Livestock Being Groomed For The Show

by Leo L. White, CAA
Perhaps the hardest work connected with a county livestock show is the grooming of the lambs. A few years ago when all the work was done with hand shears, an experienced hand could get a lamb shaped up and ready for the show ring in eight to ten hours. With more modern power shears, the time required has been shortened to four to six hours per lamb. A fairly decent job can be done in less time but the 4-H exhibitors are not satisfied with anything less than the best. This is as it should be. The adult leaders are right when they teach the young exhibitors to strive for the best. If they are going to compete in the show ring then they should show an exhibit they are proud of.

Mr. Gene Bennett, Mr. Jerome Head and Mr. Herbie Pickett are the 4-H group leaders who are working with the lamb feeders this year. Some of these leaders already have some of their work behind them. Mr. Gene Phillips is the lamb project leader and he is real anxious for all exhibitors to start early with their grooming chores. This early start allows an exhibitor to avoid the last minute rush. Three weeks before the show is not too early to get started.

Some exhibitors do not have a satisfactory place to work at home so they plan to bring their animals to the Exhibit Building a few days early and do the grooming work there. The directors have set the date of Monday night, February 16th, as the time to prep the barns for the animals. Lamb exhibitors will be bringing their lambs to the barn on Tuesday, February 17th, so they can work on them after school and at night. The inexperienced hand will need three full nights of hard work in order to get two lambs ready for the show ring on Friday afternoon.

When the directors met in January to make preparations for the 1970 Yoakum County Junior Fat Stock Show, they selected Mr. Gene Bennett as the general superintendent, Mr. Pat Henard is the superintendent of the beef calf division; Mr. Joe Crump is the swine superintendent; and the lamb superintendent is Mr. Claude Addison. The main responsibility of these men will be to see that the right animal is in the ring when it is supposed to be. Of course, they would like to see some well groomed animals come into the ring but this is not their primary interest. They will arrange the various classes and they usually post them on the wall of the barn. This way, the exhibitor, the leaders, and the parents can tell which class to compete in.

Mr. Darrell Lindsay, secretary of the board of directors and the man charged with all the book work at the show and sale, reported that he had contacted all the judges and they had agreed to be here. Mr. Thomas (Cotton) Neely, a vocational agriculture teacher from Lubbock will be the judge of the lamb show. Following the lamb show on Friday afternoon, Mr. Bobby Lee, the vocational agriculture teacher at Wilson, will judge the barrow classes. On Saturday morning, beginning at 9:00 o'clock, Mr. Travis Allen, of Portales, New Mexico, will be judging of the calf classes. Mr. Clarence (Hank) Matthews, of Levelland, visited in Plains and Denver City last week and he reported that he would arrive in Plains on Friday afternoon and spend the night so he could be ready for the sale on Saturday afternoon.

The 4-H and FFA exhibitors are planning on a big crowd in attendance at all performances of the 1970 show and sale and they plan to have some well fitted livestock for them to see.

Yoakum SWCD News

by C. M. Thompson, District Conservationist

The dust we had last Sunday will not be the last we will have this year. It could have been much worse had all the land been plowed like the few fields that lost so much top soil. If you braved the dust and went any where you saw thousands of acres of sandy crop land being protected by crop residue and a few fields where some eager farmer had shreaded maize or cotton stalks or worse had plowed and left the land BARE. These were the only fields blowing and the blowing was MAN made and not an act of the weather or elements as some say. There was much soil lost along with organic matter, and moisture that is needed and could have been saved. Did you notice how much protection cotton stalks gave?

It won't be long until preplant irrigation will begin. If you have small wells you might consider a gathering system such as the one on the T. A. Elmore farm or the R. E. Bearden farm. These men have piped all the wells into one tank and then to sprinkler lines this releases the strain on the small wells and reduces the pumping of sand and air. In many cases small wells produce more water when pumped open head and the total cost is reduced. R. E. Bearden, T. A. Elmore and William Wo-sham all have gathering systems and can tell you the many advantages of this type irrigation system over the old type where all wells are pumped under pressure. If you have small wells contact the SCS office in Plains or the ASCS office in Plains and ask about the cost and financial and technical help you can get.

New SWCD conservation plans of late are Mrs. J. V. Beene, Buster Graham, Henry S. May, Don Williams and L. C. Reed. Do you have a blue print for Conservation on your farm or ranch? If not why not over 400 conservation farmers and ranchers in the Yoakum SWCD have and are carrying them out.

Voter Registration Good

A good number of voters registered in Yoakum County for the 1970 elections. The final count as reported by the office of E. W. Craig, County Tax Assessor was 2916. Unofficially this would be considered well above the average for an "off year" election year.

This voter interest is encouraging in view of the fact that in addition to the state and county elections there will be city elections as well as school board elections this year.

E. L. SHORT

TAHOKA--SP--Speaker G. F. (Gus) Mutscher has named State Representative E. L. Short of Tahoka as one of his five appointees to the House Interim Committee to investigate and study all matters pertaining to the taxation of farm, ranch and forest lands on the basis of their capability to support the raising of livestock and/or to produce farm and forest crops.

"I know with his background and knowledge he will be a valuable member of this committee to try to ascertain a uniform method of assessment of farm, ranch and forest lands on a fair, just and equitable basis."

"The genius of American industry is in building things to last 20 years and making them obsolete in two."

The term "tax reform" as applied to present tax revision plans may be an even greater misnomer than "tax loophole."

I was feeling singularly devoid of inspiration the other morning. I usually find myself with a list of things to tell my public encompassing ideas which I can at a later date enlarge into articles.

It was early morning, and I got out of bed and drew the curtains back from the window. I decided I would watch the sunrise. I was slightly propped up on my pillow watching the lovely sky when it occurred to me to hitch myself up a little higher.

There is a wonderful stream of continuity in all the universe. We cannot doubt the oneness that exists when we realize how we can take an idea and thread it throughout our life experiences.

So if we hitch ourselves up a little higher, we will know that in every experience, even if it is out of our sight, there is a beauty, there is an undercurrent of strength and joy and truth which we will see if we stretch up a little. Let's try it.

Verda Lee Robertson, office deputy sheriff, just came in to show me a ticket that the highway patrolmen had brought in. The name and cause of arrest was this: "Luther Joe Speed, for speeding."

The following inscription marked the grave of an army mule in France:

"In memory of Maggie who in her time kicked two colonels, four majors, ten captains, a hundred privates, and one stick of dynamite."

Wife to husband who was sprawled in an easy chair: "Aren't you afraid your self-winding watch will run down?"

H. J. (Doc) Blanchard

Announces for State Senate

Senator H. J. (Doc) Blanchard in announcing for reelection today, issued the following statement:

"My family and I have enjoyed the honor and privilege of serving all of you of the 28th Senatorial District as your State Senator. We have sought to represent each person in the district fairly and conscientiously, and have attempted to use common sense and compassion in arriving at our vote."

There are many issues which have come before the Senate on which reasonable minds could differ. When these arise I realize that no man can do more than to do his best, which I have sincerely attempted to do at all times.

I hope that the votes I have cast and the principals which I have tried so hard to carry forward have been pleasing to a vast majority of the people in our district.

If I am elected you may be sure that I will continue to work with all of our officials and the people of the 28th District to insure that our government is responsive to the needs of all our people. No one will ever find himself without recourse to this office, or to my time, attention and assistance.

Many difficult problems facing the legislators in the sessions ahead, and the decisions they reach will have far reaching effects on all West Texans.

Securing an adequate water supply for West Texas, prevention of narcotic and drug abuses, excellence in education in Texas Tech and in the public school system, improvement of controls over air and water pollution, and working to prevent the tragic highway death and injury toll, are some of the major problems which must be faced and solved by future legislatures.

I am hopeful that my experience, my seniority, and my understanding of the problems of West Texas will permit me to again have your confidence and your vote.

Unemployment compensation laws usually do disqualify, in varying degree, the man who is fired for insubordination.

LEGAL NOTICE
CORRIDOR AND DESIGN HEARING

The Texas Highway Department is planning the construction of F. M. Highway 769 in Yoakum County, beginning at U. S. Highway 82, 15 miles Southwest of Plains, Texas and going South along the Texas-New Mexico State Line approximately 8 1/2 miles to State Highway 83 West of Denver City, Texas.

Work on the proposed project will include grading, drainage structures, caliche base and asphalt surface. It is anticipated that 100 feet of right-of-way will be needed to construct this project.

Preliminary maps and drawings showing the proposed location and geometric design and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection and copying at the Resident Engineer's Office in Brownfield, Texas.

Information about the State's Relocation Assistance Program, the benefits and services for displaced persons and the relocation assistance office as well as information about the tentative schedules for acquisition of right-of-way and construction can be obtained at the Resident Engineer's Office.

Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be held covering the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed location and design for this highway project by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's Office on or before February 27, 1970.

In the event such a request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be publicized about the date and location of the hearing.

Q) I kept a record of my earnings and withholdings for the year and am all set to file my return. Do I have to wait until I get my W-2?
A) Yes, one copy of all W-2's must be attached to your tax return when you send it in.

Q) I'm a senior at college and I'm due a tax refund on some part-time work I did. Can I claim my own exemption without causing my father to lose the exemption he claims for me?
A) Yes, if you were a full-time student during some part of five months of the year, you can claim your own exemption.

Q) What taxes can I deduct?
A) If you itemize deductions, state and local income, sales, gasoline, personal property and real estate taxes may be deducted.

Q) Is there any change in who has to file a return for 1969?
A) Filing requirements for 1969 Federal income tax returns are unchanged from last year.

Q) If I itemize deductions, state and local income, sales, gasoline, personal property and real estate taxes may be deducted. These should be listed on Schedule A Itemized Deductions, and attached to your Form 1040.

Q) Where can I get a copy of your tax guide?
A) A copy of your Federal Income Tax 1970 edition may be purchased from most IRS offices for 60 cents.

Q) Other than the fact that color makes the form look nicer is there any advantage in having red, white and blue tax forms?
A) It is expected that color will draw the taxpayer's attention to those areas on the tax form where errors are made which lead to delays in processing returns and issuing refunds.

Q) What taxes can I deduct?
A) If you itemize deductions, state and local income, sales, gasoline, personal property and real estate taxes may be deducted.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Look Before Leaping
A great deal is being said today about the road to riches through franchising.

A couple of years ago the National Federation of Independent Business made a special survey and found that 23 per cent of the nation's independent firms operate under some form of a franchise.

By and large, the experience of the franchise holders has been good. But there have been many tragedies resulting from people rushing into a franchise agreement blindly.

In addition, it has been learned that some of these tragedies are attributable to the rash of mergers that have taken place. This happens when some one entered into a franchise agreement a few years ago with a high reliable, reputable management of a franchising firm.

And as long as the original management remained in control, everything was reasonably good. But then came the day when the parent firm was taken over.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Talking Back to the Boss

Fred, a toolmaker, saw red when the foreman told him he was doing something wrong.

"Step outside," Fred cried angrily. "We'll fight it out."

But instead of accepting Fred's challenge, the foreman informed him that he was fired. In due course, Fred put in a claim for unemployment compensation.

for insubordination. The reason is that these laws are intended to help the workman who is the innocent victim of economic forces, not the workman who makes his own trouble.

But it is also true that, in keeping with the beneficent purpose of unemployment compensation, the workman usually gets the benefit of the doubt. That is, he will not be disqualified if his misconduct was nothing serious.

Sudie Thompson Says.....

The modern-day broiler-fryer is really a bird of history. It is a member of a zoological family with a pedigree dating back at least 150 million years. Its genetic data can be traced through Bavaria, India, the East and West Indies, New Zealand, Australia, Greenland, islands in the Pacific, Great Britain, Egypt, China, the Malays, Rome, France and America.

At first these foods romped freely through forests and fields--but man soon realized what a delicacy he was missing. By the beginning of the Christian era, he had begun the domestication of chickens through planned breeding and raising.

The chicken still gets around. Its popularity is widespread, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. America is certainly no exception. We consumed about 39 pounds of chicken per person last year--an increase of more than 10 pounds over the last 10 years.

This recipe for Baked Chicken Supreme makes four to five servings.

1 - 2 1/2 lb. broiler, cut up
1/2 cup fat for browning
1/2 clove garlic, minced
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup onion, sliced
1 tbs. chicken drippings
2 tbs. flour
2 cups cooked tomatoes, strained
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese
To prepare, brown chicken in fat and place in casserole. Cook garlic and onion in the chicken drippings until onion is transparent, then add salt. Blend in flour. Add tomatoes, stirring constantly, and heat to boiling. Remove from heat. Add sour cream gradually, stirring vigorously. Blend in cheese. Pour over chicken. Bake at 325 degrees about 45 minutes.

Skillet Chicken With Rice

1 - 2 1/2 lb. broiler, cut up
1/2 cup flour
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
1/8 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup fat for browning
2 cups boiling water
1 onion, sliced
3/4 cup rice
Parsley to garnish
Paprika to garnish
Combine flour, salt, paprika and pepper in paper bag. Shake chicken in bag, 2 or 3 pieces at a time, to coat evenly. Brown pieces slowly in medium hot fat in a skillet, turning to brown lightly on all sides. Takes 15 to 20 minutes.

Reduce heat, add water and onion. Add rice. Cover and simmer until chicken is fork tender, and rice is done and all water is absorbed--about 40 minutes. Garnish with parsley and paprika.

Serve with butter carrots and tossed salad greens. Make five servings.

Chicken Pilaf
3 tbs. butter or margarine
1/2 cup Brazil nuts or almonds, coarsely chopped
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) mushrooms, drained--saving liquid
1 cup celery, diced
1/2 tsp. salt
2 1/2 cups chicken, diced, cooked
2 1/4 cups mushroom liquid plus chicken stock and/or water as needed to complete measure

To prepare, melt butter in heavy skillet, add nuts and cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until nuts are toasted a delicate brown. Add mushroom liquid, mushrooms, celery and salt to skillet. Bring to a boil. Add rice slowly. Cover skillet and simmer 20 to 25 minutes. Add chicken to the last 10 minutes of cooking time. Makes four servings.

Serve Chicken Pilaf with hot buttered toast points for lunch, or as the focal point of a full-course dinner.

Improvements In Film Rating System

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y., - The motion picture industry's voluntary film-rating system has in one year demonstrated "a gratifying success," and is being further strengthened with clarifying and improving amendments.

This announcement, based on a national scientifically sampled impartial survey and on intensive re-evaluation by theater owners, was made today, in behalf of the three organizations sponsoring the system. Their joint statement said, "When the system went into effect on November 1, 1968, we said we would keep it constantly under review and would make a re-examination at the end of a year's trial period.

"The essence of the system remains unchanged. The purpose is to rate films for children, to furnish guides to parents to decide on the movie-going of their children. The system does not rate for adults, nor does it pass on the quality or artistry of a film.

"There are two principal revisions. First: The M rating is changed to GP. The rating GP means ALL AGES ADMITTED. PARENTAL GUIDANCE SUGGESTED.

"Second: The age limit for the R category is raised from 16 to 17. This obviously also necessitated designating the same age for the X category.

"The movie ratings under the program now read:
G ALL AGES ADMITTED. GENERAL AUDIENCES.
GP ALL AGES ADMITTED. PARENTAL GUIDANCE SUGGESTED.

Accent on Health

There's a continuing search going on in Texas for the hereditary condition with the tongue-twisting name of phenylketonuria, usually shortened to PKU.

This condition can cause mental retardation unless detected and treated early in life says the Texas State Department of Health.

PKU represents an inability of the body to convert phenylalanine, an essential amino acid present in protein, to tyrosine. When a person has PKU, the phenylalanine accumulates in the body fluids and tissues, and too much can cause damage to the brain. Too little phenylalanine, on the other hand, can retard normal growth.

The prospects of having one baby in 10,000 facing life mentally retarded moved the Texas Legislature about 5 years ago to pass a law requiring that all children born in the state be given a test for PKU.

Since a newborn infant with PKU looks the same as any other newborn infant, the PKU test is necessary. Although appearing normal at birth, the PKU baby is unable to use all the protein found in breast or cow's milk, and other foods. Substances which may cause mental retardation, and other damage, begin to build up in a PKU baby's body soon after he starts to take milk.

What Is Your Baby's Favorite Color?

Who says babies are color blind? People used to believe that, but science now knows better. Babies are very interested in colors, especially the lighter, more vivid hues.

What colors are their favorites? One researcher exposed colored skeins of thread to a group of three-month-old infants and found that they stared longest at yellow, then white, pink, and red. They were least interested in black, green, blue, and violet.

Based on these facts, the Kendall Company's Curity Nurser division has created a new nursing bottle which makes feeding a pleasant visual experience, as well as an enjoyable physical experience for baby.

Called the "Curity Cuddly Crown Nurser," the bottle is made of unbreakable plastic. On it is painted, in approved non-toxic vegetable dye inks, the face of a happy clown. Cuddly Crown retains his bright colors despite repeated sterilizing and washing.

"Mothers, I suppose, must fall in love with the cute little bottles first--because they are buying this new product in amazing numbers," said George A. Percy, Kendall executive. "They feel sure their babies will like the bright colors--and they are right."

Studies show that, as children grow older, their color preferences change considerably. Their liking for yellow fades away, and they develop a liking for blue--without losing their appreciation for red. With maturity comes a greater taste for colors of shorter wave-lengths, such as blue and green.

Most Adults Like Blue
In all adults, with few exceptions, and including people of both sexes and all nationalities, the eternal preferences seem to be blue, red, green, violet, orange, and then yellow--in that order.

Interesting results have been discovered in other color experiments with children. With black crayons, children tend to draw inanimate objects. When given colored crayons, the same children attempt to draw humans, animals, and plants.

If an ingenious innovation such as the Curity Cuddly Crown Nurser can make baby easier to feed, science will probably lose little time in using colors in ways that will make children easier to teach.

It's Not "Take The Pill -- Or Else!"

For those wise women who want to plan their families, it's not simply "take the pill -- or get pregnant!"

Ortho Research Foundation -- which has the world's largest laboratories studying birth control -- says there is no one method that is perfect for every woman all the time. It urges that you discuss with your doctor which of the following methods may be best for you:

The oral method calls for a woman to take contraceptive pills for as long as you wish to prevent pregnancy. When you do want to become pregnant, you stop taking them.

The diaphragm also is a highly effective method of family planning used successfully for almost 100 years. It involves the use of a contraceptive cream or jelly in combination with a device made of soft rubber, shaped like a bowl, with a flexible spring at the outer edge.

In position, the diaphragm completely covers the cervix and holds the contraceptive cream or jelly tightly cupped over the entrance to the womb. This provides a physical, as well as a chemical, barrier that kills male sperm.

Vaginal spermicides are available without doctor's prescription in many drug stores. They come in different forms -- cream, gel or foam -- each designed to be used alone without a diaphragm.

The woman merely inserts some spermicide into the vagina just before each intercourse with a special applicator provided for that purpose. The ingredients kill the male sperm, where a "barrier" is placed over the cervix that also helps prevent sperm from migrating into the womb.

The I.U.D. -- or intrauterine device -- method differs considerably from the others because the woman using it need hardly be concerned with it at all, once it is inserted. The I.U.D. is a small, soft plastic device that is inserted by a physician and left in the uterus for as long as a woman desires to prevent pregnancy. No other contraceptive protection is necessary once this device is in position, and the woman wearing it should be totally unaware of its presence, though she should examine herself weekly to make certain it is still in place.

Now available is a 32-page booklet, discussing contraceptive methods in further detail, and containing information growing from over a quarter-century of conception control research. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents to Department M, Ortho Pharmaceutical Corporation, Raritan, New Jersey 08869.

R RESTRICTED, UNDER 17 REQUIRES ACCOMPANYING PARENT OR ADULT GUARDIAN.
X NO ONE UNDER 17 ADMITTED. (AGE LIMIT MAY VARY IN CERTAIN AREAS)

The three industry representatives in the joint statement said, "The theater stands and speaks for the industry in the local community and it speaks in a reassuring voice in behalf of the rating system."

Patriotism Is Far From Dead

Have Americans grown cynical about patriotism — about displaying the American flag?

Not if a recent experience of a major U.S. manufacturing firm is any indication. In fact, the opposite may be true. Tired, perhaps, of the vocal and destructive dissent of a few, the majority of Americans may be ready to stand up and be counted.

The 3M Company sees indications this is so. Recently, its Reflective Products division began a modest program to offer American Flags to its customers throughout the United States. Made of reflective material, the flags come in three sizes. An adhesive backing makes them suitable for display on any clean, dry surface such as an automobile bumper or window.

Prior to making the flags available to customers, 3M president Harry Heltzer sent a flag to every one of the company's 36,500 employees in the United States. A brief accompanying letter ended "... I invite you, as an American, to display the enclosed American flag as an expression of the respect for what our flag signifies..." Employees reacted with scores of congratulatory letters.

"... We were delighted to receive our American flag bumper sticker. It gives me personal gratification to know I am employed by a leader, not only of industry, but also in promoting America..." wrote a female employee in the company's Coated Abrasives division.

"... Thank you, Mr. Heltzer, for the flag. Please tell me how I can get additional flags..." wrote the wife of an employee at the company's Chemolite plant in Cottage Grove, Minn.

"... We have just put the flag on one of our cars. Would it be possible to get one for my Model A Ford? We, too, believe in 'waving the flag,'" wrote an employee from Feasterville, Penn.

"... Great! I'm with you. More of this sort of thing should be done. I need two more, and I want some to give to friends," wrote an employee from St. Paul.

"... I hope I do not appear presumptuous in writing to you... (but)... I felt a great sense of pride as an employee of 3M that a company of our size and stature would take the time and effort to try to stress the importance of patriotism at this crucial, unsettled time in every American home. My husband is retired from the U.S. Army. One son honorably discharged from the U.S.

Air Force. Our youngest son is making a career of the U.S. Navy. He's returned to active service aboard the U.S.S. Enterprise after being severely wounded on Jan. 14th when the tragic fires and explosions aboard her occurred... Forgive me for rambling. I only intended to say 'thank you' for the sticker and for helping to reaffirm my faith in my fellow Americans..." wrote a female employee of the company's pressure-sensitive tape plant in Bristol, Penn.

This reaction, and similar reaction after flags were passed out at 3M's spring stockholders meeting, confirmed the firm's decision to offer American flags on a nationwide basis.

Results? "The results amazed us all," says J.C. Landen, head of 3M's Reflective Products division traffic control products department.

During the first three weeks, orders were received for 875,000 American flags. Mostly, customer firms planned to enclose them in pay envelopes or send them to employee homes in the mail.

A major aircraft and missile manufacturer purchased 15,000 flags. A California utility purchased 22,000. A U.S. Navy shipyard ordered 10,000. A regional unit of a major national super-market chain ordered 10,000. A Chevrolet dealer in El Paso purchased 500. A Baltimore radio station placed an order for 300. A VFW post in Richland Center, Wis., wrote a check for 1,000. A daily newspaper in a medium-sized California city ordered 10,000 and ran a full-page advertisement notifying readers of their availability.

Demand for flags has been so strong that 3M believes it will receive requests for several million before long. The firm plans to offer them on a continuing basis.

Flags are in three sizes: 2 1/2 by 3 1/2 inches, available for a mere $4 per package of 100; 4 1/2 by 5 1/2 inches, at $15 per 100; and 8 1/2 by 11 inches, available as low as $13.25 per package of 25. Flag orders may be sent to: 3M Company, Reflective Products division, Dept. JH 224-6W, 3M Center, St. Paul, Minn. 55101.

Small flags are suitable for automobile windows and bumpers. Medium-sized ones are suitable for public vehicles. Large-sized ones are suitable for trucks. A small, four page brochure containing words to the Star Spangled Banner and the Pledge of Allegiance, and statements great Americans have made about the flag, is available for 80 cents per 100.

Success of an idea, and a modest sales program that just grew and grew, is proof, the company feels, that

GI Insurance Dividends

The Veterans Administration will pay $13,301,520 in GI insurance dividends this year to 194,856 in the State of Texas, Manager of the Waco VA Regional Office announced today.

Jack Coker said these dividends are part of the $264 million in dividends the VA began mailing January 1, to 4,191,200 veterans with World War I era National Service Life Insurance (NSLI).

He added that 187,154 veterans in Texas with NSLI policies will receive $12,402,520 in dividends averaging $66.23.

The 7,720 holders of USGLI may look forward to $899,000 in dividend checks, the average amount of which will be $11.67, according to Coker.

This year, 4,018,000 NSLI policy holders across the nation will receive $244 million in dividends averaging $61 each, compared to $53 in 1969.

Larger interest earnings in the NSLI funds made this year's increased dividends possible, the VA Regional Office Manager said.

He pointed out that dividend payments will be automatic, and consequently there is no need to write to the VA to receive them.

Seven Ways To Get A Raise

Turn out more work? Beat your deadlines? Of course. Come up with an idea that earns or saves a tidy sum for the company? No doubt about it — you're in line for a raise if you do any of these things.

But, how do you do it? If you're already doing a good job, how can you do a sufficiently better job to make the big difference?

These seven steps, taken in many a successful career, may help.

1. Listen with both ears. Speech experts estimate that the average man hears only half of what's said to him! By getting all the facts the first time around, you avoid costly mistakes and time-wasting back-tracking. A busy boss prizes the employee who can be told only once.
2. Become an idea man. It's easier than many people think. Be observant! That's the first step. Be skeptical that the "tried and true" way is always the best! That's the second. Train yourself to pinpoint areas of waste, inefficiency, needless complications in your daily work routine. Form the brain-storming habit: write down as many solutions as you can think of, drawing on everything you know from your own experience and from what you have observed. Many of the best "new" ideas are simply adaptations of procedures that have worked in other fields.
3. Recognize your failings. It's fine to have faith in your abilities, but it may be equally profitable to understand what traits are blocking your path to success. What does the boss most often criticize about your work? Would certain tasks be easier if you were better organized or more highly trained?
4. Know your boss's job. So that one day when he moves up to a higher slot you'll be a logical candidate to succeed him. Also, if you know your boss's job — understand the duties of all the other people who report to him, and how he coordinates their efforts — you'll have a clearer perspective of your own job. You'll understand his problems and pressures, and how to be most useful to him. In short, you will be a more effective employee — the kind who deserves and gets a raise!

5. Make the clock work for you. Plan your time as much as possible by using calendar pads, memory-jogging notes, and methodical files. Get into the habit of estimating how long each task should take you, then trying to save a few minutes... a half hour... even several hours of your deadline. Here's where being a clock-watcher can help you — if you use the clock as a stimulus, not an escape.

6. Learn! Read as widely as possible: trade publications, professional and technical books in your field, general-interest magazines. That money-making knack of idea creation depends to a great extent on how much knowledge you can draw upon. Also, seek to acquire skills that will make you more promotable; a working knowledge of accounting, for example, will probably make you a lot more valuable to your company, no matter what type of business it is, or maybe you should consider preparing yourself for a transfer to a growth area such as accounting where the demand for qualified people exceeds the supply.

7. Wonder if you have an aptitude for that kind of work? Write the Information Department, International Accountants Society, Inc., 209 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ill. 60606, the largest and oldest home-study school in America teaching accounting and allied subjects exclusively, and ask for an accounting aptitude test. There's no charge and you can take the test at home and score it yourself.

Teaching Kids About Money

It seems like a broad reach from a childhood toy to the basic question of giving — or not giving — a money allowance. But, is it really?

There are countless opinions on how to teach children the value and management of money. One school of thought claims a youngster can learn only by earning money; so he's paid for household tasks. Though admirable in theory, this method isn't necessarily good as it can distort the importance of money. Also, a child should share housekeeping chores — without payment — as a responsible family member. But, can merely giving an allowance teach him to handle money? Not always. Some parents provide an allowance; then let the child earn extra money by setting specific "wages" for "special" chores. Learning mature money management depends upon many considerations.

Most parents agree age 5 or 6 is a good time to begin teaching the economic facts. Once a method is decided upon, parental guidance is good, but attempting to control his spending is unwise. Only by using his money in his own way can he gain wisdom in handling it. And you'll know he's learning when the youngster (who usually "can't wait" to spend his allowance) shows you his savings and asks how much more he needs to buy that "swell yellow Nylint steel toy Twister that really twists in the middle and climbs over things". And, by saving, he's automatically learned more about value, plus responsibility in ownership than in a thousand words from you.

Children are remarkably responsive to unspoken attitudes as well as conscious example. Yet each has a highly individual reaction. Thus, the child of spendthrift parents may become a spendthrift — or cautious and prudent due to childhood feelings of insecurity. A sensible attitude toward money, like countless social values, is probably best derived from a climate of stability within the home. If you have confidence in yourself and your influence, chances are that he, too, will learn confidence — in himself and his ability to make decisions as well as good judgment in handling money.

BUSTER'S PICK OF THE WEEK: "If I Were A Carpenter" by JOHNNY CASH & JUNE CARTER on Columbia label. (Note: I'll get some disagreement on this pick, no doubt). It's a tune that's been done many times before, in different styles, it's been out by Cash and his lovely bride for awhile. However, it's a good arrangement. Cash and Carter are great artists, their very popular TV program is being aired, so we'll stick by our choice—Besides, remember, "A Boy Named Sue?"

OTHER WORTHWHILE NEW 45's GOIN' ROUND & ROUND & ROUND: "Love One Another by the BROTHERHOOD OF MAN on Deram label. Here's a nice, smooth rock tune—almost folk-rock. Easy listening. F/S is "A Little Bit of Heaven".

"Keep On Searching" by the FLIRTATIONS on Deram label. A classic R & B group style, reminding of a few years back. F/S "I Wanna Be There" may be the best side.

"Love Is All" by LES REED & his orchestra on Phase 4 stereo label, my kind of music—and that probably means Les won't sell enough records to pay his recording fee. Hope we don't jinx him cause it's good easy listening. F/S

ALBUM OF THE WEEK: Al Hirt's "Paint Your Wagon" from the movie of the same name. Featured cut; "The Gospel of No Name City", on GWP label.

BITS & PIECES from the World of Entertainment; DIANA ROSS, former Queen of the Supremes, supposedly had a big thing (romantically) going with BERRY GORDY, head of Motown Records. Now, they are saying Berry is giving Diana the brush-off and Miss Ross is very unhappy—The death of HAL MARCH last week brought back memories to many people of the old TV Quiz, the $64,000 Question. How many remember a New York Show Girl, Barbara Hall, who knocked off top money with Shakespeare as her category? Today that gal is known as BARBARA FELDON, the Co-Star of TV's "Get Smart".—After many moons of mooning over BEVERLY MC KILTRICK and showering her with jewelry beyond belief, including a 12 carat pear-shaped diamond ring, JACKIE GLEASON may be about ready to claim his reward. Gleason has been unable to marry Miss McKiltrick or even become engaged, because of a legal hang-up on getting a divorce from his wife, Genevieve Halford, from whom he's been legally separated since 1954. Last week, finally, the legal roadblock was cleared away so now Jackie can divorce Genevieve and waltz down the aisle with Beverly. How sweet it is!...sometimes.

QUESTION & ANSWER TIME; Buster; Can you tell me if Marlo Thomas of "That Girl" on TV is the daughter of Danny Thomas? Is she married? How old? A five-year old showed up at kindergarten one day dressed in faded blue jeans under a frilly petticoat and a beautiful ruffled party dress. Pinned to the dress was this note from the girl's mother: "I hope you don't think this was my ideal!"

"Have you ever been troubled by diphtheria?"
"Only when I tried to spell it."

Mrs. Black: "Yesterday I almost got killed."
Mrs. Blue: "What happened?"
Mrs. Black: "I walked into an antique shop and asked, 'What's new.'"

Laurie: "The people next door must be very poor?"
Mother: "How do you know, dear?"
Laurie: "They made such a fuss when their baby swallowed a dime."

A ten-year-old boy rushed into the shop. "Father's being chased by a bull," he cried.

"What can I do about it?" asked the shopkeeper.
"Put some film in my camera," said the boy.

When you're not like yourself, Lydia Pinkham understands

All of a sudden you might feel you're changing—not a good feeling. You're tired, edgy, out of sorts and that's not you. Lydia Pinkham understands.

A long time ago, when ladies couldn't be as frank as we can today, Lydia Pinkham recognized the problem and set about finding a remedy. She knew it was not natural for women to have to suffer with what was obviously a natural process.

So she turned to nature for a remedy. She developed a marvelous compound of medicinal roots and herbs that turned the trick for the women she knew. Because it is a natural answer to your natural problems, it can turn the trick for you, too. Try Lydia Pinkham's root and herb remedy to help you feel better, more like yourself.

Going Places With Baby

A vacation trip with a new member in the family is often a matter of where to find the space for all of the necessary baby care accessories. But the space needed to pack all of baby's clothes and accessories may be a lot less for any trip you take this summer.

Modern developments in infant care and feeding have led to many disposable items that cut down on the required suitcase and trunk space in your car. Rental baby furniture, throw-away diapers and ready-to-use infant formulas have all come to the aid of traveling young parents.

If you are planning to visit relatives or friends who might except for unused portions, heating is not necessary and you won't have to worry about the safety of the formula or baby's nutrition while en route.

Ready-to-use infant formulas in cans and disposable glass bottles, are now used for a wide and growing range of special situations—such as a supplemental feeding for mothers who are breast feeding, 2:00 a.m. feedings, and when the family is eating out. Many mothers are also taking added advantage of the convenience of these formulas by using them routinely.

An important part of the baby's well-being is of course to remember to pack any medicines or vitamins he may be taking. A baby thermometer is also a useful item to take along. And be sure to take the name and telephone number of the baby's pediatrician in case of emergency.

You'll find that your baby will be quite content almost anywhere you take him, for as long as you are there. With advance planning and a minimum of work on your part along the way, you may find

Summer vacation planning... not have a high chair or a crib, ask them to call a rental agency and reserve the equipment long before you plan to arrive. If the town you plan to visit doesn't have a rental agency, perhaps a neighbor would be willing to loan the equipment.

Disposable diapers are a must for any trip and are fairly inexpensive. The time saved while actually traveling and when you arrive by not having to wash and dry diapers will allow you considerably more leisure time with your friends and baby.

Convenience formulas have also made traveling—as well as routine infant feeding—a much easier task for mother. While traveling, and for everyday use, one of the most acceptable means of feeding baby is with Enfamil Nurselets, ready-to-use formula in disposable glass bottles. All you have to do is remove the cap, add a standard nipple unit and you're ready to feed baby.
