In Littlefield On July 4th

Waylon Jennings To Perform Free Concert

Littlefield's native son, Waylon Jennings, is returning to his hometown, July 3-4 to lead its spectacular "Let Freedom Ring" parade, and to perform under the stars in a FREE concert. Accompanying Jennings will be his wife, Jessie Colter, their son Shooter Jennings, Waylon's Band, and Denver Pyle, who starred in the hit series

"Dukes of Hazzard" as Uncle Jesse.

The parade will form at the Santa Fe Depot at 10:00 a.m. July 4. It will then proceed to the Lamb County Ag Center on U.S. 385 South, adjacent to the FREE Waylon Jennings RV Park. Parade judging will begin at 9:00 a.m. at the depot. Area civic clubs, churches, youth groups, riding clubs, bands and individuals are invited to enter floats of a patriotic nature. Cash prizes of $150, $100 and $75 will be awarded to the favorite charity of the winning floats.

Prizes will also be awarded in other categories such as riding clubs, decorated cars and pickups, classic and antique cars, tractors and non-motorized entries.

The two day extravaganza will feature a reception for Desert Storm service people and their families, sanctioned chili, bean barbeque cook-offs, a sanctioned horseshoe pitching contest, arts and crafts, and a FREE outdoor country music concert by Waylon Jennings at 8:00 p.m. July 4, at the Lamb County Ag Center on Highway 385, in Littlefield. Bring a listening ear, a patting foot and a lawn chair. After the concert, a dance will be held in the Ag and Community Center.

For more information on the two day event, call 806-385-5331.

Basketball Camp Slated July 8-12

Second annual Cowboy/Cowgirl Basketball Camp will be held July 8-12. Boys and girls ages nine to 15 (incoming freshmen and lower grades) are invited to participate.

Classes will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily with one hour off for lunch. Tuition is $40 each.

Instruction will include fundamental skills development, individual shooting competition and team competition. Individual and team awards and camp tee shirts will be presented at the end of camp.

Panhandle South Plains Fair Lists This Year's Entertainers

Ricky Van Shelton, country music's newly named Entertainer and Male Vocalist of the Year, has been booked to perform one show during the 74th Annual Panhandle-South Plains Fair, fair manager Steve L. Lewis announced today.

Don Williams, The Oak Ridge Boys and The Texas Tornados will join Shelton in headlining the fair's four paid shows, Lewis said. Free coliseum shows will also be offered this year, he added, noting that full information about those shows is not yet available but will be announced as soon as artists, sponsors and ticket information are confirmed.

The fair's eight-day run will kick off Saturday, Sept. 21 and wrap up Saturday, Sept. 28.

Williams will perform one show, at 7 p.m. Sept. 21. Tickets for his show are $10.

The Texas Tornados whirl on to the stage Sept. 26 with two shows, at 7 and 9 p.m. Tickets for both performances are $10.

Shelton takes the spotlight for one show, at 7 p.m. Sept. 27. Tickets for his performance will be $12.

The Oak Ridge Boys will give two performances: a 4 p.m. matinee, priced at $8; and a 7 p.m. evening performance, priced at $12, on Saturday, Sept. 28.

Country music fans voted Shelton Entertainer of the Year and Male Vocalist of the Year during Monday's TNN/Music City News Country Awards. Shelton's popularity appears to be firmly rooted - he was 1990's Entertainer and Male Vocalist of the Year as well.

Shelton called the awards, "icing on the cake".

"I'm not in music for awards. I'm in music because I love to sing. I love to play and I love to record," he said. "I love it with all my heart and soul."

Mail orders for tickets to any of the shows will be processed daily as received, Lewis said, noting that tickets will be mailed beginning Aug. 5. He encouraged fans to order early for the best seats.

A $1 handling fee has been added to mail order tickets this year. "This is something we've wrestled with for several years now," Lewis said. "Handling all the mail orders has really gotten to be quite a task. We have to bring in extra help. We felt this nominal fee would help us keep ticket prices and gate admission low while still recouping some of our expense."

Show tickets, he stressed, do not include gate admission - which remains at $3 for adults and children over 12; $1 for children six through 11; children under six are admitted free.

For mail order tickets write: SHOW TICKETS, BOX 208, LUBBOCK, TEXAS 79408. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope plus $1.00 for handling charge.

The Blue Jays outlasted the Tigers, 24-21, in T-Ball play.

Still zero in the loss column, the Rangers tripped the Red Sox 11-4.

Stephen Bitolas took the win, allowing four runs on seven hits and eight walks. He struck out 10; hit one batter. Jacob Lester allowed 11 runs while giving up 10 hits and 10 walks. He fanned eight.

Wrinkles, Age Spots & Cancer Result Of Too Much Sun

The sun's rays cause the most damage during the first 18 years of life, according to the American Academy of Dermatology.

Unfortunately, that's when most people believe they are immuned from many of society's ills, says Dr. Alexander Zemstov, Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center dermatologist.

A suntan actually is the body's reaction to an injury caused by the sun. The skin darkens by producing more pigment called melanin as a way of protecting itself from the sun's dangerous ultraviolet rays.

After 20 to 30 years of sun exposure, the built-up damage to the skin's cells surfaces as wrinkles, age spots and skin cancer.

"There are two things that have to be involved," said Dr. Bob Martin, chief resident at dermatology at the Health Science Center. "You have to have the tendency toward burning, and you have to have the exposure."

"The people who are at the greatest risk for having skin cancer are those who always burn, or sometimes burn, but never tan."

People who freckle after a sunburn are at a greater risk for skin cancer, Martin said. "That's the body's inability to tan."

Three types of skin cancer are:

* Malignant melanoma - a serious skin cancer characterized by the uncontrolled growth of pigment producing tanning cells. Melanomas may suddenly appear without warning but also can develop from or near a mole.

"It's a very aggressive form of cancer," Zemstov said. "The survival rate is extremely poor. There are no forms of therapy."

Melanoma generally begins as a mottled, light-brown to black-flat blemish with irregular borders. The blemish usually is at least a quarter-inch in size and may turn shades of red, blue and white, crust on the surface and bleed. They often occur in moles.

* Basal Cell Carcinoma - the most common form of all skin cancers affecting about 400,000 people each year. It affects men twice as often as women and is found most commonly on sun-exposed areas such as the head and neck.

If detected and treated early, there is a 95 percent cure rate. "If you remove it early you'll just have a small scar," he said. "If you let it go it can grow to a big ulcer or a sore and it can destroy your eye or nose or lip if it's growing near those areas."

"If you let it go, it potentially can kill you."

* Basal Cell Carcinomas - they usually appear as slowly growing, raised, translucent, pearly nodules which, if untreated, may crust, ulcerate and sometimes bleed.

* Squamous cell carcinoma - the second most common form of skin cancer, striking about 100,000 people each year. "It falls between basal and malignant. It's dangerous, but in most cases it just produces sores and ulcers."

Squamous cell carcinomas usually are raised, red or pink, scaly nodules or wart-like growths that ulcerate in the center.

Pay particular attention to any changes in the size, color, shape or thickness of pre-existing moles or other growths, Zemstov said. Also inspect your skin periodically for any new growths or changes in old growths.

To avoid sunburn, use a sunscreen, avoid the sun between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m., wear long-sleeved, light-colored shirts and wide-rimmed hats, Martin said.

"Chronic sun exposure is bad, but so is the short-term severe burns," Martin said.

Tanning booths are not safe, either, he said. "They add on to the effects of the sunlight. They may be an additive to regular damage from the sun. There is no safe tan. There is no safe ultra-violet radiation."

PROTECT THE MEN WHO KEEP YOUR POWER ON

Power poles look like the ideal place to hang yard sale signs and campaign posters. But if you're tempted... don't. They may be ideal for you, but they could be deadly for a lineman who must climb that pole.

Anything that is tacked, nailed, or stapled to a power pole can cause serious injury or even death to a lineman, working on the pole. Nails, screws and staples snag and tear protective equipment, used for "hot" line work. Punctured rubber gloves are useless for high-voltage protection. When men are climbing poles and their climbing hooks hit a nail head or staple the hook can cut out of the pole and cause falls that injure and sometimes kill linemen.

Remember, what seems perfectly harmless to you could cost someone his life. Let's protect the men who keep your power on.

Miss Elmore, Mr. Hallan Wed In Outdoor Ceremony In Arlington

Miss Shannon Serena Elmore and J. Jeffrey Hallan recited wedding vows recently in an outdoor ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hallan of Arlington.

Officiating the ceremony before a tropical setting of palm trees was the Rev. Phillip Caraway.

Parents of the bride are Tommy and Serena Elmore of Tokio. Her grandparents are T.A. and Romalee Elmore of Brownfield and Vivian Adams of Lubbock.

Escorted by her father, the bride stopped to give leis of white carnations to her mother and the mother of the groom. Her gown, a bright water colored print, was fashioned with fitted bodice featuring an off the shoulder sweetheart neckline and garter style sleeves. Her ankle length skirt had dual splits to the knees. It was designed by the bride and her mother.

Pam Elmore of Bosier City, La., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor.

John Cerney of Garland was best man. Guests were seated by the bride's brothers, Lt. Kelly Elmore of Bosier City, La. and Patrick Elmore of Levelland.

All members of the wedding party wore bright tropical colors. The groom was attired in a melon colored shirt with white pleated pants.

A reception immediately followed. Pam Perry of Arlington, sister of the groom, registered guests and presented each a lei. The bride and groom's table was highlighted by a standing palm tree wedding cake accented by sea shells.

The reception area featured a tropical theme. A cascading water fountain in the swimming pool provided accent.

The bride is a student in Texas Women's University

Hallan is a graduate of Texas University of Arlington. He is employed with Comprehensive Computer Consultants.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at their home.

Following a Caribbean cruise, the couple is at home in Plano.

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

SPECIAL ELECTION

AUGUST 10, 1991

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 42 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the newly created county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation a percentage of the market value of the residence homestead of a married or unmarried adult. The percentage exempted could not exceed 20% of such market value, and the amount exempted could not be less than $5,000. The amendment would also authorize county education districts to hold elections to exempt from ad valorem taxation not less than $3,000 of the market value of the residence homestead of a disabled person or a person sixty-five years of age or older. Finally, the amendment would authorize elections in county education districts for the taxation of certain tangible personal property exempted from ad valorem taxation by the legislature.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the voters of a county education district to adopt certain exemptions from the district's ad valorem taxation for residence homesteads and to provide for the taxation of certain tangible personal property."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 5 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass general laws authorizing Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor to issue and sell up to $300 million of general obligation bonds to finance educational loans to students. The maximum net effective interest rate to be borne by the bonds would be set by law. The amendment would also authorize the legislature to provide for the investment of bond proceeds and to establish an interest and sinking fund to pay the bonds and provide for the investment of such fund. Bonds authorized under this amendment would be paid from the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in an interest and sinking fund established at the end of the preceding year that is pledged to the payment of the bonds or interest.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide educational loans to students."

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Preparations are well underway for the 1991 Texas High Plains Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program. The program, operated by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is now in its 28th year of operation.

In the early 1960's, some cotton fields above the Caprock were found to be infested with boll weevil. This small insect, averaging quarter-inch long, has been the major economic pest of cotton production across the Cotton Belt. Entering the United States at Brownsville, in 1892, it spread clear across to the Atlantic coast by 1916.

Many cotton farmers, driven out of business by the boll weevil in traditional growing areas, came to the High Plains where it seemed that the pest was not able to survive the dry climate and cold winters. By the late 1950's, it became evident that the boll weevil was adapting and was indeed capable of surviving and overwintering on the High Plains.

During the growing seasons of 1962 and 1963, high boll weevil populations existed below the Caprock in Motley, Dickens, Garza and Kent Counties. In October of 1963, infestations extended 20 miles west of the Caprock escarpment into High Plains cotton.

As in the previous 28 years, the 1991 diapause program starts with mapping all planted cotton fields below the Caprock within the designated control zone.

As the growing season progresses through September, fields are scouted for boll weevil. Specimens are collected and examined. As the weather cools in September and October, boll weevils move from their production phase to overwintering or hibernation phase. This change is known as diapause. During this phase, the boll weevil feeds heavily and builds fat deposits to enable its survival through the winter.

Control of the boll weevil in this diapause phase is the most effective and economic method. The objective of the diapause control program is to reduce the overwintering population so that damaging infestations do not occur the following year. Research has shown that weevils must feed for at least two weeks in order to store enough fat to successfully overwinter and become the breeding stock for the next year's population.

Treatment is made at intervals of 10 to 14 days with ultra-low volume malathion. This continues until a freeze makes weevil food and breeding sites no longer available in cotton fields.

To maintain the environmental integrity and responsibility of the program, monitoring sites are chosen each year. Vegetation and water samples are collected and analyzed. The ultra-low volume malathion, used at only 12 ounces per acre, has very low toxicity for humans and animals. It is non-persistent and has no known long-range adverse effects on any desirable species.

The boll weevil program control zone forms a barrier between the infested Rolling Plains and the weevil-free 3-4 million cotton acres of the High Plains. In a study performed in the 1970's, it was estimated that without the boll weevil program, there would be a $25 million annual loss in income because of reduced yields and quality, plus an annual increase of $20 million in production costs.

The program is funded by cotton producers in PCG's 25-county area through a per-bale checkoff at the compress and from federal appropriations. For the 1991 crops, this assessment will be at 10 cents per bale. The cost-sharing is 70 percent from producer through Plains Cotton Growers and 30 percent from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
