Texas ALLTEL Customers to benefit from rate reduction

As the result of the Public Utility Commission of Texas' Docket No. 11456, customers will begin to see various rate reductions on their July telephone bills. These reductions will effect various services.

Those most visible to the customer will include the elimination of the monthly Touch Calling Service (touchtone) charges, the elimination of basic local exchange service mileage charges, and the reduction of some basic local exchange service rates.

As part of Docket No. 11456, Texas ALLTEL will offer a Lifeline service which will provide telephone service at reduced rates to eligible residential customers. Eligibility depends on income and other qualifications as determined by the necessary paperwork and certification needed for Lifeline service. Eligibility requirements include those customers who participate in the following public assistance programs:

- * Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) - determined by the Department of Human Services

- * Food Stamps - determined by the Department of Human Services

- * Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) - determined by the Department of Housing and Community Affairs.

- * Medical Assistance Program (MAP) - determined by the Department of Human Services.

- * Supplemental Security Income (SSI) - determined by the Social Security Administration.

- * Women, Infants and Children (WIC) - determined by the Department of Human Services.

Over the next two to three years, ALLTEL will be investing approximately $6.4 million to place into service digital switching facilities throughout the state, as well as make one-party service available.

Texas ALLTEL serves approximately 18,000 access lines in 26 exchanges including Plains, Higginbotham, Acton, Godley, Cresson, Paluxy, Tolar, Scurry, Rosser, Iredell, Rio Vista, Brandon, Lakeside Village, Covington, Grandview, Blum, Kopperl, Valley Mills, Mosheim, Hamshire, Double Bayou, Anahuac, Winnie, Smith Point, Hankamer and Wallisville.

Dear Editor

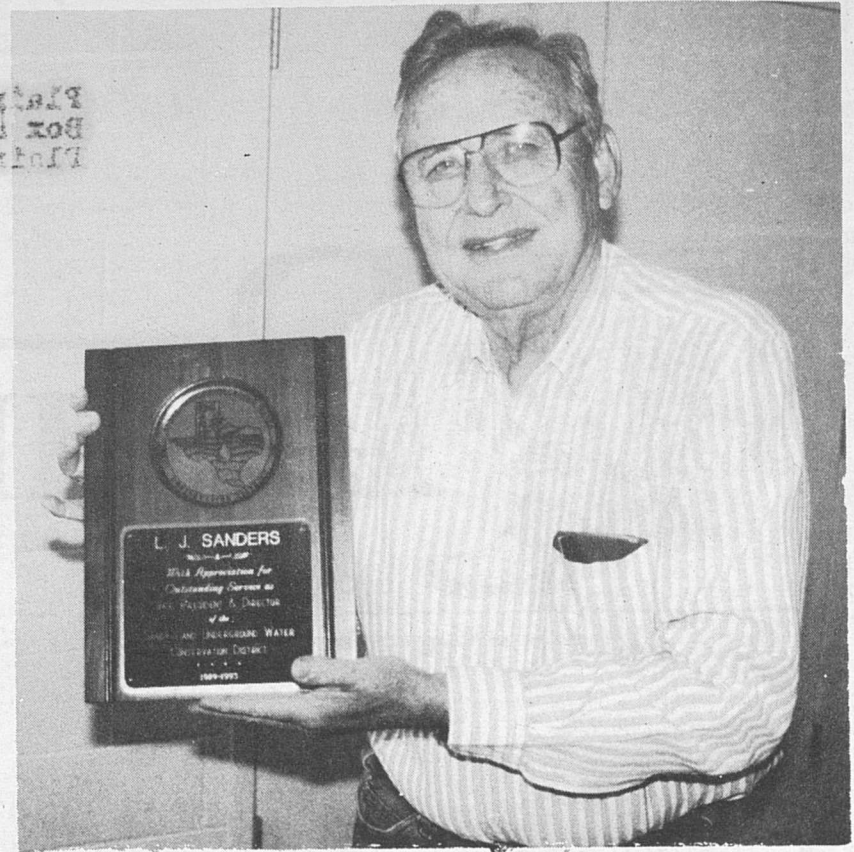

No, Dr. Moses, people are informed and do understand the issues. Never underestimate the citizens' ability to know what makes sense to him or her; what doesn't make sense as well. Yes, Mr. Hasie, you are correct in your charge that only rich, thinly populated areas will be hurt by whatever option or solution is imposed. Rich urban areas have power in the ballot box and that counts when you run for public office. "Taxation without representation" was the cry of the colonists. What happens when the "many" insist on taking from the "few" because of their lack of voting power? (Although our city cousins did show their support in the last constitutional amendment election in Lubbock.) What about a tax on trees in East Texas, or lakes and rivers in Central Texas? Is oil the only valuable natural resource that imbues wealth? It is becoming detrimental to be a property owner in Texas with high, ever higher appraised values and taxes. Yes, school teachers and children need to be cherished and need a quality environment in which to thrive.

A general revenue source such as the lottery or income tax is needed. But, the public demands accountability and performance in return! West Texans are not stubborn, uninformed, or unsympathetic towards education. Our schools are some of the best in the State. Our leadership is the best with Rudd, Montford, Bivins and Laney. Surely a fair long-term solution will be implemented instead of a band-aid approach to our hemorrhaging schools.

Sincerely,
Linda Powell

Walker-Cunningham say vows at Southern Breeze Plantation

Lorri Leigh Walker and Donald Joseph Cunningham Jr. were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon, May 29 on the front lawn of Southern Breeze Plantation near Navasota, Texas. Bro. Jim Shamburger of First Baptist Church of Victoria performed the double ring ceremony before a large number of family and friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Walker of Plains, formerly of White Deer, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Joseph Cunningham of Round Rock.

Grandparents of the bride attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Welch of Wharton and Mr. and Mrs. Ed F. Walker of Houston.

Vows were pledged beneath towering oak and magnolia trees in a garden setting of white lattice draped with mauve and burgundy tulle and satin ribbon. White beauty baskets held large ferns. The altar was covered with white satin and held a large family Bible opened to the book of Ruth and marked with a single white rose. Brass angels holding burgundy candles were on either side. Row markers of fresh flowers and burgundy tulle marked the way for the bride and groom and the wedding party.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, was gowned in an elegant full white satin gown created by Mori Lee of New York. The bodice, sleeves and front skirt of the gown were enhanced with re-embroidered alencon lace, ornately decorated with pearls and sequins. The long sleeves with shoulder puffs, edged with bows, framed the dramatic sweetheart neckline. The full scalloped chapel length train, with cut-out medallions and bows, was bordered with alencon lace and elaborate beading. Her veil was a tiara style head piece ornately decorated with sequins and pearls with finger tip illusion. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses with accents of tiny pink spray roses, white freesia and white dendrobium orchids.

Miss Robbie Clanton of Valentine, served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Cara Murray of Carrollton, Dawn Mallory of Dallas and Laren Mercer, cousin of the bride of Midland.

The bridal attendants wore tea length gowns in mauve taffeta and twinkle. The draped bodice and puffed sleeves framed a sweetheart neckline. The cut-out backs of the dresses were accented with soft bows to complete the gowns. The attendants carried cascades of stargazer lilies, pink alstromeria and tiny pink carnations.

Scott Cunningham of Huntsville, served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Brad Cunningham, brother of the groom, of Lubbock, Craig Davis of Austin, and Slone Mercer, cousin of the bride, of Chickasha, Okla. Each of the men wore black tuxedos with tails and wore boutonnieres of pink alstromeria.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with tails accented with a white brocade vest and wore a boutonniere of a white rose and freesia to match his bride.

Sara Hatteberg of Dallas, niece of the groom, served as flower girl and Luke Hatteberg of Dallas, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer.

Dare Walker of Bryan, brother of the bride, and Jeremy Cole of Abilene, served as ushers.

Greg Hotchkiss of Dallas, provided nuptial music and played the traditional wedding marches. Tony Carimi of Austin, sang "I'll Always Be Loving You" and "I Will Be Here".

A light shower fell during the ceremony but failed to dampen the happy spirit of the wedding party and their guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception honoring the couple was held in the home and the back patio area surrounding the swimming pool. The outdoor area was landscaped with white mums, wisteria, shrubs and magnolia trees. Tables were enhanced with bubble bowls containing gem stones and floating candles accented with burgundy and mauve tulle bows.

The bride's tiered white cake featured soft designs of shells and scallops accented with fresh flowers of sweetheart roses and stargazer lilies in burgundy and mauve, colors chosen for the wedding. The top layer held a Precious Moments bride and groom figurine given to the couple by the bride's maternal grandmother.

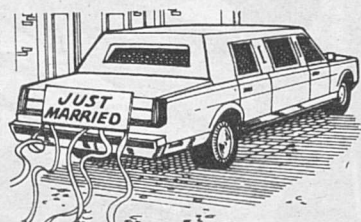

The groom's red velvet sheath cake featured soft scallops. The maroon letters TAM (Texas A&M) were encircled on top.

Guests other than the wedding party, included friends and family from White Deer, Plains, Bryan, College Station, Round Rock, Austin, Wharton, Houston, The Woodlands, Katy, Victoria, Hempstead, Gonzales, San Marcos, Dallas, Corpus Christi, California, Delaware and Maryland.

The couple left for their honeymoon in a black limousine with a honeymoon basket provided by parents of the bride. The new Mrs. Cunningham was wearing a soft pink dress accented with seed pearls and wore matching pink heels. A corsage of pink sweetheart roses was pinned at her shoulder.

After a wedding trip to Houston and San Antonio, the couple will reside in Bryan.

The Texas A&M University Memorial Student Center was the setting for the rehearsal dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham. A candlelight dinner was enjoyed by members
