State Irrigation Conference Set In Lubbock Civic Center

"The biggest statewide irrigation event ever will be held Jan. 14-15 at the Lubbock Civic Center," says Terry J. Millican, Yoakum County Extension Agent-AG.

It will include a trade show with irrigation industry representatives and suppliers, as well as technical conferences addressing water issues in Texas and all aspects of irrigation management.

The Texas Irrigation Conference and Trade Show is jointly sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the new Texas Agricultural Irrigation Association (TAIA). TAIA will conclude the conference with its first general membership meeting at 4 p.m. Jan. 15.

The trade show will open at 5 p.m. Jan. 14 with a reception in the Civic Center mall area. On display will be the latest equipment and information for well drilling, pumps, engines and motors, supply lines and irrigation system components.

"this is a great opportunity for producers and irrigators to see what the market has to offer and spend time with equipment manufacturers and their representatives," said Dr. Rose Mary Seymour, agricultural engineer and irrigation specialist with the Extension Service.

The trade show will continue all day Jan. 15, concurrent with the educational conference.

The technical conference will open at 8:30 a.m. Jan. 15 with general sessions. Featured speakers will be from the Extension Service, Texas A&M University and the Texas Well Drillers Board. Technical workshops will run concurrently during the afternoon.

The first general session will deal with groundwater and well production. It will speak to a growing concern of many parts of Texas dependent on groundwater for irrigation.

Topics will include groundwater hydrology and well yield, proper well construction and well treatments.

The second general session will focus upon economics and water policy. Topics will include the economics of irrigation, pumping plant efficiencies and groundwater law and regulation.

The afternoon concurrent sessions will address center pivot irrigation, furrow irrigation management, drip irrigation, corn and sorghum irrigation management, chemigation, surge irrigation, cotton irrigation management and irrigation water management.

Those attending the show and conference should register in advance by obtaining forms from their local county extension agents.

Early registration for the entire event or $15 for the second day only. After Jan. 7, registration will be $30 for the whole event and $25 for the second day only. The fees cover the trade show and conference, plus a catered lunch on the second day.

The organization of TAIA has been developing during the past year through a committee of persons involved in irrigation. It is a non-profit association, the objective of which is to enhance agricultural irrigation in Texas.

Conference Slated On Vegetables

The potential for expanding the production and sale of Texas-grown dry beans and peas will get a close examination at the annual West Texas Vegetable conference Jan. 14 in Hereford.

Each year, Texans consume some 150 million pounds of pinto beans, but only about 16 percent of those are grown in the state, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture. Of the approximately 18,000 acres of pintos planted this year in Texas, 90 percent were grown on the High Plains. Pintos and other beans have a short growing season and do well in the rich soils and warm, dry climate of the High Plains.

At the conference in the Hereford Community Center, 100 Avenue C at Park Avenue, a panel of speakers will look at the good and bad of expanding bean production in this area.

This year's conference, from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m., will re-emphasize the concern for a safe food supply.

The conference is sponsored by the Extension Service, High Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, TDA, Texas Tech University, Deaf Smith County Extension Vegetable Development Committee and the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. The $25 registration fee includes lunch.

Exercise Benefits Are Revealed

Researchers are finding that inactivity and not aging is to blame for middle-age spread, shriveled muscles, clogged arteries and frail bones, according to Joan Chandler, Yoakum County Extension Agent-HE. Regular exercise which helps maintain muscle strength and flexibility can allow people to remain independent no matter what their age.

In one study, women who exercised for at least 30 minutes three times a week showed no changes in fitness levels until age 50 or over. After 50, fitness levels declined more slowly in exercisers than in less active women. An active 50-year-old man typically had the heart and lungs of a sedentary woman in her 30s or even 20s.

Staying active helps maintain a healthy weight, which reduces the risk of numerous diseases such as heart disease, cancer and diabetes. This is because muscle is "metabolically active". It consumes calories even when people are at rest. On the other hand, fat just sits there hoarding energy. The more muscle people have, the faster they burn body fat and food. They have less to worry about gaining excess weight.

People do not have to engage in such strenuous exercises as marathon runners. A simple 30-minute walk each day is believed to be sufficient to give a person's longevity a boost. Start 1992 right by including exercise in your daily regimen. You will feel better for it!

Miss Nance, Mr. Scarbrough Recite Wedding Vows Recently

Miss Traci Ann Nance and Daniel Jason Scarbrough, both of Midland, recited wedding vows Saturday, Dec. 21 in Acton United Methodist Church in Granbury.

Officiating was the Rev. Glenn Harlin of Odessa.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Nance of Granbury, formerly of Plains, and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Scarbrough of Jacksboro.

Karen Forbis of Decatur, pianist, played traditional nuptial selections and "Through The Eyes of Love." Soloist, David Spiller, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Vows were exchanged before an altar illumed with spiral, arched and tiered candelabra adorned with greenery, baby's breath and flowing white tulle. Arrangements of red poinsettias and votive candles completed the setting. Hurricane candles and draped tulle marked the family pews.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white slipper satin and lace fashioned with Victorian neckline bordered with heavy lace and tulle. It featured a Basque waistline emphasized with pearl embellished lace medallions and ling sleeves of English net highlighted with elongated lace appliques encrusted with seed pearls and iridescents. The softly gathered skirt cascaded into a chapel length train edged with satin-whipped flowerette lace border.

She wore a white lace stand-up bow headpiece which held her fingertip veil of silk illusions. Outlined with pearls, the veil and headpiece were designed and made by the bride's sisters.

She carried a cascade of fresh rubrum lilies, white roses, and stephanotis atop a white Bible carried by the groom's mother in her wedding. She wore a strand of pearls which had been a wedding gift from her father to her mother at their wedding. A gold bracelet made from gold mined by her great-great grandfather for her great-great grandmother and trio-pearl earrings belonging to her grandmother, Wilma Garrett, were "something old." She wore the traditional blue garter.

Ginger Spiller of Jacksboro, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sonnya Airhart of Plano, sister of the bride, Jami Scarbrough of Lubbock, sister of the groom, and Toni Lowrey of Saginaw. They wore tea length dresses of Caribbean blue taffeta, velvet and embroidered taffeta styled with standing collars, sweetheart necklines, elbow length puffed sleeves and fitted bodices.

Miss Taylor Airhart of Plano, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dress of blue velvet with a halo of baby's breath in her hair.

The groom's best man was his father. Groomsmen were David Spiller of Jacksboro, Todd Airhart of Plano and Jimmy Swaim of Lubbock. Mason Spiller of Jacksboro was honorary junior groomsman. Guest were seated by Scott Bickhaus of Lewisville, Tony Robinson of Odessa And Lance Garrett of Borger, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Popular and traditional music was played by Dick Brooks of Dallas, uncle of the bride.

Laid with a white floor length cloth, the bride's table was graced with a silver punch bowl. Julie Criswell served the bride's cake.

Appointed in silver, the groom's table was highlighted with a chocolate cake decorated with strawberries. Pam Robinson and Melody Bickhaus served cake and gourmet coffee.

Rice bags were distributed by Ashley Mangels, Lauren Mangels and Taylor Airhart.

A graduate of Texas Tech University, the bride is employed as a chemical engineer for ARCO in Midland. The groom is attending the University of Texas in Odessa and is employed by Ford Credit Corporation.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple is at home in Midland.

Attending from Plains were Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Culwell, Delores Davis, Hazel Lowrey and Linda Harris. Also attending were Raynee Davis and Kristi Harris, both of Corpus Christi.

Wedding Shower To Be Held Jan. 18

Mary and Billy Bob Anderson will be complimented with a wedding shower Saturday, Jan. 18 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Earnest.

Calling hours are 7-9 p.m.

Gift selections may be found at Jerri's Boutique, Bayer Lumber and Renaissance Flowers and Gifts.

Friends and relatives are invited.

Robin Hood Forum Says School Finance Law A Failure

by Pete Simmons

Representatives from property-wealthy school districts are maintaining that not only is school funding legislation passed earlier this year unconstitutional but also fails to provide the promised funding equity.

More than 50 districts banded together in a group called the "Robin Hood Forum" and filed a suit challenging the constitutionality of the law which was upheld by a lower court. The suit is expected to be ruled on by the Supreme Court any day.

"This new law adds another layer of bureaucracy and, in the end, increases property taxes in almost every district in the state," said Superintendent Marion Czaja, Glen Rose.

Also research being conducted by the Robin Hood Forum indicates that while the new law has hurt programs in the wealthier districts it has not significantly helped the poorer districts.

"The bottom line is that the state of Texas is once again pushing its own responsibility to adequately fund quality education down to the local taxpayer," said Bill Reaves, superintendent in Palacios ISD. "Nobody is really a winner under this plan because it still fails to deliver a sufficient amount of money to poorer school districts so they truly can make a difference. At the same time, it simply levels down a higher spending schools to a state-imposed standard of mediocrity."

Many of the poorer districts that received additional money through the County Education District (CED) distribution report that their local property taxes have also increased with little or no improvement in their education programs.

"This is not a rich against poor issue. Any way you cut it, the burden falls on local taxpayers whether they reside in a poor district or a rich district," said Andrews ISD Superintendent James Pennington.

The majority of these property-wealthy districts are small, rural and comprised of working class folks, with moderate to low income. Also, minorities represent a significant high percentage in some districts.

"We cannot sit back and allow erosion of the quality education that we have worked so hard to deliver to students in our districts," said Czaja, who is chairperson of the Litigation Group that is spearheading the Robin Hood Forum.

"We must inform taxpayers of the serious implications of this legislation on the future of education in this state. We also will enlist the support of citizens and business leaders to push for a revitalized state commitment to public education," Czaja said.

With a Supreme Court decision on the constitutionality of the legislation expected any day, members of the Robin Hood Forum are hoping that the Court will overturn the law and abolish the County Education Districts (CEDs).

"We believe that the present law is unconstitutional because the taxes collected and redistributed by the CEDs amount to state ad valorem taxes in violation of a constitutional ban on such taxes," Czaja said. "If the Court rules in our favor and a special session is called, the legislators can look again at the issues without the crowded agenda of a regular session. The future of our state will be determined by our level of commitment to each child in every district. I believe the state can fund quality education."

As Attorneys James George and Hugh Lowe have written, we can do that "...with a new tax system that taxes real wealth in a real world and supports the schools from all the wealth available in Texas. When our legislators ran for office, they said they wanted to go to Austin and work for us.

"If the Supreme Court declares the County Education District Tax unconstitutional, the people of Texas should not be required to pay $4.5 billion in taxes they do not owe because the Legislature or Governor believes the task too hard or that the task requires too much courage. The times are too hard to ask Texans to make such a sacrifice."

Deborah Head Receives Degree

Deborah Head, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Head, received a master of science degree in sports physiology Dec. 14 from East Texas State University in commerce.

Employed as a sports physiologist for Progressive Rehabilitation Institute of Dallas for Ergonomics (PRIDE), she received a bachelor of science degree from Texas Tech. She is a 1984 graduate of Plains High School.

Tsa Mo Ga Study Club Meet Held

"Americanism: The First Amendment, Freedom of Religion" was the theme of a Dec. 9 meeting of Tsa Mo Ga Study Club. Hosting the event were Ann Chadwick, Edna Chambliss and the social committee.

The Rev. Ken Peterson, United Methodist minister, presented a review of the book of Job in the Bible and stated that it is still an enduring and unexplored message for a nation celebrating 200 years of religious freedom.

Peterson stated that many of the controversies of religion would not be controversies if people would communicate and compromise with each other to allow each the religious freedom guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

Sir Jones introduced Garland Swann who received a medal of recognition of his Marine Corps service at Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. Swann described his memories of that historic day and said he was at an air field one and a half miles from Pearl Harbor at the time of the attack. His air field was bombed and strafed to prevent American planes from taking off.

Swann stated that his group had rifles and were credited with downing four Japanese planes. He said he was supposed to meet a cousin, a sailor aboard the U.S.S. Arizona, in downtown Honolulu later that day. The cousin died and is entombed in the Arizona.

Each member brought a gift to be given to a veteran in Big Spring's Veterans Hospital.

Two new members, Frankie Walker and Chris Edwards, were welcomed.

Shower Honors Jill Durham

Jill Durham was recently complimented with a layette shower in the home of Sara Guetersloh.

Hostesses presented the new mother-to-be with a corsage designed with a miniature pink and blue pony and baby rattle. Prospective grandmothers were given corsages made with miniature teddy bears.

The party table was appointed in red and green and yellow with a clown centerpiece. Fruit plate, banana bread, cinnamon rolls, sausage balls, blueberry muffins, coffee, spiced tea and punch were served by Mrs. Guetersloh and Carolyn Culwell.

Guests were registered by the honoree's sister, Jan Harvey.

Hostesses presented the honoree with a money tree.

Assisting with hostess duties were Darla Welch, Kathy Six, Janie Ramos, Mary Ward, Ruth Rodgers, Neoma Taylor, Christy Brink, Eileen Fillipp, Carolyn Culwell, Marietta Guetersloh, Kendra Welch, Shelia Stephens, Jana Sellers, Ann McGinty and Diane Bennett.

Cowgirls Take Runner-Up In Round-Up Tournament

In the Cowboy-Cowgirl Round-Up Tournament this past weekend, the Plains Cowgirls took second place honors dropping a thrilling one point game to tournament winner Smyer 36-35. It capped off a weekend of great games in the tournament with Plains taking three wins over Wilson 63-69, Dawson 66-19, and an overtime win over Meadow 51-49.

In the first game against Wilson, the Cowgirls started out slow as an 11-11 first quarter tie moved to a 31-26 halftime edge by Plains. The second half belonged to Plains as they outscored the Lady Mustangs 32-13 in the win. Rena McElroy led in scoring for Plains with 15 points followed by Daphne Lowe with 14. Ashlee Winn and Ogla Ramirez each had 9 points followed by amy Crutcher with 8. Brandy Lester and Rhonda Cowart each contributed 4 points to round out the scoring. Brandy led in field goal percentage with 100% and Ogla and Rena followed with 80% and 78% respectively. Ashlee led in free throw percentage with 75%. Amy led in rebounds with 6 and Ashlee and Rhonda tied for honors in assists with 5 each. Rena and Ogla each had 4 steals.

In the 47 point win over Dawson, the Cowgirls had the hot hand shooting 57% from the floor. Jumping out to a 19-4 first quarter lead, Plains extended their lead to 31-13 by halftime. Then a 35-6 scoring margin was the biggest difference in the large victory. Daphne led in scoring with 16 points followed in double figures by Rena and Rhonda with 12 and 10 points. Ogla made 8, Ashlee hit 7, Monica Flores contributed 6, Amy had 4, and Heather Bowlin made 3 to round out the scoring. Heather led in field goal percentage with 100% followed by Ogla with 75%, Rhonda with 71%, and Rena with 67%. Daphne and Monica tied for honors in free throw percentage with 100% each. Ogla led in rebound with 7 followed by Amy with 6. Ashlee was tops in assists with 7 and she tied for honors with Monica and Amy in steals with 3 each.

The semi-final game of the tournament for the Cowgirls proved to be one of the more dramatic come-from-behind wins of the year as Plains trailed by as much as 13 points in the final quarter before coming back to take the two point win in overtime. Plains jumped out to a 17-12 first quarter lead but suddenly went cold in the second and third quarters. Getting outscored 31-15 in the middle quarters, the Cowgirls found themselves behind

43-32 entering the final stanza. In the fourth quarter, Plains hit 15 points while holding the Lady Broncos to 4, forcing the game into overtime. In the overtime, Amy and Ogla each hit a basket to give the Cowgirls a win over Meadow, one of the better teams in the area. Heather led in field goal percentage with 100% followed by Daphne with 50%. Daphne led in free throw percentage with 100%, hitting 4 of 4. Rena led in rebounds with 15 followed by Ogla with 9 and Amy with 7. Ashlee and Rena each had 4 assists and Ogla led in steals with 8.

Plains nearly pulled off their biggest upset in the finals in highly regarded Smyer. The Lady Bobcats had won both previous tournaments with ease, but had to hit a big basket in the closing seconds to secure their third tournament with 36-35. Plains led after one quarter of play 10-8 and still held a halftime lead 17-16. The third quarter proved to be the big difference as Smyer used a three point scoring advantage and then held off the Cowgirls for the win. Ashlee led in scoring with 16 points, 12 coming from the three point line. Daphne followed with 9 points and Ogla had 5. Rena and Amy each had 2 and Rhonda hit a free throw to round out the scoring. Ashlee also led in rebounds with 7 followed by Ogla with 6 and Rhonda with 5. Ogla and Rhonda each had 4 assists and 4 steals to lead in both categories.

The Cowgirls record now stands at 11-4 on the season. After games with Brownfield and Amherst, Plains begins district play with rival Whiteface as home, Jan. 14. The community proudly congratulates the Plains Cowgirls on their fine finish in the 1992 Cowboy-Cowgirl Round-Up Tournament!

Books, Cassettes Now At Library

Yoakum County Library in Plains announces a number of new books including "Plains Farmer," (diary of William G. DeLoach, 1914-1964); "Texans" by Ron Strickland (oral histories from the Lone Star State); "Hillerman Country," a journey through the Southwest, by Tony Hillerman and Barney Hillerman; "Teach someone to Read," a literacy tutor step-by-step guide, by Rosenthal; "A Cup of Christmas Tea" by Tom Kegg; and "Sacrifice," Drug cult murder of Mark Kilroy at Matamoros, by Jim Kilroy and Bob Stewart.

New cassettes include "Scarlet," a sequel to "Gone With The Wind," read by Dixie Carter.

Faye McDonnell has donated three Louis L'amour books.
