SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, JULY 10, 1969

NUMBER 23

Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

We have received two picture post cards from the Roy Mathews family who are vacationing at Scottsdale, Ariz. The Mathews family has moved to Monahans after living here many years. They will be missed in our community.

Mr. Roland Williams brought into the NEWS office last week a piece of baling wire that had apparently been burned in half when struck by lightning. The wire was minus about six inches and a charred spot on the hay show where the bale had been struck. The other tie on the bale was not disturbed.

Mr. Williams said the freak occurrence happened on Monday, June 23, and after the severe electrical storm, it rained enough to have put out the fire in the hay. This happened on the Turner Ranch on Home Creek.

Coleman County Breeder-Feeder Auxiliary is inviting everyone to attend the coffee at the REA Clubroom on Friday morning from 9:30 to 11:30. Several local youngsters will be modeling their western clothes during the coffee hours, and everyone will meet and greet the 1969 Rodeo Queen.

WANTED: Personal items for the NEWS. The paper will be more interesting to all the readers if it contains news of your "comings and goings." Please call the NEWS office, or you are welcome to call me at my home at any time. Well nearly anytime.

The closing of the Santa Anna Santa Fe Depot last week was the end of another era. For several years there had been only small "traffic" through the local depot and in past months there was no passenger service here.

The building and services were closed about the first of July. The large old building now stands vacant.

Miss Pauline Eubank and her sister, Mrs. Ira Hudler of Rising Star, are building a large new duplex on Avenue B, just west of Pauline's present home. It is hoped the home will be completed by fall.

In the bulletin of the Lincoln - Douglas Toastmaster Club, Springfield, Ill., the editor writes: "If you find a mistake, please consider it was put there for a purpose. We try to publish something for everyone, and some people are always looking for mistakes."

W. T. Hays has survived the first week as publisher of the NEWS. Billie Gregg brought in a "bumper crop" of ads last week and we had plenty of copy, so the NEWS increased to a jumbo 12 pages. News print did not arrive from the paper company, so a pickup was hastily driven to Menard to get a load of newsprint the correct size.

When the load of paper got here, it was too large for the press and had to be cut to fit. With one delay and another, the NEWS was printed about midnight last Wednesday. We thought the issue was an especially good one, and happy to see our new boss kept his sense of humor despite all the unnecessary setbacks!

Mrs. Blanche Grantham visited her sister, Mrs. Ella Stiles.

Trickham Historical Dedication July 20

The official Texas Historical Marker for the town of Trickham will be erected on July 20, it has been announced by Mrs. C. D. Bruce, chairman of the Coleman County Historical Survey Committee.

The marker will be placed near the Trickham Community Center on Highway 1176. Mrs. Bruce announced that the dedication will be held at 6:00 p. m. on that date.

The cast aluminum marker with Swedish steel effect measures 24 inches by 18 inches and is sponsored by the Honorable Frank Lewis, County Judge, and the Coleman County Historical Survey Committee.

The inscription on the marker reads:

Town of Trickham
Oldest Town in County
Founded about 1855 as a Cowboy Trading Post for Ranching Activities of Cattle
Baron John Chisum.

During 1860-1890, it was a boisterous community at a crossroads of cattle trails. Because of notorious jokes played at local general store, "Trick 'em" was suggested for the name of post office here. (1969)

At the July 20 dedication, the invocation will be given by Oscar Boenicke, long time Trickham resident and president of the Trickham Cemetery Association. The marker will be unveiled by Mrs. Minnie Wilson, Trickham postmaster.

The marking of local historical sites and landmarks is a part of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee's 5-year RAMP program to Record, Appreciate, Mark, Preserve, and Survey Texas history. More than 3,300 official Texas Historical Markers have been awarded throughout Texas since the RAMP program was begun in 1964.

This marker and its location will appear in the next edition of the "guide to official Texas Historical Markers," in tourist guides and maps to stimulate tourist interest in this area, to provide interest on historical tours, and to acquaint the people of Coleman County with their own unique historical past.

30 Years Ago In The News

The following are news stories from the July 14, 1933 issue of the NEWS:

Jones and Stephenson, as they have announced last week, have opened their mill and begun grinding Santa Anna wheat into a good grade of flour bolted through the finest silk mesh. The appearance of the product compares with the best flour on the market, and granting that Coleman county wheat is very good, the product of their mill must be of the same high grade.

Flour and corn meal, and we understand, later production of poultry and livestock feed, makes up the production plans of the mill for the present.

While J. C. Mathews attended the picture show Tuesday night some young fellows with a yen for automobile racing ran off with his car. Well, What Do You Know?

fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Why does the United States flag have stars?

Everyone knows why the United States flag has stripes, but even historians are not sure why it has stars. They have three possible answers, however. The stars may have come from a Dutch flag. Or the idea may have been borrowed from Rhode Island's flag. Also, it could have come from the stars on George Washington's coat of arms.

John Quincy Adams, sixth president of the United States, wrote in his diary that the stars stood for the new American Union. He also said that the stars meant that Americans hoped to be at peace with the world. People at the time used the word "constellation" to mean the 13 stars. To some it may have represented a new country being born, the way a new constellation of stars suddenly appears in the sky.

Can changes in temperature break up rocks?

To find out, try this demonstration at a cookout. After the food has been cooked but while the coals are still glowing, place several kinds of rocks in the coals. You may see some of the rocks crack almost immediately. In about 10 minutes, when the rocks have become very hot, rake them out of the coals, using a long-handled tool. Examine the rocks for cracks. Some of the rocks will be broken.

Heat makes a solid, such as a rock, expand. The outside of the rock may expand so much that it breaks away from the cooler inside.

How are hurricanes named?

Meteorologists of the United States Weather Bureau give girls' names to hurricanes that start in the Caribbean Sea. This idea started during World War II and has been continued ever since. It is a way of identifying each hurricane. The first hurricane of the season is given a girl's name that starts with A, such as Audrey. The next one becomes Brenda or Barbara or any other name that begins with B. The next one is called by a name that begins with C, and so on. Each season the names are changed, so that hurricanes will not be confused with storms of previous years.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Concealed Weapons

"That guy is so tough," runs an old gag, "that if he puts his hands in his pocket, he could be arrested for carrying concealed weapons."

He couldn't, though, no matter how deadly his fists, because they would not be concealed. In spite of the fabric covering the pockets anyone could tell that his hands were there.

For contrast, consider this case:

A man arrested with a gun in his pocket argued that it had not really been concealed, because it made a distinct and visible bulge.

But the court decided there was still sufficient concealment to make the man guilty of the charge. The judge said a mere bulge was not enough warning, to an ordinary observer, that the man was armed.

It is this test—obviousness to an ordinary observer—that the law usually applies in deciding whether a person is carrying a concealed weapon. Thus, a gun would not be considered concealed simply because a particular person, looking from a particular angle, was unable to see it. For example:

A man who had a gun openly displayed in his belt was found not guilty of the offense. Even though the arresting officer—approaching from behind—could not see the gun, it was obvious enough for ordinary observation.

And what does "carrying" mean? Does the person actually have to be moving with the gun?

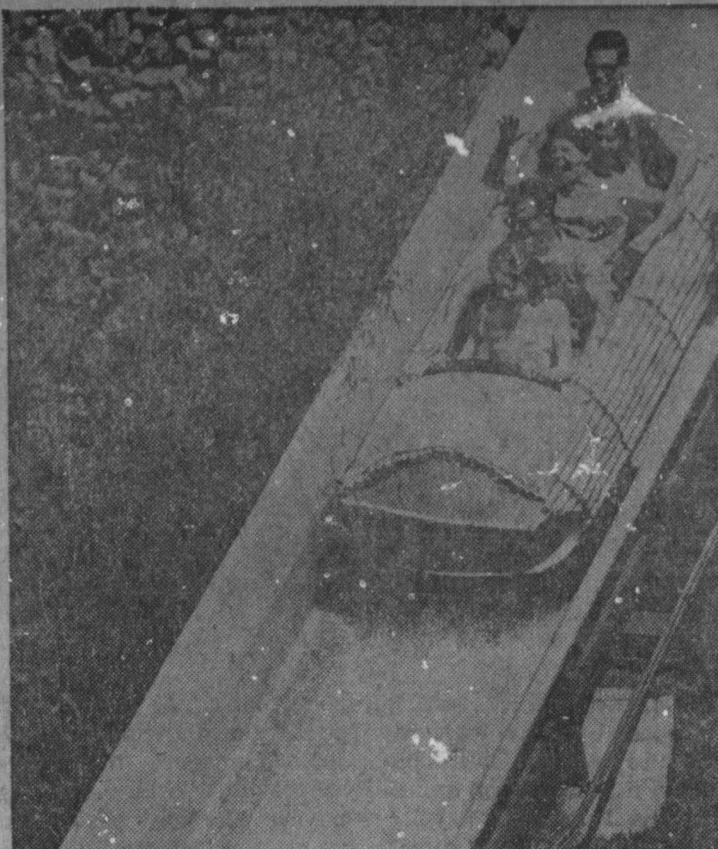

One man seeing an officer near by, hastily slipped his pistol into an inside pocket. Arrested and brought to trial for carrying a concealed weapon, he offered this defense to the court:

"Carrying" means transporting the weapon from one place to another. I did not move a single step."

But the court pointed out that, although "carrying" could mean "transporting," it could also mean just "possessing." The judge decided to pick the meaning which, considering the purpose of the law, made the most sense—and he found the man guilty.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN—Now the official: The special 30-day legislative session to draft a biennial budget and a $300 million tax bill will start July 28.

Gov. Preston Smith has issued the call and put lawmakers on notice to report back to work on the final Monday in this month.

As expected, Smith worded his session-summoning proclamation so as to try to prevent the legislators from giving him another one-year appropriations bill like he vetoed on June 21.

However, the Governor told newsmen that if Texans approve a Constitutional Amendment on August 5 calling for annual legislative sessions he might relax his directive to permit a single-year spending pattern. Actually, Smith sees no chance of the amendment being approved. What he expects is for voters to strengthen his demand for biennial budgeting by firmly rejecting annual sessions — as they have done before.

Governor Smith will permit lawmakers to consider other subjects in the 30-day session only after they have completed their mandatory duties of financing the government for a two-year fiscal period extending until August 31, 1971.

Apparently Smith will hold no pre-session conferences on taxation with House Speaker Gus Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes since Barnes is now in Tokyo, Japan.

However, Mutscher plans to hold a series of appropriations committee meetings on the budget before July 28 and also endeavor to arrive at a negotiated understanding with the Senate on the perimeters of spending.

The speaker wants the House Committee to complete both appropriations and tax bill hearings during the first week of the session and send the measures to the Senate by the end of the second week.

"The real key to the success of the session," commented Mutscher, "is how much work we put in before it actually opens." He has already conferred with his tax and appropriations committee chairmen and most of the individual House members.

Smith indicates that he will spell out his tax program on the opening day of the session. He has been swapping revenue ideas with staff members but still isn't offering any hints as to his final decision on the type of tax or taxes he will propose.

COURTS SPEAK—An historic federal court decision prohibiting a cut in welfare payments to mothers with dependent children also prevents the State Welfare Department from receiving federal funds unless a new plan for aid to families with dependent children is worked out.

So, the Welfare Department is boxed in.

A Constitutional restriction limits welfare payments to $60 million a year. At the same time, court rulings continue to make more families eligible for AFDC. This problem will be relieved only if voters approve a Constitutional amendment on August 5 to increase the welfare fund to $80 million. If this amendment fails, an emergency condition will exist which may bring federal action to invalidate the constitutional restriction altogether.

Liquor Control Board has no authority to prevent managers of private locker clubs from buying liquor for club members. So held the Third Court of Civil Appeals in affirming a trial court decision.

Even a "basically illegal" and "fundamentally erroneous" school district assessment precedure does not restrict a district from collecting taxes, says the same court in Bertram school case. Twenty-eight taxpayers, alleging that assessments ignored market values, sought an injunction to prevent collections on 1968 tax rolls.

Texas Supreme Court refused to reverse two lower courts' decisions and ruled against 80 Sanger ISD taxpayers in their suit to keep the district from raising taxes by more than doubling assessed valuation of property.

Port of Beaumont Navigation District lost a $6,300 damage judgment awarded by a local jury when the Texas Supreme Court upheld a court of Civil appeals reversal. Suit was against the AT&SF Railroad for an accident in the port's facilities. High court held that AT&SF employees were working for the navigation district when the accident happened.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Governor Smith named Rep. R. G. (Randy) Pendleton of Andrews to head the governor's Washington office on state-federal relations. Then he called a special election for July 22 in the 73rd district (Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Martin and Yoakum counties) to pick Pendleton's House successor.

Nine members of Texas Tech University board of regents were appointed by Governor Smith. They are: Marshall Formby of Plainview, Roy Furr Sr. and Retha R. Martin of Lubbock, Waggoner Carr of Austin, Charles D. Mathews of Dallas, Judson F. Williams of El Paso, R. Trent Campbell of Houston, Frank Junnell of San Angelo and James J. Ling of Dallas.

Smith also named nine to the State Manpower Advisory Committee and designated Thomas M. Maes II of Beaumont chairman. Other members include James D. Abrams of El Paso, Gerald R. Brown of Austin, Fred Dillard Coy of San Antonio, Jose L. Gonzalez of Laredo, Marion A. Graham of Houston, Harold D. Levy of Fort Worth, Odis Rhodes of Nacogdoches and Mrs. Mae Simmons, Lubbock.

Dr. Billy M. Jones of San Angelo will become president of Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos on September 1. Dr. Frank Harrison, who has been acting president of the University of Texas at Arlington, was made president effective July 1.

Former House Speaker Jim Lindsey of Texarkana has been named chairman of the Real Estate Developers group, a sub-division of the Governor's Committee of 500.

REPUBLICANS ORGANIZE—First complete change in the state Republican guard in seven years has just been approved by the GOP executive committee.

William M. (Bill) Steger, Tyler attorney, was elected state party chairman in a close race with Millard K. Neptune of Austin. Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin was designated vice chairman. She won over Mrs. John Andujar of Fort Worth. Peter O'Donnell Jr. of Dallas, who has served as chairman since 1962, moved into a national GOP committee post in Washington thus creating the opening in Texas. Steger pledged his efforts to improve communications with all elements of party.

DRUG CLAIM PROCEDURE VOID — Texans with claims against five major drug companies involved in a state anti-trust suit were advised by Attorney General Martin to file their claims by August 16.

Under Federal court order, consumers must file a verified statement certified to by a local pharmacist showing their total expenditure for 1954-1966 for Aureomycin, Terramycin and tetracycline products, the name of the product and where purchased.

Martin urged all citizens who bought the antibiotic drugs during this period to submit their claims for refunds of overcharge. Refunds will be delayed at least six months.

ON THE ROADS—The Highway Commission has been busy with two days of hearings. Requests were heard for big roads, little roads and farm-to-market roads from lots of folks, including the delegations from Franklin, Titus, Anderson, Reeves and Borden counties.

East Texans came to suggest routes for connection from Houston to the Indian Nation Turnpike, with Kilgore, Palestine and Tyler-Jacksonville routes proposed.

Gregg County presented a 12-point highway-need package and Jefferson County asked for the State to take back a bridge linking Port Arthur and Pleasure Island and Louisiana — a bridge the State built and gave to Jefferson County. Calhoun County wants a road from Indianola to Port O'Connor with a bridge over Powderhorn Lake.

Chairman DeWitt Greer says the department won't know how many roads it can build until it gets some money — which is up to the legislators.

Well, What Do You Know?

fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Who first thought of the helicopter?

Leonardo da Vinci, the great 15th-century painter and sculptor, was also an architect, a scientist, and an engineer. He recorded many of his observations in notebooks, illustrating his theories with very beautiful and exact drawings. Among these is Leonardo's conception of a helicopter, first drawn hundreds of years before a flying machine was actually built. Twentieth-century engineers, with modern materials, have been able to build models that work perfectly, based on Leonardo's designs. (The notebooks are hard to read, however, because Leonardo used mirror writing; he did not want his ideas to be stolen.)

How does the skunk defend himself?

If you suddenly meet a skunk face to face, stand still. If you jump about, shout, or make any sudden movements, the skunk will take prompt defensive action. If you advance toward the skunk, it will raise its plumed tail as a clear warning signal. If you still advance, the skunk will whirl quick as a flash and fire salvo after salvo of evil-smelling liquid in your direction. You'll be sorry!

Musk glands inside the skunk's body store this powerful fluid until it is needed. When the skunk is threatened, strong muscles force the fluid out through two small openings, one on each side of the base of the tail. Aiming accurately, the skunk can shoot this clear, yellow fluid a distance of 12 or 15 feet. If it hits a victim in the face he gasps and chokes for breath. He is temporarily blinded and his eyes sting like fire. Water will relieve the pain, but it won't take away the powerful odor.

Do fishes make sounds?

A fish may make sounds by giving off gas bubbles from its swim bladder. (A swim bladder is a balloonlike structure filled with air.) Fishes can also make sounds with special drumming muscles, which vibrate the swim-bladder wall. Fishes can also produce sounds by rubbing together the teeth in their upper throat, by twisting their heads, or just with swimming motions. Sounds are uttered by males during fighting and courtship. Perhaps fish recognize each other through the sounds they make.

The sparkling musical comedy and opera star, Patrice Munsel, will be seen as La Mome Pistache in the lively and colorful musical, "Can-Can," when it is on stage at the Music Hall in Dallas for fourteen performances, July 8 to 20. Her earlier appearances for the Dallas Summer Musicals in "South Pacific," "The Merry Widow" and "Kiss Me Kate" foretell an exciting performance, both in the well-known Cole Porter songs but also as the leader of the spectacular "can-can" dance. Co-starring with Miss Munsel will be Robert Goss, also an operatic and musical comedy singer, with Suzanne Royer, David Rae Smith, William L. Massena, Stan Zareff, Ted Forlow, Charles Herrick and Tony De Vicchi also in the cast.

WASHINGTON—There was a time when the problems of agriculture could hold the center of the stage in Washington. This was the day when the so-called "farm bloc" had great influence simply because of numbers.

In recent years this number has steadily decreased to the point that relatively few members of Congress are directly interested in the farmer and rural areas. We have turned from an agricultural oriented economy to an industrial economy. It has been a natural evolution but it has also aggravated problems, not the least of which are social. The concentration of population, according to all studies, has great contributed to problems of transportation, sanitation, health care, schools and other social conditions reflected in the things we see and read about in the big cities.

The farm program expires at the end of 1970. Next year the Congress must face up to either extending the various programs in their present form or devise other methods in an attempt to keep a healthy agricultural economy. The Agriculture Committee of the Congress is to begin hearings in the very near future as a predicate to studies of specific recommendations to be developed before the expiration of the present law. The administration has not yet come up with proposals but some are expected in this year but there must be some bill for necessary action in the second session of this 91st Congress.

It would be unfortunate if the problems involving agriculture, and there are many, were shunted aside by the big issues of the machine age. If such is permitted, not only would the welfare of the farmer himself be seriously affected, but the American consumers would ultimately have to pay more for food and clothing than they do at the present.

With all the faults of the farm program, and no one is likely to contend that it is perfect, farmers have been able to produce with such efficiency and abundance that the American consumer now uses only 17.2 per cent of his disposable net income for food. From the standpoint of the farmers income, and in spite of the fact that a bag of groceries is pretty light as related to the cost at the check-out counter, food is a bargain in the over-all family budget. If this appears to be exaggeration, indices show that the producer of some major crops receives only about one-half of what he received for the same product twenty years ago, while prices he pays for various items that go into production have doubled and tripled.

It is not the farmer alone who is caught in the price-cost squeeze. It can be a lot of people. There just can be no such thing as keeping prices below the cost of production and the farmer go on buying tractors, trucks, fertilizers, insecticides and all the other things which must go into the raising of a crop. There was never a time when the farmer, in addition to battling the elements, could buy on an unprotected market and sell on a protected market. The reverse is historically true — he must pay the set price of wages, profits and interest but has always had to sell for what he could get for his product. Under parts of any farm program he is to a degree regimented but it would take regimentation throughout our economy, such as a freeze on wages, prices, profits and interest on borrowed money and maybe even a guarantee against nature's elements, to put him in the economic position with industry.

The present farm program is far from perfect. For years the idea has been to devise a balance between production and demand; to stabilize the agricultural economy and at the same time give the consumer a break in the cost of food and fiber. This goal will be sought in the future but solutions are not easy or simple.

LA SALLE MONUMENT Navasota

SIEUR de LA SALLE: "His was the restless spirit, the inquisitive urge to explore strange lands and uncharted seas . . ."

He set out to reach far horizons which held more lure than the glint of gold. Tossing aside a life of wealth and ease, he chose the wild, adventurous, unexplored New World.

On his third voyage to establish a fortified post on the Gulf of Mexico, he met death at the hands of mutinous men of his own party.

The La Salle monument was erected at Navasota near the site where many believe the assassination took place.

Thus, though the enterprise ended in failure and death, it strengthened France's claim to a greater part in the New World.

Accent On Health

Sooner or later everyone will find the need for a family health record, and if you don't have one, now is the time to start keeping it, advises the Texas State Department of Health.

If you have a youngster about ready for school, you'll realize the necessity of having accurate and current records. The health record can be of permanent value for the children's school records, for insurance data, and for your family doctor's use.

Individual personal health records can be had free of charge from the Texas State Department of Health in Austin.

Too, you can start by jotting down the basic information you already have at hand concerning the injury and illness history of each member of your family.

Start it off with a brief listing of family history. Enter the date and place of birth of each person, and the place and date and cause of death of any deceased. Also enter pertinent information and the medical facts about each family member, such as the presence of chronic illness or physical handicap.

Next start a section for the dates of immunizations, being sure to provide space for each member of the family. Allow room for entering dates of immunizations against polio, whooping cough, smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, measles and typhoid fever. Don't forget to include the dates of booster shots.

In a section of general information, list such things as the type of blood each member of the family has, and the drug sensitivities or special allergies of each. If the RH factor is known to be present in anyone, be sure to record it prominently.

The health record ought to include a check list of who in the family has had the more common diseases of childhood — chicken pox, measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria. Most of these are diseases of childhood, but sometimes an adult is exposed. German measles is a serious threat to expectant mothers, and mumps is a dangerous disease to any adult.

Dates of physical examinations, with a line or two for notes of special advice or instructions that followed the check-up should be noted in the health record. So also should illnesses requiring hospitalization, listing the nature of illness or injury, name of physician and hospital, the dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, and type of surgery, if any.

Finally, list the family's health and accident insurance information for quick and easy reference when it is needed.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Approaching the Precipice

It used to be that a man drawing welfare checks while holding down a full-time job at the same time was committing fraud. But now it appears that this can be done quite legally in at least two states.

Under the new law in New Jersey, about a dozen GI's have been added to the welfare rolls. They are drawing regular government pay. One, an airman first class with a wife and child, gets $272 a month in pay and allowances, including $82 for an apartment off the base. The state has determined that he needs $399 a month for an adequate standard of living, and so under the new law it is making up the $127 difference.

Service families living off-base are eligible for this welfare supplement, regardless of home state-residency. Applications are piling up, and welfare officials are wondering how many servicemen will qualify and what it will cost.

Reportedly, some Federal and state officials are shocked over the situation and believe that New Jersey taxpayers should not be nicked because Uncle Sam's pay is "inadequate."

And in Ohio, where 777 state employees reportedly earn less than the Federal government's defined poverty level, it's been disclosed that several unskilled state employees earning $3,276 a year also receive state welfare payments.

Cynics might say that, well, National Federation of Independent Business

At least now they are paying welfare to people willing to work.

Supplementing the incomes of persons on the lower end of the economic ladder—whether working or not—is the basic idea of the "guaranteed annual income" which is being strongly pushed by some groups, including organized labor and organized welfare recipients, but hotly opposed by 90 per cent of the nation's independent business proprietors, a poll shows.

Apparently, the principal is getting a toe hold at the state level despite the fact that many states are in dire financial trouble. Ohio is considering imposing an income tax and other taxes to meet a ballooning budget. State welfare costs are rising so fast that Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York wants the Federal Government to assume them.

The question—if welfare supplements to fully-employed persons do catch on—is not so much who should pay, state or Federal, but can either one afford it? Which really boils down to: Can the economy and productive taxpaying citizens afford it? Estimates run up to $9 billion a year. Businessmen do not think the economy can carry such a load without breaking down.

The big question is whether the guaranteed annual income is going to be adopted in principle. That is the crucial step. Like the next step after reaching the edge of a precipice.

Special Election On Welfare Funds To Be August 5th

State Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney says the success of the State welfare system in Texas is at stake in the August 5 special election.

On that date, Texans will vote on a constitutional amendment on welfare programs.

Approval of the amendment Hackney says, will enable the Legislature to appropriate funds for the Welfare Department to more adequately provide for the elderly, the needy blind, the disabled, and dependent children.

Its failure will mean the failure of the state welfare system in Texas," Hackney says. "The alternative is a massive federal program."

State funds available for public assistance (welfare) payments now are limited by the Texas Constitution to $60 million annually.

Hackney says the limit on these funds, combined with a growing number of people in need, has led to a crisis in the state welfare program for the needy children of Texas.

The Legislature has submitted to the voters, on the August ballot, a proposed Constitutional amendment which would raise the ceiling to $80 million annually. The amendment contains a built-in appropriation to make available on September 1 an additional $15 million a year for the next two years.

Added to the present program, this would provide $75 million annually—or $5 million less than the proposed new ceiling.

Hackney says grants in the Aid to Families with dependent children program have been reduced twice in the past year and further reductions are inevitable if the proposed Amendment No. 5 is defeated.

"Right now, we say we should be providing $25 a month for a child's food and clothing, and we recognize this as a bare minimum. Yet we are able to provide for that child only $12.50 a month—or 50 per cent of the minimal amount we say should be allowed."

"We say a family of four should have $44 a month toward rent, but we are able to provide that family only $22," Hackney says.

The Commissioner says, approximately 90 per cent of welfare expenditures in Texas, including medical assistance, goes to the elderly, the disabled, and the blind. "These are one too old or to incapable to work," he says. "This leaves only 10 per cent of our present expenditures for the one program that helps the children, who are too young to work and who need help through education and a more wholesome environment so they will have a better chance of reaching adulthood with the preparation to become productive citizens."

Coleman County has 26 families receiving aid—a total of 75 children. The average monthly grant to each family is only $67.81.

While you're saving money for college, make sure there's a college to save money for.

There are all kinds of ways to save money for a college education.

A good savings account. Life insurance. Or U.S. Savings Bonds. You see, U.S. Savings Bonds will not only save you money, but they'll insure your country's future at the same time.

It's one way of making sure there's a college whenever you're ready to send somebody to college.

But back to the money part. Let's say you buy your one-year-old son a $25.00 Bond every month. When he's 18 and ready for college, he'll have $5,506.00.

A $50.00 Bond every month would give him $11,012.00 when he's ready to enroll. And the beauty is, you never have to worry about this investment.

You simply sign up through a Payroll Savings Plan where you work and then sit back and let the money pile up.

Savings Bonds now pay a new higher rate—3 1/4%—when held to maturity of 7 years.

And if they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, the Treasury Department will replace them free.

Also, with each Series E Bond you buy, you're entitled to buy the same or lower denomination Freedom Share. Which pays 5% when held to maturity of 4 1/2 years and is redeemable after one year.

Any way you look at it, buying U.S. Savings Bonds makes sense.

They not only get the kids ready for college.

They keep the colleges ready for the kids.

You get a little over $1 for every $1 you invest.
