Vocational Agri. And The Citizen Of Tomorrow

By C. T. Spence

At a teachers' conference this summer, I heard a very inspiring talk. It was made by a fellow Vocational Agriculture teacher. He talked about the ways that vocational agriculture developed a boy into a solid citizen. As an introduction, he talked about the boy who wanted his father to play with him. The father was reading the newspaper after a hard day of work and the boy kept asking father to come and play with him. After quite some time, the father picked up a map of the world and tore it into many small pieces and told the boy to put the map back together. He said when he had the map back together he would play with him. It was only a few minutes when the boy interfered with his father's reading to tell him the map was back together again. The father being very surprised, asked the boy how he had put it together so quickly. He told him of a picture of a boy on the map, he put the boy back together and when the boy was right, the world had to be right.

One of the specific aims of the Future Farmer Chapter states "To develop character, train for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism." The boys have their projects from which they learn what they get from it depends on how hard they work. They learn that to make money is no good unless they can save and invest their profits wisely. The boys learn to cooperate and help in community activities. They see that without cooperation and community activities they could not have the shows and fairs and other activities that are essential if they are to have a good program in vocational agriculture.

One of the greatest benefits a boy gets from FFA work is confidence in himself and his work. He sees that he can do some job better than some other boy. He learns he can attain achievements according to his own ability. The last two paragraphs of the FFA Creed are as follows: "I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the more abundant and enough honest wealth to make it so—for others as

Carbon Loses To Baird; Meets Clyde Tonight

The Carbon Wolverines lost to the Baird Bears by a score of 32-13 in a conference game played on Bear Field last Friday night.

Baird scored in the opening period with Dwight Mayes circling his own right end from the 48 yard line. The kick for extra point was no good.

Charles McDaniel, Wolverine left halfback, retaliated for Carbon making a beautiful end-sweep from the 40. Gene Clark plugged off tackle for the extra point.

Baird's second tally came on a pass to Ashlock in the second period. Mayes intercepted a pass and scampered 30 yards for the third Baird score. The fourth Baird score came in the third quarter as Mayes took the ball off tackle and raced 60 yards. In the fourth quarter, Tom Ivey scored for the Bears on a ground play 30 to 7.

The Bear's final two points came on a safety when Norman Bethany, Wolverine quarterback, was trapped behind the goal line. An infuriated Carbon team came back for scoring blood with Clark intercepting a pass and racing 45 yards to the double stripes.

Red Letter Day
Origin of the term "red letter day" may be traced back to the 15th century, when red and purple colors were used for marking saint or church festivals on the calendar. From this ancient custom arose the practice of designating any memorable day as a red letter day.

God and Nations

Lesson for October 16, 1949

WHEN the Spanish fleet was about to invade England, back in Queen Elizabeth's time, nothing the English had could stop them. But when the Armada arrived, that vast fleet had been broken to bits by a storm, and the English neatly mopped up what was left. How do you account for that? The English always said God was with them. When the Nazis had overrun France in 1940, it would have been Dr. Foreman simple for them to invade England. There was next to nothing to stop them. But Hitler delayed from summer till fall . . . and by that time the British were able to mount an invincible defence. How do you account for that? Over and over again in history the unexpected, the unexpected, the "miraculous," has happened. Some call it chance; but others call it God.

God In History

BUT God does not always or usually operate in spectacular ways. God works in history as he works in nature, out of sight, visible to the eye of faith but seldom if ever otherwise. History, from the Christian point of view, is the working-out of the purposes of God.

The pattern is not entirely war to us, because we cannot see enough of it at once. But looking back through history, we can see signs that God has been there. This is the message of the prophets of Israel.

In a troubled era, when everything seemed to be in most complete confusion, Isaiah gave out some clear and plain truths from God, and helped men then and now read the pattern of God's design.

The Life of A Nation

ONE TRUTH is that justice is a nation's life and sin is a nation's death. God being the God of justice, his purpose is to set justice in the earth. God plays no favorites among nations. Any nation that lives by God's laws, lives; that nation that defies God has signed its own death warrant. There are no peoples who can "get by" with what they please, if what they please is not the will of God. There are people now who do not believe that.

God's Ax

ISAIAH has a startling answer to that objection (Chap. 10.) Assyria is a tool in God's hand, no more. He admits that Assyria has no standard but force, she worships only sheer Power. But there are other nations, wicked ones, which God intends to punish; one of these is the nation of Israel.

God does not punish an evil nation with legions of angels; he punishes it with invasions and defeats in war. Assyria was an ax in the hand of God, cutting down the rotting trees of selfish and unjust nations.

Return To God!

PEOPLE in Isaiah's time were putting their trust, just as we do nowadays, in alliances, pacts, international combinations of all kinds. Isaiah warns ominously that this will not do, by itself.

But he does not hold out any political scheme or combination as the best hope of a nation. Return to God! is the prophet's call. So in our time, whether it be a general MacArthur or a theologian Brunner.

Many of our ablest men are warning us even now, that humanity is facing an alternative: Either go on the way of selfishness and war down to destruction, or else go back to the Source of justice, truth and love, the God in whom alone is salvation.

...olary
Present-day educated adults have a vocabulary four times as large as that used by Shakespeare in his writings, reported Dr. Robert H. Seashore, psychology professor of Northwestern university. Tests of 500 college students showed they had an average vocabulary of 60,060 common words, 1,500 rare words, and about 95,000 derivatives of common words. Shakespeare used about 15,000 common words in his plays.

Not in Constitution

The Constitution says nothing about the number of justices; it requires only a court and chief justice. By the judiciary act of 1789, congress called for five associate justices. In 1807 the number was changed to six; in 1837 to eight; and in 1863 to nine. In 1869 the present number of eight associate justices and one chief justice was set.

Oregon's Criminals
Statistics kept by the Oregon state penitentiary fail to confirm the popular belief that the crime class is being recruited more and more from young men. The average age of convicts in the penitentiary between 1896-79 was 30 years-10 months. The average age of these now in the prison is 33 years-two months.
