WASHINGTON OFFICIAL WILL SPEAK AT NEW WATER TREATMENT PLANT DEDICATION

Don Laverentz, Mayor Roy Edwards and Harold Holloway discuss plans for the Tuesday dedication.

Dr. Chung-ming Wong, recently appointed Director of the Office of Saline Water, Washington, D. C., will be the lead-off speaker at dedication ceremonies for the new water treatment plant next Tuesday.

Dr. Wong, whose office is part of the U. S. Department of Interior, will make the opening remarks at the August 19 event. He will be on the speaker's platform when the actual dedication is performed by Mayor Roy Edwards.

The 49-year-old Dr. Wong was appointed to his post July 28. He comes to the job with 25 years of technical and administrative experience.

While working for the McDonald-Douglas Corporation, Dr. Wong contributed directly to the Apollo 11 flight. He was involved with the booster propulsion system and the reentry vehicle heat shield.

He has worked for Avco Corporation, Republic Aviation, United Aircraft, TRW Systems, Northrup Corporation and Lockheed Aircraft.

Dr. Wong holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Psing Hus University and a masters degree in mechanical engineering from Purdue University. He received his doctorate in physics at Columbia. He did post-doctorate studies in business administration at Harvard and in human relations at the University of California.

After World War II, Dr. Wong taught at New York University, the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and the University of Bridgeport (Conn.).

The Office of Saline Water, which Dr. Wong now heads, is concerned with water resources throughout the United States. It serves as the governmental coordinating agency for all work done on methods of converting brackish or salt water to potable water for human consumption.

Robert Wright, Jr., manager of Permasp Products, Du Pont will also participate in the opening ceremony. Wright will discuss briefly the background of the plant and Du Pont's work in developing its water treatment process.

Mayor Roy Edwards will head the contingent of local officials and will dedicate the plant immediately following Wright's remarks.

Interested officials from several Texas cities and counties have been invited to attend the afternoon ceremony. In addition, representatives of several state and Federal agencies have been asked.

The program is set for 2:00 p. m., Tuesday, August 19, at the water treatment plant. Citizens of Plains and the surrounding area should plan to attend the dedication and tour the plant.

E. L. SHORT TAKES OFFICE

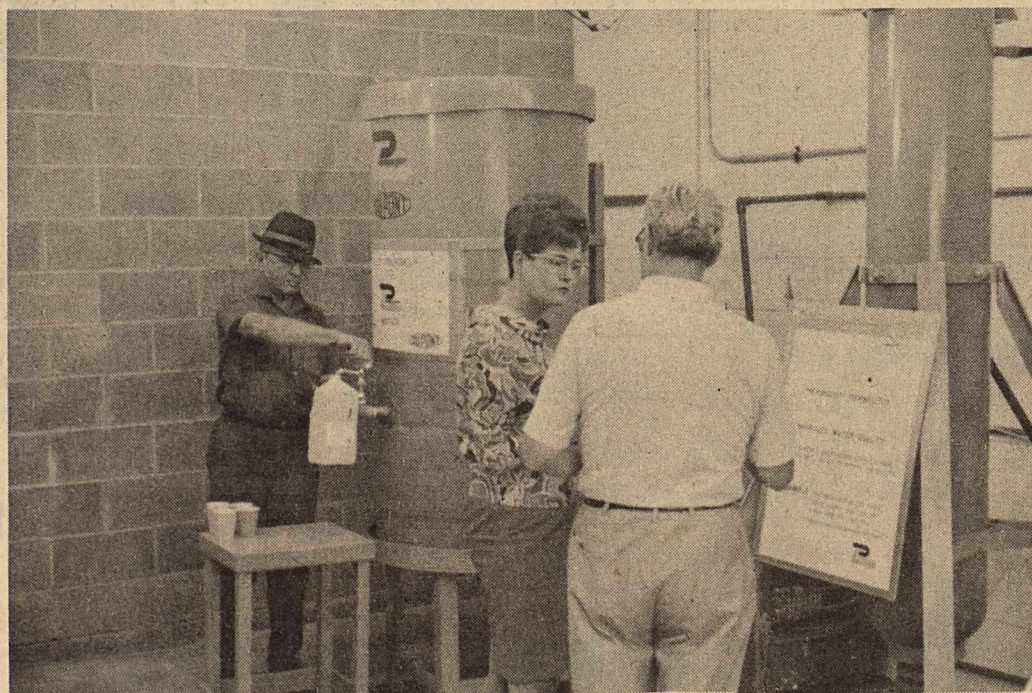

Representative Short, a farmer, rancher, and businessman, was elected in a special election August 5th to fill the seat formerly held by Representative Randy Pendleton who was appointed by Governor Preston Smith to serve on his staff in Washington, D. C.

Representative Short, his wife, Ernestine "Dink," and children, Vivian and Robin will be living in Austin during the balance of the Special Legislative Session now in progress.

The other two Short children, Leah and Patti, are attending the summer session at West Texas State.

Representative Short stated, "My family and I are deeply grateful for the kind and generous support given us by the people of Andrews, Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Martin and Yoakum Counties. We will do our best to uphold and justify your trust and confidence as we seek to serve you. We are looking forward to visiting in all the towns and counties of the district after the close of the Session."

People of the district may contact Representative Short during the Legislative Session by calling his Austin office (512) 475-4192 or by writing him at House of Representatives, Capitol Building, Austin, Texas.

Director Jim Slaydon instructs P. W. St. Romain and Melonne Redwine during filming in Plains of Du Pont movie "Better Water For Better Living."

MOTION PICTURES TO BE SHOWN

Two new motion pictures produced by the Du Pont Company will be shown in the Plains High School auditorium next Tuesday at 3:00, 5:00 and 7:00 p. m. as part of the ceremonies opening the new water treatment plant.

"Better Water For Better Living" is a film which describes the advantages of good water and demonstrates what they mean to people in everyday life.

Scenes for this motion picture were filmed in Plains using local people as actors and actresses. The local water treatment plant is the central theme.

The film demonstrates that good water really does not cost a town money. It is true, the film shows, that it requires money to build a system to make good water and that water rates might have to be higher.

But, the savings which result to the citizens because of the longer lives of appliances and plumbing, the lower costs for soaps and detergents, the better wear from clothing, and other benefits offset the cost of the system.

The net result of this cycle is good water which can be considered "free." The good water comes to the people, but the overall cost to the people remains about the same.

The second film to be presented has the unusual title "1 plus 1 plus 1." The title comes from the basic idea which the film portrays. That is that Du Pont people from all over the world come together one plus one plus one to accomplish many objectives, but each remains an individual.

The film is not a history of Du Pont. It is not a listing of company achievements and successes. It presents the different dimensions of Du Pont - manufacturing, marketing, construction, engineering, safety, and product innovation.

The film uses the very latest in photographic techniques. It has split-screen sequences, multiple images and an original music score.

More than 90,000 feet of film were shot to make the final version of the film. The crews travelled more than 70,000 miles to shoot scenes in 18 U. S. locations and 13 overseas sites.

Editorial
WATER? WATER?

Water has been the prime subject of conversation in many parts of the Mid-continent area for the past several weeks. While the Eastern part has been contending with storms and floods the Western part has been scorching and fighting a drought.

In Texas and Eastern New Mexico where there is an urgent need for irrigation water, problems have become legislative and political issues. The issue became most intense in Texas where an attempt was made to amend the constitution and permit tremendous bond issues for an enormous water transportation project which would transport water from the Mississippi River, where it empties into the Gulf, to the high plains of Texas. The amendment was defeated by the voters of Texas.

As the transportation plan was a long range project which could not have been usable for many years, it was of no effect on the present drought. However, the drought did heighten the interest on the High Plains in any form of irrigation assistance.

The old cry of "water, water every where but not a drop to drink" can well be brought into consideration where domestic water consumption is concerned for the plains area is underlaid with brackish or salt water in considerable quantity at varying depths. The age old problem of desalination here comes into play.

The attempts to desalinate have been numerous dating back in history to Alexander the Great when he was confronted with watering an army with water from the Mediterranean Sea. Only within the last two decades with the highest developed methods achieved by mankind, has any great progress been made. Today several methods are being employed with varying degrees of success. The most recent and scientifically developed being the recent discovery of the E.I. Du Pont DE Nemours and Company known as the "PERPASEP" permeator process.

These permeators, which contain hollow fibers, desalt water by the reverse osmosis process. In addition, "Permasep" permeators have many other potentially useful applications.

The City of Plains with the cooperation of the Du Pont De Nemours Co. became the first municipality to ever employ the "Permasep" process. The plant at Plains is the first plant of its size and adaption to be erected by the Du Pont Company.

PLAINS SCHOOL NEWS

The School Faculty for 1969-1970 was completed on August 8th by the election of the following: Vocational Agriculture and Farm Machinery Repair - Floyd M. Gossett who is a graduate of Texas Tech. He is married and has a two year old son; and Junior High School Science - Gerald R. Ritchie who is a graduate of Texas Tech. He is married and has a two year old daughter.

The 1969-1970 School Year for the Plains Independent School will officially begin at 8:45 a.m. on Thursday, August 21st. Buses will run the same route on this date as were run on the closing date of last year. School will be dismissed at 11:30 a.m. on both August 21st and August 22nd.

School is beginning a little earlier this year than usual so as to complete first semester examinations before Christmas holidays.

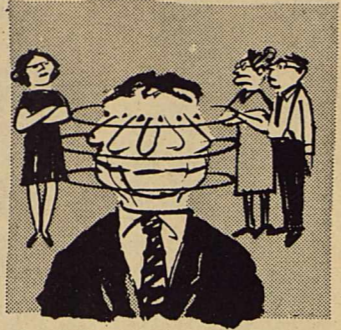

Prospects for a profitable school year are very bright. Construction on the Jr. High School will offer some inconvenience but the end result will justify a few difficulties. It is felt that the remodeling portion of the building program will be complete by opening date.

An announcement of interest to taxpayers is the thirty-five cents reduction in tax rate for 1969. The rate for 1968 was $1.85. The rate for 1969 has been set at $1.50.

Wife Versus Parents

If a bridegroom is lucky, his bride and his parents will work out their new relationship in sweet peace and harmony. But what if they don't—and he is "in the middle"? Where do his duties lie? By and large, the law says his wife comes first. Take this case: A man was haled into court by his wife for non-support. In his defense, he explained: "I give every nickel I make to my elderly parents. I just feel they need the money more than we do." But the court decided this was no excuse, and ordered him to start taking care of his wife. The judge said she had first claim on his earnings.

A similar principle applies to the family domicile. A man accused his wife of desertion, after she walked out on him. But in court, she pointed out that she had good reason for leaving: her husband allowed his mother not only to live with them but also to run the household with an iron hand.

Ruling in the wife's favor, the court said:

"When a man marries and founds a new family, he assumes new duties. When these conflict with his former ties, they must be held paramount. The very existence of the family depends on this principle. Whatever his filial obligations may be, a man may not bring his mother to reside in his new home. That place belongs to the wife."

Nevertheless, the law does not insist on total estrangement of a husband from his parents.

In another case, a man brought his ailing, elderly mother into his home—partly for the sake of sentiment, partly for the sake of economy. However, it was his wife, not his mother, who had full charge of managing the household.

Was this husband falling down on his marital obligations? This time, a court said no. The judge said that, although a wife does rank as Number One, she still must make fair and reasonable adjustments to reality—to make the marriage work.

EMERGENCY CARE COURSE TO BE HELD

The first practical course on emergency care and transportation of the sick and injured to be held in the Lubbock Area is scheduled August 19, 20 and 21, 1969, in the Nursing School Classrooms, Methodist Hospital, 3615 19th Street.

Invited to attend the three-day course of lectures and demonstrations are ambulance attendants, policemen, firemen, safety engineers, rescue squads, nurses, public health, civil defense, and other officials or private citizens dealing with the handling of persons who are sick or injured due to accidents.

This course is given free of charge and is expected to attract attendance from a seventy-five mile area around Lubbock. It is given by the Texas State Department of Health and the Lubbock-Crosby-Garza County Medical Society.

The death rate from accidental injuries can be reduced by improved training of emergency personnel according to Dr. C. L. Montgomery, a local Lubbock doctor who is acting as Program Chairman for the training school. A fast ride to the hospital by ambulance or other means has practically never saved a life. There is often only a few minutes to re-establish heart action and breathing, time too short for even a 90-mile-an-hour trip to the Emergency Room of the Hospital. What is really needed are people well trained in emergency care to prepare the injured for transport. This means being able to make a quick survey, to determine medical priority, and to take the necessary life-saving measures.

To furnish this instruction, doctors and nurses from the North Texas Area and members of local police and fire organizations and others will speak and demonstrate on a wide range of subjects, including resuscitation, cardiac massage, splinting of fractures, burns, and other medical emergencies. Aid to snake and spider bite victims, smoke and gas hazards, handling of emotionally disturbed patients, emergency childbirth, and traffic control at the accident scene will be covered. An added feature will be a special Helicopter Airlift Rescue by the Department of Public Safety. Further information may be gained by contacting C. L. Montgomery, M.D. at 1320 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas, Telephone: (806) 762-0881.

Lea County Fair and Rodeo Parade, announced today that the parade would be Wednesday, August 20th at 4 p.m. Mr. Abbott asked that all persons interested in entering the parade contact the Lovington Chamber of Commerce. The parade will start at Ave. O and end at Jackson. The bands will turn off at Jefferson because of the wool uniforms in 100° weather.

Trophies will be given to the best Sheriff's Posse and the best youth riding group. Cash prizes will be given to the prettiest commercial, organizational and youth floats.

Boss: "I wish you wouldn't whistle at your work." Clerk: "I wasn't working."

A little bird told me that our County Judge and Sheriff are still young enough to enjoy a shivaree. They were tipped off through a phone call by a cousin of the Judge's that his friend of long standing was being married in Plains, and were without anyone to send them away happily on their honeymoon. So the Judge and Sheriff gathered up old tin cans and a few other things and tied them to the couple's car while they were being married.

The tin canning was a great success and surprise - thanks to the Judge and Sheriff - as the couple had slipped away from their hometown to avoid the usual send-off.

The other day while eating dinner at one of our local restaurants, I heard a stranger griping because some people seem to have everything, while others have to be satisfied with the hind-most, whatever that is supposed to infer. Occasional grumbling or griping is a part of human nature; however, when we grumble that we don't have what we want, we should be very thankful that we don't get what we deserve at times.

Failures are divided into two classes - those who thought and never did, and those who did and never thought. John Charles Salak

I was reading yesterday from the Industrial News Review, and it had a very interesting article about the gun laws Congress is trying to have passed. It stated that recent news releases disclosed that, according to a Supreme Court decision made a short time ago, ex-convicts are exempt from any form of gun registration. Because a man's previous criminal record makes ownership of a gun illegal, registration amounted to self-incrimination, which is specifically not required under the Bill of Rights, the Supreme Court said. This decision is in essence the same thing a lot of honest citizens--and hunters--have been saying for sometime, that criminals will ignore gun registration laws, with the blessing of the Supreme Court, which means that the only one affected by such laws will be the honest citizen.

The rebels in our midst keep asking us to understand them. But I think it is time they did some understanding of their own. They should try to understand why the much maligned American system has produced the healthiest, richest, most charitable and in most ways -- the freest society on the face of the earth. If these strident, dissident groups would pay attention to why our system works and why the systems they espouse have invariably failed, they could perform a much more useful and beneficial service for all of mankind.

The nectarine, which most of us probably consider a modern fruit, is really an ancient Chinese delicacy grown more than 2,000 years ago.

No longer a rarity, the nectarine is reported in plentiful supply during August.

Look for rich color and plumpness and a slight softening along the "seam" of the nectarine when shopping. Most varieties have an orange-yellow color (ground color) between the red areas, but some varieties have a greenish ground color. Bright-looking fruits which are firm to moderately hard will probably ripen normally within two or three days at room temperature.

For sheer delight try NECTARINE FLIP TOP CAKE. It will get raves from your family. 2 tbs. melted butter or margarine

3 tbs. sugar
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tbs. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
2 cups sliced, fresh nectarines
1 package white cake mix
Melt butter in bottom of 9-inch round pie plate. Sprinkle sugar, lemon rind, juice and cinnamon over butter. Arrange nectarine slices on top of sugar mixture.

Prepare cake mix according to directions. Pour half of batter over fruit. (Bake remaining batter as cupcakes or as a plain layer.)

Bake nectarine cake in oven pre-heated to 350 degrees Fahrenheit 35 to 40 minutes or until done. Cool on wire rack for five minutes, then run knife around edge and invert on serving plate. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Serves six to eight.

BATTLE OF THE BUGS

SPECIAL - Mosquitoes, flies, and ants can ruin summer fun with devastating swiftness as many a picnicker, vacationer, and housewife knows. An onslaught of insects has destroyed or damaged crops, trees, flowers, livestock and even homes.

Insects have inhabited the planet Earth for some 500 billion years, and man's battle to control them is still going on. But the 20th century has supplied some very effective weapons: mainly scientific know-how.

Even grade school children through their natural science studies now boost insect control. Among them are the 4-H youths engaged in entomology projects. They collect and study insects and pests around their home area. They learn how to control or eradicate them, and how to keep pets and livestock insect free. Safe use of insecticides and pesticides is a common practice.

The 4-H Entomology program is nationwide, and has some 70,000 participants according to the Cooperative Extension Service. The program has been sponsored by Hercules Incorporated since 1952, when first launched by the Extension Service.

Incentive awards are offered annually to the young 4-H scientists. They are given at three levels of project evaluation: county, state and national.

A review of some of the best 4-H Entomology projects reported last year, revealed that interests among the teenage bug experts ranged from collecting and classifying lepidoptera (butterflies) to helping local authorities with mosquito control.

As one young man stated: "There's always something new to learn." And for those who never stop learning, Hercules offers some fine rewards in the form of scholarships, educational trips and honor medals.

The 1969 award recipients will consist of an estimated 4,000 county medal winners; 50 delegates to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago with the trip expenses paid; six national champions who will each receive a $600 scholarship. In Chicago, the state and national winners will be guests of Hercules.

"To be eligible for either the state or national award, the 4-H member must be over 14 years of age, have completed at least three years of club membership, and specialized in entomology. All award winners are named by the Extension Service.

Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God; and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation. For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? Do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same. For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, an avenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil. Wherefore, ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake." Romans 13: 1-5.

DEADLINE NEARS ON REFUND

AUSTIN, August 8-- Attorney General Crawford C. Martin reminded Texans today that August 16, 1969, is the deadline for mailing refund claims on broad spectrum antibiotics for which they were overcharged during the years 1954 through 1966.

That is the deadline set by the federal court for individuals to file claims for a share of the $100 million settlement offered by five drug manufacturers after multiple civil antitrust actions were filed against them by Texas and other states.

Martin said the procedure for filing consumer claims was the result of an order issued by the U. S. District Court in New York. The forms for the refund claims may be picked up at the County Clerk's office in each county courthouse. A number of newspapers have also printed copies of the form.

If a person fails to file a claim it will constitute authorization to use the money recovered in his behalf for the benefit of all consumers in a manner directed by the federal court.

The notarized claims must be mailed to the Clerk, United States District Court, P. O. Box 7-45, Bronx, New York 10451.

Drugs involved in the settlement are Aureomycin, Terramycin, Achromycin, Mystecilin, Panalba, Panmycin, Polycycline, Steclin, Tetracycline and Tetrax.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Despite the general pessimism that permeates the air in most U.S. cotton circles, the Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, has not lost its determination to maintain cotton as the number one income producer on the High Plains and to continue the area's climbing prominence in the U.S. cotton industry. This was demonstrated by the Board's recent adoption of a 1969-70 budget of $192,400 to carry out the organization's activities in production and utilization research, market building, legislative and other services.

Commenting on the budget,

By Wilson Duke, Soil Conservationist

Farmers in the Yoakum County Soil and Water Conservation District are in the process of completing plans on determining the type of cover to be planted on diverted acres this year. Generally grain sorghum acreage will be the primary acreage conserved with diverted acres.

Some are planning on using cane, others on using some type of hybrid sorghum. More and more seem to be drilling the crop used for cover or planting in narrow rows 24" or less.

In narrow rows or drilled the crop will not obtain the height generally of crops planted in normal rows and consequently will not have to be shredded as often to prevent sorghums from making a seed crop, which often becomes a problem is rotated with other crops the succeeding year.

Some farmers have summer

making plans to spend money which isn't already in the bank."

The 1969-70 budget of $192,400 compares with a budget of $182,100 for 1968-69, with most of the increase accounted for by stepped-up agricultural research, advertising and promotion, fiber research and services and an increased total for salaries.

The budget was adopted as recommended to the Board by the PCG Finance Committee. Lloyd Cline, Director from Lamesa and member of the Finance Committee, who presented the proposal to the Board, said "The new budget should again just about balance with expected revenue from an estimated Plains crop of 1.9 million bales or more."

He also noted "Approximately $238,000 is available for budget purposes in 1969-70, and by keeping within that figure we are observing our long-standing and wise policy of not Forage sorghum for cover on the Kenneth Engle farm.

COVER ON DIVERTED ACRES

followed areas this year in order to clean and level up areas infested with Johnson grass and then later on this fall will drill to small grain such as rye or millet for cover and soil improvement.

Producers who were fortunate in having a satisfactory cover this past spring, know the value of having cover on the land for wind erosion control and also for the conservation of moisture that we received from the snow.

Cline presented the budget to the Board in the absence of M. A. (Rip) Elms, Finance Committee Chairman.

The budget sets aside $20,650 for agricultural research, $24,000 for advertising and public relations, $12,000 for fiber research and services to textile mills, $3,000 for fiber quality analysis and reports, $10,000 for export and domestic market development, $55,000 for salaries and $17,500 for travel.

The remainder of the budget goes for rent, insurance, office supplies, telephone and telegraph, meetings and other general "housekeeping" items.

Agricultural research money goes to support cotton breeding work, insecticide and herbicide studies, a search for better control methods for cotton seedling diseases and verticillium wilt and bacterial blight, a study of the effects of temperature on cotton plant growth and fruiting, moisture conservation and utilization work, fertility studies and other research projects aimed at increasing yields, improving quality and reducing the cost of growing cotton.

The amount budgeted for advertising and public relations covers the cost of national, international and area advertising contracts, promotional work in the form of exhibits, style shows, the maid of cotton contest, and the cost of PCG's monthly newsletter to members, The PCG Cotton Review.

Fiber research and service involves fiber and spinning tests on area cottons to keep both growers and spinning mills informed as to their spinning performance in various yarn numbers. Also included is a program giving free technical service to textile mills either now using or with the potential to use cotton grown on the Plains.

The fund for export and domestic market development, a separate item of the budget for the first time last year, will be used for additional travel needed to build markets through personal consultation with mills, special-purpose advertising, market-oriented educational programs on cultural and ginning practices and for additional fiber research whenever necessary to give Plains cotton the "hard sell."

Salaries include the full-time staff of four men and two secretaries, part time field men, and a textile consultant arrangement with Harry Arthur of Texas Tech's Textile Research Center.

One of the full time staff members, Bill Henderson, who will work as field representative, only joined the organization on August 1 this year.

Money allocated for travel expenses will take members of the PCG staff and other official PCG representatives to hearings, meetings, visits with textile mills and on other trips necessary to carry out PCG objectives.

PCG President Don Anderson said "We think this is a sound, no-nonsense budget which will return to PCG members far more in benefits than it costs."

TAX MAN SAM SEZ

When you're rolling down the interstate highway you find yourself wishing that there was a completed interstate highway going to wherever you are headed. You may also wonder whether the road builders are really trying to finish the highway or not. (It's a reasonable guess that they are--since you don't get paid until you finish the job.) Highways and streets cost money. In the case of the interstate highways, Congress imposed a highway use tax on trucks and busses to help pay for the highways. After several years Internal Revenue found that the weight schedule on which the truck owners pay taxes needed revision. The taxes have not been revised, but the definitions have been. All Internal Revenue offices and most county clerks have the new schedule of rates and weights posted. If you are a big trucker, or own a big truck, you need a copy of the new Publication 349.

ITEM: You can get new and different effects with antiquing kits by varying the way in which you apply the toner. A spatter finish can be achieved by using a stiff bristle brush--such as an old toothbrush. Dip the end of the brush into the paint and "spring" the bristles with your finger to throw a fine spray of toner over the undercoating. Be careful; too much toner on the brush won't make spatters--just splotches.

ITEM: Glassware that has designs ground into it by small sandstone wheels is called "cut" glass.

ITEM: Give your larger house plants a spring tonic before warmer weather sets in. If they've taken on added growth during the winter, it's wise to report them into new, larger clay pots, and add sterilized soil mix.

ANNUAL PARTY

LEVELLAND (Special) South Plains College annual signing party has been set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, August 26 in the Student Union Building.

Students may pick up their annuals at that time and participate in a social which will include signing of the yearbooks and refreshments.

Over 400 attended the party last year and more are expected to attend this year.

Don Stroud, SPC art instructor, is sponsor of the "Caprock", the college yearbook. He will be assisted in the hospitality by Don Roberts, Student Union Director.

FOR THE FAMILY MANAGER

ITEM: To prevent wear in heavy traffic areas, room-size rugs should be turned frequently. Wall-to-wall carpet should be protected by scatter rugs. Furniture can also be changed to emphasize different portions of the carpet.

ITEM: You can get new and different effects with antiquing kits by varying the way in which you apply the toner. A spatter finish can be achieved by using a stiff bristle brush--such as an old toothbrush. Dip the end of the brush into the paint and "spring" the bristles with your finger to throw a fine spray of toner over the undercoating. Be careful; too much toner on the brush won't make spatters--just splotches.

ITEM: Some manufacturers now offer non-stick coated oven liners. These can be removed and cleaned easily by washing in the sink with sudsy water. Also some range models have removable or drop-down doors to make cleaning easier.

The Yoakum County Rodeo Association wishes to thank all the people of Plains and surrounding country who helped make the rodeo a great success. Also many thanks to the ladies who brought cobbles and salads to the barbeque. We will be looking forward to seeing you next year.

Dick McGinty
Association President

I wish to extend my appreciation for all the support that I received during my candidacy for Rodeo Queen.
