

COWBOYS LOSE TO SUNDOWN

COWBOYS IN HUDDLE

Well, the high-riding Cowboys forgot to saddle up Friday night and as a result, came home five points shy of their first victory of the 1970 season. The Cowboys played a fairly sound game, but not as well as a lot of people expected or even predicted. This is partly due to the fact that the team they played has an old reputation for popping anything that moves. The Roughnecks are extremely aggressive and quick. They play their game and try to make their opponents do the same. The Cowboys were favored in the tilt beforehand and

I'm sure that had something to do with the attitude of the Roughnecks. Unlike last Friday, the Cowboys were not quite as sharp and on their toes. There were a few costly mistakes, but not as many as were displayed against Morton. The Cowboys defense had trouble stopping the sweeps and quarterback options, but otherwise had a good night. Leading that attack was tackle Eddie Moore. Moore played heads-up ball and stayed in the Roughneck backfield nearly as much as the Sundown punter. He crashed through the line to block two punts, one of which set up the only Cowboy touchdown. He also accumulated 15 tackles during the night. Four of these caught the opponents behind the line of scrimmage for healthy losses of five yards or better. Cleve Kerby added eleven tackles to the cause. He penetrated several times into the Roughneck backfield to spill them for a good loss. Along with Kerby was Bruce Lester. Bruce had a good night on defense picking up 9 tackles. Shelly Simpson and Mike McRae also worked hard on defense. The defense played pretty fair ball, but just couldn't contain a few 4th and -4 situations. Unfortunately, that's what the game is all about. I don't believe that the problem will occur again after seeing Monday's workout.

The first half saw the Cowboys and Roughnecks see-saw back and forth down the field, both threatening but never scoring. The Cowboys took the ball on their third series of plays and marched down to the Sundown 12 yard line. A stubborn defense met them there and snubbed out a hard fought drive. Sundown took possession and marched out to the fifty, but couldn't get any closer. The first half saw a defensive tie. The score was 0 to 0, with Plains carrying the ball for 37 plays to 26 for Sundown. Plains started the second half scoring with a 23 yard field goal by Gary Livesay. It was a spectacular kick considering the ball slipped off the back of the kicking pad and he had to kick against the pad.

Things were looking up until Sundown drove 65 yards, ran out of gas, and then covered a Cowboy fumble inside the 15 yard line. A pass play took the Rou-ghnecks squad on in for the touchdown. The try for extra points failed. The next series found the Cowboys stuck inside their own 5 yard line. A mix-up in calls spelled disaster as Livesay was dumped for a safety and 2 points for Sundown. As it turned out, however, Plains was given an opportunity to score from much better field position that would have been likely by punting. Sundown quenched the fire after the Cowboys had reached the thirty-five. They took the ball on one more march and finally had to give it up on the Cowboys 20 yard line. The Cowboys failed to produce on four consecutive plays, and so the Roughnecks took advantage of a golden opportunity and drove on in for six points. Eddie Moore broke up the extra point attempt.

COWBOYS IN ACTION

The Cowboys bent on cutting the score margin, which was at this point, 14 to 3, went to the air. Unfortunately, their passing game was lacking, but odds were in their favor. A good kick-off return put them in good field position. A 15 Yard penalty on Sundown set the ball on the Sundown 26 yard line. The Roughnecks found the going rougher than they wanted and decided to punt. Mighty Moore once again came bounding through the offensive line to deflect the ball from its normal trajectory. An eager swarm of Cowboys pounced on the ball after it had rolled to the eight yard line. With five seconds left in the game, Lightning Lowe sprinted around the left and faced a handful of Roughnecks. They all met on the top of the little red flag that tells if you made a score legally or not. He did. The Cowboys tried to pass for two points on the extra attempt, but failed. The game ended with the Roughnecks killing the clock to prevent any further scoring by the Cowboys.

It was a good game from the spectators view, except for the fact that we lost. Of course no one likes to lose. Someone has to, but you never want it to be your team. Well, it can happen, and has to. The difference is that I know most of the boys on our team and I have respect for their feelings. I have faith in them as a ball team as well as individuals. No one suffers from a defeat more than they do. That's when they really need support. Not when they stinging every team in the area.

If you want to see the first Cowboy win of the 1970 season, come to Cowboy Stadium tomorrow night and watch the Cowboys put it on Ropesville. I never miss three predictions in a row. So go get 'em, Cowboys

Vandals Break Windows

Two large windows on the south side of the E. O. Winkle Feed Store, and one window at Curry's Pharmacy were broken out by vandals sometime Friday night. The vandals used unopened soft drink bottles to do the damage. One window was spared at the Winkle building by a near miss which struck the wall by the window. Also a bottle thrown at the Spencer building on the East side of the square struck below the window and broke, spilling the contents on the side walk. No entrance was made. The window broken at the Curry Pharmacy was made at the vestibule which was unlocked. The bottles used have been identified as some stolen from the Bob Johnson Grocery yard Friday night. A broken bottle was found also in the street in front of the Plains Insurance Agency. All the broken bottles found were uncapped. No apprehensions in connection with the vandalism have been made.

Cowboy Boosters Meet

The Boosters for the High-Riding Cowboys met Thursday night at Alma's Restaurant. Several subjects were discussed concerning the development of the Club. President Buddy Brantley brought the meeting to order, and expressed his appreciation for the efforts put forth by various members of the organization as well as the fine turnout. He expressed a special thanks to Cordell Huddleston for his fine job in recruiting 37 new members. The membership for the club now stands at 58.

The Club hopes to attain many more members before the game with Ropesville and any fan is welcomed to join in promoting the Home Team with their membership.

Coch Warren showed the film of the Plains vs. Sundown game and gave his comments toward it. He then gave a run down of the coming game and what to look for in the way of offensive and defensive. It should prove to be a good game.

Bumper stickers were issued to all members. Those members not at the meeting may pick their's up at the Plains State Bank. A new supply has been ordered so there will be enough.

Mr. Carpenter reported that an attendance of approximately 25 to 26 thousand party members from various parts of the state were present. And while both liberals and conservatives were well represented, the convention moved smoothly and there was quite a lot of give and take on each side.

The convention ended with a note of enthusiasm and evidence that the party is well unified.

Beef Calf Weigh Day

By Leo L. White
County Agricultural Agent

Four-H and FFA members brought 38 calves to the Livestock Exhibit Building over the week-end for weighing and practice showing. After four months of feeding, there are seven calves that have gained more than 300 pounds. Gwen Fitzgerald is in the lead with her Angus steer that has gained 341 pounds. Standing second and only one pound behind it is Lyn Fitzgerald with her Hereford calf named Wonder Boy. Debbie Addison has two Hereford calves that have gained 334 and 332 pounds and she is standing third and fourth at the end of the first four months. John Gail Fitzgerald is in fifth place with her white calf named Star Dust. This is a young calf that has plenty of length and will certainly be a contender for the grain contest if he continues to do well for the remainder of the period. Star Dust has a gain of 313 pounds between May 16 and September 19. The other two calves that have gained in excess of 300 pounds are Gwen's Fitzgerald crossbred calf named Silver and Dale Cleveland's Hereford named Muley. Silver has a 306 pound gain and Muley has gained 304 pounds.

Even though the beef calf gain contest may not be as important as some other aspects of the beef calf feeding program the fast gaining calf is still the most economical calf to feed and the kind the breeder would like to be producing.

The practice showing held from 2:30 to 4:00 p.m. last Sunday afternoon gave some inexperienced exhibitors some practice they really needed. Several of them learned that there was a great deal of home work to be done because their animals were not well trained. Most of them were gentle enough but they were not properly trained to lead and could not be properly "set up" for the judge.

The next weigh day will be on Saturday afternoon, October 17, and it is hoped that all the beef calf feeders can bring their animals to the weigh day and stay for the practice session.

Coach Warren Addresses Lions

Coach Jim Warren of the Plains High School addressed the Lions' Club last Thursday. Coach Warren is enthusiastic about the spirit of his team, and stated that he had 46 boys suiting out this year, the greatest number to turn out for football in the past 15 years.

He also stated that a team must win to retain this interest. He explained that the athletic program was working well and that his team would be a winning team at the beginning of the conference season. The coach stated that two qualities which are much needed in the development of our youth of today, are discipline and pride, and that both of these are afforded by the athletic programs as discipline is imperative in the training of an athlete and that his accomplishments inspire pride.

Bayer Lumber and Plains Library Burglarized

Two burglaries were reported over the weekend. Thieves entered the Bayer's Lumber & Hardware through a back store window and a small amount of merchandise was reported stolen. In an attempt to enter the rear outside door stops were loosened and damaged, and the aluminum window frame and screen were mutilated but resisted entrance. The top sash of the storeroom window was broken out and entrance was made through this window. Two cartons of 22 caliber long rifle cartridges valued at $9.50 each, several men's pocket knives valued at $30.00, and approximately $10.00 worth of flashlight batteries were taken. No other molestation including the cash drawer with a small amount of cash was reported. Thieves left through the back workshop door, which was unlocked from the inside and left open. The shoe tracks at the scene indicated that the burglary was made sometime after the rain shower Wednesday night. Discovery was made upon opening of the store Thursday morning.

Entrance into the Plains Library was gained by removing the screen and opening the unlocked window. The only loss observed was the bank money sack containing $14.00, $15.00, and some cash receipts for supplies and stamps which had been placed in the money sack. Escape was made through the same window. The burglary was discovered when the employees opened Monday morning.

No arrests have been made and no solution to the crimes have been reported. man of Family Planning and Health Services. Mrs. Grace Tippet, Chairman of Adult Education Committee. Mr. Frank Ramos, Chairman of Employment Services Committee. Mr. R. M. Carothers, Chairman of Housing Committee. All Chairman reported progress on selection of committee members. ## Swine Business is Big Business

The swine business has held the interest of farmers and livestock men of Yoakum County for many years, while it has been of prime interest in 4-H club work and played an important part in livestock show business, there has been but few cases in the county where farmers have shown interest in hog farming. To Mr. & Mrs. A. B. Williams of Plains hog raising is not only big business, it is a serious business, and to them, the often used cliché "pigs are beautiful" is not just a saying but a reality. After many years of both dry land and irrigated farming, Mr. & Mrs. Williams decided upon hog farming as a subsidy for their farming industry.

Their farm programs are modern and up-to-date, employing the latest methods and therefore, it is not unusual that when they decided on the hog program, that the same modernization would be employed.

One year ago, Mr. & Mrs. Williams set up the "Sunnyside Hog Farm" on their farm four miles north and four miles east of Plains. This ultra-modern project was started as a 32 sow farrow to finish unit. The construction program consists of 8 crate farrowing rooms, farrowing 8 sows at a time. The farrowing house is 26 x 40 ft., with totally automatic feeding, ventilation, air conditioning, and heating systems. The finishing house is 20 by 48 feet, with 8 pens, 8x12 feet each, 4 on each side with a walkway in the center with slatted floors and with cemented pits under the floors for bacterial sanitation.

The finishing house is also totally automatic with 2-belt feeders at the end of the building which serves each row farm at this time are a 3-way Duroc, Yorkshire and Hampshire cross. Boars are Yorkshire and Hampshire. This is a S.P.F. or germ free herd. The sows have averaged 9 pigs per sow per litter and an average of about 18 pigs per sow per year.

Mr. Williams stated that the total building and equipment cost was $600. per sow and that operating costs run approximately $75. per sow per year. This estimate is mainly for feed and electricity due to the fact that Mr. & Mrs. Williams operate the farm themselves without added employees. The present market is $19. per head for 7 to 8 week old pigs. They are expanding this project from 32 sows to a 64-sow unit, and stated that a 64-sow unit was needed for a one-man year-round employment.

Mr. Williams advised that anyone going into the hog business should have a thorough knowledge of the business or hire someone who has such knowledge. When asked for a comparison of the hog industry and general farming industry, he stated that under the present farm conditions he would prefer a 100-sow swine project to a one-section cotton and maize farm program. Mrs. Williams added that if you don't like hogs, you had better stay out of the business.

After one year of operation, Mr. & Mrs. Williams are truly enthusiastic hog farmers.

The word "Psychology" at first glance is associated with Technology, or a B.A. and Phd. degrees. Something beyond common understanding. And yet, it is a science that deals with the most human aspects of human nature. Psychology is something everyone either knowingly or unknowingly employs each day of life and when understood and properly employed, can be made to work for our own welfare and enjoyment.

The individual that walks into a place of business and is greeted with a hearty smile and friendly handshake, is immediately possessed with a desire to purchase something, whether needed or not, from this friendly business.

When one is greeted with a somber and doleful personality, there is a tendency to evaluate one's own cash value; to reach down into the pocket and take firm grip on the old pocketbook and escape with as little expenditures as possible, for tomorrow may be doomsday.

Psychology, properly defined, can mean attitude. When properly used, it can mean also success or failure.

Friendly Chats With Faye McConnell

Not only is Washington's face on our money, but the way things are going, they may soon have their hands on most of it.

When President Nixon vetoed the education bill and another spending measure for 23 government agencies that added nearly a billion dollars to the Administration's budget recommendations, he said: "If I were to sign these bills that spend more than we can now afford, I would be saying 'yes' to a higher cost of living, yes to higher interest rates, yes to higher taxes."

President Nixon also commented, "at election time, it is tempting for people in politics to say 'yes' to every spending bill." Current estimates put the budget deficit of the federal government next year at $23 billion unless spending is curbed. It takes no expert to foresee the consequences of red-ink spending on this scale. Moreover, with the phasing out of the Viet Nam war, the spenders can no longer hide behind the shield of national defense needs. As the next round of inflation begins to push up prices and further depreciate the value of the dollar, we should remember the election-minded congressmen who always vote "yes" for more spending and lower taxes and higher deficits. They are the chief inflation breeders.

Did you know that Plains had a new business? I didn't until I visited the Curry Pharmacy Saturday morning while investigating the vandalism. This new business is advertised by a poster hanging in the pharmacy and reads as follows:

WHEN WE CAN BURY YOU FOR ONLY

One day when Oscar Wilde was walking with a friend, a huge dog obstructed their path, wilde hesitated and seemed nervous. "Don't be afraid, Oscar," said his friend. "This dog is ours. Besides, look at its tail - how it wags. When a dog wags its tail, it's in a good humor."

"That may well be," replied Oscar. "But look at the ugly glitter in its eye. How do I know which end to believe?"

Verda and Johnnie Robertson, along with Patsy Strickland went by Alpine and picked up Bit Robertson who is going to college there, and all spent the weekend near Marathon, Texas at the Old Fort Pena Colorado, which means "Red Rock." Verda Lee had a number of pictures and the grass and shrubs were beautiful and green. She stated that this part of West Texas has had more rain than usual this year. Mr. J. P. Robertson spent the weekend in Odessa, Texas with her granddaughter, Linda Murray and husband.

SWCD News

NEWS
By C.M. Thompson
RIGHT NOW is the time when COVER CROPS can be planted for soil protection next spring. Planting is what a lot of conservation farmers are doing too, lots of small grain rye, wheat, oats and barley have already been planted and more is being planted every day. Some of the advantages of a cover crop besides controlling wind erosion next spring are winter and early spring green grazing for livestock and the addition of organic matter to the soil; our soils are naturally low in organic matter, and need all the help we can give by adding residue such as plant roots or the total plant top, roots and leaves. When we add organic material we help the soil to hold moisture, plant food and condition the soil to make it more favorable for plants to grow in it.

Some of the many conservation minded farmers that are planting cover crops are A.L. Milstead, Dicky Green, Roy Keller, Sam Strong, Don Williams, A.B. Williams, J.P. White, Jerome Head, Albert Williams, Darwin Hobbs, and A.E. McGinty, just to name a few.

New conservation plans have been completed on the following farms; K.D. Moore place operated by Bobby Bailey, C.E. Hilburn farm, W.O. Edwards farm both operated by Charlie Robertson, Dooley Farm operated by C.R. Gayle. Revisions of conservation plans on the following; O.S. Hicks, Cecil Tucker, A.L. Reynolds, E.E. Harbin, J.D. Jones, and Vance W. Brown.

New Great Plains Conservation Program contracts have been written and mailed to state offices for final approval
