Appreciation Dinner To Honor Senator John T. Montford

On Tuesday, Sept. 6, constituents in 12 West Texas counties will honor Senator John T. Montford at an Appreciation Dinner in the Civic Center at 402 N.W. 5th Street in Seminole. The event will get underway at 7 p.m.

Host tickets are available at $250 per couple. Patron tickets are priced at $100 per couple. "Friends" of the Senator may purchase tickets for $25 per person.

John Montford was first elected to represent Senate District 28 in November of 1982. He is running for re-election this November. In 1989, the West Texas senator will chair a new committee - the State Affairs Committee. In that position, he will be a significant voice on the issues of prison reform and on the possible overhaul of the criminal justice system in Texas. Voters in this area are also very concerned over possible changes in school finance laws which could take dollars away from the budget-balanced districts in Plains and Denver City. Oilfield service companies are worried about proposed changes in workers' compensation laws.

You will have an opportunity to let the senator know your views on these and other important issues by attending the Appreciation Dinner in Seminole. Tickets are available from John Madden (592-3113), Jim Millsap (592-2177), Lee Kidd (592-3042), Howard Pollard (592-2500), Ronald Simpson (592-2181), and Jack Fritts (592-2133) in Denver City, and from Melvin Lowrey in Plains (456-7404).

Filmtime Program To Begin Sept. 7

Filmtime programs will begin Sept. 7 at Plains Library. All pre-school children are invited to participate.

Kathy Holster will be in charge of special programs for the children.

Turkey Shoot Set Sept. 10

An invitation is extended to everyone to participate.

YARD OF THE WEEK is posted at the Guetersloh home at 1001 2nd Street. Members of the family pictured here are Kevin, his daughters, Kristi and Keri and wife, Kay.

PARENTS ARE CHILDREN'S MOST IMPORTANT TEACHERS

By Meredith Murphy
TEA Staff

Research has proven that children's chances for success in school are much better when their parents get involved in their education.

So important is parental involvement to education, that the State Board of Education made improved parental and community involvement a major goal of its Long-Range Plan for Texas Public School Education.

To what extent a parent chooses to get involved makes little difference to a child's school success as long as the parent shows an interest, according to Joe Lopez, program director at the Texas Education Agency.

"There is some evidence that shows that it doesn't matter what level of involvement a parent takes as long as he or she supports what the school is doing," Lopez says.

Much of the assistance parents can give their children at home is developmental, says Lopez, and includes such tasks as teaching a child to count by using pots and pans or helping a child learn to read by selecting books at the library and reading them aloud together.

Lopez says that even parents who may be undereducated themselves can still find many things they can do to help their children.

"These parents make a difference when they encourage their children to finish their homework, make sure they have a good breakfast and that they get to school on time and attend regularly," Lopez says.

In addition, the staff of the Texas Education Agency has prepared a list of some simple, everyday things parents can do to help their children succeed in school. These include:

*Speak to your child about the importance of a good education. Children should learn to respect school.

*Get to know your child's teacher and the school principal. It is important to meet your child's teachers at the beginning of the school year and let them know you care.

*Help your child's teacher by reinforcing the importance of following school rules to your child. Talk about discipline, especially self-discipline.

*See that homework is done every day. Check to see that homework is done correctly and provide a quiet place for your child to study. Be sure your child remembers to take homework to school each morning.

*Provide your child with breakfast each day and make sure your child is at school on time.

*Parents can also help their children become better readers. Become an example for your child by reading newspapers, magazines or books from time to time.

*Take your children to the library. Schedule trips regularly to get books for your child to read.

*Talk to your child often. Make your child a partner in all your conversations and encourage and praise your child often.

*Ask teachers to help choose books that are on your child's reading level. Read to your child and encourage your child to read aloud.

*Encourage your child to write. Writing is important to reading. Have pens, pencils, crayons and paper available.

*Play learning games with your child. Ask your child's teacher to recommend sight word cards, puzzles and other learning materials that make learning fun.

*If you feel your child has trouble learning at school, contact your child's teacher and school officials.

Finally, parents should always remember that they are their children's most important and influential teachers.

HOW YOUR ELECTRIC BILL IS FIGURED....

- (1) Your meter is read.
- (2) Your previous reading is subtracted from your current reading. This tells how many kilowatt hours of electricity you have used during this period.
- (3) Your bill is figured using rates set by the electric company and government regulatory agencies.
