TRAFFIC DEATHS

Based on past experience, the Department of Public Safety estimates 35 persons will die on Texas streets and highways during the period from 6 p.m., Dec. 31, through midnight, Jan. 3. DPS joins the Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety in urging motorists to prevent these needless deaths.

NEW YEAR

Resolutions For The New Year

Short on resolutions for the New Year? Here's a list designed especially for you and your family by the Texas State Department of Health:

Promise to give your body at least as good care as you give your car. Periodic examinations are the best way yet devised to detect bodily disorders while they can still be treated successfully, so let your doctor look you over thoroughly once a year whether you're ailing or not. Make it twice yearly if you're middle-aged.

Dental troubles won't kill you, but sometimes they can make you wish you were dead. So check in once yearly with your dentist, too.

If you are putting on weight resolve to start passing up the candied yams, boiled potatoes, and the cream-filled tidbits which almost invariably spell extra pounds and perhaps an early grave.

Too much weight contribute to high blood pressure, and may be associated with hardening of the arteries and various forms of heart disease. Also, it means impaired vigor, greater surgical risk and greater danger from otherwise minor illnesses.

A good, physician-prescribed exercise regimen will keep your body in shape, tone up your heart muscles and put the spring back into your step.

The statistics linking smoking to cancer and heart disease continue to pile up, and it is tougher and tougher to rationalize the habit. If you still smoke, now's the time to quit. Resolve also to impress the health hazards of smoking on the minds of teenagers in your home.

When driving, consider that every other car is being driven by a madman, and when walking trust motorists only as far as you can see them. Motor vehicle deaths stand far above accidental deaths of all other types.

Resolve to take full advantage of every advancement in medical science aimed at benefiting you and the family, but always on competent medical advice. Start by checking the immunization records of your entire family, not just the children--as a safeguard against diseases and their complications.

Promise to obey local and state laws pertaining to health protection. For example, if your town has a dog leash law, adhere to it. It is a public protective device and you are the public. If you are a pet owner, be certain they are kept in good health.

Last, but vitally important, give an occasional thought to such awesome problems as water conservation, pollution abatement, juvenile delinquency, drug abuse and the growing number of elderly people in our society. Lend your support as a responsible citizen to community efforts to solve them.

Your health should be of great concern to you. So get the good health habit by putting some healthful resolutions to work. You'll be happier, live longer and enjoy life more.

"MAY THE HAPPINESS AND JOY, OF A CHILD AT CHRISTMAS, BE YOURS IN THE COMING YEAR".

MISS JUDY HAYES, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JACKIE HAYES AND GRANDDAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JACK HAYES, WISHES YOU A VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR.

1971 Cotton Allotment Transfers

Installation of County Officers

By W.M. Overton, ASCS Executive Director

We've had many inquiries in regard to the transfer of cotton regulations. The transfer of cotton by lease, sale and ownership is in effect under the new program. The lease and purchase of cotton acreage can be transferred to old cotton farms only. Ownership transfers may be made to farms not having an effective allotment. The 1970 projected yield will be used in all cases in computing the transfer acreage under the transfer by sale, purchase, lease or ownership.

Friday, January 1st, 1971 at 10:00 a.m. the county officers that were elected last summer will take their oaths of office. They are: Gene H. Bennett--- County Judge; Blanche Dyer, District Clerk--Ruby Head, County Clerk--Wilda Overstreet, County Treasurer--H.C. (Doc) Cotton, County Commissioner of Precinct #2, and Johnnie L. Fitzgerald, Commissioner of County Precinct #4.

County Judge, Gene H. Bennett, will be first sworn in by Vance W. Brown. Then the Judge will swear in Blanche Dyer, District Clerk, Ruby Head, County Clerk and Wilda Overstreet, county treasurer. As the oaths are the same, they will be sworn in at the same time. The County Commissioners have a different oath, and therefore, H.C. (Doc) Cotton and Johnnie L. Fitzgerald will be sworn in together by County Judge, Gene H. Bennett.

Most of the offices will be closed on New Years as far as the county employees are concerned, but as the County Officials will be there at 10:00 to be sworn in, their offices will be open only for a short time.

The price support payment will be based on the 1971 approved projected yield. The 1971 projected yield will be based on the farm's 1970 projected yield and the 1970 production. The 1970 production may be adjusted upward due to abnormal weather conditions, such as early freeze, hail, etc. Farmers who have not turned in their 1970 cotton production records should do so at their earliest convenience.

Producers that had loss due to abnormal weather condition must file a request for upward adjustment in yields and production records must be presented before adjustments can be considered.

To comply with the cotton program the required eligible cropland set-aside must be complied with which has been tentatively set at 20 percent of the 1971 allotment. Farms that had a 1970 allotment of 150 acres will receive a 1971 allotment of approximately 100 acres. This 100 acres will be the acres that the price support payment will be made on unless additional acres are transferred to the farm. Under the 1970 program payments were made on only 65 percent of the effective allotment. For 1971 the payment will be made on the entire allotment.

Nursing Home News

December seemed to be a wonderful month for all in the Plains Nursing home.

Mrs. A. C. Copeland had her 98th birthday December 17th; Mr. Lester Clark had his 87th birthday on December 10, and Dorothy Lowe had her birthday on December 11th. Mrs. Charley Copeland said that she wanted to carry cakes and drinks to the home for all the nursing home citizens, but as some were not allowed to eat cake because of their particular type of illness, she refrained.

Mrs. Lizzie Mc Donnell spent Christmas in Hobbs, New Mexico visiting her daughter and family.

On Christmas day, many cakes, pies, fruit and nuts were brought to the home and Mrs. Baker wants to thank everyone who had a part in it. It was highly appreciated by all there. Those who couldn't eat cake and pie, had fruits and nuts and many of the citizens could eat and enjoy all the food.

Blanche Dyer Breaks Arm

Mrs. Blanche Dyer, District Clerk of Yoakum County was happily busy wrapping Christmas presents in the afternoon of December 24th, when she decided she needed a nother box for a gift. She left her house and was walking to the store when she slipped on grass near the store porch, hitting her arm, breaking it just below the shoulder.

Mrs. Dyer is in the Yoakum County Hospital in Denver City in Room 118. It was reported that she would be there perhaps for at least a week.

Go Team Go! Cowboy Tournament

The Plains Cowboys will be host for a Tournament January 7, 8, and 9th. The boys have been working out during the holidays, getting ready for tournament competition.

It requires the combined efforts of the school and the public supporters, to have a successful tournament; so let's all be present.

January 5, the Varsity and the B-Team will play Muleshoe here at 8:00 p.m.

GO! FIGHT! COWBOYS!

Youths Go To Ruidoso

Twenty young people from the First Baptist Church in Plains, Texas, left Monday, December 28, for a three-day Youth Retreat at Ruidoso, New Mexico.

The young people and their sponsors stayed at a motel owned and operated by Harvey and Betty Romans, former residents of Plains.

The group enjoyed skiing and other winter sports.

The sponsors attending the Youth Retreat were Ray Strickland, Wayne and Gwen Carter, Gaylen and Sue Teakell, Wayne Guetersloh, and the pastor, Reverend Jim Mosley and Mrs. Mosley.

THE COLUMBIA COLLEGE DOUBLE SEXTETTE FROM COLUMBUS, MISSOURI, WILL PERFORM AT THE PLAINS HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM, THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1971, AT 2 p.m. THE PRECISION TRAINED ALL-GIRL SINGING GROUP WILL BE ON THEIR ANNUAL HOLIDAY CONCERT TOUR TO THE SOUTHWESTERN UNITED STATES. Cotton Producers Institute

Raleigh, N. C. --"We have something here that we can be proud of, and I'm sure it will help us sell cotton," said Mr. Howard Alford of Lubbock, Texas, after a recent visit to the new Research and Technical Services headquarters of Cotton Producers Institute.

Mr. Alford is a member of Executive Committee of Cotton Producers Institute. He was attending a briefing on future plans and directions of cotton's self-help program of research and promotion.

Staff members from New York and Raleigh reviewed budget plans and progress of the dollar-a-bale program for the directors. "I am certainly pleased with the progress the staff has made in initiating the new approach to selling more cotton," said Mr. Alford.

"They seem to have caught the sense of urgency and have produced excellent promotion plans, coupled with the necessary research to improve the markets for cotton."

One example of the new look for cotton promotion is the act of offering technical services to the mills. In one project, CPI is helping evaluate yams for one of cotton's largest customers. And a textile machinery company had problems trying to run cotton on one of its new machines until CPI personnel solved their problem with a new yam produce through another CPI research project.

"As soon as the technical service staff is complete, we plan to have a much closer relationship with the mills," said Mr. Alford.

Through the use of cotton in different applications the new offices in Raleigh point out the varied uses for cotton in both industrial and home furnishings

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Once again it is time to shout "Happy New Year" to our friends and fellowman. Some "gloomy" says, "What's happy about it?" Well, for one thing, this is the 69th time I've had the opportunity to shout those words and each time I do, I get a little happier about it. (Of course the first few times, I guess no one knew what I was shouting about, but I bet I shouted.)

Joking aside, each of us have much to be happy about this year and if we just get up thinking about all the things it might be, it will only be moments until we will be overjoyed regardless of how gloomily we started the day.

I received an old 1915 calendar for Christmas and noted that New Year came on Friday just the same as this year. It sorta set me to recollecting and other than being on the same day of the week, I somehow couldn't find much other sameness. We had as good a life as most folks and better than a lot of others. But when I recall the old wood and coal kitchen stove, the old hard coal heating stove and the ashes they made to clutter up the floors, and the heatless bedroom where we awoke in the early morn with covers piled high and patches of ice under our chin from frozen breath, Yes, and that trip out the back door to the shanty in the far corner of the yard...well they are not unpleasant memories...but as compared with the wonderful conveniences of today, this is a HAPPY NEW YEAR. Everyone with just a bit of recollection can find this happiness too.

The folks of Plains again have cause for happiness this New Year. For the second New Year's Day in its history, Plains can afford its residents good pure soft water. The housewife will be happy with her dish washer, the mother will be happy with the softness of the freshly laundered baby things, and even the old man will be happy with a good sudsy bath.

Let us all enjoy this for there is a sad overture to dampen our joy. January 15th, it will end. Just two more weeks to enjoy this privilege and then the water softening plant will be shut down. We will be returned to the same old hard water (as hard as any on the high plains) that we suffered with so long. We will be cooking the beans all day long (and they will still be hard); the laundered clothing will again be harsh and smell of strong detergents and folks will again be talking of moving because of the bad water.

The misery can be made short. If the voters of Plains will take the time to intelligently consider the facts regarding the water condition and realize that folks in Plains are living in a modern world and are entitled to the privileges afforded by modern scientific improvements the same as in other parts of the country, they will go to the polls January 30th and vote for the purchase of the desalination plant that is already erected and in service.

The plant can now be purchased for a small part of the actual cost of installation and be paid for with a moderate increase of water rates. A cost of less than the average family will pay for imported bottled water for drinking and cooking purposes.

The council should be informed of the desire of the residents and assured of their support and a demand be made that they negotiate this purchase.

People of Plains are fine folks; they are entitled to the fine things of life. Let's vote for better living in Plains and watch Plains grow.

Friendly Chats with Faye McConnell

Worry doesn't eliminate tomorrow from its griefs but it does empty today of its joys.

What a wonderful Christmas! Our children, Harvey Lusk and family from Midland, and Professor and Mrs. Robert (Dosha) Bryant and boys were home for the Christmas holidays. We all ate Christmas dinner with my daughter and husband, Mr. & Mrs. Hoss Newsom and children, and with Mrs. D. C. Newsom, Sr. Our two sons living in San Jose California, John McConnell, my John's son, and Tony and Pat called to wish us a Merry Christmas and it was a great thrill to hear their voices.

How many people had the same feeling of disgust and strong physical emotional reactions of nausea as I did when they read the headlines of a paper which said: "Hanoi warns U.S. of Planes." What can our U. S. government officials be thinking of when they let a little nation give such warnings to the greatest nation on this earth? There has to be an underhandedness by some of our senators and representatives for them to be content to sit back and criticize our President for the things he is doing to win this war. Such senators, I will call no names, have gone strongly against the President in everything that he has tried to do, whether it be in winning the war, or trying to help him in stopping the bombing, rioting and destroying property.

Why can some people go into a building where a public meeting is being held and shout and boo so loudly that the speaker cannot be heard? I call that disturbing the peace. It was hoped that after the way our President was treated on his last speaking tour that the Federal government would do something to stop such things. But did they? No, if anything, the nod of approval was given by some of our senators, and it appears at times that the senate is doing everything it can to prolong the war and to abet the campus rioters.

Very little has been said about the college student who was killed by a mob when he tried to protect his college from being mutilated. If it had been the other way, our TV news Commentators would have interviewed as many as possible and shouted it loudly for all the world to hear. It appears that even our news' commentators agree with the lawless.

Several months ago, an article appeared from the West Texas Livestock Weekly that was very interesting. It was speaking of women getting things done when a man would stop. It said: "that many hombies have drifted so far from the working habit that they are using their wives and children for their working force. One man, not being able to hire men, used a woman and two preschool children to round up his sheep... using the lady to round up was a good idea. A whole bunch of those gals who are raising such a ruckus over women's rights ought to have a dose of this kind of work." He further stated "Female meanness is never going to be hampered as long as the girls can sit under air conditioning to discuss their troubles, for men have been the only ones of the species who could stand idleness without causing a wreck." That I firmly believe.

About the only difference between hard work and recreation is that intangible something called "mental attitude. Whether the job is a gruelling task or heaps of fun, depends not on the job itself, but what you think about it. Very seldom do you see a woman sitting around in her rocking chair unless she is crocheting, knitting, or darning socks for the men, BUT the men - they can sit for hours just rocking back and forth, and fixing a leaking faucet, mowing the lawn or driving a new nail in the upkeep of a home, can't be done by rocking back and forth.

One young woman worker to another, in a London store about mid-day; "Well, I must get back to the office now or I'll lose my lunch hour."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Howell announce the marriage of their daughter, Jonni Lorraine, to Mr. J. L. Neal.

The wedding took place on Friday, December 11, 1970 in Las Vegas, Nevada.

KEEP IT CLEAN

by Virginia M. White

DEAR MRS. WHITE: Perspiration and deodorants are discoloring our clothing. What can I do? STYMIED.

DEAR STYMIED: Rinse stained area in cool water as soon as possible. Old stains should first be treated with white vinegar. Machine wash in water as hot as fabric will allow, adding 1/4 cup Super Cleaner, 1/2 cup NON-chlorine bleach and 1/2 cup low-sudsing detergent.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: Being concerned about the pollution of our lakes and streams, I have recently been using a phosphate-free detergent. My first 2 washes were O. K. but now I notice that some of the stubborn stains are remaining and my whites are a little grey. I do not wish to use any additives containing pollutants, as that would defeat my purpose of buying a phosphate-free detergent, but what can I do to obtain a good, clean wash?

MRS. G. K. Phosphate-free detergents are a step in the right direction, but unfortunately a good replacement for phosphates has not yet been found. These detergents need a booster to remove stains and greying soap film. There are several laundry additives on the market that do not contain phosphates or contain a very small amount of phosphate. Miracle White NON-Chlorine Safe Bleach, for example, has no phosphates, and when used in combination with your detergent helps to remove stains and brighten fabrics. Miracle White Powerizer Super Cleaner removes dulling soap film and suspends it so that the film will not redeposit on your clothing, and it contains only 11 grams of phosphate per washload.

Mrs. Earl Wayne Peugh

Lavern Edwards became the bride of Earl Wayne Peugh, Saturday, December 26, 1970 at 6 p.m. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Olen Edwards of Plains, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Peugh of Muleshoe, Texas.

The Double Ring Ceremony took place at the First Baptist Church in Plains, with the Reverend Jess Rains, minister of the Nazarine Church, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full length white satin gown with white lace overlay and train. Her bridal bouquet consisted of white carnations with a blue orchid in the center, for a detaching corsage. Her jewelry was a hand painted choker necklace.

Sue Edwards, sister of the bride, and Patty Wood of Smyer were her bridesmaids. Their dresses were royal blue satin with white velvet bows in back. Their bouquets were blue carnations.

The best man was Phil Teakell of Clovis, New Mexico. The Groomsmen were Ricky Strickland of Levelland, and Don Harwell of Fort Worth.

Ushers were Don Edwards of Richardson, Texas and Dale Edwards of Lubbock, Texas. They are brothers of the bride. The Candlelighter was Don Edwards.

Jan McCravey was the organist and H. W. Culwell was the soloist.

The reception took place in the Fellowship Hall of the Baptist Church. The bride's travel dress was blue velvet. They were going to Fort Smith, Arkansas for their honeymoon trip and will reside in Levelland and continue their semester at the South Plains College.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN, THE GREAT BOXER, WAS ONCE A PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL PLAYER!

Belts have re-established themselves as necessities in the fashionable wardrobe. Women who had grown happily accustomed to the freedoms of beltedness and insisted they would never return to their confines, have slowly given in.

Belts of all sizes and styles are being worn with everything from pants to minks. The heavy leather belt is sharing the spotlight with the popular chain varieties as the status accessory with casual apparel. However, leather models are usually worn slightly loose, sitting on top of the hip bone.

Brass-riveted belts or those with antiqued brass buckle holes carried all the way around the waist look the newest this year. So do skinny belts in leather, perhaps only 1/2" wide. They're often worn in groups of twos and threes in different colors above the waist, at the waist and on the hip bone. Long chain necklaces can be fashionably switched and worn at the waist with pants and at-home skirts.

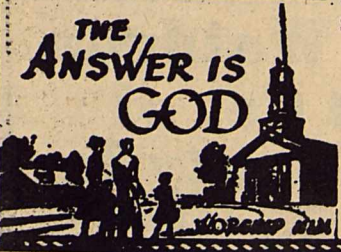

Band Concert

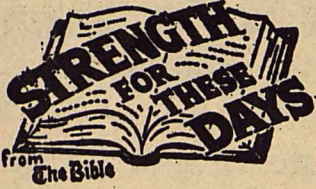

The annual Christmas Concert, directed by Mr. Carl Thompson, was presented, Friday December 18, 1970, in the Plains High School Auditorium. The Junior High and High School Bands participated.

ENTER INTO THIS NEW YEAR WITH A SPIRIT OF LOVE AND UNDERSTANDING

NEW YEAR'S DAY! What new resolutions have you decided upon? This is a new year. We have the power of choice concerning this year. If you have longed for meaningful relationships and have felt that life is passing you by, you can find fulfillment for your longings, you can find the kind of life that will satisfy your needs. This is the year you can take steps toward happier living.

SUGGESTIONS FOR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

- To think or speak evil of no one.
- To follow more closely the teachings of Christ Jesus, especially those in the "Sermon on the Mount."
- Go about your numerous tasks and duties with a song of joy upon your lips.
- Enter fearlessly into what is before you, no matter how difficult it may appear, for nothing can be too difficult if it bears the stamp of service to humanity.
- Never be over-concerned with what is in reality only trivial. Cease being agitated over the many unimportant details of the day, because they only bring confusion to your minds.
- Keep harmonious through everything that comes to you, no matter how difficult it may appear.
- Do not be quick to judge another because each judgment passed comes back to him from whom it emanated.
- Always speak words of encouragement.
- Invite happy fulfillment by your readiness to enter into life in this new year; to reach out to others in a new spirit of love and understanding.

"Therefore this joy of mine if now full,"
John 3:29

May this coming year bring peace and happiness to all...

Yoakum SWCD News

BY C. M. THOMPSON

Thousands of acres that might otherwise be subject to wind erosion are now in good shape should it blow, thanks to the good job of chiseling and leaving the cotton stalks or other crop residue on the land. One of the best examples I have seen in some time is to be found on the Lloyd Allsup farm South West of Plains. Lloyd has chiseled all his cotton land and left the stalks standing. He showed me why, where he skipped rowed his cotton 2 in one out, the December 15 storm got away with a lot of top soil but where he planted solid in 40" rows there was little erosion. Lloyd said he could see the value of even one row of cotton stalks so he just left them all. Lloyd also had some flat broke land that he was mighty proud of prior to the big blow, but now it doesn't look so good. The loss of the residue and the flatness or smoothness of the soil allowed lots of soil loss while land with grain sorghum residue, cotton stalks and chiseling or small grain cover looks real good.

Several others are doing a good job of using crop residue and chiseling to prepare their soil for the coming plow season. They are: W. B. White, Robert White, Henry Lowery, Truitt Jones, Carl Lowery, A. B. Carpenter, Chris Guetersloh, K and Don Gilliam, Eddie Earnest on the W. L. Clanahan farm and E. O. Winkles on the Beasley Farm, just to name a few. What are your plans for the next three or four months for your land? Are you preparing to do all you can to solve the wind and water erosion problem or will you be increasing it and your cost of farming??? MINIMUM TILLAGE now and for the next crop year can put you in the profit picture or if you just must farm by traditional methods; like Gran Paw did it can put you out of the farming business due to soil and moisture loss and increased expense.

SUDIE THOMPSON CHDA★ Says

SYNTHETIC BACON BY SUDIE THOMPSON

It looks and tastes like bacon, costs about half as much as bacon and has one-third the calories of bacon—but it's not bacon. It is a new synthetic meat analog being tested which is called bacon.

The bacon analog has fourteen ingredients, including generous measures of wheat and soy proteins and corn oil. It looks like strip bacon, but has no cholesterol, and is precooked and does not shrink during cooking.

The synthetic bacon was market tested in forty supermarkets in Indiana for a six month period. It was sold as a frozen food. Bacon stocks were displayed as usual in refrigerated cases in a separate section of the store.

The results of the market testing showed that there was a good chance for the Commercial success of bacon analog. A Consumer survey indicated that the analog's price was an important consideration for buyers and considered the price reasonable, but the consumers also continued to buy the real bacon.

FOLLOW DIRECTIONS

For those of you who get new appliances as Christmas presents, remember the old railroad signs: "Stop, Wait, Listen!" Follow this advice before rushing to try out your new acquisition. Even the simplest gadget has directions for proper care and operation.

So after unpacking, "Stop, Wait—and Read." It's also a good idea to keep the warranty or sales slip, or both.

Guess When Washington's Birthday Falls?

One change 1971 will bring to most Americans is their way of finding out when Washington's Birthday falls. Or Memorial Day, Veterans Day and Columbus Day. For 1971 is the year the Uniform Monday holidays law takes effect, changing dates these four observances fall from their traditional day to specific Mondays; thereby providing, with Labor Day, at least five three-day weekends for workers in 45 states. The law is the result of effort spearheaded by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, after years of work to achieve such changes.

Original moves to change these dates began in mid-1950. Members of the National Chamber indicated enthusiastic support of such an idea, and a poll conducted among business members showed 85% in favor of the plan.

Businessmen recognized that changing the holidays to Monday would not only provide employees with more time for travel or family recreation, but would also avoid costly mid-week shutdowns, and holiday associated absenteeism.

As enacted, the law provides that Washington's Birthday fall on the third Monday in February; Memorial Day the last Monday in May; Columbus Day the second Monday, and Veterans Day the fourth Monday in October.

The measure was signed into law by President Johnson in 1968 who commented, "The Monday holiday will stimulate greater industrial and commercial production, sparing business and labor the penalty of midweek shutdowns."

The law itself applies only to the District of Columbia and to federal employees, giving states the option of adopting similar laws. A almost immediate acceptance of the idea by various state governments, with an intensive educational campaign by the National Chamber and state and local chambers, led to rapid enactment by every state except Louisiana, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

However, legislatures in these states are scheduled to meet in 1971, affording the possibility of nation-wide acceptance of Monday holidays, a move benefiting both employees and business alike.

Ample housing facilities are available at reasonable rates for both single and married students attending State Tech's Midcontinent campus. There are also a large number of recreation facilities available to students, including swimming pools, baseball, and football fields, picnic areas and a fully equipped gymnasium.

The State Tech Student Center houses the school's cafeteria, where inexpensive meals are served three times a day, and the school bookstore. Also within the student center are color televisions, table tennis, pool tables and other equipment.

For the religious life, there is also available at State Tech a modern, non-demonimational chapel where services are held each Sunday as well as other times during the week.

Any student needing financial assistance is asked to contact J. W. Sollis, TSTI Manager of Student Activities. Several different types of scholarships, grants, work-study programs, and part-time employment are available to prospective State Tech students.

Business can Help in Meeting Urban Problems

A natural question to ask, in light of the various problems facing the country today, is "Just what does the future hold for the United States?"

The answer to this will be determined by the extent to which people understand their obligation to become involved according to the President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The head of the nation's largest business and professional federation, F. Ritter Shumway, chairman and chief executive of Sybron Corp., Rochester, New York, is calling on businessmen all over the country to become involved in eliminating social problems of their communities.

He believes localities should use a "system approach" to attack their problems, much the same as business searches out and analyzes as many variables as possible before setting objectives.

Businessmen, with their experience in the application of such methods, are the logical group to help their own cities and towns find ways to cope with their specific problems, Mr. Shumway points out.

The National Chamber president urges communities to get "all possible groups involved, bringing their special interest and problems together so that each can see the picture in its entirety" before they decide priorities among existing problems and assign roles for finding solutions to these problems.

If such an approach is not taken, he continues, "each group goes its own way... the total effect is fractured and many who would be glad to work for general improvements stand back in confusion."

Mr. Shumway concludes by expressing the view that coordination between business and civic groups in meeting urban problems today is the modern way for cities to revitalize themselves, and that businessmen must take another look at their role in society.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

The Treadmill

There is an old gag about the young fellow who acknowledged he came from a broken home, saying, "I know, because I did a great deal of the breaking myself."

Today there blares forth throughout the land what is termed a consumer movement. And inasmuch as unions are composed largely of consumers they have gone to the walling wall often and loudly to deride the constant inflation which erodes the paycheck.

But fifty million workers not belonging to a union also bemoan, with great merit, the erosion of their paychecks through inflation, but they do not contribute to this cycle.

This cannot be said of the unions, especially the auto workers on the basis of the recent settlement with General Motors. Under the terms of that contract, over a three year period the pay to auto workers can go up as much as 25 percent, and it is a foregone conclusion that the rate of productivity by the workers will not come anywhere near this mark.

For the joker tucked into the contract is the automatic wage increases as the cost of living index increases. Every time the government's cost of living index goes up a fraction, up go wages.

Based on the history of the past three years, it is estimated this will add ten and a half cents per hour to the pay of the workers in the second and third year of the contract.

Now the cost of living index is made up of the prevailing prices of some 200 odd items, of which the price of automobiles is a heavily weighted item. As is already known, the labor contract has forced upward the price on cars.

Thus, all the auto workers have to do is wait for a while and they get an automatic pay boost, because steel and other industries will probably have to enter into contracts with the same or similar clauses.

Pay increases based on increased productivity are sound. But to reward any group of workers with higher pay because they have only pushed up the cost of production is really nonsense economics.

But perhaps this is not the epitome of nonsense. The nation's railroads, the largest of which is already in bankruptcy, took a stand against raising the pay of the railway clerks more than 36 percent, an offer the union promptly rejected.

So what happens?

The nation's top labor leader calls for the railroads to be nationalized and operated as government owned enterprises. This seems to be forging a new concept in the U.S.A. which goes like this, "After you break 'em, let the government take 'em over."

TSTI Programs

Enrollment is now in progress for daytime classes at Texas State Technical Institute for the Spring trimester that begins January 4, 1971.

TSTI Offices will be closed from December 18 through December 27, for Christmas holidays and will reopen December 28.

A limited number of students are being accepted for enrollment in the seven programs of instruction being offered at State Tech.

The enrollment schedule for daytime students begins at 9 a.m., January 4, with orientation for all new students. Official enrollment for new students will be held beginning at 9 a.m., January 5.

Enrollment for evening classes and fulltime night students will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday, January 5, says Verdel Turner, State Tech Registrar.

Courses in which students can enroll for the Spring trimester, says Dr. J. N. Baker, State Tech General Manager, include:

Airframe Mechanics, a one year course, in which students are trained to service, repair and maintain various types of aircraft except for the engines (Aircraft engine or Powerplant Mechanics will be offered beginning in September, 1971). The course is approved by the Federal Aviation Agency and is approved for GI training.

Agricultural and Industrial Equipment Mechanics, one-year course, in which the student is taught how to repair, service and maintain all types of engines (gasoline, butane, and diesel) as well as a large variety of farm and industrial machinery and equipment.

Building Construction, one-year course, teaching the skill necessary to perform construction work and the knowledge needed in the building trade. Students will spend 60 to 70 percent of their classtime in laboratory using construction tools and applying actual theories of construction.

Commercial Art and Advertising, a two-year course, teaching the use and application of art techniques and ideas as pertaining to the world of advertising. The course includes instruction in various phases of art, photography, writing, and printing.

Graphics and Design Technology, a two year course, requiring a high school diploma as an entrance requirement. During the first year, students are taught the basics of drafting. During the second year the student can choose either a mechanical design or aeronautical design specialty.

Livestock and Ranch Operations, a one-year course, in which students receive instructions in both practical experience and the theory pertaining to all phases of livestock work, with special emphasis on feedlots. Students spend between 20 and 25 hours each week at ranches, feedlots, and packing plants in the area.

Technical Communications (Secretarial skills), a one-year course, teaching basic and advanced typing and shorthand,
