Cowboys Tromp Lorenzo For Second District Victory

Plains Cowboys rode to a 36-3 victory over Lorenzo Friday night in their second district outing of the 90 season.

Monte Pierce connected with Dain Guetersloh on a 15-yard pass and points on the scoreboard, in a "third time's a charm" possession. Two earlier drives had been unsuccessful. Chris Chavez kicked the extra point and the Cowboys were off running.

Starting their next scoring drive on their own 16, Wade Redman carried for gains of three and six yards. Pierce carried for six before connecting with Guetersloh on a 25 yarder for the TD. Kick was no good.

Score at halftime was Plains, 13; Lorenzo, 0.

Medina, gaining 131 for the night, carried on runs of seven, seven, four and 11. Pierce then found Jason Smith for an eight yard toss on the first scoring drive of the second half. Medina capped the drive with a 25 yard run for pay dirt. Pierce connected with Smith for the two points conversion.

On their next possession, the Cowboys scored on a 35 yard pass from Pierce to Shane Lowrey. Kick was no good.

Guetersloh recovered a fumble on the kick-off to give the ball back to the Cowboys. Pierce ran for 12 yards and Medina carried the ball into the end zone on a three yard run. Medina tacked on two more points.

A Cowboy fumble at the Lorenzo 46 gave the Hornets possession. They moved to the Plains 11 and with four seconds left on the clock, scored a field goal for their only score.

In addition to Medina's 131, Pierce carried nine times for 56 yards; Dusty Rafferty, three for 10; Redman, three for 10; and Guetersloh, one for six. Guetersloh had four catches for 43 yards and two TDs; Smith, five for 60 yards and Lowrey, three for 75 and one TD. Pierce threw 27 times with 12 completions for 181 yards, three TDs and one interception.

In Our Opinion

Ann Richards' Bid Earns Our Support

When oil was $40 a barrel, he used to be 6-foot-4; now he's just 4-foot-6 but still around, Clayton Williams told appreciative summertime campaign audiences with a broad, disarming smile.

Now, it's October. The day we Texans will elect a new governor is just four weeks away. Oil, at least for the time being, is back in the $40 range.

We as fellow West Texans say a little regretfully that neither of those circumstances has added anything to the stature of the man, as measured not in inches but in his potential to govern this state effectively.

That potential is rooted in credibility and in leadership skills. Since the actual powers of a Texas governor are limited, the effectiveness of any governor rests largely on the ability to communicate with others, without a script or cue cards.

We have talked both with Williams and with Ann Richards, up close and personal. And we concluded that Ms. Richards speaks our language, and yours, better than the man from Midland. That's true even though she has never lived any farther west than the near edge of Austin.

After giving the question the serious thought it deserves, we conclude that Ann Richards holds the promise of being a better governor than Clayton Williams. We support her election to that office.

Faced with a question about what she'd do as governor, she comes a whole lot closer than her opponent to giving a plain answer based on candor and common sense - and on the day-to-day experience of serving as a public official.

Williams suffers by comparison.

During an interview he is more inclined to wave a handsome brochure and pronounce: "It's all in here" - the answer to your substantive question, he means.

Most of us surely would prefer to hear his thinking couched in his own words, rather than the phrases and sloganeering of a skilled public relations practitioner.

We wish he would give Texans that chance during a one-on-one Williams-Richards debate. But apparently there'll be none. Williams was quoted the other day with respect to his - and his campaign handlers' - reluctance to debate Ms. Richards: "I'm a cowboy, not a lawyer."

He's also a man with a reputation for frequently putting his foot in his mouth, boot and all. That propensity has had him in hot water intermittently almost from the day he announced his candidacy. We will forgo a full rehashing of his remarks about rape, about prostitutes and the rest.

Those gaffes are most notable for what they reveal of Williams' underlying problems. They seem a symptom not just of insensitivity, but also of the superficial aspects of his outlook on significant issues.

Editorial

Endorsements

There is a black-and-white pattern to his thinking and his emphatic statements that doesn't bode well for his ability to govern, or for his prospects for leadership.

Early last month, he pledged expansively that as governor he would "veto any and every attempt at...any kind of tax". Ever? Over the course of a four-year term? No matter what happens?

Yeaaa! cheered some Texans.

Get real, get honest, said a lot of others.

Given the ever-changing economic structure of Texas, changes in the taxing system to assure equity will most certainly be necessary, and attitudes such as that shown by Williams will cripple state government's ability to deal with that important issue.

Some very savvy people are challenging Williams' promises to cut costs in state government. He didn't even start with valid numbers in arriving at his projections, they assert.

Those detractors explain that he doesn't understand state government or recognize the inescapable fact that certain basic government services are not optional.

He has given himself no wiggle-room on taxes, but that stance appeals to citizens who, unlike the typical Texan who simply doesn't enjoy paying new taxes, suffer from a condition George Will describes in his column today as "taxaphobia".

It is another Williams position that really scares the daylights out of some of us - and should sound alarm bells for the rest. He has promised, under the governor's new power to appoint the state education commissioner, to name only an individual who subscribes to his notion that public tax money should be handed over to the parents who want to use it to pay tuition in private schools.

That goes against the grain so badly that it seems almost superfluous to point out that the Texas Constitution sets forth the fundamental right to an "efficient system" of public schools. Public schools.

At the heart of the Williams campaign for governor is the statement that he wants to "make Texas great again". The problem is that his vision of greatness is little more than a caricature. More substantive leadership is needed.

Thus, we support the candidacy of Ann Richards.

She has faced up to rough times, acknowledging and meeting 10 years ago the challenge of recovering from alcoholism. She has been a teacher, a county commissioner and probably the best state treasurer Texas has ever had, earning high marks from legislators of both parties.

There still is time to give good, hard thought to your options before Election Day. We hope you will do that and that you will conclude, with us, that Ann Richards deserves our votes for governor.

Powell Announces Opening Of Richards' Campaign Fund

Following a meeting of the local Ann Richards For Governor Steering Committee, Ty Earl Powell announced the opening of a bank account for campaign contributions for the Democratic candidate. Powell chairs the Yoakum County Democratic Party. Persons interested in contributing time or money for the Richards campaign should contact Powell in Plains at 456-3171 or write to him at Box 605, Plains, Texas 79355. Checks should be made payable to the Yoakum County Democratic Campaign Fund.

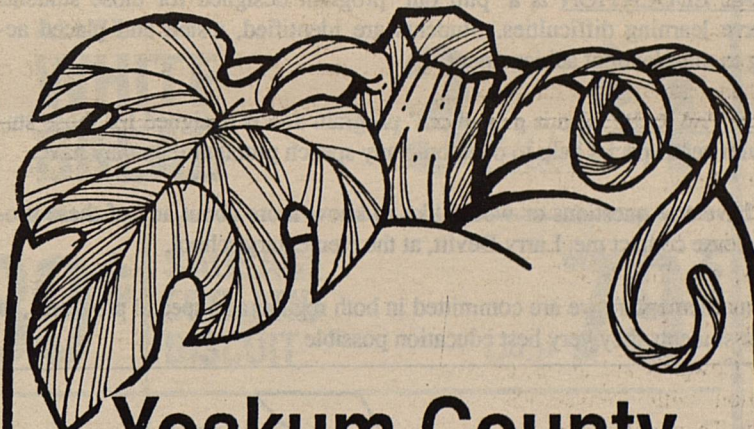

In other matters of local interest, Powell noted that Texas Tech University President Robert Lawless has expressed a serious concern that Republican Candidate Clayton Williams will cut funding for higher education. Teachers and administrators in public schools are alarmed over Williams' voucher system proposal whereby public tax dollars would be distributed to parents who could use the public money to pay private school tuition for their children. Powell stated that Ann Richards believes a strong system of public education is vital for the survival of democracy. Also, most knowledgeable observers believe the Williams' voucher system would be unconstitutional and would pose another costly delay in working out the problems of adequate funding for the public schools of Texas.

RENEWABLE ENERGY ALTERNATIVES - SOLAR POWER

Sunshine is free, it's clean & it's in infinite supply. It can provide us with hot water, space heating, cooling & electricity. The initial cost for generating electricity is high, though, backup systems are necessary & large land areas are needed. Perhaps future technologies will change this.

Junior Varsity Cowboys Whip Lorenzo, 36-6

Junior Varsity footballers played an exciting game Thursday, emerging with a 36-6 win over Lorenzo.

Brian Wilson fielded the kick-off, handing off to Jr. Lira who carried the ball across pay dirt for the first TD. Point after was no good.

On their second drive, Lira and Brad Ashburn moved the ball on good runs with Wilson scoring on a one yard quarterback sneak. The PAT was not good. Six more points were placed on the scoreboard with Lira taking the ball across on a five yard run. Wilson tossed to Jason Lewis for a two point conversion.

On their final drive, Ashburn sacked Lorenzo's quarterback on the Lorenzo 30 yard line, forcing a punt.

Wilson then carried to the 15 before pitching to Lira for a 15 yard touchdown. A two point conversion attempt was also good.

Opening the second half, Plains kicked to Lorenzo but Cowboy defense soon gave them the ball on the 14 yard line. Following a five yard loss, the Cowboys got back on track with a Wilson pass to Dan Partin who carried the ball over for a TD. Ashburn carried for a two point conversion.

In the fourth period, Lorenzo picked off a Wilson pass at the 35 yard line, returning it to the 15. This set up a 15 yard run to pay dirt. Point was no good.

Final score was Plains, 36; Lorenzo, 6.

In addition, the Booster Club also gives $200 scholarships to senior band members who continue their education in college.

Wranglers Beat Lorenzo, 30-6

Lorenzo's 8th Grade gridmen found the Wranglers too much to handle on their visit to Cowboy Stadium last week.

Sinky Bernal's opening kick sailed into the end zone and was brought out to the 20 where Lorenzo fumbled on their first play. Ken McAdams recovered. David Bitolas carried to the six; McAdams took the ball for one and Ladd Winn tossed a five yard pass to Shannon Ward for the TD. A Winn to Ward pass tacked on two points.

Lorenzo scored on their next possession with a 51 yard run by the tailback. PAT was no good.

Neither team could move the ball on their next possessions and the next Wrangler drive started at the Wrangler 24. Winn tossed a six yard pass to Bitolas. On the next play, Bitolas picked up a first down on the 36 yard line. Entering the second quarter, Ward snatched a Winn pass on the rebound from a Lorenzo defender, good for 11 yards. Bitolas carried for five. Lorenzo received a 15 yard penalty for roughing the quarterback, moving the ball to the Lorenzo 32. A pass to Ward was intercepted on the 14. Lorenzo did not move far before Brad McMinn recovered a fumble at the 23. Winn threw a TD pass to Bitolas and then tossed another for the two point conversion.

Halftime score was Plains, 16; Lorenzo, 6.

Bitolas started the Wranglers' third quarter scoring drive with 15 yards and carried again for 10 and first down. Winn connected with McMinn for eight yards and Bitolas for a 31 yards scoring pass. It was Winn to Bitolas for two points.

Ward intercepted a Lorenzo pass at the Plains 46 but the Wranglers were unable to move the ball. Lorenzo had the ball to the 50 before McMinn recovered a fumble. Bitolas moved for one; McMinn caught a Winn pass for five. A 20 yard sweep by Bitolas was called back for illegal procedure. Lance Cole moved the ball to the 35 on a 20 yard pass to the three and with six seconds remaining in the game, Ward carried in on a quarterback sneak. PAT was no good.

Outstanding on the offense line were Corky Pena, Joey Guerra, Pete Flores, Lee Roy Vasquez and Gilbert Ortiz. Defensive line also did a fine job.
