THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Life and Law

Lesson for October 17, 1948

YOU, friend reader, probably know less about what is in the books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy than any other part of the Bible. These are the sections mostly filled with laws - a list of "Thou shalt not..." You either skip these entire or you say to yourself, "Well, that has nothing to do with me." If so, you are missing one of the most interesting sections of the Bible.

The Living Soul of Law

THERE are two ways of looking at any law, or you might say there are two sides of every law, the inside and the outside, the soul and the body as it were. The body, the outside, is the letter of the law; the inside or soul of the law is the spirit or principle of the law.

The body of the law, like the body of a man, dies; it is not intended to live on and on. But the soul of the law (if it has one; some don't) lives forever.

Take, for instance, the law in Leviticus 24:17. The body of the letter, says: "Do not be efficient in getting in your crops. Leave some wheat in the field. Leave some grapes on the vine."

Today that sounds rather stupid, on the face of it, and no good farmer would pay attention to it. But look at the spirit of that law; the wheat and the grapes were to be left for "the poor and the stranger."

There was then no Red Cross, no bureau of disabled persons, no traveler's aid, no family service, no social security, none of our many modern agencies for the underprivileged. Those who had property were bidden to have a care for those who had none.

The duty of society to see that no one starves, the duty of all to help those in need, that is the living soul of this law, and it still breathes in force of the 20th century—laws of old age assistance, maternity assistance, pension plans and so forth.

The living soul of the Old Testament laws can be expressed this way: The love of justice and the justice of love. The best and wisest laws today are those which give this same spirit its fullest and most practical form.

Jesus' Last Word

THE Jews figured out that there were in all 613 separate commandments in all the laws combined. They used to have interesting debates as to which was the most important.

They came to Jesus with that well-worn question. Jesus quoted only two laws, one from Deut. 6:5 and the other from Lev. 19:18. Love God, love your neighbor, he said. All the other laws depend on these two.

To this day, Christian thinkers are not entirely agreed as to just how far Old Testament laws may be binding on Christians. But all are agreed on two points: The basic principle of these laws is always good, and that fundamental principle is love.

Love Is Not Repeated

THIS is what Christians mean when they say that the laws of God are eternal. We do not mean that every law between the covers of the Bible can and should be used as the law of our land today.

What we do mean is that the spirit of these laws is immortal, for the spirit is love, and love never has been repeated.

Show me a law which helps the strong at the expense of the weak, a law which encourages cheating and selfishness or fighting, and I will show you a bad law. Show me a law which encourages and helps men to deal fairly with one another and to live together in peace, and I will show you a good law. Every law that helps you love your neighbor is a good law; indeed there is something divine about it, for God is Love.

Origin of Mascara

Woman's oldest manufactured beauty aid, according to a Hollywood make-up man, is mascara. This material is known to have been compounded by the Egyptians as far back as 4,000 B. C. Inspection of feminine portraits of that time, as presented by wall-paintings in modernly unearthed tombs, leads one to suspect that the glamor gals of ancient Egypt were highly comparable with those of today.

Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Household Hints

To keep straw hats clean, flick occasionally with a clean cloth or brush lightly with a clothes brush. This prevents dust from accumulating in the weave creases.

Drop cookies may often be flattened with the tines of a fork; just press fork in two directions, making a crisscross pattern.

Ash trays should be emptied and washed each night before closing up the house. This prevents a stale, musty odor the following day.

Be sure to skim all the fat from the drippings of a lamb or mutton roast before you make the gravy. Then you'll have the flavor of meat without the strong fat flavor.

Butter needs protection from air, from light and from evaporation of its moisture in order to keep its fresh taste and texture. The paraffined carton does a fine job of performing these duties.
