Conservation Farmer, Rancher Recognized By Lions & SWCD

Yoakum County Soil and Water Conservation District and Plains Lions Club honored Dell Knight as Conservation Farmer for 1991 and Johnnie L. Fitzgerald as Conservation Rancher of the Year at an awards luncheon.

Knight and his wife, Cecilia Ann, live and farm in the Tokio Community. They are parents of three children, Robert Wayne, Rustin Dell and Jessica Ann.

A Yoakum County farmer 13 years, Knight farms about 2,000 acres of cropland, consistently applying good conservation practices. Some of the practices he employs are conservation tillage, crop rotations, wheat/milo double cropping and furrow diking.

Johnnie Fitzgerald and his wife, Melba, will celebrate their forty-second wedding anniversary this year. They are parents of Dianne Fitzgerald, Lynne Winn, Gwen Helms and John DeBusk.

Fitzgerald's grandfather moved to Yoakum County in 1905. The family has been prominent in ranching in the county since that time. Fitzgerald has a 15-section ranch which is prominently known for Charolais purebreds. He is proud of improvements made to the ranch to improve production and conserve natural energy.

Some of his conservation practices are brush management, livestock water development, cross fencing and experimental work in snakeweed control.

Fitzgerald has served Yoakum County in numerous areas including county commissioner, charter member of Yoakum County Hospital Board, Plains City Council, Plains School Board, Yoakum County Livestock Board, Golden Spread Charolais Association president, chairman of the board of First United Methodist Church and a 36-year membership in Plains Lions Club.

Plains School Sponsors Annual Awards Picnic

Plains Independent School District honored employees and families with an annual picnic Thursday in Yoakum County Park. Hamburgers, potato salad, beans and cobbler were served.

Retiring after 21 years service, Marie Tidwell was presented a chiming, engraved mantle clock.

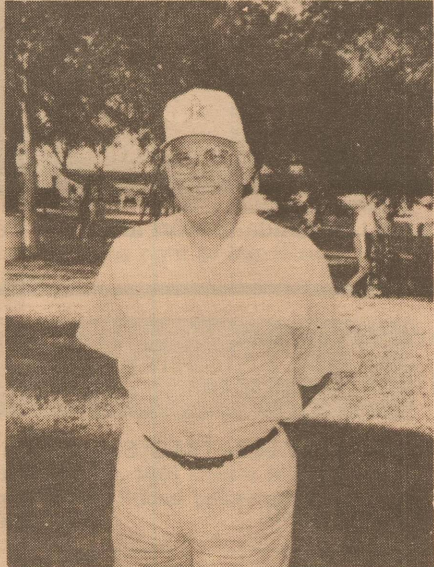

Service recognition awards were presented by Superintendent Pete Simmons and Board President Jerry Parrish to Elouise StRomain and Michael Barrientes, five years each; Robert Canon and Paula Cullins, 10 years; Don Hinkle, Pat Hinkle and Larry McMinn, 15 years; Billy Bagwell, 20 years and Kenneth Engle, 25 years.

Softball games followed with the women's game of secretaries and teachers against aides. In the men's game, administrative staff, custodians and transportation employees faced the teachers. Both games were won by the teachers.

25 Years Service - Kenneth Engle

20 Years Service - Billy Bagwell

10 Years Service - Paula Cullins and Robert Canon.

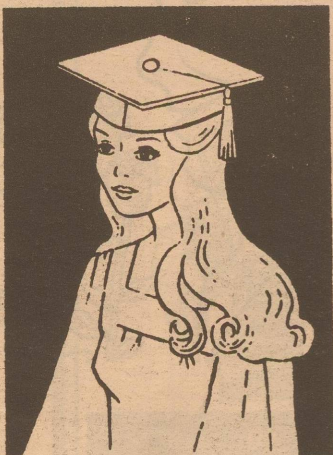

5 YEARS SERVICE - Elouise StRomain and Michael Barrientes.

15 YEARS SERVICE - Don Hinkle, Pat Hinkle and Larry McMinn.

Our Best To You!
On this very great day, best wishes for tomorrow.
