Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

It was really lonesome in town on Monday — a town holiday. However we at the NEWS office had business as usual. A real LABOR Day.

We heard a joke on TV recently that is worth repeating. The comic said his little town had a tri-weekly paper. They tried to get it out once a week. The NEWS has been published each week since 1886, a tri-weekly success, we say.

We had more rain since the last issue was printed. Nearly every area of the community had a half-inch more. A total of six inches fell during the five-day period between Santa Anna and Rockwood. Nearly everyone has enjoyed the cooler temperatures, with a touch of "fall" in the air.

W. T. Hays has printed small football schedule cards to be given to those who would like to have them. They are here in the NEWS office if you want to come by. Compliments of the NEWS.

Sidewalk engineers have watched the progress of the downtown apartment building. The most interesting sight is from the back, where the large patio and garden area is located, and the second floor apartments with their wrought iron stairways and railings. We look forward to seeing the completed project.

The Quarterback Club will be having weekly meetings after the official beginning of football season. Those who attend will see re-runs of the previous Friday night's football game. These meetings will be held each Monday night at the elementary school auditorium, with the time to be announced later. Everyone is invited.

We come across the most interesting information sometimes. Mrs. Myrtle Burden, R. N. at the Santa Anna Hospital said she was on hand for the arrival of Max Eubank some thirty-odd years ago, and for lack of a better place, he was put in a dresser drawer. Max says there wasn't an empty bed in the nursery, but some of us think he might have already been causing too much commotion to be put in with the other babies. We must remember to ask his mother about that!

Burton also served 2 terms as toastmaster for the Moran Luncheon Club and is past president of the Moran Homecoming Association.

A resident of Santa Anna since 1963, John McDaniel has been employed by West Texas Utilities Company since 1955. He began his service in his home town of Robert Lee as a lineman - serviceman, and four years later he was transferred to Junction where he worked as a serviceman until his transfer to Santa Anna as local manager.

Born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa in 1935, McDaniel moved to Robert Lee in 1949, with his family where his father, Dr. John D. McDaniel, is a practicing physician. The new Cisco manager is a 1955 graduate of the Robert Lee High School, and joined WTU shortly after graduation.

Meeting Informs Local Citizens On New Hospital

The Santa Anna Hospital re-opened for business Wednesday after being closed for the long holiday weekend while Dr. Herman Burgos was out of town. Employees are now back at the hospital and patients are being treated at the clinic and admitted to the hospital.

Although Dr. Burgos is planning to move from Santa Anna, he will remain here until a replacement arrives.

Dr. and Mrs. Burgos and their two sons have resided here for the past two years where they have been active in many activities in the community. They plan to move to the Keene-Alvarado area, where Dr. Burgos will practice.

At an informal meeting of interested citizens Tuesday night, Merle Roller, hospital administrator, informed those present of the necessity of having a new hospital in the community to attract doctors here. He introduced Larry Ferris, a Wichita, Kan., contractor, who with his brother, Dr. Gary Ferris, is interested in locating in Santa Anna.

Mr. Roller, Mr. Ferris and representatives from the Texas Conference of Seventh Day Adventists will be in St. Louis, Mo., Thursday night to present their proposed plans to a group of doctors who are interested in locating in our community. Plans call for a hospital to be built by the doctors without assistance from any government agency or public bond issue. Help from the local community would be through donations for hospital furnishings and in general promotion of the local community.

Dr. Bob Potter, also of St. Louis, has visited here and is interested in helping establish a new hospital. He will be available immediately if the proposed plans are accepted by the group. At the meeting, held at the telephone cooperative building, it was stressed that the town of Santa Anna has depended on the hospital for over 50 years, and the hospital has contributed to the community in many ways, throughout the years.

The board of trustees will meet in regular monthly session on September 4 at 8:00 p. m. to transact regular business and to hold a public budget hearing prior to final adoption of the 1969-1970 budget. All interested residents of the school district are invited to attend.

Copies of the basic budget are available for examination at the school office at any time. Primary increases in the budget items are for instructional salaries and debt service; an increase in administration is related in part to salary increases but also to increased cost of fees for tax assessing and collecting. The budget is established to place the school on a sound financial basis after several years of deficit operations. It is illegal to operate a school district in a fiscal deficit position.

Mounties Outplay DeLeon Bulldogs

The 1969 Mountaineer football team provided a pleasant surprise for the many fans who were present for the De Leon scrimmage last Friday night. The Mounties consistently outplayed the Bulldogs, a favorite contender for the District 10-A title this season.

Coaches Terry McIver and Larry Coffman were pleased with the practice session and felt that the team did very well. Statistics on the local team showed a gain of 366 yards on 53 running plays, while the De Leon team never crossed the 40 yard line on running plays. The De Leon team's only major gains were on two pass plays.

Team spirit and attitude are good, according to Coach McIver, and players, coaches and fans are looking forward to the coming season. The Mountaineers will go to Wylie Friday evening for a scrimmage session beginning at 7:00 p. m.

The first scheduled game of the season will be at Baird on Friday night, Sept. 12.

In Our Opinion

BY W. T. HAYS

RECOMMENDATIONS that the Post Office be made a corporation separate from the government and be made to pay its own way within five years, have stirred up considerable controversy, the conservative element favoring the move and the more liberal group opposing it.

The biggest drawback to such a move is the fact that the post office is a monopoly, and it would be similar to some of the cost-plus contracts the government has made with various suppliers of war materials. With no contract as to prices they could charge, we might be paying as much as $1.00 to get a letter delivered in some places.

The Utility companies are monopolies, but they are controlled to the extent that they cannot raise rates until they are approved by an agency of the government. If they cannot operate in the black with a reasonable rate, then they just can't operate. This gives them the tendency to keep costs down and yet try to give good service.

With the post office becoming a government corporation, answering only as to its breaking even, and still expected to give good service, costs of operation could sky-rocket and as they did, so would the cost of postage.

On the surface, it looks good, but how many government corporations, designed to break even financially, have done so in the long run.

Then the government subsidizes everyone from the airlines to the farmer, to keep them in the black and as for the farmer, even that hasn't got the job done.

When Congress, or the administration, makes an appointment, it keeps the operation still within the political arena, and when politics are a consideration, look out. They claim the idea is to get the post office out of politics, but we cannot see how such an operation would be out.

We are certainly for improvement of the postal service and for economy in operation, and certainly there is room for both within the postal department, but we doubt that a separate corporation is the answer.

AS COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES begin or get ready for fall classes to start, we will, in all likelihood, again be faced with campus disorders. Instead of planning for better scholastic achievement for students, administrators are faced with the problem of how to prevent the seizure and wreckage of educational institutions by would-be insurrectionists.

The decrease in campus disorders during the summer may have lulled many to sleep and they think or hope that it is almost all over, but don't be misled — we will witness a continuation of the senseless plunder and destruction which caused $3 million in damage to colleges and universities last school year.

As soon as the dissidents can muster their forces and get their organizations going again, the fireworks will start.

Students for a Democratic Society, split into two groups by their failure to agree in their summer national convention, will again set up their organizations based squarely on Marxist teachings. No longer can they claim to follow the ideal of "participatory democracy" as they have in the past. It is now out in the open. Peking for one and Moscow for the other, could not call the shots better. They are dedicated to the destruction of the American way of life, which they call "American Imperialism."

A news program on NBC Sunday afternoon allowed four such students to give vent to what they "thought of Congress." It was apparent from each one that the "old men" of the Congress are offering resistance to the swing toward socialism that they would espouse and are "running the country" by their control of committees and their observances to Congressional regulations.

They claimed that older Congressman would not listen to their ideas. And is it possible that some of their ideas may have merit. But their actions are so loud, we can't hear a word they say.

Accent On Health

Austin — People who suffer with hypertension, or high blood pressure, rowdays have more reason for optimism than they would have had a generation ago, says the Texas State Department of Health.

In itself hypertension is not a disease. It's a sign that something is wrong, like the stuffy feeling that comes with a cold. The danger accrues because of the possibility of stroke or serious heart or kidney damage when blood pressure is consistently high.

But even mild elevations in the blood pressure considered normal for the person involved—if the increase persists—may cause the walls of blood vessels to toughen, exactly as callouses are formed on hands by regular use of an axe or hoe. Research has shown that temporary increases in pressure do not really make much difference. In the most common type of high blood pressure, called "essential hypertension," the tiny branches of arteries which carry blood to all body tissues begin to tighten up. Blood passageways become smaller and smaller, and the heart has to work harder to push the blood through. After a time the blood vessels lose their elasticity and the heart muscles thicken with the extra work load. Result: high blood pressure, and ultimately heart damage.

What causes the arterioles to tighten and constrict? No one knows.

Blood pressure sometimes goes up for a period of days or weeks—or even longer—and then drops back to normal. Sometimes it may jump from pure nervousness while your physician is examining you. Perhaps there is a connection between hypertension and the strain of modern life. People who work under constant stress, who worry too much, are often susceptible. Heredity is a probable factor, and the condition occurs most often in persons between 30 and 50. The thing which will count most in adding years to the life of hypertension sufferers is the willingness to change their living habits, following the rules of moderation in everything. By securing a doctor's care and following a few simple rules for moderate living, they can probably work and enjoy life as long or longer than their next-door neighbors without high blood pressure.

There is nothing to gain from worry about your chances of developing hypertension. Just make it a point to have a physical examination at least once a year. And worry and argue as little as possible.

Low blood pressure, on the other hand, seldom causes trouble, afflicting relatively few people to a serious extent.

Teacher Shortage In Some Areas

Austin — This year there's a new surprise in the old story of the teacher shortage in Texas.

Would you believe a short supply of coaches and band directors?

Science and mathematics teachers, long the more wooed than won glamor boys and girls of public school education, still have their place in the annual bidding sun. They are, however, no longer alone.

Superintendents across the state faced with opening day with empty professional desks are calling the Texas Education Agency with urgent requests.

"Can you issue an emergency permit for a coach, a band director, a woman physical education teacher, and someone to take over industrial arts, science, and mathematics?"

Of course, one superintendent won't have all these jobs to fill. On the other hand, any school district chief who has them all signed for is counting himself lucky.

"We haven't stopped to tally up the figures yet, but the calls are coming in fast and furiously for emergency permits in these areas or just for suggestions on filling the jobs," Waurine Walker, acting director of teacher certi-

R. C. Smith and Vicki and Lori visited over the weekend. Mrs. Keetie Haynes visited the Grady McIver family on Tuesday.

Mrs. May Sharp of Santa Anna visited her daughter and family, the G. K. Stearns and Clint Sunday. Sherman Stearns called his parents, the G. K. Stearns, at 12:15 p. m. Sunday from Hawaii. His wife Dortha is with him there. Sherman will leave to go back to Viet Nam Wednesday the 3rd, and Dortha will be back Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Vaughn and his mother of San Antonio, and Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Marlin, Mrs. Isla Ruth Roddie and Jack Gartman of Brady were visitors over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vaughn.

Visitors with the Fred Haynes this last week and over the weekend were Donnie York, Billy and Janie Haynes, Winnie and John Haynes, Grace Ellis, Pattie Roberts, Mattie and Jim Lineberry, Robert and Juanita Haynes and Julia, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Estess and Laura Lynn, Minnie Wilson, Mabel Sheffield and Sug and G. K. Stearns and Clint.

George Cox of Lake Brownwood visited his niece, the Felton Martins on Sunday. Robert Sullivan of San Antonio visited Paul Sunday and Monday.

J. H. Martin went to a dairy meeting at Fort Worth Friday and came back Sunday.

County Agent News Column

at the agency, says. "The big rush right now is for coaches, music people, women in physical education, and industrial arts teachers. At least, these are the surprises."

Why are some teachers more scarce than others? A look at the college and university graduating classes provide some of the answers.

Last year, the agency issued 1,081 emergency permits to science teachers not fully qualified for certification in Texas. At the same time the 53 teacher education schools in the state graduated 322 students with the necessary semester hours to teach science from the seventh grade through senior high school.

The story in mathematics is almost a re-run every year. Of the 422 college seniors graduated with teaching degrees in mathematics, only 277 took their skills into the public classroom. At the same time, the agency issued 1,188 emergency permits.

Industrial arts, a major subject in only 12 of the state's colleges graduated 184 students. Of these, 107 went into teaching. Another 271 partially qualified industrial arts teachers were issued emergency permits.

The demand for special education teachers, particularly for men trained in occupational skills for the mentally retarded high school age youngster, is on another terrific upswing, according to Miss Walker.

"Last year Texas schools of education graduated 250 students qualified in this area, a year in which we issued 1,066 emergency permits simply because the demand was so great."

Emergency permits are expected to top the 12,000 mark by the end of October. However, this figure is not the true indicator of the number of teachers who aren't fully qualified, Miss Walker points out.

"About half the teachers who enter Texas schools on emergency permits lack only some minor qualification. Many of them completed their college work in another state and need only to pass the Texas government and American history requirement before graduation, so must teach for two years before they can be certified.

Karen and I enjoyed very much a supper meeting of the County's Polled Hereford breeders at Jim and Fay Gill's last Tuesday night. The meeting was called to plan for their booth at the 1969 Coleman County Fair, September 27. Geoffrey Hanksley, a cattle rancher from Rhodesia was visiting the Gills and we certainly enjoyed talking to him and finding out some of the systems used in beef production in that country.

Sumter Weathered and I went to McAdoo last week and picked up some Coronado Oat seed for demonstration purposes in Coleman County this winter. These seed were from a test plot I had started two years ago, at that time the Coronado Oat was an unnamed, numbered variety. It proved to be the top producer in the Dickens County trials and we're anxious to see what it will do down here. We stopped by the experiment station in Spur and looked at some of their beef cattle research. Also, visited with Doug Robison, who is doing mesquite research. A new material they have been testing, pichloram, is consistently doubling the normal permanent kill of 2, 4, 5-T and this is significant. We are planning a test plot using this chemical in Coleman County next spring.

"In many cases, these young teachers completed their work in August but won't receive their degrees until the next formal graduation ceremonies in January or June. Others are certified teachers but have transferred to subjects ties because of the needs of the school district."

Meanwhile, back on the playing field...

From Viet Nam

(By Dr. Chas. Henner)

America has begun progressively to withdraw its 544,000 fighting men and will continue to do so. Viet Nam will need decreasing military and economic aid for the next 5-10 years but Communism has been turned back, altho it is not vanquished. It can still be expected to cause continued travail, injuries, hardship and death to South Vietnamese people and their American friends like you and me.

Tonight in the falling darkness the word came down the line, "sleep with your clothes on, weapons loaded by your side—the V. C. are coming." After a lull of several weeks following the faltering Paris Peace talks with some supposedly secret negotiations with the enemy, our intelligence in the field has picked up directives from Hanoi giving specific objectives, including hospitals, ARVN units and as of last week, selected American targets.

Last weekend after midnight and before dawn the sapper teams with explosives descended on the large hospital complex and Cam Ranh Bay 20 miles down from Nha Trang where I was stationed 6 months ago, blew up large sections of this 800 bed hospital, killing two and wounding 89. The blood thirstiness and senselessness of such a terror campaign does nothing but dishonor the enemy. A few days before this two of the main hospitals in Da Nang, 40 miles up the road in I Corps, were rocketed, killing and injuring scores of Vietnamese and Americans.

The latest intelligence information from all sources has been given to our military commanders in Viet Nam that Hanoi is tightening its war lines after failure of the Peace Talks in Paris and the newly set of Communist Provisional Government of South Viet Nam. When American leadership in Washington tightened down and sent some of its best bargainers to Paris the Reds suddenly began to see that they were not going to talk us out of Viet Nam as they did, or tried to do, in Korea a decade ago. Americans are slowly learning the kind of breed Communists are. Objectives have never changed, the goals remain the same, their methods continue gruesome. Therefore, as of this moment, we can expect increased military efforts by the enemy in Viet Nam on every front.

The heavy 8 inch cannons in the compound ¼ of a mile away roar out angrily from time to time, shattering the night. In a few moments 10-15 miles away the giant shells land with a dull roar; tanks and ARC's rumble out to field positions in the jungle and rice paddies; overhead steady pounding pulses of Huey gunships and deadly spookies pass, outposts of Army of Viet Nam spit out machine gun bullets and the occasional automatic rifle or carbines fire, pierce the evening shades. This is Viet Nam like it is. In many of the larger cities such as Saigon, etc. life goes on much unchanged with very little evidence of war. From time to time rockets, satchel charges of dynamite, explosives, kidnappings, political murders and other activities occur but this is all part of the way of life here in Viet Nam.

In the morning will come the aftermath of the night's activities ranging from the DMZ of the north to the Delta 200 or so miles away below Saigon. These will be the injured, the wounded, dying and the dead. They will be Vietnamese, military and civilian, young and old, American, allies, V. C. and NVA's.

This is part of the price all of us pay for freedom and liberty, both for ourselves and others. Without America to help, South Viet Nam would be another Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany or Tibet.

TB Is Still A Health Hazard

TB germs plague people everywhere. Especially the world's poor.

Crowded housing conditions, inadequate diet, and poor general health make people more susceptible to TB and other germs. Once they are infected with TB germs, they are less able to fight off and contain the infection.

The problem in South America, the Far East, India, and other parts of the developing world is enormous. And earlier this year in the Congo, Dr. Halfdan Mahler, Danish chief of the TB unit of the World Health Organization, told Africans that more than half the people on that continent were infected with virulent TB germs.

People who are concerned about controlling the threat around the world—as well as in their own countries—are meeting in New York this month, from September 2 to 6. The meeting is the twentieth annual conference of the International Union Against Tuberculosis.

Speakers come from such diverse countries as the Ivory Coast, Mali, Brazil, Madagascar and Czechoslovakia. Discussion will cover many subjects. The use of drugs to cure and prevent TB. New ways to make decisions about controlling TB. Training TB teams in developing countries. Recent findings in mycobacterial genetics. And other pressing topics.

Controlling TB is an international problem. And an American one. Last year over 40,000 new active cases were found in this country. Many of these cases come from the nation's poor.

Local tuberculosis and respiratory disease associations across the country will send representatives to the conference. And the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association will be host at the international meeting.

TB is the target. And the people of the world are taking aim.

Dr. Henner Gets Vietnamese Award

(By Mrs. John Hunter)

Friends are happy to know that Dr. Henner of Santa Anna, who is serving with the Navy, stationed at Tam Ky, Viet Nam, has received honor in recognition of his service. We give you some interesting excerpts from letters.

A July letter enclosed an invitation to be on the reviewing stand for decorating Vietnamese and American heroes, (written in Vietnamese). At the ceremony, which he described as plenty of pomp and ceremony, Dr. Henner received a medal of honor, a gold cross on a ribbon, highest medical decoration awarded by Vietnamese.

He sends a letter from the Surgeon General of the Navy, G. H. Davis, saying how pleased he was to meet him personally, and to learn of the fine work he and his team were doing at Tam Ky.

"Hurray for the astronauts! This feat has really made these Oriental and Malaysian people sit up and talk and wonder about the power of America. Everything else sinks very low in comparison. America is no paper tiger to be laughed at. He who walks on the moon is next to Buddha, and most of the people here are Buddhist," writes Dr. Henner.

During July, he and his team did 146 major operating room cases and 200-300 minor ones and were very tired; his chief nurse said, "all sterile packs gone, all linen dirty, all gone-us too!" After a moment of silence, "next week maybe we all be dead too."

Dr. and Mrs. Wes Wise of Little Rock, Ark., announce the birth of a daughter on Thursday, August 28, at 3:45 a. m. at the University Hospital. The girl weighed 7 pounds and 1 ounce and was named Elizabeth Geyer.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Duncan of Little Rock, Ark., and Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Wise of Rockwood.

Mrs. Leonard Matassa of Dallas came last week for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Bert Turney and other relatives. Mr. Matassa joined her here for the weekend for hunting and fishing. Mrs. Matassa remained for a long-er visit.

'Aunt Bessie' Stewardson's 93 Years Attributed to Keeping Busy

Mrs. Bessie Stewardson, better known as "Aunt Bessie," celebrated her 93rd birthday August 12 and attributes her agility and good health to an active life and "keeping busy."

Born Sarah Elizabeth Munn to the late Mr. and Mrs. Neill Munn at La Grange, Fayette County, Texas, she was only three years old when her mother died. Four years later Mr. Munn died, leaving eight orphan children. The children moved then to Burnet, Texas, where with the help of an older sister, they were able to stay together as a family.

Mrs. Stewardson graduated from Burnet High School in 1896, and the following year moved to Coleman County where she taught at the Milligan School located on Home Creek, south of Santa Anna. In 1899 she was married to the late J. L. Stewardson. They made their home in the Shields community, where their three children, Ted, Hardie and Lillian, were born. While rearing her family, Aunt Bessie raised chickens, turkeys, fresh fruits and vegetables so the hired hands and family ate well. She was also active in church and community affairs and was always on hand to help out a needy neighbor.

After Mr. Stewardson's death in 1934, a sister, Miss Sallie Munn, made her home with Aunt Bessie for the next ten years, during which time the two ladies crocheted some 50 bedspreads, many afghans, and made fancy quilts too numerous to mention, as gifts for children, grandchildren and other relatives.

After the sister's death, Aunt Bessie decided it was time to really get busy; so thinking back to her high school days, she remembered having had some 12 art lessons—thus, at the age of 70, without further ado, she began what has become a most unusual hobby in oil and pastel painting. To date she has painted more than 300 pictures, many of which she gave to friends and relatives, although some have been sold to people from South America, Utah, Oregon, Illinois and California.

Her health has been excellent having been confined to a hospital for the first time at the age of 85. However, back in 1906, when the closest hospital was in Temple, Texas, she had an attack of appendicitis. The late Dr. Long, assisted by Dr. T. R. Sealy, performed the operation on the kitchen table at her home.

Living in Santa Anna since 1967, her yard there is a lovely array of color. Well groomed flower beds are the result of much weeding, spading and digging, which Mrs. Stewardson does herself. She still has time to rest a bit and watch television—naturally, she crochets during this time as the latest great-grandchild "must" have an afghan.

Two of her three children are still living, W. T. Stewardson of Santa Anna and Mrs. Lillian Lewellen of Shields, seven grandchildren, twelve great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Ida Humphrey of Portland, Oregon.

It would be time well spent to go by for a visit with Aunt Bessie and hear her version of life, "from horse and buggy days to the space age," although she contends she has no particular desire to make a trip to the moon just yet. If she's not painting or gardening she might even share a favorite recipe with you as she is also known as "quite a cook."

MRS. DUNN AT HOME FOLLOWING VACATION

Mrs. Jim Dunn returned home Sunday from a six-weeks trip where she visited relatives. Mrs. Dunn went to Topeka, Kansas to visit her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McClellan and children. From Kansas, Mrs. Dunn visited a brother in Texarkana, and two sisters in Fort Worth.

In Dallas, Mrs. Dunn spent several days with two daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Box and children and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Adams and children.

Before returning to Santa Anna, Mrs. Dunn spent some time in Denton with her son, J. D. and family.

Kenneth and DeAnne went frog hunting and brought in a big bag of them, also DeAnne came up the hill bringing a big rattler by the tail, almost as big as she. 8 rattlers. Some were broken off. Kenneth shot it at the tank. I told them that these old farmers went bogging out in all these weeds, grass and brush, never thinking of a rattlesnake kit, but these Californians came prepared with their kits. Lucky, they didn't have to use it. The Jennings left for California on Tuesday of last week. They spent one night with L. P. Jennings in Pecos and then onto Stanton spending one night with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gilmore and visited with Edgar and Mae Baugh, then stopped at Bronte to see Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hughes a little while, getting to Lela Hodges about 2 p. m. AUSTIN—With the first special session of the Legislature a failure, Gov. Preston Smith called lawmakers back for a second try at writing a biennial budget and a balancing tax bill.

Midnight gavels fell August 26 with neither task accomplished after tax conference committees were unable to break a stubborn deadlock.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes blames the first session impasse on House refusal to place beer and liquor under the sales tax. House Speaker Gus Mutscher said that was a "smokescreen" masking other reasons for the Senate's refusal to come to terms with the Representatives.

A Senate proposal to place food under a 2.5 per cent (reduced rate) sales tax was voted down unanimously (147-0) by the House. Thereafter, negotiations never budged beyond that point.

In calling for the second session, Governor Smith laid it on the line.

"We have been treated to a spectacle of petty quarreling, jealousies between houses, obstinate and self-serving position, demagogic rhetoric, childish personalities and undue interference from the lobby," said the Governor. "I believe the people of Texas are sick and tired of it. I know I am."

Smith warned that every function of state government would be "paralyzed or thrown into a state of uncertainty and confusion" if the new session failed to come up with a certifiable revenue appropriation by September 1.

Legislature responded by banging through emergency 60-day budget proposals which would operate the state government through October 31 while members sought to reconcile differences over long-range finances.

SAFETY PLAN RESUBMITTED — Texas failed to meet federal requirements with its traffic safety program, but a new plan has been submitted.

Highway Safety Bureau of the U. S. Department of Transportation is reviewing the second effort.

Governor Smith was notified by Robert Brenner, acting director of the bureau, that the plan presented last December, before Smith took office, was incomplete.

Comments on the new plan are encouraging, says Smith, but final action is not expected until fall.

Meanwhile, said the governor, safety efforts are continuing through the Texas Education Agency, the State Highway Department, the Department of Public Safety and the Texas Department of Public Health.

CRIME RATE UP — Col. Wilson Speir, Department of Public Safety director, says Texas' crime rate for the first six months of 1968 was 7.7 per cent higher than the comparable period in 1968.

Maor crime increased in all categories except murder and homicide, where the rate declined 8.8 per cent.

Greatest increase was in robbery— up 31.2 per cent. Aggravated assaults increased 20.9 per cent, auto theft 14.8 per cent, burglary 9.7 per cent, rapes 7.2 per cent and thefts 3.9 per cent.

Urban areas experienced the greatest increase—8.5 per cent. In rural areas, the average hike was less than one per cent. In cities over 100,000, the increase was almost nine per cent. In those from 50,000 to 100,000, increase was 7.1 per cent and in cities of 25,000 to 50,000, 18.8 per cent.

Crime clearance rates for the period was 27 per cent — the same as 1968. Clearance rate for murders was 84 per cent, for rapes 66 per cent and robbery 39 per cent.

DPS noted that statistics show a maor crime every one and one-third minutes during January-June.

LATE HOURS PERMITS ISSUED — Texas Liquor Control Board now is issuing special late hours permits for taverns and private clubs in wet areas.

A new law, effective September 1, provides that late-hours establishments can serve alcoholic beverages until 2 a.m. However, the statute is effective only in counties of 300,000 or more population (based on the 1960 census) and those where commissioners courts or city councils specifically approve.

State fee of $100 is collected from taverns selling wine and beer until the new curfew hour. Private clubs which want to stay open until 2 a.m. must pay $500 for a permit. State Liquor Control Board must issue the permit or license.

SADLER CENSURE REFUSED — After lengthy debate, House of Representatives rejected a proposed resolution reprimanding Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler for failing to cooperate with lawmakers.

Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi introduced the resolution (and resubmitted it to the second called session) charging Sadler misled a House committee inquiring about his handling of salvage operations on ancient Spanish ships which sank off Padre Island more than 400 years ago.

Sadler, appearing before the House rules committee, admitted his original testimony on the issue was evasive and misleading. However, he claimed his tactics were necessary because of the delicate nature of the subject under inquiry.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS — Sale of any alcoholic beverage in Calhoun County Precinct 3 is prohibited under local option vote, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said in opinion requested by County Attorney William M. Day.

In an opinion for the guidance of Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar, Martin clarified securities authorized for school depository funds.

In a third opinion, Martin said that a new law does not define the practice of psychology as a branch of the healing art.

ROAD PROGRAM APPROVED — State Highway Department has approved a $52 million highway safety and farm to market road improvement program for 1970.

Projects include construction work on 6,373 miles, to cost $51.2 million; and right of way relocation assistance totaling $94.7 million. Some $871,000 was reserved for later assignment.

About 55 per cent of the work will be on state and U.S. numbered highways. Forty five per cent is assigned to Texas' farm to market road system.

Most of the work will serve to increase safety on the highways, and a large portion will go to reconstruction.

SECURITIES — Truman G. Holladay, deputy securities commissioner, says the State Securities Board has issued a cease and desist order against Pace International, Inc., of Austin (known as Paceco), prohibiting the sale of securities in Texas. He charged that the company had never been registered, as is required by law, with the board.

William King, securities commissioner, also announced that Wayne C. Davidson has pleaded guilty to charges that he sold unregistered securities. Davidson was sentenced in Harris County to three years in prison and given a probated sentence. One of the conditions of the probation is that Davidson is to make full restitution to the investors.

HAULING JURISDICTION — Railroad Commission has agreed to let more than 100 oil-

Young Hoover Liberals?

It is difficult these days to sort out any sort of a precise meaning of such terms as "liberal," "conservative," "reactionary" and so forth. But for some time, the more conservative element has at times referred to "soft-headed liberals" and it is possible that they had something.

For the so-called liberal establishment shows a startling proclivity for being manipulated, both by hard-headed reactionaries and hard-headed Marxists.

Not too many years ago, the liberal thrust was toward the one world idea, and strong support for the United Nations. While no one can denigrate the desire of mankind for peace, there are practical aspects.

Now many authorities claim that the basic root cause of student unrest is Vietnam, and it is also claimed that the liberals are in the forefront of the demonstrations and riots.

Thus, the so-called liberals of yesterday who were so anxious for the United States to engage in any kind of action needed to preserve what is called peace in the far corners of the world, may be coming aware that pursuance of this objective means constant military intervention by the United States in all parts of the world, and the younger generation wants no part of this activity.

Thus, it may be that the young liberals of today are allied subconsciously with the viewpoint expressed by Herbert Hoover in the Little Iowa schoolhouse on the occasion of his 75th birthday.

At that time, this Quaker, who probably knew more about war and revolution than any man living, advised the United States it should create a fortress America, and leave other peoples to solve their own problems. He took the position that with a nuclear defensive shield, the world, or at least this nation, had reached an era where peace is possible.

But this viewpoint was scoffed at by the then liberal establishment as "isolationism" with a tone that suggested isolationism is on a par with fascism, and other evils.

If these assumptions are at all valid, in the course of time, a great paradox may emerge. For if the younger generation is truly as educated as it is claimed, and if it is true that the root cause of the unrest is Vietnam, then by a process of osmosis this younger generation, now considered ultra liberal, may turn out to be Hoover conservatives. As the current saying goes, "try this out on your Funk and Wagnalls."

field haulers pool their efforts to get a broader authority for hauling. The 100 companies are asking the Railroad Commission to expand their jurisdiction to include hauling of any "iron and steel articles." If jurisdiction is granted, any oilfield hauler could carry iron or steel material.

Common carriers, who have jurisdiction to haul anything, and oilfield haulers with wide jurisdiction to haul iron and steel are opposing the application.

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE — That "no transfer" rule of the University Interscholastic League will be the subject of an interim House study. During the first special session of the Legislature, Rep. Bill Swanson of Houston gained passage of a resolution calling for the study.

Swanson said the UIL also thinks there should be some appeal of the one-year bar for athletes who change schools, so the committee will look for an acceptable means.

Do bees dance?

Dancing bees communicate to their hive mates the direction and location of food. The bees in the hive follow and imitate the dancing bees and correctly interpret the signals that are given, even if the dances are done in complete darkness. If the dancing bee does a round dance (A), then the other bees fly out to find food near the hive. If the bee does a wagging dance, it means that the food is more than 100 yards away. But the wagging dance also tells in what direction and how far away the feeding place lies. If the straight run is upward (B), the direction is toward the sun. A straight run downward (C) means food is away from the sun. The speed of the wagging dance indicates the distance of the food from the hive.

How old is baseball?

A game with base, and sometimes called "base ball," was played long ago, as part of the religious rites of the ancient Egyptians. Baseball as we know it began in 1845, when Alexander J. Cartwright drew up some rules for the game. He helped to organize the first baseball club, the New York Knickerbockers. In 1846 the Knickerbockers lost the first recorded game to the rival New York Nine, 23 to 1, in four innings.

Where are the biggest caves in North America?

The Carlsbad Caverns are the biggest caves in North America, if not in the world. They were discovered in 1901 by Jim White, a New Mexican cowboy. About 60,000,000 (million) years ago, acid rain-water began nibbling away at the limestone bed in New Mexico to form rooms that are as long as 1/4 mile and as high as a 30-story office building. Some of the rooms in Carlsbad are 1,000 feet or so under the ground. The cave's largest room could hold 10 football fields.

Where did the phrase "not worth his salt" originate?

The phrase "not worth his salt" probably became a saying in ancient Greece during the time when slaves were bought with salt. The word "salary" comes from the Latin word sal, meaning "salt." The Romans often paid their troops in salt instead of money.

New Rules Of Right-of-Way

Austin—Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that effective September 1, laws passed by the Texas Legislature will establish new rules of right-of-way and new rules for following too closely.

The right-of-way law sets out four rules governing the right-of-way at intersections. Speir urged all drivers to review the rules closely, and note the instances in which they must stop, yield and grant the right-of-way.

Drivers at intersections controlled by stop, yield or traffic control devices must obey the signs.

Drivers of vehicles on a single lane street or roadway consisting of two traffic lanes, upon approaching an intersection not controlled by signs of a divided street or a street or roadway divided into three or more marked lanes, must stop, yield and grant the privilege of right-of-way to vehicles on the larger street.

Drivers of vehicles on unpaved streets intersecting a roadway that is paved must stop, yield and grant the right-of-way to vehicles on the paved street.

Drivers of vehicles on the streets of equal size and paving must stop, yield and grant the privilege of immediate use of such intersection to any vehicle which has entered the intersection from such driver's right, or is approaching such intersection from the driver's right in such proximity as to constitute a hazard.

Speir said the act further provides a rule of evidence that in cases of collision, the person shall have been presumed not to have yielded the right-of-way if the four conditions have not been satisfied.

The following too closely law, as amended, will require drivers to maintain an assured clear distance between the vehicle ahead, exercising due regard for the speed of the vehicles and the traffic upon and conditions of the street or highway. Drivers must be able to bring their vehicle to a stop, using these guidelines, without colliding with the preceding vehicle, or veering into other vehicles, objects or persons on or near the street or highway.

NEXT: Slow moving vehicles.

Mrs. C. E. Kingsbery is expected to return to her home here after spending about 10 days in the Hendricks Hospital in Abilene. Mrs. Kingsbery broke her kneecap in a fall and had surgery and treatment. Her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Garrett of Lake Jackson is to be here for awhile with her parents.

CHALLENGING THE PARKING METER

Ed stopped his car at a parking meter, found no change in his pockets, and headed for the nearest store to get some. By the time he returned, a policeman was already writing out a ticket. Outraged, Ed took the matter to court.

"It is true," he told the judge, "that our city ordinance says the coin must be put in 'immediately.' But that is ridiculous. Surely I am entitled to enough time to get change."

However, the court ordered him to pay the fine. The judge felt that, for the sake of administrative efficiency, the city could indeed insist on immediate payment — without leaving any loopholes at all.

There is something about parking meters that at times awakens the rebel in a rugged individualist. Nevertheless, in assorted courtroom confrontations between citizen and meter, the law has usually upheld the meter. As one judge put it: "Some hardship must be undergone by those who enjoy the benefits of life in large communities."

Thus, in another case, a court found nothing wrong with parking meters that sold 12 - minute intervals for the first hour — but only an undivided one - hour's worth for the second hour. If this was held discrimination against second-hour users, as a citizen charged, it was held not to be unreasonable discrimination.

Another citizen, attacking from a different direction, refused to accept a parking ticket from a "meter maid." He argued that the city could not use anything less than a regular policeman for law enforcement. But again, the court decided a city had this much leeway in running its parking meter system.

Still, the law won't tolerate everything. For example, meters cannot ordinarily be used as a means of raising money for purposes outside the field of traffic control. Accordingly, a court decided that a city had no right to pay for harbor improvements out of parking meter income.

And another court added this warning: "A municipality cannot turn parking meters into a business for profit. It cannot establish a commercial enterprise on the public easement."

5 Years Of Costly Education

To learn how to dispense your prescription safely and accurately, your pharmacist is required by law to undergo 5 years or more of rigorous, costly training. He must then invest thousands of dollars in a multitude of drugs, many of them rarely called for. He must also invest in a wide array of precision equipment—expensive equipment—designed for the proper storage, compounding, and packaging of each prescription. This is more proof that Today's Prescription is the biggest bargain in History.
