The Plains Independent School District Board of Trustees met Aug. 12, for a budget hearing at 7 p.m.; to adopt a tax rate for the 1985-86 school year at 7:30 p.m.; and a regular meeting at 8 p.m.

Others present during all or part of the meetings were Dean Andrews, superintendent; Wanda Ashburn, business manager; Robert Parks, high school principal; John Nance, elementary school principal; James Smith, resource center director; Bill Long and Bill Shipp. Also Ann McGinty, Larry Mason, Linda Darby, Bill Todd, George Humphrey and Mel Harp. Presiding over the meetings was Jack Palmer.

During the budget meeting the 1984-85 amended budget was approved by the board with the 1985-86 budget adopted as printed.

In the tax rate meeting the 1985 tax roll was unanimously accepted. The Board of Trustees adopted an ordinance setting the tax rate at 34 cents per $100 valuation for the 1985-86 school year. This is two cents lower than last year's tax rate.

In regular session the board considered bids for the installation of new roofs for the vocational agriculture building and the elementary school. Accepted was a bid of $18,050 submitted by Joe's Roofing. Members considered bids for the installation of a walk-in freezer for the school cafeteria and approved a bid of $9,382 submitted by Plan-Ex. Corp. Other bids were accepted from C.A.S.A. of $39,402 for 33 Apple Computers and $9,240 for 33 Epson printers. A bid of $5,404.16 from Radio Shack was given the okay by members for the purchase of four monochrome displays.

Vo Ag Hurt, But Not Dead

Seems like it wasn't too long ago that vocational agriculture was accepted almost universally as an integral part of school curriculum. Oh, maybe there were a few big city high schools that had no use for vo ag, but the program undeniably was the life-blood of rural school districts.

Then, along came the Select Committee on Public Education (SCOPE), and a once-strong vocational agriculture program in Texas found itself on the run.

SCOPE's chairman, Fort Worth businessman H. Ross Perot, didn't particularly care for vocational education in general, much less vocational agriculture. Perot was convinced vocational schooling got in the way of basic courses, the stuff of which nuclear physicists are made.

Some otherwise intelligent state leaders got caught up in Mr. Perot's attack on vocational education and dealt the program a severe blow in House Bill 72, the now-infamous education reform package of 1984. H.B. 72, which for the most part is a good bill, tells local school districts they're going to foot most of the cost of vocational education. The state is withdrawing from that business.

Well, no one with any appreciation of rural Texas liked that part of H.B. 72 much, but we set to work searching for alternative funding for vocational agriculture programs and their companion Future Farmers of America chapters.

At least, we thought, we still had the resources of 10 Texas Education Agency field staffers assigned to vocational agriculture as well as an excellent five-man TEA vo ag central staff in Austin. The State Board of Education, it turned out, had something entirely different in mind.

In January, we learned the board planned to eliminate all 10 field staff positions. Appeals to Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby to retain the positions failed. An attempt through Gov. Mark White to at least move some of the field staffers to Austin also failed.

The time clearly had come to circle the wagons: If vocational agriculture was to maintain any viability in Texas at all, the strong central staff had to be kept in tact.

State board members, though, had gotten a taste of vo ag blood and were ready to go back for more. Late last week, Commissioner Kirby announced plans to reduce the central staff to three persons. Only after much lobbying from friends of agriculture did Kirby wisely agree to allow for a four-person staff.

There's no question the battle for vo ag's life is far from over. The strange thing about the fight is the intelligence of vo ag's opponents. Their seeming inability to understand the program would lead one to believe these people are stupid, but they're not.

No dummies are serving on the state board. Commissioner Kirby is a bright man. Why, then, are smart people trying to kill vocational agriculture? We think these people are making rash decisions based on false premises.

First, it's apparent the state board thinks vocational agriculture supports a dying lifestyle - the rural lifestyle. Granted, there isn't much wheat pasture around Loop 610 in Houston, but there aren't many interstate freeways in Spearman, either. Though the board may not like it, agriculture remains the backbone of rural Texas and the state's second-biggest resource. Our leaders shouldn't turn their backs on it.

Second, the board seems to believe that any distractions from the so-called basics make for a poorer student. It's time the board woke up and rejoined the real world. We're not all going to be nuclear physicists; some of us are just going to be plain ole farmers. And, if schools aren't helping these people prepare for farming with a strong vo ag program, then our schools are failing to educate our youth in a most fundamental way.

Somehow, some misguided bureaucrats have taken a good education bill and used it to destroy vocational agriculture. Along the way, they've probably also hurt some good students.

If you have any questions about vocational agriculture, or any other issue, please write to P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Tx 78711.

"And ours is just as good as a John Deere." How many times have you heard that? When one manufacturer is so clearly the leader, that's the ultimate claim any competitor can make. But when you put all claims aside, there's nothing like a John Deere tractor with Castor Action mechanical front wheel drive and 15 speed Power Shift transmission. No combine can match the productive efficiency of a Titan II. And the superior seed-soil environment created by Max Emerge planters is literally legendary. But so is the dealer support that's provided with everything in The Long Green Line. Don't take our word for it. Ask anyone. We're happy to be judged by what we're known for.

LEADERSHIP YOU CAN COUNT ON

MRS. ARTHUR GALVAN

Miss Guetersloh - Mr. Galvan Recite Wedding Vows Saturday

Wedding vows were solemnized Saturday afternoon, Aug. 10 in First Baptist Church for Miss Melissa Rena Guetersloh and Arthur Galvan.

Officiating in the 2:30 p.m. ceremony was the Rev. Mike Holmes, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Denver City.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Guetersloh and Mr. and Mrs. Valentin Galvan of Denver City.

The twin ring vows were recited before an altar graced with white tapers in three candelabras entwined with greenery and red bows. Pews were marked with white lace fans adorned with red and white silk carnations and red streamers.

Guests were registered by Robin Carey at a table covered with a red cloth overlaid with white lace. A small white lace fan, decorated with red and white silk carnations, provided decor for the bride's book and red plumed pen.

Nuptial selections were presented by Shari McCravey, organist, Wadonna Davis, pianist, accompanied Melba Crutcher as she sang the "Theme From Ice Castles", "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do" and "Truly".

The bride chose a formal gown of lace and white chiffon fashioned with Victorian neckline of Rachele lace and sheer inset of chiffon overlaid with lace. Long bishop sleeves were caught at the wrists with lace. Falling from an empire waist accented with hand-pearled lace, the full ballroom skirt was enhanced with chiffon ruffles flowing to a chapel train.

Her waist length veil was held by a satin hat embellished with Venise lace and seed pearls and accented at one side with roses and a satin bow. The bride carried a cascade of red and white silk mini carnations sprinkled with ginger blossoms, white stephanotis and baby's breath. It was accented with floor-length trailing streamers.

Keeping traditions, the bride carried her bouquet atop a white Bible that had been carried by her mother in her own wedding as "something old". Her attire was "new" and she "borrowed" diamond earrings from her mother. She wore the traditional blue garter and, in her shoe, carried pennies coined in the year of her own and the bridegroom's birth.

Cathy McKinzie of Brownfield was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Julie Culwell. They wore formal dresses of red nylon organza fashioned with off-shoulder bodices accented with full flounces and A-line skirts encircled with full flounces. They carried white lace fans topped with silk mini carnations of red and white with red and white streamers.

Candles were lighted by Christina

Naatz of Hobbs, N.M. who was attired in a gown identical to the matron of honor and bridesmaid.

Valente Galvan of Denver City, brother of the groom, was best man. Shelby Garner of Denver City was groomsman. Guests were seated by Billy Don Guetersloh, brother of the bride and Joey Trinidad of Denver City. The groom was attired in a white tuxedo and shirt with red ascot and red cummerbund. He wore a red and white boutonniere. His attendants wore black tuxedos with white shirts, red ascots, red cummerbunds and red and white boutonnieres.

A reception was held in fellowship hall. The bride's table was draped with white lace over red with white satin bows accented with red and white blossoms. A large silver fan, adorned with red and white silk carnations graced the table along with the attendants' fans. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with a cascade of red carnations and topped with a Precious Moments figurine before a white lace fan background.

Presiding at the table were Monica Guetersloh and Chris Ann Guetersloh, sisters-in-law of the bride. Members of the houseparty were Pat Curtis, Carolyn Culwell, Dolores Davis, Pat Hinkle, Pam Smith and Sonnie Stephens.

For travel, the bride chose a white dotted Swiss dress styled with short puffed sleeves and red accessories.

The couple is at home west of Seminole.

The bride is a graduate of Plains High School. She will be employed by Birdsong Peanut Company.

Galvan graduated from Denver City High School. He is employed with Condit Chemical Company of Seminole.

Guests attended from Longview, Dallas, Burnett, Sterling City, Seminole, Lubbock, Littlefield and Denver City.

Shower To Fete Vennette Fitzgerald

Miss Vennette Fitzgerald, bride-elect of Nick Olenik, will be honored with a bridal courtesy, Saturday, Aug. 17, in the Heritage Room of Yoakum County Library.

Calling hours are from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Friends and relatives are invited. Gift selections have been made with local merchants.

The Born Loser

(A Word Of Encouragement To Everyone)

A comic strip which has appeared in several publications is called "The Born Loser". I like it because I can always identify with the character who comes out on the short end of the stick.

.... The guy who steps up to the postage window, just as the clerk pulls down the "Closing" screen.

.... The driver who pulls up to the "Regular" pump, only to find that it has run dry!

.... The one who sees a short line in a grocery store and runs over to get in place, only to watch all nine other lines, longer though they may be - zip by!

AND

.... The person who waits for the crowd to clear out at the annual barbecue, only to find that the meat has cleared out, too!

.... The bullrider who pays a $50 entry fee to ride the length of the gate on the chute!

.... The family going out for Sunday dinner, only to find all the restaurants in town closed!

.... The lady who rushes to Church one Sunday morning, only to find everyone leaving because the time has changed!

You know the type!! Everything they touch turns to cold (instead of gold). The telephone always rings just when a hot, juicy steak is touching their lips at the supper table. (And, more likely than not, it's an in-law with the great news that 15 relatives are pouring in for the holiday!)

Well, I have given it some thought and have decided that, in a sense, we all are born losers. Human nature leaves a lot to be desired. That's because our egos are self-centered and sinful. Have you ever noticed that parents don't have to teach their children to do wrong? We try to teach children to do what is right. It's their nature to sin or do wrong. The Bible says in Romans 3:23 "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God" and Romans 3:10 -- "there is none righteous, no not one".

Born Losers? Yes. But not meant to stay that way! We have the opportunity to win out over sin. "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" -- Romans 6:23. There is possible rebirth for losers...A chance to start over, a new beginning, new ideas, new challenges, new goals and new results.

Jesus Christ has volunteered to change the odds for us. Victory has been assured to those who choose not to run the race alone! We are promised the trophy, even while running! "I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus" -- Philippians 3:14. What is the prize and the upward calling? It is - 'losing in order to win!' Gaining a fresh orientation on values. Seeing, from a higher perspective: the purpose in pain, the smile after sorrow, the hope in dedication, and the harvest in the planting.

We should be able to put up with frustrations when we realize what the Lord has for us to gain. In Romans 8:35-39 it says "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril or sword? As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter. Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us. For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Jesus Christ, our Lord."

You see, we are born as losers - but not born to lose! Take time to read I Corinthians 2:9 and then -- cheer up because love always winds up in the winner's circle!

Senior Citizens

To me the best part of being away on vacation either to visit loved ones, or to just enjoy a change of scenery is arriving back at home. Arkansas was beautiful, the trees and lakes are so lovely anytime of the year.

I came to the Center Friday at noon just to see what was going on, and most of the chairs at the dining tables were occupied. Several new faces were there. If we need more chairs and tables, they'll be obtained.

Again, our sympathies to the family of a very dear lady, Mrs. Clara Singleton. She celebrated her 100th birthday this year and had been a resident of Denver City for 46 years and owned and managed rental property until shortly before she entered the nursing home.

A big welcome home to Jack Pauncey, who has been in a nursing home in Hobbs several months, I bet home looked good to him also. Mrs. Velma Figley is home from a hospital in Lubbock after having surgery.

This Friday night is Birthday night so give Mary a call and come celebrate your birthday with a swell group of people. Thirty or so attended last Friday night.

Our Outreach Girl, Pat Clark, is spending time in the local hospital havng tests made after taking a sudden illness at her home Saturday. We hope she will soon be up and well enough to come back and do her usual super job here at the Center.

While browsing in an Interior Decorating Shop in Athens, Tx. I came upon an unusual art called Scherenschnitte or Scissor-Cutting so when Bertie gets home we may give it a try. When I was a little girl, we did similar artwork called "paperdolls", folding and cutting a line of dolls joined together.

Here is a poem:

Give me a house to call my own,
Family & Friends to make it a home.
Love & Kindness that ne'er will depart,
Enough to fill a thankful heart!

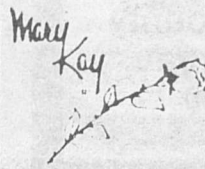

By Evelyn Smiley

FABULOUS AT 40 AND BEYOND

After 40 (actually it's best to start after 30) a woman should reappraise her makeup at least every five years. Facial features, hair color and skin tone change rapidly during these years, and using the same glamour colors and techniques that were used during younger years may no longer be effective. Your Mary Kay Beauty Consultant can help you accentuate your special features while minimizing the effects of age.
