a year.

But Texans still are moving to town. Study shows that the 21 metropolitan counties, which contain cities of 50,000 and more, gained 637,374 of the total. Only three of the 21 failed to gain. They are Midland, Ector, and Cameron Counties.

POLLUTION

Population growth essentially is to blame for growing problems of stream pollution. For example, the state water plan, to be released, predicts that Fort Worth and Dallas will be discharging 750,000 acre feet of waste water a year into the Trinity River.

This prediction has the Texas Water Pollution Control Board looking for ways to require cities and industries to treat their wastes so they will not cause pollution. Board must adopt a plan for maintaining good quality water in all Texas streams by June 30, 1967, or Federal agencies will take over the job.

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, has appropriated $25,000 to be used, with matching money from the Pollution Control Board, to devise a work plan for a $4,000,000 study of how to keep the Galveston Bay System clean.

COLLEGES

Population growth produces more college students. Coordinating Board forecasts that enrollments in 17 state colleges and universities will double by 1978—from 115,015 to 260,097.

This determination was made for the purpose of splitting up the $156,000,000 Texans will pay in the next 12 years on the 10 cent per $100 ad valorem tax to finance college buildings at the 17 schools. Schools in the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems get their building money from their permanent fund endowment.

A $20,000,000 bond issue to finance the first two years of student loans under an overall $85,000,000 state program was approved by the Board.

TOURISTS

Texas Highway Department reports that 12,688,000 tourists visiting Texas by car in 1965 spent $613,148,000—16.4 percent more than in 1964.

Governor Connally, pushing for tourism, pointed out that when air, train, and bus visitors are added to the total, it shows that $907,000,000 was spent by the visitors.

He also emphasized the need for more recreational facilities at major reservoirs during the dedication of Canyon Dam on the Guadalupe River.

EMERGENCY PLAN

ACCEPTED

A committee named to draw up a plan for management of natural resources in the event a nuclear attack knocked out Federal controls presented its report to Governor Connally.

Areas covered by the plan include construction, economic stabilization, electric power, food, petroleum and gas, health, trial production, housing, and manpower.

Connally requested the Emergency Resources Planning Committee to remain in operation 60 days longer.

OIL OUTPUT BOOSTED AGAIN

Texas Railroad Commission raised the limit on oil production to 35 percent of potential—highest point for the month of May in seven years.

Allowable was boosted due to increasing demand and decreasing stocks on hand.

New allowable is an increase of 75,700 barrels daily over April.

SHORT SNORTS

Grayson County officials received a Highway Department survey recommending a new route for US 75 from Sherman to the Red River.

Texas veterans are paying up well on their farm and ranch loans, with only 4.44 percent of the active accounts, due November 1, late on their payments, reports Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

State Health Department advised local health units of the new Federal aid policy making birth control information available to all who seek it.

Governor Connally named Frank W. Mayborn, Temple newsman, to the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, succeeding the late W. R. Beaumier.

A county sheriff, or his deputies, may not contract with an incorporated city to provide it police protection which are performed regularly by city police officers or city marshals. State Attorney General Waggoner Carr so advised Galveston County District Attorney Jules Damiani, Jr.

Read II Timothy 3:16-4:5

Faith comes from what is heard, and what is heard comes by the preaching of Christ. (Romans 10:17 RSV)

The great concern of Paul was to bring the good news of Christ to all men.

Awaiting execution in Rome, Paul did not feel sorry for himself. As long as his life was spared, he carried on the work of "teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ."

Paul did not feel that with his own death Christ's work here on earth would be finished. Paul knew his work would end, but that if his witness for Christ were effective, others would take up the battle where he would leave off.

The same concern is before us that faced Paul: Who will carry on the preaching and teaching of Christ after we are gone?

If our Christian witness is consistently effective, there will be many to follow us who will carry Christ's gospel to the world "to make all men see what is the plan of the mystery hidden for ages in God who created all things."

PRAYER

Our Father, we rejoice that though our mortal lives will end, Your work will continue if we tell others the good news of Christ. Strengthen us, fill us with Your power, and use us for Your glory. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

To whom will I tell the gospel of Christ today?

FOUL WEATHER FRIENDS

Wonderful in fair weather, too. When the weather is foul, as it is so often in winter, an automatic washer and flameless electric dryer guarantee a constant supply of fresh-smelling, fluffy-dry clothes. With your own automatic electric laundry, you just pop the family wash in the washer, set the dial and go about your other chores. Drying clothes is no problem either—pop them in—set the dial—then do some other little chore for the family, you have been "putting off." So remember, in fair weather or foul, your best friends are an automatic washer and flameless electric dryer.
