'Lights Out' For Cowboys

A blown fuse, a few fumbles, a couple of interceptions and a lot of pressure from the Sudan Hornets put the "lights out" for the Cowboys in Friday night's Regional Semi-Final game.

The Hornets went away with a 19-9 victory despite a power outage both on the field and in their numbers. With two seconds left in the half, a blown fuse caused a 40 minute delay. Also Sudan's offensive standouts Tim Williams and Andy Roberts suffered injuries. The two are expected to return to play for next week's big game against Hart for the Region 1-1A Championship title.

The Cowboys managed a late safety when the ball was snapped over the head of punter Alex Cruz into the end zone and scored a touchdown when quarterback Victor Bernal connected with Dan Partin for an 11 yard TD pass.
