Acreage Survey Cards Ready For Distribution

Acting Postmaster John C. Gregg, announced today that Rural Mail Carriers will begin distributing 1966 Acreage Survey Cards to patrons on their routes about September 14.

The Post Office Department assists U.S.D.A. in making this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1966.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey, Acting Postmaster Gregg urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mailbox.

Rural mail carriers working on this project are:

M. L. Guthrie, Routes one and two; Ann Allen, Rockwood Route, and D. H. Moore, Trickham-Whon Route.

Wool Growers Urged To Vote In Referendum

All eligible wool growers were urged today to cast their ballots in the referendum on the wool and lamb market-development program. Vernon Bullard, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said that he hopes for the most representative vote possible.

Growers eligible to vote are all those who have owned sheep or lambs 6 months of age or older for at least 30 consecutive days since last January 1.

By approving the proposed new agreement, producers would authorize deductions from payments of up to 1½ cents a pound on shorn wool and 7½ cents a hundredweight on the unshorn lambs, compared with 1 cent and 5 cents in the past. The higher deductions, recommended by most of the State and Regional Member Organizations of ASFC, would finance moderately expanded promotion programs for both wool and lamb.

The chairman said that ballots are being mailed to all known wool and lamb producers by the ASCS County office serving the county where the producer's farm or ranch headquarters is located, and this county office is where the ballots should be cast. Ballots may be mailed to the county office or delivered in person as soon as they are received and they should reach the office no later than the close of business on September 23 in order to be counted.

RATTLERS GATHER MEET FIERY FATE

Mrs. John Stewardson, who lives about 11 miles south of Santa Anna, had a snake surprise when she went out to rake up some leaves and trash in her yard Friday.

The first surprise came when she began raking under an old water trough and pulled out a large rattlesnake, which she promptly killed.

No sooner had she resumed her raking than she pulled out another of the creatures, which also met its fate then and there.

But Friday seemed to be snake day for Mrs. Stewardson — for as she looked farther into the trash pile she found 20 more small rattlers.

She decided the only way to rid the pile of the snakes was to send them up in flames. She said she thought there were even more underneath which she had not seen.

A CHURCH CELEBRATES

A Centennial of Medical Work

By M. CAROL HETZEL
It was the era of wasp waists and airless bedrooms, dust-gathering street-length skirts and grease-soaked foods when Seventh-day Adventists entered the world of health and medicine. They did it with an eye-brow-raising program of living that eschewed street-length dresses and tight waists for women, opened bedroom windows to admit the "night vapors," and introduced a diet designed to eliminate cholesterol before cholesterol was discovered.

The Adventist Church opened its first medical institution on September 5, 1866, the Health Institute of Battle Creek, Michigan. Battle Creek was to become famous as a result.

The Health Institute grew into the renowned Battle Creek

Lions Club Speaker Discusses Football

Members of Santa Ann Lions Club, after enjoying a delicious meal at their regular meeting Tuesday at noon, sat back and listened intently as the guest speaker defined the meaning and merits of football and discussed rule changes in effect this year.

Clarence Garrison of San Saba, a member of the SFOA organization of Brownwood, emphasized that football is an essential part of the educational system in any school.

The game is not played solely for pleasure of fans and players, but is also teaching players to conduct themselves as gentlemen, giving their best whether they win or lose, and leave the field knowing that they have given their best with a feeling of grace and sense of satisfaction.

He also emphasized that fans should conduct themselves in a sportsman-like manner, at the game and afterwards, even though it is thought that an official has made a "bad" call. He stated that it is not the intent of any official to maliciously call a game to favor any one team but as they see it in the sense of good conduct and sportsmanship, according to the rules of the game.

State Capitol NEWS

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
Austin, Texas—It seems that a power struggle between House and Senate leaders on the Legislative Budget Board cost Director Vernon McGee his $20,000 a year job.

Board is made up of five state senators and five house members. In the past they have fashioned the State budget mainly behind closed doors.

House Speaker Ben Barnes maintains that the budget should be written "on the floor" by the lawmakers and that all committee hearings on it should be open to legislators and the public.

Barnes wants the House to have a larger role in writing the multi-billion-dollar state general appropriations bill. He also wants to put a brake on conference committee powers.

He feels that a new budget chief, without close ties in the senate, will aid his drive for a joint legislative rules amendment to restrict conference committees to adjusting differences between bills, rather than writing new legislation in secret session.

McGee has helped process the State's $3,600,000,000 biennial budget during the past 17 years.

Speaker Barnes, while praising McGee's ability, said the budget director had become too powerful and was too close to veteran state senators who have long dominated budget writing.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith favored re-employing McGee. But the board voted 6-3 against re-hiring. One senator joined representatives in the vote for discharge and another voted "present."

PATROL GETS SHORT WEEK

Uniformed Texas highway patrolmen are going on a five-day week as the Department of Public Safety moves to recruit and keep qualified officers and provide better law enforcement.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the DPS, says there are 125 vacancies in the patrol services. Next deadline for applications is October 17.

TREASURY SURPLUS CLIMBS

Biggest fiscal year-end surplus in the general fund in Texas' history was recorded by State Treasurer Jesse James. Total ran $138,000,000.

James reported the surplus as $1,600,000 higher than the previous year. Current biennium ends August 31, 1967.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

A road district can be formed which encompasses territory lying in more than one county. So held Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in an official opinion. However, the entire area of each county making up such district must be included and counties involved must be contiguous to each other. "Road district," says Carr, "may acquire right of way for use by the State Highway Department to improve and extend the state highway system."

In other opinions, Carr held that:

• Texas Parks and Wildlife Department may buy Calhoun County land under a law authorizing purchase of property near Rockport for a salt water experiment pond.

• "Self-insuring" counties carrying their own liability risks rather than purchasing workers' compensation are not deprived of common law defenses. Also, liability is not affected.

• Service citation fees to sheriffs or constables in small claims court cases ($2) still are in effect.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

James Berger of Austin now is acting director of parole supervision. He succeeds Ray Williams who resigned to do graduate studies at the University of Texas.

Joe Entzminger of Bay City, Tom Gordon of Abilene, Mrs. Howard Hurd of Brownfield, Tom McCrummen, Jr., of Austin and Garrett Morris of Ft. Worth were named as credentials subcommittee for the State Democratic convention. They will hear delegation disputes from Angelina, Denton and Midland counties and protests concerning the Harris and Armstrong County conventions.

MILLIONS ASKED FOR BUILDINGS

State Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation is seeking $53,600,000 for new buildings and for expansion of existing facilities during the next biennium.

Money would go to facilities at Abilene, Austin, Denton, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Lubbock, Lufkin, Mexia, Richmond, Mexia, Big Spring, Kerrville, Rusk, San Antonio, Terrell, Wichita Falls, and in the Rio Grande Valley (site to be selected).

Board for MH/MR was informed that mental hospitals at Rusk, San Antonio and Wichita Falls fell below standards of the Joint Commission on Accreditation and cannot participate in Medicare benefits until they correct shortcomings.

REVENUE SPLIT "BARRED"

Staff attorneys for the Texas Legislative Council say a proposal by big-city mayors that municipalities get a share of state tax revenue is unconstitutional.

But municipal officials still are convinced that where there's a will, there's a way to obtain a partial refund of broad-based taxes collected by the state in their boundaries.

Texas Municipal League Director Steve Mathews says he feels "things can be worked out" if the Legislature wants to provide a source of supplemental aid to hard-pressed cities.

CONNALLY SAYS NO

Gov. John Connally told Rio Grande Valley farm workers he will not call a special legislative session to consider a $1.25 an hour minimum wage act. Connally went to New Braunfels to meet the marchers who were on a 400-mile trek to the Capital for a Labor Day rally.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas business activity dropped four per cent in July... sharpest break since last fall and second sharpest since 1963.

The State Health Department urges Texans to destroy all possible mosquito breeding places (water traps) to combat disease.

An Employ-the-Handicapped Conference will be held here on September 23 by the governor's committee.

Another $1,500,000 in Neighborhood Youth Corps projects for 27 counties has received the governor's approval.

Texas Department of Public Safety is seeking authentic objects, used by Texas Rangers during any period, to be permanently placed in a public museum being organized at the department headquarters in Austin.

There are 32 points in a compass.

Museum Looking For Historic Texas Ranger Mementos

The Texas Department of Public Safety is interested in securing authentic objects used by former Texas Rangers at any period in history to be permanently placed in a public museum being developed at Department Headquarters in Austin.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS Director and Chief of the Texas Rangers, asked anyone interested in contributing such items as guns, knives, belts, spurs or any other authentic Ranger items not completely deteriorated, to write him at Box 4087, N.A.S., Austin, Texas 78751.

"We are attempting to preserve for posterity in this museum a top-flight collection of Ranger mementos to symbolize the glorious tradition of the oldest police force on the North American continent with statewide jurisdiction," Garrison said.

"We feel that this museum can provide invaluable service for the State of Texas by commemorating for present and future generations the historic bravery of the Texas Rangers in preserving law and order and protecting the people of Texas from frontier days through the space age."

Garrison said the museum is to be established at a central location in the Department of Public Safety Headquarters and will be opened for public viewing upon its completion, the date of which has not yet been determined.

"We hope we will be able to obtain from public-spirited Texans a collection of Ranger paraphernalia that will become one of the most outstanding historical tourist attractions in the state," said Garrison.

Californian Eyes Texas Centipede

Texas' celebrated centipedes got an unexpected plug from a California visitor to Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

The woman, staying over night at Texas "Little Grand Canyon," described the insect as surprisingly large. "I saw what appeared to be a centipede but it was at least six inches long," she wrote to the Parks and Wildlife Department.

The Department advised it's a Texas native, sort of scary looking but rarely contributing anything worse than a sting much like a hornet.

This is just another person's dilemma now shared by a few million others contacting nature's curious creatures in state parks.

There are 24 karats in pure gold.

There are 1,000 million in a billion.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read II Corinthians 3:1-6

Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men. (II Corinthians 3-2).

The Christian gospel is not mere words but a living practice. The Lord's word is so mighty that it raises to new life men dead in trespasses and sins. God's good news creates new creatures, new witnesses of His power, new example of His love.

In a small village in Sosnia, in the forest of central Yugoslavia, there lives a certain believer in Christ. Though he is not some important man, but a simple poor farmer, he still is very well known to the people in that region because of his Christian witness. You can ask the people in that area, perhaps as far as in the tenth village from him: "Where lives the 'new believer'?" as the people call him, and everybody will tell you his address.

There are also in that area some people who do not know how to read or write. They have the wonderful opportunity to read the epistle of Christ, written not on paper, but in the life of this devout follower.

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we pray for Thy mighty power so that we can be able to live here for Thee and to be a living epistle of Christ known and read of all men. In His spirit we pray, as He taught us "Our Father who are in heaven . . . Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: In my life and work, will I be a living epistle of Christ today?

TAX MAN SAM SEZ: Divorce is usually an unfortunate experience that both parties would like to forget as soon as possible. However, many divorced couples forget to settle their tax affairs as a part of the divorce settlement. Under the community property laws in Texas, each spouse is entitled to one-half of the income and/or community deductions from the income, up to the date of divorce. This is true regardless of which spouse earned the income. It pays to get your tax affairs straightened out at the time of the divorce instead of getting into a tax audit.

A rabbit can run faster uphill than down because its hind legs are longer than its forelegs.

Medicare Decision Faces 120,000 Each Month

Every month 120,000 Americans reach the age of 65. The soon-to-be-65's are asking these days, "When is the best time for me to sign up for medicare?" The answer, according to R. R. Tuley Jr., Abilene social security district manager, is that they should sign up two or three months before they reach 65.

If they wait until the month they reach 65 or the following 3 months, their hospital insurance protection under medicare begins right away, but their coverage under the voluntary doctor bill insurance will not start until 1 to 3 months after they sign up for it.

Tuley explained that the medicare law provides a 7-month initial enrollment period for the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of the program. This period begins with the 3rd month before the person is 65, includes the month in which he reaches 65, and ends with the 3rd month thereafter.

"The best time to enroll," he said, "is in one of the 3 months before you reach 65. If you do so, your protection starts with the month of your 65th birthday. Waiting until that month to sign up will mean the coverage can't start until the following month. And enrollment in one of 3 months after the month you are 65 can mean a delay of up to 3 months in the start of your protection."

He further explained that failure to sign up during the 7-month initial enrollment period may mean that the individual will have to wait until the next general enrollment period. This is always the last three months of odd-numbered years. But even then, the older person will have to wait until the following July for the protection to start, and the premium payments will be 10 percent higher.

"This matter of a delayed start in protection could have serious consequences if the individual had high medical expenses meanwhile," he pointed out. The voluntary medical insurance part of medicare covers doctor bills for home, office, and hospital visits, surgeons' fees, and a wide variety of other medical expenses in and out of the hospital.

STATE FAIR TO FEATURE RARE "SHEEP OF THE WORLD" DISPLAY

An exhibit of the finest sheep trophies of one of the world's great hunters—Herb Klein of Dallas—will be a featured attraction at the 1966 State Fair of Texas October 8 through 23 in Dallas. The rare exhibit in the Museum of Natural History will display some of the best of Mr. Klein's trophies of 13 of the 14 major species of wild sheep found on the six continents of the world. Above, Mr. Klein is shown with the most difficult trophy of them all, the North American desert sheep.

Hospital insurance coverage begins with the month a person reaches 65, providing he applies to establish his eligibility no later than 12 months following that month, Tuley said. Like social security cash benefits, hospital insurance payments are retroactive for up to 12 months. There is no such retroactive payment under the medical insurance part of medicare, he emphasized.

For people who were 65 or over before March 1, 1966, the medicare law set a general enrollment period that began September 1, 1965, and ended May 31, 1966, during which they could sign up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance to supplement their basic hospital insurance under medicare. Over nine out of ten elderly people enrolled for this supplementary protection.

Since May 31, Tuley said, almost 40 per cent of those applying to enroll in the medical insurance applied too late to have their coverage start with the month they reached 65.

About 8 per cent had waited until the month of their 65th birthday; 24 per cent until one of the 3 months following that month—but still within the 7-month enrollment period. Five per cent did not apply until after the end of their enrollment period and will not have another chance to enroll until the next general enrollment period, October 1, to December 31, 1967.

Boating Violations Reflect Increase

Impact of stricter law enforcement on the new statewide boating safety code was reflected in the latest arrest report by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

It included 110 citations for violating various phases of the law passed by the last State Legislature. Conspicuously, 29 of the 110 tickets written involved the requirement that life jackets be provided all boat occupants.

Fishing without a license again was a major infraction. Citations for that cause totaled 366, making 1432 tickets written for that reason during the last three months. The firearms front was comparatively quiet while water sport prevailed. There were 54 hunting violations, including three for killing deer in closed season, three for hunting with an artificial light, and two for hunting at night.

Seven persons were filed on for killing quail in closed season and one for shooting a duck out of season.

One angler got so daring that he was caught trying to catch hatchery fish and three were detected using an old crank telephone set to stun fish.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Within the next few weeks thousands of young Texans will be going back to school. During the next nine months more than 200,000 of these young Texans will learn how to fill out their income tax returns. The Internal Revenue Service cooperates with some 2000 Texas high schools and colleges in furnishing the material for a short course on how to prepare your income tax return. The Teaching Taxes course is popular with most students—especially those due a refund. If your son or daughter is fortunate enough to get the Teaching Taxes course, maybe you can get them to help you.

GROWING OLD IS SIMPLY A STATE OF THE MIND

Growing old is simply a question of mind over matter — if you don't mind, it doesn't matter. That is the consensus of researchers in the psychology of aging at the Veterans Administration hospital in Houston.

Regardless of their age, persons who are effective and productive do not think of themselves as growing old. Apparently they are not aware that they are aging.

In sharp contrast, the researchers observe that individuals who have difficulty in their adaptation to later life tend to occupy themselves with thoughts of growing old even while they are relatively young.

An integral part of the evaluation included assessing the attitudes of different age groups toward growing old. This included exploring the role of the self-image and the attitudes about one's body in the process of aging.

VISITATION RIGHTS

When Alice divorced Jim, She was given custody of their three-year old son. However, Jim had visitation rights every Sunday afternoon. He would call for the boy at 3 p. m. take him out for a few hours, and then return him at dinnertime.

But one thing rankled Alice. "It's those between-meal snacks," she complained in a court hearing. "Jim never fails to feed the boy something while they are out. That is bad for his health. Therefore, I would like to have Jim's visitation rights ended."

But the court decided her complaint was not serious enough to justify such drastic action, that the "punishment" was too great for the "crime".

Generally speaking, the law prefers—primarily for the sake of the child—to keep parental ties intact. While visitation rights are often modified, they will not be cut off altogether without a compelling reason. What is a compelling reason? Here are three cases in which the court did decide to bring parental visits to an end:

- 1) an embittered father made a calculated attempt, during these visits, to turn the child's love for his mother into hatred;
- 2) a quarrelsome mother used her visits to create violent scenes that left her small daughter in torment;
- 3) a hard-drinking father not only used vile language to his three young children but also piled them with whiskey.

But minor grievances — such as a mother's complaint that the father's visits "annoyed" her — won't suffice. Furthermore a court that does cut off visitation rights may well restore them later if the offending parent mends his ways.

For example: A court revoked its ban against a mother who, although once an alcoholic, had quit drinking, found a good job and gained a respected place in the community.

In fact, even if the parent has been barred because of flagrant adultery, visitation rights may be restored when there is enough evidence of reform and repentance.

Thus, an adulterous mother who remarried and led a blameless life for several years was able to regain the right to visit her children. The court said:

"A child's welfare is best subserved by fostering the virtue of filial piety, even toward a parent who once had erred, but who has long since reformed."

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Inquiries About Refunds
Each year thousands of taxpayers file tax returns with a refund due. Internal Revenue can't find many of these people when they finish processing the tax return and mail out the refund check. These refund checks are returned to the District Director. Most of the returned refund checks come back because the taxpayer has moved. If you have moved since you filed your return, send your new address in to your District Director. Be sure to include your correct social security number with your name and new address so the Internal Revenue folks can identify you. If you are a lost taxpayer, help the good folks find you.

CAMPING BOOTS

Don't try to walk mountain trails in the same sort of boots you use when rabbit hunting. Best authorities recommend rugged footwear equipped with vibram lug soles. Ordinary boots are much too soft for such hard wear.

The Near East is the collective name for countries on the eastern Mediterranean.

A Centennial of Medical Work . . .

ped out of their control, there were 41 sanitariums and hospitals operated by the church.

In 1907 the Adventists opened what was to become their second medical training center, at Loma Linda, California. The site was 500 acres in a valley between Redbank and San Bernardino, in southern California. The sanitarium building sat on a hill in the center of the land. Cost to the church was $40,000.

Today Loma Linda has become the medical education center for the Adventists' (membership, 1,578,504) world work extending into 189 countries. Called Loma Linda University, the center operates school of medicine, dentistry, nursing and paramedical studies. Capital investment is more than $29,000,000. Its graduates are found in every corner of the world, practicing the healing arts in the mission service of the church.

And around the earth Adventist hospitals number 123 not counting 146 clinics and dispensaries. The hospitals may be small, accommodating as few as 20 patients or large enough to care for 500 in-patients. Thirty-four schools of nursing graduate over 500 nurses each year, to help meet the rising need for medical care. Medical launches also operate on such rivers as the Amazon and the Sao Francisco in South America, and the Church's ambulance service has taken to the air in mountainous, isolated regions.

One example of the church's medical missionary work is the Malamulo Hospital and Leprosarium. Opened in 1908, Malamulo is situated on some 300 acres in Malawi, Africa. It is one of the largest facilities in Africa for the treatment of lepers. A number of other Adventist hospitals are operated throughout Africa.

There have been other prodigies in the church's roster of physicians, beside Dr. Kellogg—other "dabblers."

Dr. Harry W. Miller, missionary to China since the turn of the century, rubbed the humble soybean between his thumb and forefinger and discovered its magic. The product of his research, soy milk, has saved countless lives in the Orient, and has been a boon to allergy sufferers in the States and elsewhere.

Dr. Miller's research with the soybean has also contributed much to the delights of the Adventists' vegetarian diet. From the somewhat less than luscious legume, and from other vegetable products, the inquisitive doctor and those who have followed in his steps have produced meat substitutes that can fall even the most carnivorous!

Health food factories operated by the denomination now number 15, with the preponderance of them in Australia. Products range all the way from breakfast cereals (of course) to such spectaculars as Wham (a substitute for ham), Vege-steaks, Steaklets, Cutlets, Chicklets, Nutena, Not-Meat, Vege-burger, Protose, and Salisbury Steak-style Soy Meat!

Much of the church's activity in the area of health, health education and medicine received impetus from the instruction given by Mrs. Ellen G. White, a pioneer of Adventism. Her counsels emphasized the value of fresh air, outdoor exercise, the use of water both internally and externally, simple cooking, the link between mental and physical health. It was she who urged the establishment of a sanitarium and a health journal in 1906.

Mrs. White believed that the medical work was the right arm of the Adventist message, that as Christ had linked His preaching, so the church should link healing and health with its urgent message of Christ's second coming.

Her messages are believed by the church to have been inspired. To be sure, much that she urged in her writings on the subject was ahead of her time. The following statements taken from her book Ministry of Healing, with dates of release are samples:

"The lungs are constantly throwing off impurities, and they need to be constantly supplied with fresh air. Impure air does not afford the necessary supply of oxygen, and the blood passes to the brain and other vital organs without being revitalized."—Page 274 (1905).

"In health and in sickness, pure water is one of heaven's choicest blessings."—Page 236, (1864).

"People are continually eating flesh that is filled with tuberculous and cancerous germs. Tuberculosis, cancer and other fatal diseases are thus communicated."—Page 313 (1864).

"Tobacco is a slow, insidious, but malignant poison."—Page 327 (1864).

"The well-being of the child will be affected by the habits of the mother . . . If before the birth of her child she is self-indulgent, if she is selfish, impatient, and exacting, these traits will be reflected in the disposition of the child."—Page 372-373 (1890).

has a corresponding effect on "Whatever affects the body the mind and the soul."—Page 315 (1884).

"Keep grease out of your food. It defiles any preparation of food you may make."—Counsels on Diet and Foods, page 200 (1868).

Behind the Seventh-day Adventists' unusual diet, behind their strict abstinence from such widespread habits as smoking and drinking alcoholic beverages is the basic belief that man's body is the temple of God. To do anything that will injure or debilitate that "temple" dishonors God. This belief is based on the Holy Scriptures: "Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's," 1 Corinthians 6:19 and 20.

Mrs. White expressed it this way: "The knowledge that man is to be a temple for God, a habitation for the revealing of His glory, should be the highest incentive to the care and development of our physical powers."—Ministry of Healing, page 271.

The church has not hugged its health message to itself. Rather it has endeavored to share with others. Examples of this sharing may be found in its 16 health journals, published in 16 different languages and 15 lands. In the United States, Life and Health, a 36-page monthly, discusses current health matters and presents suggestions for happier living. This is the modern counterpart of the denomination's first health journal, The Health Reformer, first published in 1866. Editor of Life and Health is Dr. J. DeWitt Fox.

The church is not content with binding up the wounds of men, picking up the broken pieces. It conducts a vigorous program of health education, both in its own schools and for the public. Besides its monthly health journal, the denomination encourages its local churches to hold nutrition classes, which are open to the public. These focus the attention of homemakers on planning balanced and economical meals. That the menus suggested are meatless is incidental but typical, and does not seem to detract.

Home-nursing classes are also sponsored by local Adventist churches with the community in mind as well as their own members.

A lively temperance department does more than point an angry finger at man's vices. It operates a program of narcotics education and alcohol education for youngsters and makes it available to public schools. Included in the program are films, magazines, and leaflets as well as special speakers. One of its films, One in 20,000, has been translated into 10 languages and shown around the world.

Going a step further, the church has come up with a concrete plan designed to help smokers break the habit. It's called the 5-Day Plan to Stop Smoking. Physician - pastor teams contribute their time to hold group therapy sessions, without charge or "hook," for all comers.

And for after the "Plan" they have even come up with a plan to help Plan alumni fight subsequent tendencies to obesity, which many smokers inherit when they finally conquer the habit. Drinkers Dials and Smokers Dials, sponsored by individual churches and sometimes Adventist hospitals, offer help to troubled addicts any time of day or night.

How does the rest of the world look at Seventh-day Adventists and their liquorless, tobaccoless, sometimes seemingly mindless feel about their hospitable way of life? How do comets, their nurses, their physicians?

The attitude of Dayton, Ohio, citizens is typical. Under the leadership of Eugene B. Kettering, Dayton businessmen recently pooled their resources to build a 300-bed hospital in Dayton, and turned it over to the Seventh-day Adventist Church to operate. Known as the Charles F. Kettering Memorial Hospital, the institution opened in 1964, and has already found it necessary to expand its facilities.

Patients—nearly half a million of them who enter Adventist hospitals each year—find the menus a source of fascination. They never cease to be amazed at nurses who, just before "lights out" each night ask their patients if they would like them to offer a word of prayer for them to go to sleep on. In a world rocked by war and riot, it's not such a bad idea!

Whon News

By Mrs. Tom Rutherford

Our community is saddened over the death of Mr. Bert Turney, a life-time resident of Coleman County, and of this community.

Those who have seen and heard from Bert the past several months, knew he could not live very long unless his physical condition improved. But now that he is gone is hard for friends and family to believe he is not with us anymore.

Memorial services were conducted for Mr. Bert Turney, 78, in the Stevens Memorial Chapel at 2:30 p.m., Sept. 2, 1966, with burial in the Whon Cemetery. Mr. Turney was born in January of 1888 and was married to Miss Hettie Shields in September of 1915. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hettie Turney of Whon, a son, Rex Turney of Santa Anna, three daughters, Neewah (Mrs. Charles Armhurst of Houston), Virginia (Mrs. Leonard Mattassic) of Dallas, and Pat (Mrs. Mickey Chelton) of Arlington; 16 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Mr. Bert Turney was the last of his own Turney family living. Memorial services were conducted by Rev. Hal Martin of Trickham.

Pallbearers and alternate pallbearers were: Lee Abernathy, Greham Fitzpatrick, Thomas Switzer, Tom Rutherford, Warren Gill, E. W. Bible, Walter Yancy, J. T. Avants and Dick Deal.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Schulze of San Antonio were on their farm near here during the week end.

Floyd Morris is home for a few days from the VA hospital in Temple. He was here for the wedding of his son Friday night.

Jamie Lee Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris, and Miss Jean Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kline were married in the home of the bride's parents Friday night. The couple are at home in Abilene, where the new bride is attending commercial business college and the new groom has employment there.

Mrs. Floyd Morris informed us that her son, Joe Floyd Morris, has left for his induction into the service. Joe Floyd left Waco last Tuesday for induction into the security branch of the Air Force. Today (Monday) his parents had not received word as to where he may be stationed. Mrs. Joe Floyd Morris will be with her parents in Temple for awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Avants visited with Mr. and Mrs. Cleburn Stanley last Tuesday night.

Rev. Jackson of Brownwood visited with Mr. Sammy Shields Thursday afternoon.

Five-Day Work Week Scheduled For Patrolmen

The Texas Department of Public Safety announced today that all of its uniformed patrol personnel are going on a five-day week, effective immediately, in an effort to attract and retain adequate personnel, thus providing better law enforcement coverage and service over the state.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director, announced at the same time that there are some 125 vacancies in the patrol services, including Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection and Driver Licensing.

"Applications for these career positions are now being accepted, with an October 17 deadline for the next statewide examination on October 22," Garrison said. "The next training school will begin January 3."

"The five-day week will apply during the training period also, and the training period has been extended from 16 to 18 weeks to cover the shorter school week."

Garrison said cadets at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin will receive $400 per month while in training, and will be off Saturdays and Sundays. Upon graduation, they will be assigned to the field with salaries ranging from $463 to $484, depending on branch of service.

Garrison said implementation of the five-day week was imperative because of the manpower shortage in the patrol ranks. He said it is believed that the six-day week, inconsistent with work periods in almost all competitive businesses and industries, was a major deterrent to young men, particularly those with families, who would otherwise apply for jobs in the uniformed services.

"Men of good character who are physically fit and between 21 and 35 are invited to obtain additional information if they are interested in becoming a DPS patrolman," Garrison said.

U. S. President John Tyler had 14 children, seven each by two wives.

Highway Week Observance Set September 18-24

Chambers of Commerce, service clubs and many other local organizations throughout Texas are urged to participate in observance of Highway Week in Texas September 18-24.

Ray M. Keck, Jr., president of the Texas Good Roads Association, noted that many local groups in every section of the state already have begun planning special observances of the event.

Theme of Highway Week in Texas is "Better Highways Save Lives... Time... Money." Said Keck:

"Highway Week is the time set aside to remind Texans of the value of highways today and the importance of even better highways in the future."

The Texas Good Roads Association, a citizens' group dedicated to better highway transportation for all Texans, is sponsoring the observance.

Special events, including appearances of members of the Texas Highway Department have been planned in many cities.

Mrs. Dawson See and Mrs. J. J. Gregg attended the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dean in Bangs Sunday afternoon.

Tips About Health & Safety

(Psoriasis)

Psoriasis is a skin disorder that affects at least one out of 50 persons in the United States. It's pronounced so-RYE-ah-sis.

Most often psoriasis appears as "silvery-scaled red patches on the elbows, knees, scalp and trunk," says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

The disorder affects both men and women and most frequently appears between the ages of 15 and 30 years. The individual lesions will appear and disappear, but once they have occurred, they usually will exist in varying degrees of severity for the rest of the person's life.

The exact cause of psoriasis is not known. There is no cure. Some skin specialists have noted that the tendency to this disease may be hereditary. Sometimes the lesions appear following injury to the skin, such as a cut or a burn. Psoriasis often is seasonal, worsening in the winter and improving in the summer. Many patients have flare-ups of the disease during periods of physical and emotional stress.

Some doctors have found that psoriasis responds well to sunlight or from sunlamp treatments. Ointments, creams and lotions for external treatment abound. In recent years skin specialists have had some success with cortico-steroid creams and lotions, particularly when the areas are covered with thin plastic film wrappings. Therapy with tar and ultraviolet light often is recommended in addition to the creams.

Recently, some particularly stubborn cases of psoriasis have responded to some of the drugs commonly used in treatment of certain types of blood diseases and tumors.

The hazards of undesirable side effects are many, and care-

Veterans Administration hospitals have used the technique enabling a veteran with one leg paralyzed because of stroke or other brain injury to walk without the usual crutches or braces. The Hines, Ill., VA hospital developed the technique using an electronic device to provide the proper stimulation to the nerves controlling the muscles.

mandatory if disastrous complications are to be avoided.

Research continues into the nature of psoriasis. Until there is more knowledge of the many mysteries of the disease, the patient's understanding of the disease and sympathetic understanding by his friends, family, physician and others will greatly lessen the burden for those who must live with psoriasis.
