The Braves

The high-riding Cowboys galloped into Andrews stadium last Thursday and returned with enough scalps to cover any battle scars received in last year's grueling 1-8-1 season. The Cowboys were not only ready, they were anticipating the opening moments of the new 1970 season. The Iraan Braves were there to witness this 1970 enthusiasm and after a good battle, conceded that Andrews is Cowboy country.

This outing was not an actual game, but the coaches are able to receive much valuable information through this scrimmage system. The scrimmages help coaches find weak spots, lets them look at all their material, and tell if they are working the team hard enough.

In a scrimmage, each team gets the ball on offense for three series. Each series consists of twenty plays except for the last one, and it has only fifteen. The ball changes hands after each series, so one might say the teams alternate from offense to defense on each series. At the beginning of each series the ball is spotted on the thirty yard line. The offense has three plays to make ten yards (a first down) or return to the thirty. The team with the ball has to drive seventy yards to score.

At Andrews both teams handled themselves fairly well the first series. On offense, both teams made two first downs. The longest single gains were made by the Brave quarterback. He bootlegged around the end for a 17 yard gain and later around the end for 13. These two runs accounted for their only first downs. The Cowboy defensive linemen made up invisible walls that detained Iraan the entire scrimmage. They never allowed the Braves to cross the fifty-yard line. This was a tremendous effort and the coaches were well pleased. The Cowboys showed an impressive running game up the middle and around the end. There were only two penalties all night and they were both off-side penalties on Iraan. The Cowboys went to the air three times and all were incomplete. The Braves launched five aeriels, completing two. One was caught by the left halfback and the other was intercepted by Cowboy safety Joe Lowe.

In the second series, the Cowboys loosened up and showed Iraan how an attack should be delivered. The defensive line had already discouraged any idea of overland success, so the Braves tried going to the air. Out of six heaves, the Cowboy Secondary picked off three, and the remaining three were incomplete. The interceptions were by Livesay, Winn, Chandler. The defense again held them to only two first downs. On offense, the Cowboys took up where the defense left off. Lowe started the action by slipping four yards on a sneak play for a first down. Two plays later, Livesay broke loose and didn't stop until he had picked up three first downs. Chandler and Winn took it from there and bulled their way on down to the five. The next play saw Livesay go in for the only touchdown for the night.

While the first string varsity took a breather, the B-Team got in on some of the action. They played only one series, consisting of ten plays. The Cowboys defense looked very good, holding the opponents to an average gain of 1.5 yards per carry. The line bottled up the running game and the secondary halted the passes. Of the two aeriels attempted, one was incomplete and the other was picked off by Cowboy Mickey Kennedy. On offense, the Cowboys penetrated for eleven yards on the first play from scrimmage, accounting for one of their three first downs. Our average gain on offense was 4.9 yards per carry. Statistics speak for themselves. Looks like the B-Team has already attained that Cowboy pride. Good Work!

After the B-Team finished, the second-string varsity took over. Offensively, the Cowboys made several good runs, but couldn't put the right combination together at first. Finally, on the eighteenth play, things started to click. Jerry Parrish hauled in a pass good for twenty yards and a first down. The Cowboys looked good on defense and held the Braves to very short yardage.

In the closing series, the Braves hit quick and scored a fast first down on their second play. This was also their last one for the night. They attempted six passes, completing one for six yards, four incomplete, and one intercepted by Mike McCrae had a good night on both sides of the line. On offense the Cowboys picked up three more first downs behind the awesome blocking of McCrae, Moore, Lester, Kerby, Simpson, Barnett, and Parrish.

The coaches were pleased with all the Cowboys performances, but there were a few whom they felt deserved special recognition. Eddie Morre 6'5", 185 pounds, and one of the finest potential tackles to come from the halls of Plains High School. Eddie was constantly opening holes for his backs and defensively he brought a pretty impressive Iraan backfield to a screeching halt at the line of scrimmage. He will cause a lot of teams to repute their running game this year. Another standout was Tony Winn. Tony is only a Sophomore and he handles a position on offense and defense. Against Iraan, Winn carried 9 times for 23 yards (average 2.6 yds.) and two first downs. On defense he intercepted one pass. Mike McCrae also saw action on both offense and defense. After repeated crashing on the offensive line and making hash of a pretty sturdy defense, McCrae sauntered over to the Cowboy defense and lined up in his linebacker position. He assisted to the line in jamming the middle, helped the ends stop the sweep plays, and when the occasion arose he intercepted a pass. McCrae is also a Sophomore. At this point, the question might be asked, "Where does Livesay play?" Well he holds down two positions. On offense Livesay carried the ball 22 times for 116 yards. His average gain was 5.3 yards per carry. Seven of his carries were for first downs, and one was for the only touchdown. Defensively, he intercepted two passes.

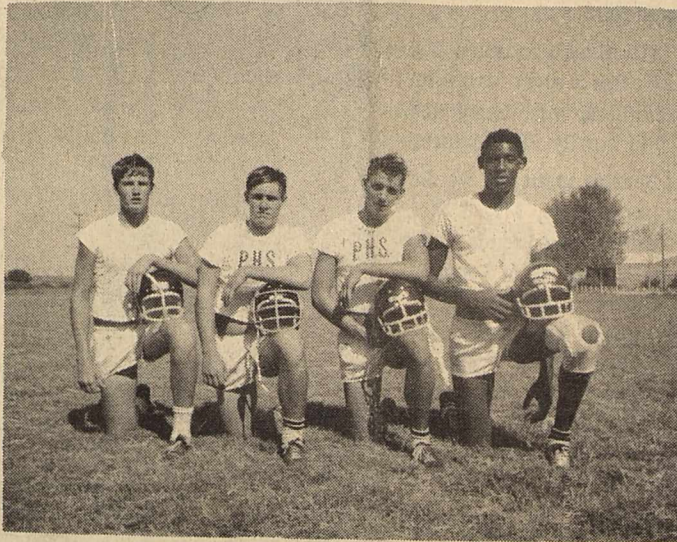

The Cowboys showed an overall favorable picture. There was no question of who the victors were when the scrimmage was over. The Cowboys went to Andrews with Victory in their mind and came home with it. If any football fan would like to see some good brand of football, come see the HIGH-RIDING COWBOYS OF PLAINS HIGH SCHOOL.

Warrens Vacation in Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. James Warren of Plains spent last week in the State of Hawaii. They flew from Lubbock Sunday August 27, and returned Saturday August 29th. Mr. and Mrs. Warren report a very enjoyable and interesting trip. In relating some of the impressive observations of the journey, Mr. Warren stated that the economy of the Islands was good, building was booming and that business in general was thriving. While tourism contributes very largely to the economy of the State he found shipping and the farm industry to be of a prime importance, also the expansion of aviation facilities are in progress. Mr. Warren was quiet favorably impressed with the attitude of the people of the Island State. He states that he found them to be very pleasant and friendly and more casual than people here on the mainland. No racism nor rioting was evident. Mr. and Mrs. Warren, traveled by Continental Airway on the trip. The flight from Los Angeles, California was made on a 747 Jumbo Jet. Jerry Bob, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren has been in the employment of Continental Airways at the Lubbock office for the past number of years.

Field Crops

by Leo L. White
County Agricultural Agent

A variety of conditions will be seen on the 1970 field crops tour. The route of the tour will go to the west side of the county where most of the dry land crops remained in fair condition through the long period of no rain. The tour will end in the area south of Plains and travel through an area where less than five inches of moisture has fallen since the first of the year.

The variation in moisture conditions is no more apparent than some of the other conditions. There is a very noticeable problem occurring this year in the grain sorghum fields. Some fields are almost free of weeds and others are extremely weedy. Weed control chemicals were used on the M. T. Smith farm which will be one of the stops on the tour. Grain sorghum producers who are contemplating the use of weed control chemicals in 1971 need to see this demonstration.

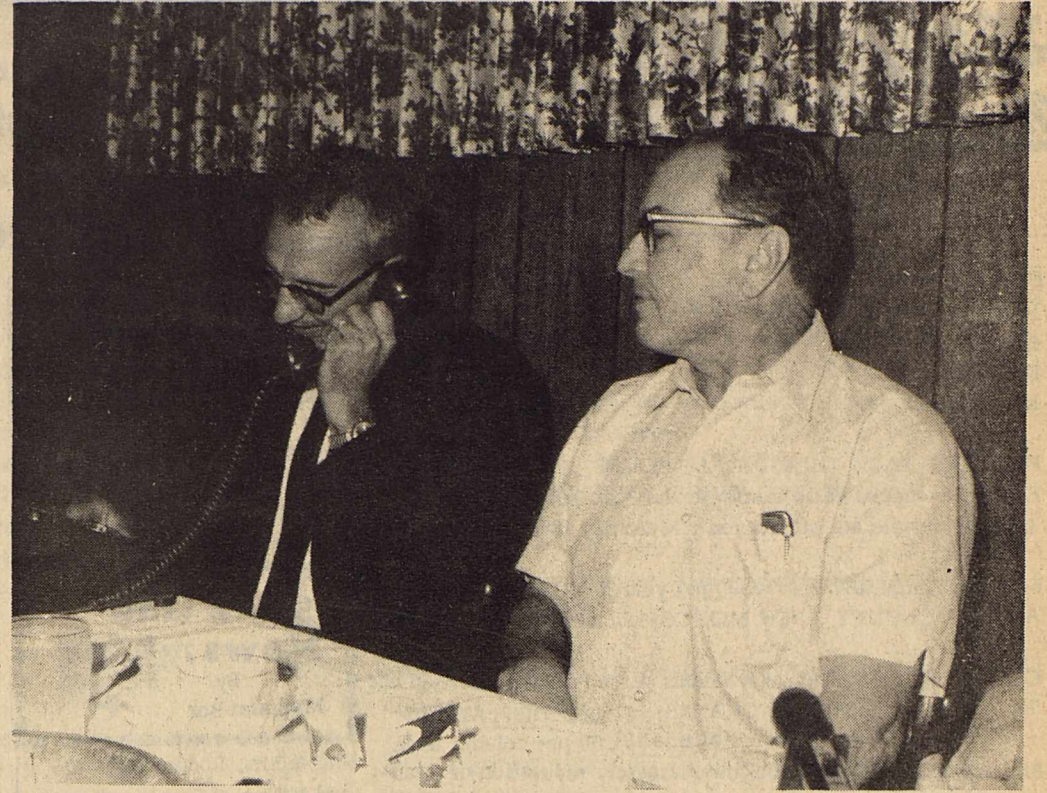

The Plains School System will again furnish the buses necessary to transport those who attend the tour. The buses will leave from the north side of the Old Courthouse at 9:00 A. M. The entire tour is expected to take less than three hours.

Yoakum Co. Credit Union

In 1936 when the United States was struggling in its effort to recover from the doldrums of the great depression, a time when many banks and loan companies had failed and loan money was very difficult to obtain the federal government enacted a law permitting the forming of stock companies known as Federal Credit Unions. Under this act a few people were permitted to form a stock company with a small amount of capital and loan money to its members. Each member was required to own at least one share of stock thus becoming eligible for a loan if approved by the credit commission.

In 1949 the Yoakum County Federal Credit Union was established in Plains with a small capital of $5,000. There were few members and the size of loans was very small. The Credit Union had its difficulties and growth was slow but persistent. Today it has a capital of $50,000 to any one individual on approved credit. Stock in the Credit is available and is still a requisite for membership.

The Yoakum County Federal Credit Union with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building is one of the many good businesses in Plains furnishing splendid service to people of this community.

Mayor Roy Edwards, Manager, P.W. St. Romain and wife Mary Jo and Faye McConnell of The Plains Review await first call

New Telephone Service Celebrated

Thirty one Plains folk gathered in the banquet room at Alma's restaurant at 7:00 A. M. Monday for a bacon, egg, and hot biscuit breakfast and to celebrate the "cut-over" from the old telephone service to the new cable and extended area service now being afforded the patrons of the Romain Telephone Company.

At approximately 7:40 A. M. a special telephone which has been installed for the special occasion, rang signaling a call from the Mayor of Denver City, Mr. Ike Toler to the Mayor of Plains, Mr. Roy Edwards, the first free toll call to be made between the two cities. Each of the mayors expressed appreciation of the new service and hope for a greater unification and closer relationship of all of the communities of Yoakum County.

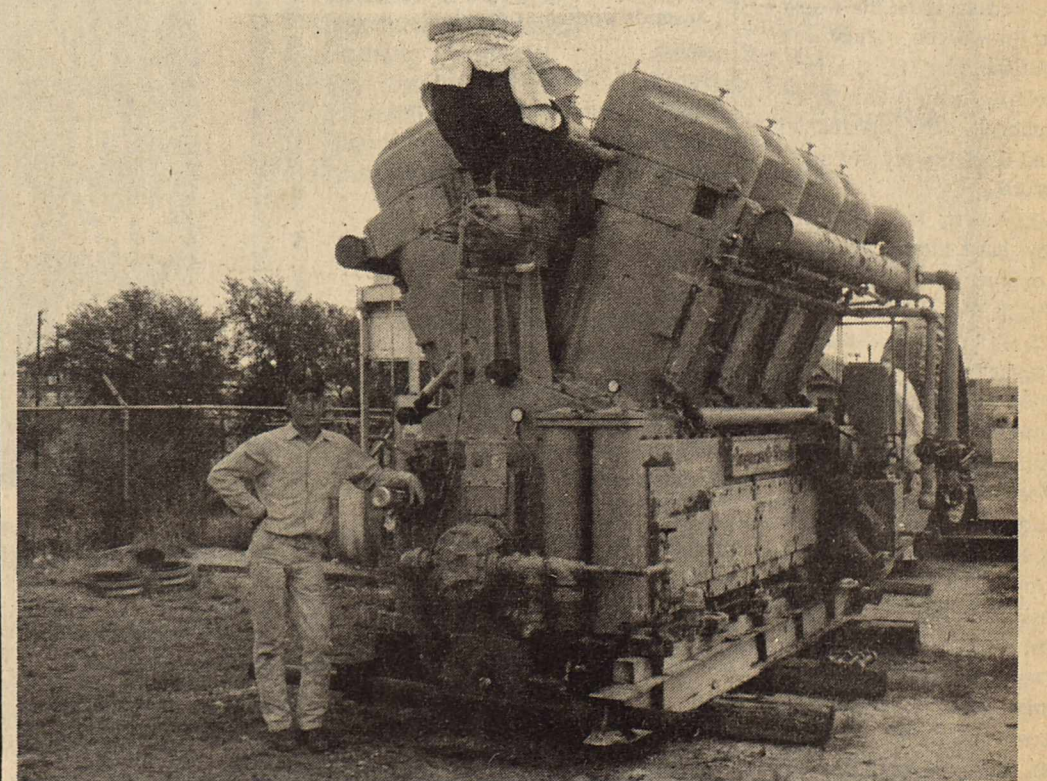

At the completion of the call Mr. P.W. St. Romain, manager of the Romain telephone company called on the Plains Mayor for his opinion of how the new phone system would benefit the people of Yoakum County. Mr. Edwards complimented Mr. St. Romain on what he termed, "A monumental endeavor" between the communities of this county and he hoped it would help to unite the people of Yoakum County. Mr. Edwards expressed his thanks and appreciation to Mr. St. Romain for his efforts in accomplishing this 'great technological feat'.

Mr. St. Romain gave recognition to the employees of his company and called on several present for comments and opinions all of which were highly complimentary and enthusiastic in the hope for greater unity and closer relationship among the residents of the county. Many comments were made regarding the advantages of the cable system such as time saving on calls on party lines, better reception and better service in general. All were enthusiastic about the extended areas service which makes toll free service within the county possible.

Mr. G. W. Cleveland recounted some of the history of Yoakum County when but one in the county and this one in Plains. He also told of times when his family had the only phone in their area and how when he was small his father saddled a horse and rode many miles to deliver messages. The comments heard Monday morning revealed the great appreciation of the Plains folks for the improvements and modernization being afforded them.

Latrell stated, "her family thinks she gets a big rest while away at library meetings, but would they be surprised if they could see her and Mrs. Fouche studying and digging for those lessons". Also, "the girls hope our Yoakum County Libraries will benefit from this study of ordering books, as there are so many thousands of books published each year and it is a serious job in ordering books for other people and using the tax payers money".

Shopping Cart Casualties

Myrtle picked out a shopping cart at the market, placed her baby son in the front seat, buckled the strap and made her way to the vegetable section. But as she was examining the lettuce, the child burst through the strap and fell to the floor.

In short order, Myrtle sued the store for damages. She said the strap was so badly worn that it should have been replaced.

"That is possible," countered the company, "but it is also possible that the child put excessive strain on the strap. She admits she was not looking at him at the moment he fell, so she just does not know how hard he was squirming."

Nevertheless, the court held the store liable. The judge said the strap should have been sturdy enough to withstand all the pressure a baby was likely to exert.

In supplying shopping carts to its customers, a store must live up to basic standards of safety. Furthermore, it must keep a reasonably watchful eye on the way the carts are handled.

In another case, a small boy began trundling a cart briskly through the aisles, even though he could hardly see where he was going. Finally, coming around a corner, he slammed into a startled woman shopper.

Here, too, the management was held liable. The court pointed out that the boy had been circulating for more than 10 minutes, time enough for employees to bring him to a halt.

Still, a store is not liable if the accident cannot be traced in some way to its negligence. Take this case:

A woman suffered a sprained finger when the shopping cart she was pushing came to a sudden stop. It seems that a stray piece of string had somehow gotten tangled around a wheel, locking it tight.

But when she filed suit for damages, a court could find no grounds for blaming the management. The court said this was the kind of an accident that would simply have to be chalked up to bad luck. As one judge put it: "The shopper bears some of the hazards of life inside a supermarket as well as outside."

TOMATOES

Most people, when eating a tomato, never stop to ponder the question of what exactly the tomato is. It is a vegetable, a fruit or a berry. Actually by cultivation and use it is a vegetable. Botanically it is a fruit, and among friends it is considered a berry, being pulpy and containing one or more seeds that are not stones. No matter what the tomato really is, you can't blame people for not stopping to wonder what it is—especially when they're enjoying the juicy deliciousness of the tomato at that time. The tomato is as versatile as it is nutritious. A medium-sized tomato averages about 19 calories and will provide a third of the recommended daily requirement of vitamin A and half of Vitamin C.

Tomato-Potato Salad Stars

2 Cups diced, cooked potatoes
1/4 cup French dressing
1/4 cup finely chopped parsley
1/4 cup diced celery
1/4 cup diced cucumber

1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
1/2 half teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
6 medium-sized fresh tomato
Lettuce

Combine first eight ingredients and chill at least one hour. Wash and core tomatoes. Cut lengthwise in sixths, but do not cut completely through. Place each tomato on a lettuce leaf. Spread tomato sections apart. Spoon potato salad into centers of tomatoes. Makes 6 servings.

SPANISH LIVER

1 lb. sliced beef, lamb or pork liver
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons fat
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 garlic clove, chopped
1 cup soft bread crumbs

1/2 cup sliced mushrooms, if desired
2 1/2 cups fresh tomatoes
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Pepper
2 cups cooked noodles or spaghetti

Dip liver slices in flour, and cut into cubes at once. Brown liver in the fat. Add onion, green pepper, garlic, mushrooms, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Add cooked noodles or spaghetti and liver mixture in alternate layers in a greased baking dish. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes, or until mixture is heated through and crumbs are browned. Serves 6.

SWCD News

COVER CROPS of small grain, millet or forage sorgham planted on land that otherwise would be BARE and subject to blowing next spring can and will do many things. First a good cover will help to prevent soil blowing, and when we stop the sand we can cut down on dust in the air as well as cutting down on loss of fertility; for when we loose soil we loose much needed plant food, in fact the first thing that gets in the air and leaves in the fine particles which consist of plant food and clay particles. Second when we cover the soil we conserve MOISTURE. Test by many research stations prove that COVER holds soil moisture, by cutting down on soil tempreture, evaporation and wind movement directly on the soil. Third-- when we save moisture and soil we save MONEY. It cost to apply irrigation water--- about $1.50 per inch and it is almost impossible to determine the actual value of 3 to 4 inches of top soil for with-out our country would soon be a desert. It has been said that on an average TEXAS is only 6" from a desert meaning if 6" of top soil were removed from all the land we would have a desert and I am sure some of it would be for we do not have 6" over all the land, some places yes but many areas there is less.

What are conservation farmers in YOAKUM SWCD doing about the clean tilled and diverted acres on their farms? Many of them are seeding rye, millet or some crop that will make a cover the land, add organic matter, produce pasture or a crop next spring. Some of those who are planting over crops are; Woody Wilmeth, Roy Keller, Jerome Head, T. J. Bearden, Albert Williams, R.M. Jones, Ben Gibson, Dickie Green, T. J. Murphy and J.B. Ashburn just to name a few. What about you will you have a PROBLEM next spring?

MINIUM TILLAGE

BY Wilson Duke
Soil Conservationist

More and more we are hearing the term Minimum Tillage. Just what is minimum tillage? To some people it may mean reducing the number of tillage operations performed before planting the succeeding crop.

Generally the proper use of Crop Residue ties in with minimum tillage, so the two practices generally go hand-in-hand. So another definition of minimum tillage could be stated, "To Limit the number of tillage operations to those that are essential in leaving the maximum amount of residue on the surface of the soil." Research studies have come up with ten reasons why minimum tillage makes sense, here are the ten reasons that have been given us. This operation will save us time, it lowers production cost, it controls water erosion, it reduces wind erosion, it it conserves the soil moisture, it improves soil structure it offers new crop rotations, it increases land use, it incr, eases yields and offers higher profits. There may be other reasons for practicing minimum tillage but at any rate we are hearing the term used more and more frequently and farmers are beginning to practice this type of farming.

Tax Man

Sam Sez

For a number of years the Internal Revenue Service has provided teaching material for more than 25,000 different schools across the country to teach several million students how to prepare a simple income tax return. In the Dallas District last year about 950 schools ordered IRS's "Teaching Taxes" material to teach over 175,000 students living in the area covering North Texas. In a few days the school bells will ring again--if in fact they haven't already rung in your community--and IRS will ask principals to order next year's Teaching Taxes material. It might be a good idea for you to give the principal an encouraging word about making sure that Junior gets the Teaching Taxes training, since Dad and Mom may need a little help.

FARM NEWS

Preliminary research conducted by the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board shows granular Di-syston to be the most effective control of spider mites. To date, it appears to be the only effective chemical control.

The spider mite has invaded the grain sorghum of the High Plains again this summer and is seriously damaging the grain. It is a microscopic insect, that covers the underside of the leaves and sucks the nutrients from it, which sets it up for lodging and a large reduction of yields. A webbing on leaves is an indication of the presents of mites. It also causes a rapid deterioration and browning of leaves.

Elbert Harp, TGSPB Executive Director, expressed concern about the mite causing severe damage to the area's production this year. Farmers should be aware of its presence.

Atomic Crime

Atomic crime detection is becoming more than a theoretical laboratory term for nuclear scientists at The University of Texas who have just entered into a crime detection program with the Texas Department of Public Safety.

With a $40,545 grant from the Texas Criminal Justice Council, a team of scientists headed by Dr. Stephen J. Gage, director of the Nuclear Reactor Laboratory, plans to establish the routine use of nuclear techniques for law enforcement agencies.

Using the laboratory's sophisticated equipment, the scientists will be able to undertake radioactive analysis such as making "isotopic fingerprints" of various pieces of evidence.
